EDITORIAL STATEMENT

The Maynooth Newsletter is published as a service to the people and organisations of the neighbourhood. It is an 'open access' publication and will generally carry any material submitted to it, subject to the law of the land and to editorial judgement. The judgement is exercised by the editorial committee in order to preserve the independence and balance of the Newsletter. We request all our contributors to make sure their material is legible. If possible, material should be typed, but as not everyone has access to typewriters, the best way to present material is to use either neat legible writing or block block letters, on one side of the paper.

EDITORIAL

THE NEW DECADE

The Newsletter welcomes our readers to the 1990s, the last decade of the twentieth century. It is good to look back on the achievements of the eighties, and they have been many, despite the fact that there is still so much to be done.

The achievements largely date back to the revival of the Community Council in 1984. The Community Council now employs 14 through the Social Employment Scheme and the Teamwork schemes. Among the activities of the Community Council are the Newsletter, the St. Patrick's Day Parade and Community week. Council provides a focus for development in Maynooth, through a plethora of sub-committees. We look forward to the achievement of Town Commission status for Maynooth in the 1990s, so that the Community Council can be put on a statutory footing, with its own budget, and powers.

Although their work is still not completed, the Royal Canal Amenity Group have created a miracle in the Harbour, which was an overgrown marsh in the early eighties. The 1990s should see the coming to fruition of their labours, with the Harbour and canal acting as a leisure amenity, and tourist attraction. The Tidy Towns Committee have tried valiantly to improve the environs of Maynooth, though to no real avail. Perhaps the recent upsurge of green consciousness will assist in their efforts. The target for the 1990s is for Maynooth to become a litter and graffiti free environment, with pleasant buildings, and shop fronts, reflecting its historic past. A Tidy Towns award would be a pleasant bonus.

The coming of Intel to the Collinstown Industrial Estate promises an upsurge of local employment. While one of the achievments of the eighties was to get the dole queues off the street, this was not achieved by reducing the numbers, but rather through acquiring a more suitable premises, and rescheduling signing on times. Let's hope that the 1990s will see the numbers signing on each week reduced to the low hundreds, rather than the 2,000 as at pres-

in 1981, and 5,525 in 1986. With the recent upsurge in housing, and increases in the student intake in the College, the population must now be close on 6,500. It is likely that the population will continue to expand in the 1990s, particularly with the building of the new motorway. The impact of this growth on the existing facilities will be significant. Will the 1990s see new schools, churches, shops, recreational amenities? Or will we just burst at the seams? It would be nice to think that the 1990s will bring a sports complex, parks, playing fields, better roads, extra pubs, employment opportunities. Is anyone out there planning for this? Or will we face the new millenium in 2000 with twice the population, and the same facilities? The recent removal of the Berlin Wall gives us hope that the 1990s may see the end of the Thing in the Square. It took 23 years to persuade the powers that be that the Wall should go. Let's get a bit of perestroika going in that the Community Council elections will be held in 1990. The Community Council is a crucial element in ensuring that our voice is heard in planning the future of Maynooth in the 1990s. It needs the support of everyone in Maynooth to achieve this.

Maynooth, now. In this context, we remind our readers

Happy New Year to all our readers, may you increase and multiply in years to come!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

St. Patrick's College, Maynooth, Co. Kildare Students' Union

Dear Editor.

We in the Students' Union have received quite a number of complaints from the residents around Maynooth about noise being created by students in both the town and housing estates.

One of our major priorities in the Students' Union is to achieve a good relationship between residents and students in Maynooth. In order to achieve this, I think it is essential for both students and residents to co-operate with one another as much as possible.

Hence, I would ask all students to lower the noise level while in your houses and walking home at night. Believe me, you shall gain in the long run by showing some respect! Is mise le meas,

Pauline Madigan President

Spot the Error Competition

Our spot the error competition was won by an anonymous teacher (we could not read the signiture). Anyway he or she donated the £5 to a charity of our choice. So the Travellers' Committee gratefully accepts the donation.

We wish all our readers a prosperous New Year

Town Commission Status for Maynooth

The County Manager is sending a copy of the revised boundaries to the 22 petitioners so that it can be considered by them. This boundary has an area of 1625 acres and could accomodate a population jof 22,000 people. The value of the Town Commission was highlighted in our last Newsletter, by Councillor Colm Purcell Chairperson, Leixlip Town Connission. In it he outlined how they were allocating their annual budget of £62,300.

Let's hope we will soon be in a position to do a similar article.

Public Toilets in the Square

Kildare County Council's arhitect has drawn up plans for the re-construction of the toilet block and its elevation to a two storey building. The central section would comprise a new 750 sq ft commercial unit. The plans are available in the Community Council offices for comments and observation.

Kildare County Council recognises that public toilets need to be manned on a full time basis if they are to be kept in a clean and hygenic state. However, due to the Government's cutbacks Kildare County Council is not in a position to employ a full-time caretaker for any of its public toilets in the county.

Childrens Playground at the Harbour

The Community Council asked Killare County Council if they would be repared to cover the playground for public liability insurance. Kildare

COMMUNTIY COUNCIL NOTES

County Council has advised us that like most local authorities they can no longer get insurance cover for playground equipment provided by them. The playground therefore remains a derelict site. It would seem that unless central government take up the responsibilty for insurance of playgrounds our children will no longer have any. A better option would be for Central Government to give more power to local Government, something that is long overdue in this country.

Harbour Field and Geraldine Hall

The Communtity Council took out Public Liability Insurance cover, a number of years ago, for the Community Council use of the Harbour Field and we extended this cover to include the Trustees of the Field. Any other group wishing to be covered for use of the field must take out Public Liability Insurance. The Community Council hold drama classes twice weekly for 30 children in the Geraldine Hall. We are advised that the trustees do not have a current public liability policy in force in respect of the Geraldine Hall. Our insurers have strongly recommended that we should ensure that any premises being used by the Community Council for the classes should have a current Public Liability in force because our policy indemnifies the Community Council solely in respect of the classes and it does not provide indemnity in respect of any defects in property being used for the classes.

We have extended our policy, at a cost of £103 per annum, to include the Maynooth Community Council's liability in respect of the drama classes being held twice weekly. We have further extended the policy to indemnify the trustees of the Geraldine Hall soley in respect of the drama classes being held there.

Cemetery Maintance

Because of government cutbacks Kildare County Council has been unable to provide any monies for the maintenance of burial grounds. In the estimate of expences which have been adopted for 1990 by Kildare County Council, £5,000 has been provided to assist voluntary groups in this area.

Kildare County Council would favourably consider an application from the Community Council for the allocation of a grant under this scheme of maintenance work on the two cemeteries. The sub-committee is presently examining this suggestion.

Social Employment Scheme

We have been advised by Emmet Stagg T.D. that the County Council is still seeking additional workers to help Tidy Towns Committee in their efforts to improve the environs of the Towns and villages. Anyone wishing to go on the scheme should contact the local manpower office, or Mr. S. Stokes, Personel Section, Kildare County Council or Maynooth Community Council.

Tidy Towns Committee

The committee would like to remind people to use the Re-Hab Bottle Bank at Quinnsworth over the Christmas period. Prizes were presented to the winners of the Tidy Estate and Tidy Shop fronts during the interval of the Table Quiz in Caulfield's on 7th December. The table quiz was a joint venture between the Maynooth Soccer Club and the Community Council and was a fantastic success 'despite' the many questions that some teams found difficult. Our thanks to Ethna and John Carey, the soccer club and our Community Council office workers for all their hard work.

Easter would be a good time for a follow up, perhaps with even more local questions.

Directory

The Maynooth Information Directory is still being complied and is due for issue to all houses at the end of January 1990.

Community Council Elec-

The next Community Council Elections will take place in March 1990.

This is your opportunity to become more deeply involved in local community affairs, to have a voice and the chance to participate and become active in all aspects of Maynooth life.

We appeal inparticular to the following areas to ensure that they are represented on the Council, especially the newer estates. They have no representives or are seriously underrepresented at present:

Carton Court (2rep)
Beaufield (2 rep) and none at present Kingsbry (5 representatives and have only 1 at present)
Greenfield Lane (2rep)
Greenfield phase 2 (1 rep)
Greenfield phase 3 (1 rep)

Anyone over 18 who is a resident of Maynooth is entitled to stand and vote in the election. We appeal to residents associations in particular to ensure that canditates are put forward.

St. Patrick's Day Parade

The Social and Recreational Committee are again organising the parade in Maynooth. We would welcome if anyone could get us more bands to take part - any type of band is welcome.

Emmet Stagg T.D. has offered to approach Brian Lenihan, Minister for Defence, to see if we can get an army band.

We would like to thank our local St. Mary's Brass and Reed Band for participating each year and we hope that they will be able to lead the parade again in 1990.

COLLECTION / NON COLLECTION OF REFUSE

Kildare County Council certainly did not make any friends in Cluain Aoibhinn, College Green and O'Neill Park estates with their heavy handed tactics of the last month. If it was not green, the bin was not collected, and this happened even where people had paid the charges and despite the fact that the tax collector was with the bin lorry with his notebook.

Residents Associations have gone to a lot of trouble to make their estates pleasant places to live in (and without any help from Kildare County Council and now because of Kildare County Councils jackboot tactics, rubbish is uncollected and inevitably ends up scattered throughout the estates. Are they aware that there are many absentee landlords in Maynooth and that students would not know about Green bins.

What happens next year if people don't pay the charges? Will a yellow bin be introduced at another cost of £500,000 to the Council (Taxpayer).

Dear Mr. Dalton.

We would like to know if Monsignor Ledwith has received a reply to his letter dated 12th October to Mr. Frank Fahy T.D. Minister of State for the Department of the Environment. We feel that it is now time for the joint committee to meet again to decide how to proceed.

The Christmas Party

It was held on Sunday, 10th December in the S.V.D. Hostel. About 90 old people attended including visitors from Kilclone and Milltown. The evening started with Mass at 3.30 p.m. at which the Folk Group sang. This was followed by tea and entertainment by our own Josie Moore, Kevin McGovern, Gabriel Flood and Jim Cunningham, together with set dancers from Kilclone and Michael and Paddy Penston on the accordian and mouth organ from Milltown. Santy joined in the proceedings giving out over thirty prizes and there was also a raffle with prizes of a hamper, whiskey and sherry. It was a most enjoyable party even though the number of committee members has been depleted by the flu.

ROUND ONE VICTORY IN THE HIGH COURT

Last month we advised you that Catherine O'Connor of Dara Park, Celbridge was mounting a legal case against Kildare County Council local charges. We are now delighted to report that she was most successful in the High Court on the 27th November when the council were obliged to

1. Restore Catherine's water supply, pending the determination of her proceedings against the Council.

2. Provide Catherine with copies of all Managerial Orders etc, respecting the making of water charges on which the council purports to act.

Maynooth Residents Against Local Charges warmly welcomes this development which we believe is an important victory for the anti-charges movement. Also we believe that this outcome is a victory for democracy itself in that it shows that residents can use the law to bring to heel a Local Authority which is employing illegal tactics to enforce charges which in themselves could very well be illegal.

OLD PEOPLE'S COMMITTEE

Morning Sessions

The last morning session before Christmas will be held on Thursday 14th December and we are very fortunate to have the Fiddler's Green to help us celebrate the festive season. In the New Year the morning sessions will recommence on Tuesday 9th and Thursday 11th of January.

Christmas Dinner

This will take place in the Post Primary School at 5 p.m. on Sunday, January 7th. This event, which is one of the high spots of the year, is given by Peter O'Brien for the elderly of Maynooth, Mulhussey and Kilclone.

MAYNOOTH RESIDENTS AGAINST LOCAL CHARGES

Catherine's legal team is now busily examining the Manager's Orders for legal defects and will soon be returning to the High Court for the next decisive round in her legal challenge. In the meantime M.R.A.L.C. wish to advise all residents that they now have a legal basis to advise the Council of their unwillingness to pay the charges, pending the outcome of the O'Connor case.

COUNCILLORS VOTE 17 TO 8 FOR CHARGES

It took Kildare County Councillors over 16 hours of talks and four meetings to finally adopt estimates for 1990 which again include charges for water and refuse of £100. After a heated debate the vote revealed that all Fianna Fail councillors (who were

AGM

This will be held on Tuesday, January 9th at 8 p.m. in the Health Centre. Anyone who would like to be involved in the activities of the Old People's Committee would be very welcome at this meeting. Help is needed in many ways and even a small commitment of time would be valuable.

We would like to extend our sympathy to Maureen O'Toole whose brother Paddy Carr (a regular attender at our meetings) died recently. As we come to the end of a year, we remember also the other old people and their loved ones who died during the year and we send our sympathy to their families and friends.

Finally at the start of the New Year and the new decade, we send our best wishes for peace and happiness to everyone and especially to the older members of our community.

elected in '85 on an anti charges ticket) combined with some Fine Gael and Independent members to defeat Councillors Coleman (F.G.), Durkan (F.G.), Gallagher (F.G.), Hillis (F.G.), Lawlor (Indp.), Purcell (Lab.), Stagg (Lab.) and Wright (Sinn Fein). M.R.A.L.C. wishes to applaud all those who spoke and voted against the charges. But we especially commend the 6 members, including local councillors Stagg and Purcell, who voted for a motion calling for an end to disconnections, uncollected refuse and the use of Stubbs collection agency. Without these coercive tactics the County Finance Officer and his terror squads would not be able to boast in an open and arrogant fashion of resolving the "arears question' in 1990.

We would remind Mr. Keogh and all councillors that this year the electorate are due to have their democratic say in Local Elections and we expect residents to take their lead from Catherine O'Connor's success in the High Court by filling the ballot boxes with anticharges votes.

MAYNOOTH WINCHESTER THREE SUPPORT GROUP

Parade of Innocence

On Saturday 9th December a coachload of supporters of the Winchester three set out from Maynooth to join the Candlelit Parade of Innocence in Parnell Square in Dublin. Bearing banners and placards we joined the many other Winchester Three supporters to swell the ranks of thousands who marched through the city streets to celebrate the release of the Guilford Four and to highlight the continued unjust imprisonment of the Birmingham Six and others, including our own Finbar Cullen. Placards and banners from town and college draw attention to the Winchester Three case. Our eve catching support group banner read "Maynooth demands justice for the Winchester Three" Maynooth Town A.F.C.'s banner read "Return our missing footballer - Finbar Cullen". With the families of Finbar, Martina Shanahan and John McCann, we made our most public statement yet of the injustice of their conviction.

As darkness fell we lit our 'Candles for justice' and marched to the Central Bank in Dame St. where a brief public meeting was held. Paul Hill and Gerry Conlon movingly spoke of their determination to fight for the release of the Birmingham Six and the Winchester Three, and they called on all present to continue to publicise miscarriages of justice such as that which lost them 15 years of their lives. Finally, well known Kildare man Christy Moore lent his support to the day's demand for justice.

The 12,000 strong crowd at the parade of Innocence shows the extent of public disquiet at the unfair treatment being meted out to Irish defendants in English courts. We ask all Maynooth people to inform themselves of the exact nature of the injustice which has cost popular local man Finbar Cullen a 25 years sentence on a charge of which we believe he is totally innocent.

Elected were:

MAYNOOTH CREDIT UNION

Our annual general meeting was held on Tuesday 21st November in the ICA Hall. It was well attended. It was very heartening to see so many new members attending. At the first meeting of the New Board of Directors the following officers were elected: Chairman: Pat Harney, Cluain Aoibhinn, Asst. Chairman: Owen Byrnes, Greenfield, Treasurer: James McMahon, Laurence Ave., Secretary: Brighidin Breslin, Leinster Park. We welcomed four new members to the board, Brighiden Breslin, Marie Dempsey, Joan Grant and James McMahon. A big thank you to Anne Maeve Gaffney, Anne McGarry and John Read for all the excellent work they have put into the Credit Union in the past two years as Members of the board. They will hopefully continue to help us in the Credit Union.

We would appreciate more offers of help from members to act as Tellers.

Anyone willing to help in this capacity please contact Marie Dempsey, 549 O'Neill Park or leave their names at the Office in the Mall or in the Harbour.

We take this opportunity to wish all our Members a very happy and peaceful New Year in 1990.

ROYAL CANAL NOTES

Both retaining walls on the slipway are now complete, the dam has been removed and water now comes all the way to the slipway. Remedial work on the approach to the harbour is at an advanced stage and our resident and students who use the footbridge across the canal from the station need no longer worry about muddy shoes since the path is now fully restored. So hard have the members of the FAS scheme worked that the work is now well ahead of schedule. Now that the harbour approach has been cleared landscaping can commence in this area.

Our Christmas raffle took place in the newly refurbished lounge of the Roost. The winners were 1st Ciaran O'Sullivan, Kingsbry, Maynooth, 2nd Rosemary Merry, Castleblaney, 3rd Sean Kennedy Rail Park, Maynooth, 4th Kay Bennett, Newtown, 5th Seamus Ward, Castleblaney. The committee would like to thank all those who supported this raffle, all those who sold tickets and the management and staff of the Roost for the use of their premises. Thanks also to Alan Monaghan, Philip McDermott and Gerry Fitzpatrick who provided the music. While on the subject of the Roost, the committee would like to extend grateful thanks to Noel and Ann Cassidy proprietors of the Roost for their recent generous donation. Indeed we would like to extend good wishes for continued success to Noel and Ann in the re-opening of the elegantly refurbished lounge.

On Thursday December 7th, as a result of an invitation by the Caradas Society in the college, members of the committee gave a talk on the canal. The talk was interspaced with a slide presentation. Thanks to Gerry Fitzpatrick and Breda Cunningham for the photography. The talk concluded with a question and answer session which was followed by a reception hosted by the Caradas Society. The committee would like to thank the Caradas society for the invitation and more especially for their donation.

Finally the committee would like to take this opportunity to thank the people of Maynooth and surrounding areas for their support in the last year. We wish you all a peaceful and happy New Year and look forward to your continued support.

RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATIONS' NOTES

I would like to apologise to some of our sponsors at our Table Quiz. Their names were omitted for our entry in to December Newsletter. These were: Westside Furniture, Brady's Auctioneers, Patrick's Restaurant, Hula-Bou, Cassidy's 'Roost'.

Some of the prizes donated were not used at the Table Quiz due to having a oversubscription of prizes. We will be having a raffle on a night of our weekly Christmas prizes draw which we hope to run in one of local hostelries. The prizes will be vouchers from Westside

Now that the year is over we can look back and congratulate ourselves for the trojan work done during the year. The committee for 1990 will have a hard act to follow after our highly successful series of events throughout the year - the Table Quiz, sports day, barbeque, estate clean up, tree planting, entrance stone, and the wonderful Christmas Party, not to mention all the

The committee would like to thank all our residents who have contributed so faithfully during the year to our weekly collection; also to all the businesses in the town who have given so generously to any functions we have held. They have been great.

The committee would like to wish everyone a Happy Christmas and peace and harmony in the New Year. Let's hope that all past differences where ever they may be will be forgotten in this period of Glastnost.

Finally my thanks to my committee for all their co-operation during the year. I look forward to next year and perhaps more co-operation for the residents in ensuring we have an estate to be proud of. Let's all do a bit and make it easier for those who have carried it on their shoulders for as long. Make this your New Year's resolution.

SHIRLEY VALENTINE REVIEW

Shirley Valentine currently showing at the Adelphi is a model of escapist cinema. Shirley (played by Pauline Collins) is a 42 year old 'housewife' and a dowdy slave to domesticity. From the outset of the film, Shirley wins us over by her 'Howya Wall' and her one liners to the camera. Such devices are highly effective in establishing the Valentine persona.

Jane, a feminist friend of Shirley's wants the latter to accompany her on a Greek holiday. Shirley would not possibly leave husband Joe to fend for himself, but when he throws a tantrum and his dinner because a neighbour's dog has got his steak, Shirley decides otherwise. She leaves a note on the egg splattered holiday poster 'Gone to Greece, back in two weeks'.

the beautiful Greek island by herself.

She has now taken to talking to rocks, while back in England, Joe converses with the microwave while watching the dishes pile up. Shirley meets the smooth talking Costas (Tom Conti), local Romeo and restaurant owner, and she discovers the fun loving schoolgirl in herself again.

Shirley Valentine boasts strong performances from its lead characters. Bernard Hill, as Joe the pampered husband, and Joanna Lumley in a cameo role as Marjorie the old school friend, are very credible. The photography in this film is truly captivating. Take a bread from the throes of monotony - see this film.

C.N.O.

DRUGSTORE COWBOY

Screen Cinema College St., opened December 8th. Drugstore Cowboy, Gus Van Sant's second feature (Mala Noche being the sparsely released first) is a phantasmogorical trek through the wilderness of a drug addicts' soul, ravaging across the topographical pacific Northwest territory while examining the psychic underbelly of 70's America. This razored account charts the anarchic odyssey of Bob Hughes (Matt Dillon) and his crew through the waste land of a soulless country where only the junkie knows for certain what the future holds.

Armed with a maverick quasi-religious code and a streetwise intuition, Bob and his junkie outlaws hijack pharmacies of their narcotics, shoot up and after brief respites plan the execuContinued.

tion of their next heist. Comprised of his wife (Kelly Lynch) and another young addicted couple this crossroading crew, epitomise a subculture that advocates the maxim, 'live fast die young'. The futility of such an existence however enters Bob's consciousness in the aftermath of a fateful occurrence, reversing his spiral into the Narcotic vortex. On the path to redemption Bob meets an old acquaintance Father Tom (William S. Burroughs author of the Naked Lunch in a gothically comic cameo role), an aging addicted priest. Such blackly comic vignettes permeate the film imbuing it with a naturalistic realism.

This atmosphere is further enhanced by Van Sants' calculated attention to minute, highlighting the heightened sensory awareness of the films subject. Adherence to detail is apotheosised in the initial shoot-up sequence (Matt Dillon actually shot up in this scene albeit with purified water).

In this semi documentary abrasive style, Van Sant avoids any inherent didacticism or moralising and presents the nihilistic waste of narcotics with unbiased clarity. Complimenting this unobtrusive directorial stance is the absorbingly authentic performance of Matt Dillion as the eponymous cowboy. The film itself is based on an unpublished novel by James Fogle who has 9 yrs of his sentence (for armed robbery) to serve in a state penitentiary.

BOHEMIAN GIRL'S DREAM COMES TRUE

Remember the Bohemian Girl who dreamt that she dwelt in marble halls? Well, she can stop dreaming, and order another pint. Although instead of vassals and serfs, she'd find herself surrounded by the bewildered patrons of the Roost, wondering if they'd gone back to the future, or had it come to them?

EYE HEAR

However, many patrons have already modestly suggested suitable appelations. Among these are the Grecian 2000; the Acrapolis; the Marble Arse; Vatican Cellars; the Caesarian Section; the Marble City; the Colosseum; the Temple of Doom; the Pleasure Dome. One particular favourite is the Styx, in honour of the homeland of the majority of patrons, or perhaps because members of the Workers' Party

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

Eye Hear was much gratified to hear two of the questions at the recent table quiz, organised by the Community Council, and the Soccer Club. One asked for the surnames of Kay, Ann and Martin from the Editorial Board, while the other asked the title of the Already the Bards of Ballygoran have taken to the pen as the only means of expressing their wonderment. One ode goes:

"In old Maynooth, did Noel and Anne, A stately pleasure dome decree,

Where Mel, the raucous barman, ran Through taverns marble, us to warn, Of what has come to be.

For they have built that dome up there; That sunny dome! Those caves of ice! And all who see those statues bare, Should grab their pint, and cry be-

In any case, the study of Greek and Roman Civilisation will take on a new meaning in Maynooth from now on.

MAYNOOTH FIVE OH!

Well done to local Garda Peadar Haren who proved recently that he's not just a pretty moustache, leaning up against the lamp post. Two cars parked in the Main Street recently were the unfortunate targets of a driver coming from the Galway direction, who apparently thought he was in Brand's hatch. He took the corner on two wheels, and slammed into the two cars, and off he went, without stopping. Of course, he was not to know that his performance was observed by Peadar, as he emerged from the Garda station. With one bound, or two, Peadar was in his own first section of the December editorial. Besides the bonus of two sure marks, Eye Hear was gratified on checking the answers, that a considerable majority of those present obviously read the small print in the Newsletter.

Yes, they knew who Kay, Ann and Martin were, with the exception of those blow-ins who tried Stock, Aiken and Waterman, or Johnson, Mooney and O'Brien. But, only three teams could name the title of the editorial, and one of them included a member of the editorial board. Something will have to be done.

The correct answer was of course What's in a Name, and the item dealt with the inept names with which the new estates are being lumbered.

redeeming qualities has been receiving a face lift in recent times. And the signs over Aidan's shop, and Sean Power's Turf Accountants must be commended. Let's hope other shops will follow their lead. Shop fronts are an important visual element in the streetscape. Good design and natural materials contribute to a pleasing environment; hopefully, the judges in the forthcoming Tidy Towns competition will encourage this trend by giving Maynooth a few more marks in 1990.

THE DAY SANTA CLAUS CAME TO TOWN

Rudolf had the day off, so Santa hitched a ride with the Eye in the Sky helicopter on the 9th December. He landed in the harbour field, ten years after Pope John Paul II landed in the College, and generated as much excitement among the hundreds there to greet him. Santa followed his Holiness's example, and wore red. However, to the delight of the children, his generosity, Santa, showered them with bags of sweeties, instead of homilies.

Then he hitched a ride with a passing Santamobile, and visited every shop in Maynooth, causing traffic chaos for hours. But the children were thrilled, and the adults were happy to enter for the win a bike competition. Santa's visit was sponsored by the Maynooth Chamber of Commerce, who have been mentioned nightly in the prayers of every parent who managed to evade a traumatic trek into Dublin to see him.

And thanks to St. Mary's Band who entertained the waiting throng, as they waited for the great Ho-Ho in the sky to arrive.

LOTTERY LOLLY

Eye hear that the College syndicates have won on the Lotto twice recently according to reports the salaries office and the secretaries' syndicates pulled the five numbers. However, put the begging bowls back. The payout amounted to eighty pounds each for the secretaries, and thirty six pounds for the salaries office. And its all spent by now, as most like is the thousand pounds won by Paddy Walsh, Mulhussey in the Megadraw.

Once again our very successful Debs Ball was held in the Keadeen Hotel.

Over 440 students, teachers, parents and friends had a very enjoyable and memorable night out. As usual the whole occasion was splendidly organised by Mr. Griffin, Year Master and his hard working Committee. The Debs were presented with an inscribed Cross Pen.

Our congratulations to the Senior Football team on reaching the County Final which takes place on Wednesday, December 13th - hopefully by now they have brought back the cup to Maynooth. The under 14 team is progressing very nicely through the Leinster Championships having won out its division by defeating Salesian College, Celbridge in its last game.

The Junior Cadet Basketball team is also progressing very satisfactorily through its Leinster opposition with some fine victories recently. Our Senior Cadet team did very well but met with some stiff opposition in Kilcock. Nice also to see our M.H.A.I. debaters through to the County Final the result of which we will know next Thursday when the Final is held in the

POST PRIMARY SCHOOL MAYNOOTH NOTES

Post Primary School. Well done to one and all!

For the first time since its establishment in 1971 the Post Primary School is launching a major appeal for funds. In recent years the continuing cut backs in human and financial resources in education are such that they eventually adversely affect the quality on offer in school. Shortages in equipment, class materials and staff can be sustained over short periods but when they become built into the system then quality must suffer. Conscious of the position, the P.T.A. and Maynooth Post Primary School are appealing therefore to present parents and to past pupils and parents who feel they would like to express gratitude for any help given and wish for the good work to be carried on may do so by purchasing a bond for one hundred pounds. This bond can be purchased outright or in four twenty five pound instalments over the period of a year by arrangement with the Bank. This bond will entitle you to be in an initial draw for one thousand pounds and to participate in all other draws which will take place over the next five years.

Furthermore, any facility provided for the students will be available to parents and past pupils outside school hours. Initially it is hoped to lay a double set of all weather tennis and basketball courts, fenced in and floodlit to provide other necessary pieces of equipment for part time teachers as required from time to time. One way or another ALL of the funds collected will be spent for the benefit of the students of the Post Primary School and Community.

Further details and application form for a Bond can be had by contacting the school anytime.

The appeal therefore is to all friends, associates, parents and pupils - past and present - BUY A BOND.

POLITICALPARTYNOTES

KINGSBRY - BUS STOP

Following representations by Deputy Stagg on behalf of the Residents Association of Kingsbry, the Chairman of C.I.E. has advised Deputy Stagg that arrangements are being made to relocate the Bus Stop at the entrance to the estate to a more suitable location.

FUTURE AND SERVICE OF RAIL LINE

Considerable concern has been expressed concerning the future and service of the Suburban Rail Line. The Locomotive and Rolling Stock presently in use are close to life expiry and are consequently failure prone. Iamrod Eireann have advised Deputy Stagg that they have submitted a railcar replacement programme to the Government. Similarly the signalling system needs modernising and Iamrod Eireann have also sought Capital from the Government in this matter. Deputy Stagg has tabled a motion in the Dail calling on the Minister for Transport to provide funding to upgrade the Suburban Service in Maynooth.

ACCOMMODATION ROAD - PROVISION OF LIGHTING

Further representations concerning the provision of lighting on the Accommodation Road between the Rail Station and Newtown Bridge have been made by Deputy Stagg to the Board of Works who now own this roadway.

PHONE KIOSK -CLUAIN AOIBHINN, BEAUFIELD, COLLEGE GREEN AND NEWTOWN

Deputy Stagg has made representations to the Chairman of Telecom Eireann concerning the provision of a Public Telephone Kiosk to serve the houses in the Newtown area.

MULLEN BRIDGE

Increased usage of the train station has led to very serious pedestrian and traffic congestion at Mullen Bridge at peak times. Representations have been made by John McGinley to Iarnrod Eireann and to the Co. Council to improve the situation as follows:

- 1. Significantly improved lighting on the bridge.
- 2. Provision of a footpath on the station side of the bridge.
- 3. Provision of trafficlights which would operate at peak times only.
- 4. Provision of a pedestrian crossing at the Greenfield side of the bridge.

LIGHTS IN GREEN-FIELD AND BEAUFIELD ESTATES

John McGinley has made representations through Deputy Stagg to the County Engineer concerning lights out of order in Greenfield Estate. A total of five lights have been out of order for a considerable time. Several lights in Beaufield estate are now functioning for the first time following representation by John McGinley.

O'NEILL PARK PETITION

John McGinley has forwarded a petition to Kildare Co. Council signed by the residents of O'Neill Park calling on the Council to carry out a number of tasks in the area of the estate. These include the resurfacing of the road leading into the estate and the immediate repair of footpaths. The petition also calls for the proper maintenance of the green areas in the estate.

LEINSTER PARK

Following representation from residents in the area, John McGinley has written to Kildare Co. Council asking that the entrance to the second phase in Leinster park be resurfaced as it is currently in a very poor condition.

PEDESTRIAN CROSSING

Arising from representations by Deputy Stagg to the Co. Engineer the pedestrian crossing in the Main Street has recently been resurfaced.

WOMEN'S SEMINAR

The newly established women's section of the constituency recently held a very successful one day seminar in Johnstown. The theme was Women In the Workplace. Speaking were Gay Cunningham E.S.B.O.A., a member of the Women's Committee of the I.C.T.U. and Gerry Curran, National Labour Youth Section. In attendance were Deputy Emmet Stagg and John McGinley, Constituency Chairperson. The meeting was chaired by Margaret Clince, Women's Officer. A number of issues were addressed which adversely affect women in the work place. The most important which emerged was the concentration of women in low paid jobs in the part-time sector of the economy.

70% of all part time workers are women, with little or no holiday, sickness or unemployment entitlements.

23% of the Irish workforce are in low paid jobs, the bulk of them women. It was agreed that a minimum statutory wage of at least 68% of the national average for all workers must be legislated for if this situation is to be redressed. Further all workers, whether they be fulltime or part-time should be entitled to the same benefits under the various Social Welfare Acts and should have such basic rights as holiday pay. The Party has been and will continue to fight for these basic rights for all workers on a national level. Within the constituency it was agreed that a campaign highlighting the issue of low pay and bad working conditions should be launched in the new year. This campaign is already underway. anyone is interested in this or any issue affecting women don't hesitate to contact Margaret Clince (285922) or any of your local party representatives or members.

COUNCIL BACKDOWN ON SERVICE CHARGES

Kildare County Council recently gave a High Court undertaking to release the Manager's Orders under which service charges have been levied in the county. Up to now, Council officials have consistently refused to release the documents, even to their own elected County Councillors.

Many people suspect that at least some of the Manager's Orders may be legally defective, and the High Court case, taken with the support of the Residents Against Local Charges group and ACRA, the umbrella group for Residents' Associations, is challenging the County Council's right to levy charges and disconnect households which refuse to pay the charges. Recently, the people of Maynooth gave very generously to a door-to-door collection to help finance the case.

The County Council has always avoided taking residents to court for non-payment of charges, preferring instead to use strong-arm tactics in cutting off supplies, tearing up footpaths in the process. However, the Celbridge resident in whose name the High Court case is being taken has had her supply reconnected. This represents a further victory for the local residents campaign against double taxation.

The Celbridge Suzuki Group are a group of young violinists from the age of three years who under the guidance of their teacher attain a very high degree of accomplishment. achievement is needily observed by the parents of the children when they attend a local concert ornational event. Suzuki Education originated in Japan during the 1940's when Dr. Shinichi Suzuki, a distinguished violinist recognised the significance of the way infants learn to speak their Mother Tongue. This led to a new concept of teaching music and an educational philosophy embracing the development of the talents innate in every child.

The Institute was founded in 1986 under the Presidency of Dr. Suzuki and is the official Irish Representative of Suzuki Education at home and abroad. Affiliated to the European Suzuki Association, it also maintains

WORKERS' PARTY NOTES

DEVELOPMENTS IN EASTERN EUROPE WELCOMED

The recent dramatic movement towards the democratisation of socialism in Eastern Europe has been welcomed by Workers' Party President, Prionsias de Rossa. While acknowledging the real advances made in general living standards and social progress by the socialist governments in that region over the years, Prionsias de Rossa reiterated the point he made in his Ardfheis address last April that socialism without real democracy is like "one hand clapping".

Rejecting much of the Western media coverage of events in Eastern Europe as superficial and simplistic, Prionsias de Rossa pointed to the assertion being made by many of the leaders of the democratic movement that they have no desire to reproduce in their own countries the gross inequalities and arrant consumerism which typify Western society. Certainly, the right wing political leaders who have ruled this country since 1922 can have nothing to crow about in terms of economic prosperity or democratic institutions.

Prionsias de Rossa also welcomes these developments because of the prospect they offer for an end to the Cold War and the constant threat of nuclear annihilation. Apart from the possibility that the huge sums currently being spent on armaments may be redirected to more socially useful purposes, international peace also provides a more conducive atmosphere in which the peoples of the world may work towards settling their differences amicably and creating a new era of mutual co-operation.

QUIZ SUPREMOS (ALMOST)

Congratulations to the Workers' party team (Denis Collins, Richard Power, Prionnsias Breathnach and Kay MacKeogh) who took second prize in the big Table Quiz recently organised by Maynooth Community Council and Maynooth Town AFC.

SEASON'S GREETINGS

We wish to take this opportunity to belatedly extend our best wishes for the festive season to all our readers. We look forward to seeing further progress towards achieving the true spirit of Christmas - mutual co-operation and social justice - in 1990.

Dr. Suzuki's aim is to stimulate, from birth, the unique abilities of each child through the natural loving relationship of parent as teacher, developing these talents to the full to enable the child to becme a well-balanced, responsive and happy adult.

Learning to play a musical instrument engages many different physical, intellectual and creative abilities. These can evolve most effectively through the infant's capacity for imitation. Dr. Suzuki believes that the learning of the Mother Tongue by infants has proved to be the most successful of all eductional prowesses, especially where there is frequent opportunity for repetition in a loving and encouraging home environment. As the child grows up these learnt responses form the basis of his/her own independent outlook.

The Suzuki Method of teaching music cannot be fully effective without commitment to this philosophy and the structure of this teaching approach must be viewed with this in mind.

The method is based on the principle of putting sound first - the children listens to recordings of music until they know it from memory, a direct analogy with the way speech is learnt.

Following this, the children learnt how to play what they already know. At a later state they learn to read what they can already play.

From the outset the parent works closely with the teacher, learning the basic elements of playing the instrument in order to be imitated by the child at home.

At each stage scrupulous attention is paid to the systematic development of a keen ear, a highly researched technique and a sense of beauty and depth in musical performance.

This is not a group method. The lesson format is essentially that of a partnership between child, parent and teacher. Children in Suzuki Education do, however, constantly receive the benefits of group playing through the use of a set repertoire, and frequently appear in public playing as a group allowing as many children as possible to enjoy taking part. Not surprisingly, very high standards of musicianship can be reached at an early age enabling any student developing a professional interest to make the best use of his/her ability.

The children are at present busily preparing themselves for their christmas concert and will also be raising money for charity. Should you require any information regarding the Suzuki method Anne Delarey may be contacted at 271154.

CUMANN NEWS BULLETIN

The launch of this regular newsletter is scheduled for early March of this year.

LOCAL LITTER

The Cumann continues to be worried about the need to improve local standards of responsibility in the disposal of litter and will liaise with the Tidy Towns committee and other bodies to ensure greater community performance in this regard.

POST PRIMARY SCHOOL

A circular letter from the Maynooth PTA, dealing with the short fall by half one fulltime teacher in the Post Primary School's pupil-teacher ratio, was considered with much sympathy. The Cumann resolved to give Councillor Gerry Brady every support in his efforts to restore the situation and also resolved to make representations to the V.E.C.

FIANNA FAIL REPORT

RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY TAX

Members noted the reservations and fears which people had about the Residential Property Tax and the possible effects on average families should House Values continue to increase to new levels. The Cumann resolved to monitor the situation and to prepare a report on the likely local ramifications in due course.

ROADS

Cllr. Brady reported on his efforts to ensure that the North Kildare area will be well-served this year despite the heavy demands from other parts of the county on the available resources. The continued progress in the network of motorway-standard by-pass roads in our area since the advent of the present Government was noted with approval.

MAIN STREET PHONE BOXES

The Bermuda Triangle-like disappearance of the twin boxes from in front of the Leinster Arms was commented upon and the Secretary will write to Telecom Eireann to get a view on their plans for telephone service in the town, given the considerable and young local and floating population which has need of such resources.

SWIMMING POOL

Not for the first time, the continuing need and severe lack of this facility in the town was noted. A working party was set up to examine the reasons for the delay in progress and to report to the next meeting on ways to get everyone in the swim as soon as possible.

MAIN STREET TREES

The Cumann deplored the interference by unauthorised persons with the trees and indicated strong support for their protection and development.

GARDA TALK

WELCOMING A NEW DECADE

As we welcome the commencement of another year and a new decade it is opportune and appropriate to reflect on our activities and the service we provide to the community that we serve.

Glasnost and perestroika, openness and rebuilding are words used by a current political leader to describe his endeavours to remould his society.

In contempory Irish society the principles of this policy could be applied in relating the function and role of the modern day Garda Siochana in a rapidly changing environment. Our service will have to become increasingly more community orientated so that we will ensure that the basic right of every citizen to go about their lawful business either in private or public without fear for their person or property is maintained. I am glad to relate that the powers that be are addressing these problems that confront us as we approach the "Nineties".

The new two year programme of training for our young Gardai contains many commendable features which should adequately equip those young men and women to meet the needs of our future generation. Many new sophisticated developments are also progressing in the Garda Radio and Communications network and significant enhancements are being carried out to expand the use of the Garda Computer Systems, all of which will ensure the availability of the best modern technology to the force.

Additional equipment, transport and other miscellaneous resources are also to be provided. I have no doubt that elements of those extra resources and improvements will gradually permeate through to the benefit of the local Gardai in Maynooth and the general community of the area. Consequently the Gardai face the "Nineties" in a spirit of hope and confidence. In the past our contact and liaison with the people often left a lot to be desired and the criminal prospered.

In the future its hoped to make full use of such formalised schemes as Neighbourhood Watch and Community Alert to combat criminality. Its also hoped to encourage and foster new channels of communications between the Community and the Garda Siochana through liaising with the local schools, sporting organisations and other responsible groups in our common aim to counter and defeat wrongdoing.

UNDERAGE DRINKING

A new Intoxicating Liquor Act became Law in 1988. Briefly here are a few of the provisions which apply to underage drinking.

Sect. 31: Prohibits the sale, delivery or consumption of Intoxicating Liquor to any person under 18 years, on a licensed premises. (Publicans should take particular note).

Sect. 32: Prohibits any person (older person) purchasing Intoxicating Liquor for consumption by a person under 18 years.

Sect. 33: Prohibits any person under 18 years purchasing Intoxicating Liquor and consume it in a place other than a private residence. This is aimed at stopping the practice of groups of young people assembling with packs of drink in fields or other public places and conducting open air parties. The Gardai now have power to seize the quantities of drink in such circumstances and such young offenders may be fined £50.00.

Without being patronising we would ask parents to talk to their children on this subject from a legal, medical and most of all a common sense point of view. There is no substitute for parental vigilence. Responsible attitudes to alcohol need to be fostered to avoid the abuses of it, which in turn create serious sociological problems in the form of crime, vandalism and other patterns of misbehaviour. The Gardai intend to enforce this law rigidly especially the contentious provisions mentioned above.

VISITS TO THE SCHOOLS

Recently all the schools in Maynooth were visitd by the local Gardai accompanied by Garda Arthur Kiely, Newbridge, the Juvenile Liaison Officer for the Naas Division. Arthur spoke on many varied topics including road safety, behaviour, underage drinking etc. I hope all concerned benefitted from the visit and we extend a special thanks to Arthur for giving of his time and talent so wholeheartedly. We hope to keep this initiative under review and perhaps arrange further talks in the future.

The Gardai wish to extend their thanks to the Students of the various schools for their attentiveness and courtesy during the visit. They all were a credit to their teachers and fine schools. Our gratitude also to Sister Acquinas and her teaching staff of the Girls' National School, Mr. P. O'Connell and his teachers of the Boys' National School and Mr. T. Ashe and his Staff of the Maynooth Post Primary School for the good will and support they afforded to our members during the visits.

In conclusion, while on the subject of Schools the Gardai wish to express our appreciation to all the boys from the Primary School for their performance in the JUNIOR WARDEN SCHEME. Motorist who pass the School on weekdays must notice these young men in their uniforms stopping traffic to allow their fellow students to cross the road safely. Boys, you give a great service and keep up the good work. Motorists, if you happen to pass, please show consideration and courtesy by driving slowely and obey their signals. We wish a happy, peaceful and prosperous New Year to all the people of Maynooth in 1990.

January and February are months of after Christmas sales and people begin to read holiday brochures and dream about summer holidays. We will therefore offer some information and advice in this and further issues about legal aspects of making your purchases and booking your holiday.

As we have said here before, the law does not set out to stop people making fools of themselves in commercial matters: it will not mend a bad bargain. However, it does try to set down at least certain minimum standards which seller and buyer may expect in their dealings, both in relation to the standards of goods and services and the type and quality of information made available to the buyer.

The Sale of Goods and Supply of Services Act, 1980 requires that goods sold by a business person to a consumer should be of merchantable quality, (reasonably) for their purpose, and be "as described". Those providing a service must do so with due skill, care and diligence; goods supplied as part of the service should be of merchantable quality; and the service-person is deemed to have the necessary skill to render the service.

SIXTIES NIGHT A SWINGING SUCCESS

The latest venture of the 5.05 Club, the College Social Club - a Sixties Night in the Leinster Arms function room - was an outstanding success. We hasten to add that the Sixties in question refer to the decade from which the music was taken, not the typical age of the participants (although it may have appeared so!).

Many of those present dressed up suitably (and perhaps not so suitably!) for the occasion, and we were amazed to find that some people not only had retained some of their clothes from over two decesies ago, but could still fit into them! The prizes for best costumes went to Carmel Hogan and Abdul Kashosh.

Everybody was agreed that the music was top class, and with voluminous sandwiches and sausages on offer, and a good pint to be had from the late bar, a tremendous night was had by all (with the possible exception of the two stray rugby players whose attempts to chat up two likely lassies were always doomed to failure!).

CITIZEN CONSUMER

On another level, the Consumer Information Act, 1978 (C.I.A.) makes it a public duty for business people and places a positive duty of care upon them to ensure that information supplied to the consumer is not false or misleading in any way.

Most people first get information on goods or services through advertisements, defined very widely under the CIA to include catalogues, circulars, brochures, hand-bills, price lists, etc. Where the Director of Consumer Affairs becomes aware of advertising that is false he may initiate a prosecution. A petrol retailer was fined recently for such an offence where the price shown on a petrol pump was 67.5p per litre but the price actually charged was 69.5p per litre when the Director's Inspector made a purchase.

A publican was fined for passing off an inferior whiskey (sold with a mixer) as a particular brand of Scotch. A tour operator was convicted as a result of a promise by way of brochure and confirmation invoice of an Aer Lingus flight following evidence that Aer Lingus had no such flights and had not been requested to arrange such flights. For those going to the January sales, watch out for those notices on display which are either of no legal effect or may be illegal. For example:

No money refunded. Goods personally selected cannot be returned or exchanged.

No exchange on sales goods.

Articles cannot be exchanged without receipt.

Only credit-notes on goods returned. The difficulty with these is that they imply that the buyer has no rights as laid down by the Sale of Goods and Supply of Services Act.

Another common problem, though difficult to prove or establish, is the display showing that the pre sale price for similar goods was higher than it may have been in reality. The law says that previous prices shown, in the absence of any indication to the contrary, must have been available in that shop for 28 consecutive days in the previous three months.

COLLEGE NOTES

IMPORTANT NEW BOOK LAUNCHED

A reception was held in the College by the Department of History on December 6th last to mark the publication of a new book by a nember of the Department's staff. The book in question, "The Lords of Dublin in the Age of Reformation", was written by Dr. Colm Lennon and published by Irish Academic Press. It deals with Dublin's merchant elite in the late 16th and early 17th centuries, and includes meticulously detailed accounts of over 100 leading citizens of the city during this period.

At the reception, hosted by the Head of the History Department, Professor Vincent Comerford, a copy of the book was presented to the College President, Monsignor Micheal Ledwith. The former head of the department, Monsignor Patrick Corish, and the author himself also addressed what was a most pleasant gathering.

WELCOME BACK

We take this opportunity of welcoming back Dr. Declan Gilheaney of the Chemistry Department, who has returned to the College after a period of leave in the USA.

NEW SECURITY PROBLEMS

The recurring security problems in the College, highlighted on several occasions before now in this column, took a new twist recently when a member of the Library staff had her car stolen from the Library car park. It was found shortly afterwards in Rathcoole, but not before it had been subjected to an amount of damage. It is a terrible sign of the times that are in it that we once again exhort all those who either work or study in the campus to be at all times as vigilant as possible and never to take anything for granted as far as security is concerned.

FR. DENIS FAUL LECTURE IN MAYNOOTH COLLEGE

"The cessation of violence will only occur through public disapproval" said Fr. Denis Faul, the Dungannon priest activist at a recent lecture in St. Patrick's College, entitled 'Aspects of Justice'.

"Sectarianism is the problem and not the border" he stated. There is no national solution to the Northern issue. Barriers will only be broken down by concerted community action, Fr. Faul maintains. The example was cited of the rotation of the Dungannon Council chairmanship in the 1960's, as a measure that might bring the two traditions together today.

Since capitalism and communism have apparently failed, education for justice is the other viable option, believes Fr. Faul. He defined justice as 'the perfection of charity'. Applying this to the Northern situation, he believes that charity manifests itself in non-coercion.

Referring to the Guildford Four and the Birmingham Six, Fr. Faul remarked that very often the saviours of justice are the older members of the Establishment. Project 1990. Please mark with X in the column provided all the activities you are interested in.

Agus i mbliana, go háirithe, le tús na nóchaidí, braithimid go bhfuil tábhacht le "tús úr".

Sean-nath anois é go dtosaitear ró luath ar brú a chur ar dhaoine "An Nollaig" a channach. Féile bhreá í gcónaí, ach is deacair a chapadh go bhfeicfidh leanaí í ach mar fhéile cheannaithe earraí. - 8. Bank of Ireland: To scrub the piped music in the branch office, and to scrub the hosepiped music when leaving a telephone caller on "hold".

- 12. Primary Teachers: To give less homework.

SPORTS NEWS

Juvenile: The Kildare Cross Country championhip have now been completed and there have been excellent performances by our athletes many of whom were running cross country for the first time. Newcomer Conor Diggins and long time member Emer O'Sullivan had to resist fierce pressure over the finishing stretch to win their individual titles in Boys U/9 and Girls U/13. Niall Byrne (Boys U/10) and Michelle Gillick (Girls U/11, U/12) won two individual medals each while Emma McCluskey and Aisling Redmond were also individual medalists.

The girls U/13 also took the team title with Shauna Feeney and Gemma Ham being the other scorers. The boys under 15 team of Paul Flood, Chris Byrne, Niall Gillick and Graham Loane were were also team winners while our girls U/12 team of M. Gillick, S. Feeney, Sarah Adderley and Virginia Breslin were third.

We won further awards in the "B" championships with gold medals going to Susan Adderley (girls U/10), Fiona Redmond (girls U/10) and Carmel Noonan (girls U/17). Sarah Adderley was third in girls U/11 and the boys U/15 team were again successful while Carmel Noonan was 2nd in junior ladies. Many other athletes qualified for Kildare teams for forthcoming Leinster championships. Details: Girls U/9 - Irene Kearney, 11, Girls U/10 - Susan Adderley 4, L. Kearney 18, Pearce Byrne 22, Catherine Duff 23.

Patsy had already won the vet ladies title with Helen Redmond 3rd and Bernie Dunne first U/30. Liam McNamee had a great win in the veteran men with Brian Redmond 2nd U/45 and Pearse Breslin 1st.

International: The club were once again proud to have one of their young athletes selected for the International Junior Team which competed in Ronse, Belgium in November. Carmel Norris had a superb run to finish 24th in a huge field of top class runners and senior selection was no more than she deserved for all the hard work and dedication she puts into her running. We are sure they will be selected again and her selection to compete abroad will also be an inspiration to our many up and coming athletes.

A first class performance by Maynooth who showed improved form in this game. Maynooth had the distinction of scoring all three goals in this game when man of the match Derek Murray had the misfortune to put through his own goal late in game when we were cruising to an easy victory. A thunderbolt free kick by Noel Kearns opened the scoring shot after half time and Brother Tony was not out done when scoring three minutes later.

Division 2 Killina 1 Maynooth 2

We avenged an earlier defeat by Killina when earning a hard win in this Kildare Derby. Goals by Joe O'Riordan and Michael Kelly paved the way for this win in which David Thompson continues to show consistant form. Our Christmas party in Kilcloon Inn proved to be a great success in which a good night's entertainment was enjoyed by all. Our group 'reflection' lived up to their image and among all the local artists none proved more popular than Paul (Elvis) Kelly who we wish well in the O'Keeffe's talent contest finals.

TOLLS

The good news for the nineties is that Maynooth residents will be able to drive into Dublin much faster than at present when the motorway is finally opened. However the bad news is that tolls are under serious consideration by the powers that be. From a number of items in this issue, we find that Maynooth motorists may be some 600 pounds the poorer per year when all these things come to pass.

By any standards, this is an unacceptable form of taxation. Motorists have already paid dearly for these roads in the form of motor tax and VAT. In any case, a large part of the cost of building these roads has been supplied by EC funds.

While the added expense may encourage more motorists to take to public transport, and thereby reduce pollution and congestion, there are many workers who have no alternative means of getting to work. In fact, it is possible that some people will have to consider moving out of Maynooth just to reduce transport costs. Incidentally, if they move into Dublin, they can save even more on local charges.

This issue looks set to become a source of considerable dissention among local voters. Watch this space!

THE LEISURE COMPLEX SOCIETY

While Maynooth is being encircled by unaffordable rivers of tarmac, encirclement by another, an equally unaffordable trend has just become apparent. The Newsletter has been long aware of plans for the development of Straffan House as a luxurious retreat for the rich. We hear it mentioned that Barberstown Castle is to be taken over as an annex to Straffan House.

More recently, it has been announced that Dowdstown Stud has been taken over by the UK company to be transformed into a unique 15 million pound leisure, hotel, and timeshare complex. Planning permission is being sought for a five-star luxury hotel, seventy duplex apartments, a leisure centre, golf course and fun park on the grounds. While there is great potential in these developments for employment, and for local business, they don't appear to be designed to answer the needs of the average overtaxed Maynooth resident. A modest swimming pool and sports complex located in the town, and accessible, and affordable, would be welcome.

TRAVELLERS

Just a reminder to readers that the Halting Site at Blacklion has been in operation for over a year, and the residents have now settled into the area. As anyone who has visited the site will notice, the homes in which the Travellers live are a far cry from the luxury timeshare apartments to be built in Dowdstown. However, the Halting Site represents a great improvement on the previous roadside conditions.

The Maynooth Travellers Settlement Committee is holding its Annual General Meeting on Tuesday, 6th February, in Caulfields Lounge, at 8.30 p.m. Anyone intersted in lending a hand with the work of the Committee is welcome to attend. In fact, the Committee would dearly love to see more people involved in working towards improving the living conditions of our fellow residents.

If you want to find out more, contact the Community Council Office or telephone 285922.

RIGHT OF REPLY

A number of businesses have complained to Newsletter staff about various items which appear in the Newsletter, which they feel are making unfair references to their particular business. We are eternally grateful to the business community in Maynooth Town for the support they give us through advertising, however, we have a responsibility to our readers to improve the level of service and presentation through comments we make. We offer praise where due, as well as criticism, which is always intended to be constructive. However, we would like to assure businesses we will always publish their side of the story.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Mr. Seamus O'Reilly, 57, Laurence Ave., Maynooth.

Dear Seamus,

Re: Carnation Day Fund Raising Campaign - 25th November, 1989 -Multiple Sclerosis Care Centre, 65, Bushy Park, Road, Terenure, Dublin 6.

On behalf of the Development Committee and on my own behalf I would like to thank you most sincerely for your generous assistance.

Your great interest in our Fund Raising Campaign was very gratifying and everybody associated with the Multiple Sclerosis Care Centre are deeply grateful and very appreciative. Again thank you for your support.

P. McLaughlin, Co-Ordinator.

Yours sincerely,

The Editor,
Maynooth Newsletter.

Dear Sir.

Re: Intimidatory Behaviour

I write to draw readers' attention to an incident of intimidatory and menacing behaviour to which our family was subjected from 4.00 a.m. until 4.35 a.m. on the morning of Thursday 18th January 1990, in our home in Maynooth Park.

A male adult, who we believe to be a student, seemingly under the influence of alcohol or drugs, rang our front door bell and refused to leave the front drive way of our house. He eventually left and walked to Greenfield Drive but returned after that. He insisted on ringing the door bell each time more insistently and menacingly than before demanding to know about some 'get together' of Donegal persons of which our family had no knowledge. More importantly he frightened our children by banging on our sitting room window with his fist and refusing to leave despite my warning to him to do so and telling him I had telephoned for Garda assistance (which I had done) to have him removed. Eventually he left having given the usual vulgar gesture used by persons of that type.

I would like to point out that there are several old people and widows living alone in the area and I would not like them to be subjected to this kind of misbehaviour. Sadly it seems it is becoming more difficult to enjoy the peaceful occupation of one's home with incidents like this and unruly noisy misbehaviour of students living in houses on the local estates.

Yours sincerely, Noel Lysaght.

Parent Teacher Association, Post Primary School, Maynooth.

The Editor, Maynooth Newsletter.

Dear Sir,

Re: Post Primary School Maynooth Bond Purchase Scheme.

I write on behalf of the parent teacher association in connection with a major fund raising effort which is about to commence.

I shall be obliged if you will publish the attached extract from the letter of Thomas Ashe, the school principal, to parents of pupils attending the school. Any readers who are interested in purchasing a bond or promoting the scheme can contact me or any other committee member or teacher for an explanatory leaflet and a purchase application form.

Yours sincerely,

N. Lysaght.

The Post-primary School in Maynooth has no source of finance other than the Department of Education and the Parents. We must look to you, therefore, for the necessary support and we do so confident in the knowledge that if you can help, then you will.

You are invited then to buy a Bond for £100, details of which are enclosed. Basically, you are being asked to subscribe £100 in return for which every single penny will be spent on your son/ daughter in providing extra facilities, staff, equipment etc. You will also be eligible for £2000 draw and all other draws which will take place; and to use any facilities which will be provided. At the outset, it is hoped to lay an allweather tennis and basketball court which will be available to the community after school hours, holidays etc. If you really need your £100 returned it can be done anytime within the five years. Hopefully, most parents will leave it as a gift to the school. A Bond can be purchased outright or in four instalments of £25 each over the period of a year by arranging a standing order with your bank. There is no limit to the number of bonds you can buy!

Dear Editor,

Many thanks for your generous contribution towards our Sales and Activities Day for School P.E. equipment, and the Ethiopia Relief Fund. Due to assistance by you and many others, we raised over £800. We appreciate yur co-operation and wish you a prosperous New Year.

Sincerely

J. McBride, G. Clarkson, D. Downes.

Dear Editor,

As a Socialist I have for long advocated co-operation of all forces of the political left against our common enemy - the political right. I find it frustrating and most regrettable that the Workers' Party in Kildare and particularly in Maynooth avail of every opportunity in public to attack the Labour Party and undermine that sought for co-operation.

In the December issue of the Maynooth newsletter one third of the valuable space available to the Workers' party was used for another such attack, where the facts were distorted and unfraternal language was used against the Labour Party.

What are the facts of the matter? The allocation of time in Dail Eireann for Private Members Time and for prior-

Dear Editor.

Following representations from a number of residents associations, the Kildare branch of ACRA is to conduct a county-wide survey of residents' views on the suggestions that toll charges be introduced both on the Naas/ Newbridge and the planned Leixlip/ Lucan motorways.

Initial reactions from associations are

Dear Editor.

Dear Editor.

Sinead had an abortion eight years ago, when she was twenty. Since then it has been gradually twisting every aspect of her life.

A few extracts from her letters may give a glimpse of the suffering she and many women like her, are going through. 'I'm looking in a mirror and I look cheap and used. Mammy and Daddy are so proud of me and I cringe sometimes when I look at them and look at what I've done. 'I've spent all those years waiting for retribution to descend on me. I don't think anyone or ity Questions is in direct proportion to the size of the Political parties in the Dail i.e. Labour with 15 seats gets twice as much time as the Workers Party who have 7 seats. Labour supported that system as being fair and democratic. The Workers Party sought a disproportionate amount of the time for themselves and were not successful and they have been whinging ever since.

In the Senate elections earlier this year 1989 the Workers' Party instructed their councillors and Deputies not to vote for the Labour Party candidates which meant that the Workers' Party voted for candidates of the political right. The precise results of the election showed that this is what occurred. That is another fact and one that did not enhance left co-operation.

In recent elections in Kildare, Labour very much against the tolls with the following objections to the fore:-

(a) They would hit local residents most of all, and could cost motorists an extra £6 per week to travel to work.

(b) They would constitute a 'double tax' as residents already pay road and other motor related taxes.

In formulating a considered and informed policy on the tolls proposal, in addition to consulting residents association, ACRA will be conferring with the Department of the Environment, be defined by the lines of houses on all sides, including those adjoining Barton's shop. At present the toilet blocks the view of anybody passing up and down the main street and what should be the town's attractive, open centre is dominated by an ugly public convenience.

anything will stop me believing that'. Sadly many of the people she went to for help, did not know how to help. In each case she was told to put it all behind her and get on with her life. These well meaning people had no idea of the depths of distress an abortion can cause. Complete honesty with oneself is the key to healing.

Such honesty can be very painful and very frightening but it is the only way to lasting healing. It opens the door to the grieving process to forgiveness and ultimately to peace, joy and freedom from fear. canvassed for transfers to the Workers' Party Candidates. This was not reciprocated and in fact we know the opposite occurred. Another fact not highlighted by the Local W.P.

Despite the above short list, (and there is a much longer list) Labour will continue to work for left unity and cooperation and the major obstacle to advance in this regard is the attitude and actions of the Workers' Party.

I would strongly advocate an end to such negative attitudes and actions and here publicly invite the Workers' Party to so do. By mutual respect and co-operation we can successfully present a genuine left alternative and challenge the domination of the political right. We must end the wasteful and energy sapping fraternal snipping. How about it Comrades?

Yours sincerely. Emmet Stagg

Kildare Co. Council, etc. We would also welcome contributions from local residents with expertise in this area. In the meantime ACRA contends that as this is a matter of some importance for residents throughout the county that no decision should be arrived at without a full and informed debate at local level. The decision should not be rushed through Kildare Co. Council or imposed by the Government without the expressed approval of the people of Kildare.

Michael Ouinn, Secretary.

The Community Council should do everything in its power to prevent Kildare County Council from perpetrating another architectural blunder in the people of Maynooth. If the centre of our town is marred, we can hardly expect improvements in other areas to restore its harmony.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL NOTES

The Annual General Meeting of the Community Council took place on Monday 15th of January.

CHAIRPERSON'S REPORT

This is the last time that I will address the A.G.M. and it is heartening to be able to speak with reasonable confidence in contrast with the difficulties which the Council experienced a year ago. However, the same problems be set us - such problems as lack of interest, bad attendance.

However to look at the brighter side: The overdraft has been wiped out successfully and I hope that the new Council takes over a healthier situation in April.

We began a very successful Teamwork Scheme, which continues in 1990 from the end of January.

The SES continues, going from strength to strength, with application for more workers.

I would like to thank the following: The Executive for their continuing support.

The councillors.

Mr. Thomas Ashe for the use of the school, when we wished to return.

John Saults in the College for all his help.

Norah McDermott and the various and many SES workers who have passed through the Office over the past year. Christina Saults for her unending dedication and hard work on any project carried out by the Council.

The various and many Teamworkers

Maynooth Community Council was established by democratic election in June 1984; the second elections were held in March 1987; the council includes the President of the Students' Union and a Maynooth College nominee. The Community Council is the official voice of the Maynooth area.

Its Aims are:

- * promote the well being of the community,
- * secure facilities which are considered lacking.
- * assist the local authority in exercising its office,
- provide or help to provide employment.

CHAIRPERSON'S ADDRESS A.G.M. 1990 Post Primary School 15th January 1990 who tolerated the teething problems with a new scheme.

All sub-committees and their members, both those who are councillors and non-councillors.

All those who give us assistance during the year, quietly and without looking for credit of any kind.

FAS - particularly Mr. Des Murray, placement Officer and Mr. Eamonn Rapple without whose ongoing support, interest and assistance we would have difficulty functioning at times.

The application for, and the achievement of Town Commission Status is an end which the Community Council should pursue with energy. It is clear from the response and resources which have been received by Leixlip, that the Commission Status is essential to the betterment and future of the town, if any significant advancement is to be achieved by Maynooth as a community

Secondly, the continuance of the various Schemes is greatly to be recommended, for obvious, and some less obvious reasons. Principally, we provide short-term employment for 14

COMMUNITY COUNCIL SECRETARY'S REPORT TO THE 1990 A.G.M. ON 15th JANUARY.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL MEETINGS

Meetings were held every month with the exception of August.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL OFFICE

The Community Council employ 14 people on FAS schemes - 7 on Social Employment and 7 on a Teamwork Scheme.

These workers provide secretarial and organisational services to Council Sub-people at present. This may increase this year. It is important to note that the vast majority of these workers attain permanent employment while in our employ or shortly following. It is also essential to the working of the Council that their work continue. Much of the nitty-gritty work on much of the Council's projects are carried out by these workers - many of whom work overtime, outside office hours on various activities without any pay and often without being requested to do so.

There will be many opportunities and challenges with this oncoming decade, with the repercussions of the By-Pass, Intel, The College bi-centenary, restoration of the castle and the advent of 1992 in general. As a community we must be prepared to face these challenges and capitalise on any gains that may be made to the area in whch we live. I hope that the people of Maynooth will take an interest in their own future and become involved in the Community Council in the March Elections. Those of us who have been involved for some time like myself, and many who have served longer terms, would love to see new blood, new ideas, new faces around this table. Without the involvement of the community - there is no community. Muireann Ni Bhrolchain, Committees, voluntary bodies and students, as well as producing the Maynooth Newsletter on a monthly basis. In addition classes in drama, music, art and crafts are provided, free of charge, to the children of Maynooth. The workers are presently putting the finishing touches to the Maynooth Information Directory which will be distributed to all households in February '90.

Chairperson.

On behalf of the Community Council I would like to thank the workers on both schemes for their tremendous efforts throughout the year. A special word of thanks is due to our Administrator Christina Saults and our Supervisor Norah McDermott.

1. St. Patrick's Day Parade:

The committee managed to get 41 floats to participate in the parade in 1989. The parade was a great success and the number of onlookers was significantly up on previous years. Hopefully the 1990 parade will be even better. (R.T.E. coverage is expected).

2. Community Festival:

This very successful festival included the following: Carton House open days / Inter Estate 7- A-Side Soccer / Hudsons Carnival / Inter Pub G.A.A. / Parish Hall Concerts / Primary School Poster Competition / Duck Derby / St. Mary's Brass and Reed Band Recital / Pub Music/Talent Competition/Table Quiz / Irish Dancing / Maynooth Accordian Band recital / Inter Stud 7- A-Side Soccer (Emmet Stagg Cup) / Battle of the Bands / Guinness Jazz Band / Mid Summer Bar-B-Cue.

A special word of thanks is due to Peter Holland and his committee for running the 7-A-Side inter estate soccer competitions so successfully.

3. Christmas Tree

The tree was again erected on top of the Public convenience in the Square. Our thanks to the Chamber of Commerce for putting up the street lights. We recommend that they use the trees for future years.

B. Tidy Towns

It is a pity that the Committee's hard work was not rewarded with a higher score in the Tidy Towns Competition. Litter continues to be the biggest problem. The removal of the 'The Thing' in the square should also be an objective of the Committee.

The Tidy Shop Front Competition was won by Mulcahy butchers and the Tidy Estate Competition was won by Cluain Aoibhinn.

C. Youth Affairs

Their main responsibility was the Community Games, which the committee handled with their usual efficiency. Six competitors from Maynooth represented Kildare at the National Finals in Mosney.

D. Travellers' Settlement Sub-Committee

Apart from handling ongoing business the committee arranged a bus for transporting the children to school. This funded 95% by the Department of Education. In addition the committee dressed the children for confirmation.

E. Editorial Board of Maynooth Newsletter

The quality of the finished product is evidence enough to show that this sub-committee is doing its work. The addition of a computer to the office in the new year should make life that much easier for them.

F. Maynooth Communications Sub-Committee

Copies of the new directory will be available for delivery to all houses in early February. There will be no charge for the directory. It is expected that the finished product will be of a very high standard.

FINANCE

Following successful fundraising activities our financial position is now more stable. I would like to thank the 4 Councillors who went guarantor when our financial position was less than satisfactory. Thanks to Larry O'Brien, Tom Flanagan, Dominic Nyland and Muireann Ní Bhrolcáin.

A special word of thanks to the Students' Union of St. Patrick's College who gave us £450 from the proceeds of their Rag Week and Carton House for their donation of £300.

SPORTS COMPLEX

In conjunction with St. Patrick's College and the 3 other schools, our proposals for a Sports and Recreation Centre were re-submitted to Mr. Frank Fahey T.D. Minister of State at the Department of Education on 12th October, 1989.

The Joint Working Party will be meeting in early January 1990 to consider progress to date.

DISCUSSIONS WITH KIL-DARE COUNTY COUNCIL

The following are some of the issues raised with Kildare County Council over the year:

Maintenance of Laraghbryan and Grangewilliam Cemetaries; Maintenance of Pound Park, Carton Avenue and The Boreen; Maintenance and protection of trees on Main Street, Double Lane stop sign, Parson Street -Maynooth College junction stop sign; Demolition of public convenience in market square; One way traffic system in market square; Painting of box junction at market square; Insurance for playground at the harbour; Replace ment of Bond Bridge with a new bridge in the long term - Immediate resurfacing of the roadway and installation of traffic lights in the short term.

REPRESENTATIONS ON BEHALF OF RESIDENTS

Representations were made throughout the year by the secretary on various issues to: Dublin Bus, Iarnród Eireann, Telecom Eireann, E.S.B., Garda Siochánna, St. Patrick's College, Maynooth Relays, Maynooth Chamber of Commerce and R.T.E.

TOWN COMMISSION STATUS FOR MAYNOOTH

The application for Town Commission status was made to the Minister for the Environment Mr. P. Flynn, T.D. on 10th May 1989.

A deputation from the Community Council met the Celbridge Area Committee of Kildare County Council on 10th November 1989 and agreed in principal the boundaries proposed by the County Manager.

The Community Council at its meeting of 13 November agreed that the County Manager's proposals were reasonable. The County Manager is now sending a copy of his proposals to each of the 22 original petitioners for their views (all of these petitioners are members of the Community Council so there should be no hold up). It is then up to the Minister to convene a public meeting to consider the matter. The local government electors within the proposed boundary are entitled to vote at this meeting and they can decide to accept or reject the proposals.

ELECTIONS

The next Community Council elections are due to take place in March '90, and the Executive Committee is currently preparing plans for holding them. It is hoped that some new people will come forward, particularly in the under represented areas of Beaufield, Kingsbry and Greenfields.

CONCLUSION

I would like to thank you, the Councillors and all others who helped in any way in achieving the Council's goals in 1989 and I look forward to continued co-operation as we go into a new decade.

John McGinley, Secretary.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL ELECTIONS

Maynooth Community Council comes to the end of its term of office at the beginning of April. Elections for a new Council will be held at the end of March. In all, there are 38 places to be filled in these elections. Two further places will be allocated to nominees of Maynooth College Executive Council and Maynooth College Student's Union. Further members may be coopted at the discretion of the incoming Council.

Election Arangements

There are some modifications to the division of the Community Council catchment area into electoral areas compared with the previous election.

The number of Council places per electoral area is based on a rough ratio of 100 voters (from the Electoral Register) per Council member. The electoral areas are as follows:

- 1. Town Centre (5 places) comprises the area bounded by Bond Bridge, Mullen Bridge, Blacklion, Kildare Bridge (Dunboyne Road) and the Parish Church.
- 2. Old Rail Park/Straffan Road (1 place) includes the Crescent.
- 3. Rail Park Estate (2 places).
- 4. Greenfield Estate (5 places) Includes Laurence Avenue, Maynooth Park, Greenfield Drive and Straffan Way.
- 5. Carton Court (2 places).
- 6. Kingsbry (5 places).
- 7. Greenfield Lane/Greenfield phase 1(1 place).
- 8. Greenfield Phase 2 (1 place).
- 9. Greenfield Phase 3/private Sites (1 place).
- 10. Beaufield (2 places).

- 11. Newtown (1 place).
- 12. Cluain Aoibhinn (1 place).
- 13. College Green (1 place).
- 14. Moyglare Road (2 places) includes Moyglare Village Estate.
- 15. Outlying Area A (see map) (1 place) Includes the townlands of Carton Demesne Old Carton, Catherinestown, Kellystown, Blakestown.
- 16. Outlying Area B (2 places) includes the townlands of Windgates (East side of Straffan Road), Toolestown (do), Corbally, Griffinrath, Moneycooley, Ballygoran, Barrogstown/West/East, Killmacredock, Donaghmore.
- 17. Outlying Area C (3 places) Includes the townlands to Towanstown, Dowdstown, Taghadoe, Toolestown (West side of Straffan Road), Windgates (do.), Newtownmacabe, Roosk, Smithstown, Johninstown, Graiguesallagh, Cowanstown, Kealstown, Graiguelin, Derrinstown, Donaghstown.
- 18. Outlying Area D (1 place) Includes townlands of Timard, Laraghbryan East/West, The Maws, Ballycurraghan, Treadstown, Cormickstown, Crinstown and Laragh Demesne.

Election Schedule

Nominations

A Nomination Form is included in this issue of the Newsletter. Additional forms may be obtained from the Community Council Office.

All nomination forms should include the name and address of the nominee, the signatures of a proposer and seconder, and the signature of the nominee signifying her/his acceptance of the nomination. All nomination to be submitted to the Community Council Office by Monday March 19.

Elections

Voting papers will be distributed to all eligible households between March 26th - 30th. Votes will be collected the following week. Where votes have not been collected, they may be brought to collection points which will be specified on the voting papers. All votes must be returned by Friday April 6th.

Counting of votes will take place on Saturday April 7th. Counting will be done by neutral volunteers under the supervision of outside scrutineers. For single seat electoral areas, the single transferable vote method of counting (as in by-elections to Dail Eireann) will be used. For multiple-seat areas, each voter will have as many votes as there are seats available, with the candidates obtaining the most votes being elected, as appropriate. This system is both easy to operate, and fairer than first-to-the-post methods used in British elections.

The first meeting of the new council will take place on Monday April 23rd.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The Executive were collectively reelected for the remaining period of the existing Council - the end of March. Some discussion took place concerning the period between elections and it was generally agreed that an election every two years would be preferable.

THE HARBOUR FIELD

Some discussion took place surrounding the correspondence which has been taking place between the Community Council and the trustees of the Field regarding usage, responsibility and insurance. It was decided that a meeting should take place between the executive and the trustees to clarify these issues.

A CELTIC FAIRY TALE

On 16th, 17th, 18th of February Maynooth Community Council Arts Group will stage its first ever musical. This is an original Musical Fantasy written by Helen Clarke and co-produced by Helen Clarke and Paul Howard-Williams. 38 children from the local community and 15 adults from both college and community will take part in what promises to be a spectacular display of talents. The musical will be staged in the Aula Maxima of St. Patrick's College and it is hoped that at least 2,000 people will see the show over the 3 days.

As a graduate of Maynooth and now living and working in the town of Maynooth, I have been aware of too wide a gap between local people and the student population. It is very important in these days where there is a growing emphasis on community development, that this gap is bridged to enable the community to function as a whole unit.

Music and drama is an ideal way to begin to break down these barriers which is why, as producer, I decided to make the musical a joint venture between college and town. Together both form the community of Maynooth; one cannot exist without the other.

Hopefully this year will set the precedent for similar productions in following years.

This years production has been difficult to get started because it is the first of its kind. The cast we have now, work wonderfully together and are very dedicated and professional. As regards finance, we have applied for assistance from local businesses and as it is a joint production with the college the drama society have promised us £200 from their capitation. We are also awaiting assistance, both financial and practical from the music society. I'd like to take this opportunity to thank everyone for their help.

LAST EXIT

'Last Exit to Brooklyn' is a unique synthesis of German expressionism OPENED JAN. 5th - SAVOY and urban realism, the former realised in the gothic nocturnal cinematography, the latter emanating from the squalor of metropolitan deprivation. It is a cinema reminiscent of the director (Uli Edel) and producer (Bernd Eichinger's) previous collaboration 'Christine F' (1980), a harrowing depiction of teenage prosititution and herion addiction in the U-Bahns of Berlin. Adapted from the novel 'H' their latest opus has a similar literary genesis being based on the once banned novel of Hubert Selby Jnr. 'Last Exit' which incurred the wrath of the British public with its publication in 1966 and laading to it's expurgation under the Obscenity Act in 1967 and a successful appeal in the following year. By this stage its assimilation into the vernacular was complete.

A cinematic adaptation of such incendiary material seemed imminent, yet previous attempts by directors as diverse as Stanley Kubrick and Brain De Palma all resulted in failure. The main problem stemming from the non-linear, segmented narrative of the novel, actually a series of vignettes loosely connected by a common locale, based on Redhook, Brooklyn, New York.

Once again, music lovers can look forward to a series of excellent concerts and musical events in the College this Spring. Here are some dates for your diary:

5 February, 1.15-2.00

Mary Brennan, soprano, Celia Donoghue, clarinet and Mairead Hurley, piano.

(Education Hall, Old Campus)

12 February, 1.15-2.00

Finghin Collins, violin and piano, Donagh Collins, cello and piano (Education Hall, Old Campus)

DUBLIN ARTS DIARY

Edel successfully overcomes this structural restriction by elaborating on the inter-relationships between the central characters and developing them against he omnipresent strike in a local factory.

The opening sequence which defines the era and area with its superimposition of the legend Brooklyn 1952, also foregounds the central protagonists. Vinnie (Peter Dobson) the neighbourhood gang-leader and small-time pimp instigates a brutal assault on a soldier from a nearby barracks who had naievely intervened in a domestic quarrel between him and Tralala (Jennifer Jason Leigh) - a sassy 15 year old prosititue with a tough exterior masking an inner sensitivity. The film proceeds in episodic fashion ranging over themes such as sado-masochism tranvestitism and union corruption.

Issues that are enacted through such nefarious characters as Big Joe (Burt Young) a working-class archetype; the

TO BROOKLYN

'hip queer' Georgette (Alexis Arquette, Rosannas' brother) and the sexual angst of the dishonest shop steward Harry Black (Stephen Lang in an emotionally charged performance).

Hubert Selby Jnr's (who makes a brief but deadly appearance) self-stated intention in writing 'Last Exit' was to present the working class community with an objective starkness - a nonjudgemental portrayal of those 'thousands who remain nameless'. However the characters emerge as automatons devoid of any reason or any endearing aspects of humanity. The menacing atmosphere conveyed by a ceaselessly marauding camera functions not in 'shocking' its audience (as the publicity would have us believe) but rather in numbing the sense, or fulfilling the expectation of a public weaned on 'Rambo' and 'Robocop'. While the film has an engaging voyueristic attraction from the macrocosmic impressively staged spectacle of strikebound Brooklyn to the microcosmic minutiae of the drug addict, it emerges ultimately as a darkly entertaining vision of a controversial though mediocre novel.

WRITERS' CRAMP

So To The Future

In the years that have past,
And the year that has gone,
So much change has swept our world,
From the rise of the shuttle,
To the fall of the Wall,
We think we have learned,
We've learned nothing at all.

The tears and the joys
So many have passed,
We still haven't learned,
We're all the same class,
Rich and poor,
Black or white,
With so much change,
It's still not right.

And so to the 90's
And so to beyond,
What's new for tomorrow,
That hasn't already gone,
So to the future,
So to us all,
With life as we know it,
We change and rise,
Or else we just fall.

Martin O'Brien.

STUDENTS AND THE COMMUNITY

Eye Hear brings to your attention the following extract from the college Handbook produced by the Students' Union in the College:

"The majority of students attending Maynooth College will actually live in Maynooth town for their three to four years of academic life. The relationship between students and the permanent residents of Maynooth has generally been fairly limited to say the least. The Students' Union is of the opinion that students have a certain amount of responsibility to the Maynooth Community and that greater integration of the College into the Community can only be beneficial to both parties. It is for these reasons that the Students' Union applied for, and obtained, representation on the Community Council . . . This Council works for the benefit of Maynooth, and we, as students, should try to facilitate its work, and even become involved in it, since for the period of our academic lives, we, too, are Maynooth residents. At the very least, we appeal to all students to have consideration for members of the community and respect for the public property of the town."

Maybe these timely words are responsible for the relative cessation in hostilities between residents and a small minority of students in the last few months. Long may it continue.

EYE HEAR

The Leinster Arms

Readers may remember Eye Hear's foiled attempt to taste the culinary delights of the Leinster Arms Restaurant some time ago. However, we have now been informed that that experience happened under the confusion which accompanied a changeover in management. Never one to hold a grudge, Eye Hearduly repaired to the Leinster Arms where a delightful dish of cheeseburger (made from real meat, and not pulverised sawdust mixed with Paxo stuffing) and lashings of chips washed down with gallons of tea, allowed Eye Hear to forget the earlier disappointment.

High Noon on Main Street

The Sheriff sure made a killing when he rode into town just before Christmas, to settle a taxing problem among some Main Street businesses. According to reports at least three businesses were hit. While we sympathise with those who have lost their jobs in this massacre, Eye Hear is also glad to see the PAYE sector is no longer the sole prey of the Taxperson.

And more Wild West stuff

Aidan's Newsagents and Maynooth Filling Station were the recipients of a more frightening type of raid recently, when three armed youths in a stolen car visited the premises. While the sums taken were relatively small, no more than £150 in total, it is frightening to think that these gangsters are prepared to endanger human lives for such a small return.

And while we're on the subject, Eye Hear would like to ask the elderly gentleman spotted wandering around Kingsbry Estate, armed with a loaded shotgun to lay down his arms in populated areas. He may have a licence to shoot game, but Eye Hear would be surprized to learn that this housing estate has been turned into a grouse moor for the shooting season. Eye Hear's heart has just about returned to its normal resting place following the discharge of this person's weapon not a million miles away from her.

Writer Clairr O'Connor has added to her impressive list of publications with a collection of poems 'When You Need Them.' The book, published by Galway's Solmon Press, was launched at a reception in Dublin's city-centre hotel, Buswell's just before Christmas.

Handsomely produced, at £4.95 it is a book which gathers together pieces drawing on the experiences of a woman's life in varied circumstances. On February 21st Clairr will be featured reading her work at a Poetry Ireland event in Bewley's Cafee in Dublin.

BAND BULLETIN

We open our bulletin on a sad note this month, with the passing of our President and great friend Paddy Dunne. One has to stop and think how Paddy became involved with the Band as he was not a playing member. His first contact was through the popular Whist Drives, which the Band organised in the fifties and sixties to raise funds for Band Hall repairs, uniforms and instruments. He turned up every Friday night to run the drives in his own inevitable manner and in the process made many, many friends.

When the Whist Drives finally ended Paddy retained his interest in the Band and over the following years played a very active part in committee matters. I can vividly recall the Sunday afternoon when he willingly 'sacrificed' one of his precious fields so that midget cars could plough through it in the cause of fund raising for the Band. Another task, which gave him tremendous pleasure was providing the Christmas Tree for the Band Hall every year. We would leave it to Paddy to come up with the 'perfect' tree and it was always at his own expense.

Paddy was a great attender at Band meetings and took a very active part in all discussions and this continued when he was honoured with the Presidency of the Band, even though this is regarded as an Honorary Position in most organisations.

Paddy was always so very proud of his connection with the Band and nowhere was this more apparent than when he joined the other dignitaries in the reviewing stand for the St. Patrick's Day parade representing St. Mary's Band. It was a measure of the regard in which he was held by the Band members that there were such large numbers in the guard of honour which escorted his remains from the Convent to the Church and we are certain that he was proud of the send off which he received from the Band on his last journey to Laraghbryan Cemetery.

We in common with so many others in Maynooth have lost a great and loyal friend and we extend our deepest sympathy to his wife Patsy and family. May he rest in peace.

RIGHTS COLUMN C

Q. What is the difference between a Medical Card, A Hospital Services Card and a Long Term Illness Card?

A. All three of the cards you mention are issued by your local health board. A brief outline of what is covered by each card is set out below.

Medical Card

A Medical Card, is a person's proof of entitlement to a range of free health services. Your medical card must be presented whenever services without charge are being claimed. There is a means test to decide eligibility for a medical card but there is no fixed income limit as such and each case is considered on its merits. The income guidelines presently in use are:

Married couple (under 66) £108.00 Single person living alone £75.00 Single person living with family £65.00

In addition there are age allowances of those over 66 or over 80, child and dependents allowances, and allowances in respect of outgoings on your house and travelling expenses to work. Full details are given in the 1989 Social Welfare Rates Book which you may consult at your local CIC.

The Dept. of Health issued a circular in October 1989 recommending that applicants for medical cards should not be disqualified on the grounds of income from the Family Income Supplement or the Social Employment Scheme. It is not yet clear whether this recommendation is being taken up by the individual health boards.

Hospital Services Card

if you are not entitled to a Medical Card and if in the previous tax year your income was less than £16,000 you would be eligible for the services provided for persons in Category 2. If you are in this category you may apply for a Hospital Services Card but your entitlement does not depend on you actually having the card. If your earnings were less than the qualifying amount. You could simply produce your P60 (End of year statement of earnings from your employer) at the hospital.

Your wife/husband will be separately assessed if s/he had an income in her/his own right in the qualifying year. Where there are two incomes, the children will be regarded as dependents of the spouse with the higher income. Students aged under 25 who do not have Medical Cards are in Category 2, even though their parents may not be.

Certain people who were voluntary contributors to Social Insurance either on 31 March 1974 or 5 April 1979 may have an entitlement to Category 2 health services regardless of income.

Long Term Illness Card

Persons suffering from any of the following conditions can obtain without charge the drugs and medicines prescribed for the treatment of that condition:

Mental handicap, Mental illness (for persons under 16 only), Phenylketonuria (mental retardation in infancy), Spina Bifida, Hydrocephalous, Diabetes Mellitus, Diabetes Insipidus, Haemophilia, Cerebral Palsy, Epilepsy, Multiple Sclerosis, Muscular Dystrophies, parkinsonism, Acute Leukaemia dn Cystic Fibrosis. A person who suffers from any of the listed conditions may apply for a Long Term Illness Card. Asthma is not included on the list of illnesses covered by the Long Term Illness Card.

This column has been compiled by Maynooth Community Information Centre which provides a free and confidential service to the public.

VISIT BY SCIENCE MINISTER

The Minister for Science and Technology, Michael Smith, recently paid an official visit to Maynooth College to attend a function to mark the awarding of research grants worth a total of £1.4 millions to the College's Biology Department. These grants, which will support an additional ten research posts in the College, involve the Biology Department in links with a range of outside bodiesincluding the European Community, the Health Research-Board, the Irish Cancer Society, EOLAS (the Irish Science and Technology Agency), the Kuwait Foundation for the Advancement of Science, and the Agricultural Genetics Company of Cambridge.

The grants will fund a range of projects, including the use of living organisms as an alternative to chemical pesticides, a study of cancerous lymphomas, a study of infectious yeasts, and studies relating to leukaemia, ageing and toxins. During his visit, Mr. Smith (whose brother William was a former head of the College's Geography Department) inspected the teaching and research facilities of the Science Faculty. Continuous growth in student numbers has placed severe strain on these facilities, and it is hoped that the Minister's visit may herald an early announcement of government funding for a long-awaited new Science Building for the College.

RAIL LINE BOOST FOR COLLEGE

Recent advertisements by Iarmrod Eireann for tenders for the construction of four additional stations on the Mayrooth rail line augur well for the future of the College. Three of the stations (the fourth is to be built at Confey in Leixlip) are to be built in the rapidly-expanding Castleknock and Blanchardstown areas, and will greatly enhance access to Mayrooth from these areas, especially in comparison with other third level colleges in the greater

COLLEGE NOTES

Dublin area. The resultant extra demand for places in Maynooth College will, hopefully, give further encouragement to the government to fund additional physical and staff development in the College, which is already bursting at the seams as a result of continuous growth in student numbers over the years.

FIRST HONORARY NUI DEGREE AWARDED

The first ever honorary degree of the National University of Ireland (NUI) to be awarded in Maynooth was conferred on Mr. Cathal Gannon just before Christmas. Mr. Gannon was awarded a Master of Arts degree in recognition of his distinction as a maker and restorer of keyboard instruments. originally employed as a carpenter in Guinness's Brewery, Mr. Gannon's ability as a keyboard craftsman became recognised to the extent that he was given his own workshop for this purpose on the Guinness premises. This allowed him to develop his expertise further, including extensive research both in Ireland and abroad. Maynooth College benefitted directly from Mr. Gannon's work in the form of a new Italian-style harpsichord and a restored 1827 Clementi Grand piano, both of which were graciously donated to the College. The harpsichord will be of particular utility in the performance of baroque music in the College.

NEW TRAFFIC AND PARKING REGULATIONS

The much heralded new traffic and parking regulations for the College finally came into operation on January 1st. Among the main features of the scheme are the exclusion of through traffic from St. Joseph's Square and the assignment of particular parking spaces to particular sections of the College staff. In addition, three general parking areas have been designated, in front of Logic House, between New House and the Physics Department/Creche, and in front of Loftus House. The College Authorities are particularly anxious to eliminate the random parking in driveways which had become increasingly common (despite the widespread placing of traffic cones) and appeals to all staff, students and visitors to comply with the new regulations.

The exclusion of bicycle traffic from St. Joseph's Square, which links the two main non-seminary parts of the College, was not, apparently, greeted particularly warmly by a significant portion of the student body. However, plans to stage a "cycle-in" were, we hear, averted when the College authorities and the Studen Union came to an agreement which would allow students (and presumably staff too) to "walk" their bikes through the square.

T.V. COVERAGE FOR CHRISTMAS CAROL SERVICE

The annual Christmas Carol Service in the College Chapel was given added prestige this year by being televised by RTE on Christmas Eve. The ninety minute programme include all three of the College choirs, along with the recently-formed Brass Ensemble and, of course, the Chapel Organ. There was also a performance on traditional instruments and a number of solo performances, along with several spoken contributions, including a homily by the College President, Monsignor Michael Ledwith. All in all it was a delightful performance of which the College's Music Department can be proud.

SPACE CRYSTAL EXHIBITION

An exhibition of crystals made in the weightless conditions of outer space on board the space shuttle Discovery is currently on display in the Arts Block concourse. The exhibition, prepared by the 3M company, includes both examples of actual crystals and the apparatus used in their manufacture, as well as an explanatory video. The display is open to the public and continues until February 9.

SALE OF WORK

The final total for the 1989 sale of work was £3427; our thanks to all who made this magnificent sum possible. We are looking forward now to November 1990. Already the old people are making craft items during the Tuesday morning sessions. Perhaps you could keep us in mind during the year:-

- 1. Would that unwanted item make a few bob on one of the stalls (clothes, books, while elephant)? How about something for the wheel of fortune.
- Could you take a few extra or make an extra pot of jam or Christmas pudding
- 3. That jumper you are never going to finish, or the balls of wool left over, might they be handed on to the Old people's Committee?
- 4. Could you make something for the craft stall perhaps while you are watching T.V.?

OLD PEOPLE'S COMMITTEE

Remember the proceeds of the Sale of Work all go towards helping improve the lives of the older members of our community.

CHRISTMAS DINNER

More than 140 old people from Maynooth, Mulhussey and Kilclone enjoyed a lovely evening. Mr. Peter O'Brien provided the excellent meal and we would like to thank him, together with his family and employees, for their kindness and hard work. Our thanks also to Josie, Aideen Flood, Eileen Byrne, Vinnie Mulready, the Accordian Band and St. Mary's Church Choir for entertaining us so well, to Mr. T. Ashe for the use of the school facilities and to all those who provided such lovely prizes.

VALENTINE'S PARTY

This will take place in the Post Pri-

AGM

The following officers were elected at the AGM held on January 10th.

Chairperson: Imelda Delaney
Vice Chairperson: Briget Tierney
Secretary: Rose Bean
Ass. Sec. Joan Lennon
Treasurer: Catherine Mulready

Our very best wishes for a happy and successful team of office. Congratulations to John Moran of Laragh who celebrates his 100th birthday and to Mrs. J. Twomey who will be 80 on January 21st. Our best wishes to the other old people who have birthdays at this time of the year.

We send our sympathy to the family and friends of Rosie Harte who died recently.

ROYAL CANAL NOTES

The harbour now looks very well since the dam was removed and the approach area cleaned. Negotiations are now well in hand until the E.S.B., Kildare County Council and O.P.W. for the provision of lighting in the Canal Harbour area.

Next month on Thursday 22nd Feb. Maynooth College Musical Society joins with the R.C.A.G. to present the Second Annual Variety Concert at the Aula Maxima in the College. Artists are currently being lined up for this concert and judging by the names being mentioned and possible performers it should be a very good concert.

Once again the Boys' National School Maynooth are joining forces with the R.C.A.G. for the annual Spring Fair in April. Since this project takes a lot of organisation both committees have been working on this since before Christmas, more about this in the next issue.

Watch this space too for particulars of the "Lions Club" "Royal Canal Jamboree" which will take place on Sunday, May 6th.

VANDALISM

The term VANDALISM means wanton damage to property with no particular aim but to commit destruction. Most acts of misbehaviour of this type are committed by young people. How does Vandalism affect you; look around and you will see plenty of evidence in the form of shattered phone boxes, bus shelters, damaged street lights, uprooted and broken young trees, damaged motor vehicles etc. These are the unpleasant results of vandalism. The cost of replacing vandalised public property must be met by the taxpayer. Thus you the Community are the real victims and sufferers.

What can I do?

- 1. As a parent you can exercise vigilance by talking to your children in a commonsense way about this nasty subject and in so doing generate a spirit of moral responsibility in our young people. Do you know where your children are now; who are they with and what are they doing.
- As a citizen if you observe an incident of Vandalism, telephone the Gardai or pass on information of your sightings to the local Station; it will be treated in the strictest confidence and acted on.

PATROL CAR

A new Patrol Car was allocated to Maynooth Station prior to Christmas. This essential resource will be a major benefit to the local Gardai in providing the Community with a better service and responding more speedily in emergency circumstances.

ARMED ROBBERIES

The winter tranquility of Maynooth was shattered on a recent Sunday evening when a vicious gang of criminals, travelling in a stolen car and brandishing a firearm entered the town and carried out two lightning robberies. In the light of these events the Garda advice in such circumstances is:

GARDA TALK

- 1. Keep calm and concentrate.
- 2. Obey do only what you are asked- no more and no less;
- 3. Observe note details description of robbers; general appearance, height, build, hair, eyes(colour), dress, any distinguishing features, number of attackers; write the details down at first available opportunity especially vehicle make, colour and Registration Number.
- 4. Preserve the scene of the incident; do not allow interference with places where fingerprints or footprints may be found.

The proximity of Maynooth to Dublin makes the place very vulnerable to City gangs of criminals carrying out raids on businesses and property in the locality. We are also witnessing a change in the psychology of criminals with a growing indifference to use of violence on their victims and also to carry weapons and firearms. The conscience and awareness of the Community needs to be altered to these factual dangers and realities.

ADVICE TO APPLICANTS FOR PASSPORTS

Its the time of year when people are leafing through the holiday brochures and contemplating their annual vacation. Up dating or acquiring a new Passport may be necessary. If so attend to the matter early. Hereunder is advice to facilitate the smooth issue of your Passport.

- 1. Your Passport will be your badge of identity, especially when travelling abroad.
- 2. In making application, your identity must be officially established and certified by a Garda.
- 3. You must sign the application form in the presence of the Garda who will certify the Form and the accompanying photographs.
- If you are not known to the certifying Garda, your co-operation will be require in establishing your identity when resenting your Application Form.
- 5. It will avoid delay and needless enquiry if you present your application form at a Garda Station where you are known, or where your identity can be readily confirmed.
- 6. For this reason you can present the Application Form at a Garda Station serving the area where you work/where you reside, or where you have formerly worked or resided, or indeed at any Garda Station.
- 7. If you must present your Application Form at a Station where you are not known but are known at some other Station, you should say so when presenting the Form.
- 8. In any case your identity may be established to the satisfaction of the certifying Garda by some reputable person known to the Garda, who can confirm your identity.
- 9. Any difficulties that arise in the matter of identification can be overcome by co-operation and understanding
- 10. Your identity is critical and the central ingredients of your Passport please do not expect the Garda to certify it on production of a Driving Licence or similar document made out in your name.

RESIDENTS'

Now that Christmas and New Year are over, and we hope went well for all of you, the two highlights of the year await you.

The Greenfield Estate Residents Association Annual Supper Dance will be held in Slevin's Dunboyne on 17th February from 9.00 - 2.00. The whole room has been done up recently so it is even nicer than before. A meal will be served at 9.30 p.m. and the Partners will be playing. As all those who attended last year will tell you, it was a terrific night. The food was delicious and plentiful, in fact the only problem was that being so well fed made it an effort to have to get up and dance. But the playing by the Partners, had the

The committee wishes everyone a prosperous and happy New Year. We held the annual Christmas draw in the Roost Gerry Fitzpatrick and Philip McDermott played the evening away and left everyone happy.

The winners of the Xmas Draw were: Months of November/December. Winners chose either Turkey, Ham or Whiskey.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME

The name Kingsbry comes from the inscription on the ancient granite monument situated at the entrance to the estate. This monument was discovered only recently and it has aroused great interest and heated discussion among residents and others interested in local culture. We may be able to cast further light on it in the future.

It is thought that the name was associated with the medieval Irish custom of having a quick drink or "Brysk Gin" before setting out on a journey. The monument was probably inscribed by someone who had had a few too many of these and got the letters a bit confused.

The next major event of the year is the Annual General Meeting of the Association. This will be held on the 5th of March in the New Arts Block of the College at 8.30 p.m. At this, a summary of the year's activities will be given along with details of the Association's financial position. We hope for a large attendance and for plenty of new committee members. It is a shame to see the same people being expected to hold the fort, year after year. The funny thing is that some people suggest that these people wish to exclude new people from coming on to the committee - let me assure you that nothing could be further from the truth - after all if they can put up with me for two years, they are certainly not intolerant and may even be desperate for new members. Anyway, give it a try, you might even find you enjoy it!! Happy New Year from the Committee and all the best for the 1990's.

INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT KINGSBRY PART 1

FAIRLY BORING FACTS ABOUT KINGSBRY

The name Kingsbry contains eight letters, seven of which are consonants and six of these are consecutive. This is quite unparalleled among the placenames of Maynooth.

A very large proportion of the Kingsbry residents are less than four years old. Anyone wishing to be a candidate for Kildare County Council in about sixteen years time should bear this in mind.

Kingsbry is probably the worst of the estate names. It sounds bad enough, but the lack of the letter 'u' makes it even worse.

FINAL FACTS FOR RESIDENTS

As well as all the residents aged four or less, there are plenty of others who are somewhat older and very interesting too. Why not meet them at the A.G.M. which will be held in the near future. You'll get personal notification of it, so make it a date. You probably have a few facts that you'd like to tell the others, so see you there!

P.S. "Tray" Bien

If you are one of the good people who brought a tray of goodies to the Children's Christmas Party and you didn't get the tray back you can call to:-

Michael Kearney's house to claim it. You may be asked for identification so bring your passport, drivers licence, birth cert, or other appropriate documents.

Letter from Prison.

The following is an extract from a letter received by the support group from Finbar Cullen.

Frankland Prison Durham, England.

Dear Friends,

I was very pleased to hear from you that a support group has been formed in Maynooth. All the support and kindness we have received in the past year has been very important to me and great for my morale. But the thoughtfulness, concern and support from so many in Maynooth is very special and means more to me that I could hope to express. Life can be grinding here at times, but knowing there many people who care always makes things so much less dark...

... Whatever the outcome of the legal action (forthcoming appeal and possible move to the European Court) we are determined to fight this injustice for as long as it is necessary. It has taken the Guilford Four fifteen years to win their freedom and justice of a sort. If that is what is required of us before the British system will move, or its many prominent defenders in Ireland will recognise another case of injustice, then so be it. In the meantime they can expect to be confronted with the Winchester Three at every opportunity. Because so much of what happened in our case goes to the heart of how the English system of justice treats Irish defendants, this case has huge significance not just for Martina, John and me, but for everyone who has already or may yet become a victim of this system...

Thanks again for all your support it means so much to me. . . I know this won't reach you until after Christmas but I wish you all the very best for Christmas and for 1990. Let's hope it brings more progress and more hope for all of us.

With all good wishes, Slán go fóill Finbar Cullen.

Following our successful participation in the Light for Justice parde in December, the support group will show a professionally made video of the event on Tuesday 20th February at 8.30 p.m. in the I.C.A. hall. All are welcome to attend.

Tom Nelson, Secretary. Maynooth Winchester Three Support Group.

POLITICAL PARTYNOTES

Table Quiz

The Maynooth Branch of the Workers' party is holding a Table Quiz in Caulfield's Lounge on Tuesday February 13th, starting at 8.30 p.m. this provides an opportunity to both have an enjoyable night out and contribute to the development of progressive politics in the local area. All are welcome.

Upgrading of Rail Line Welcomed

Recent advertisements in the national press by Iarnrod Eireann seeking tenders for the construction of four extra stations on the Maynooth rail line have been welcomed by the local Workers' Party. The stations are to be built in Leixlip (Confey), Coolmine, Blanchardstown and Castleknock. While the extra stations will undoubtedly lead to a slightly longer journey time to the city centre, they will be accompanied

Fight the Tolls

A proposal to intoruduce tolls on the Western and Southern motorways is again being examined by Kildare Co. Council. At a recent meeting of the Council the only unequivical opposition to the tolls came from the Labour Cllrs. Purcell and Stagg. Fianna Fail and Fine Gael councillors vary only in their level of support for such further taxation.

A toll on the new by-pass, at the present level of charges on the East Link Bridge, would add an additional cost of £300 per year to a resident of Maynooth who travels to work in Dublin for 5 days each week. This is an unacceptable burden on motorists who already pay high rates of taxes on fuel, on repair, on car purchase and directly in road tax and licence fees. Public roads are provided from public funds (your taxes) and why should we now have to pay to use our own roads? Ask your local conservative councillors in Fianna Fail and Fine Gael.

Post Primary School

The January issue of the Newsletter carried an article under the above heading in the 'Fianna Fail report' which by a new schedule which will mean a much more frequent daily service, including badly-needed midday and weekend services from Maynooth.

The additional stations should lead to a reduction in car traffic in the city centre, to the benefit of Maynooth residents who have to travel in their own vehicles. The new stations should also benefit Maynooth College by increasing access from the rapidly expanding northwestern suburbs of Dublin with, hopefully, increased student numbers leading to extra employment and construction activity on the campus. It is hoped to have the new stations in operation by the end of the coming summer.

LABOUR PARTY NOTES

indicated that the Maynooth Fianna Fail Cumann and Cllr. Gerry Brady (a member of Kildare VEC) supported the restoration of the pupil teacher ratio in the school. What hypocrisy. What a bare-faced con job. Fianna Fail at national level have cut the budget for schools like Maynooth Post Primary to the bone and have forced an increase in the pupil-teacher ratio to a notional 20-1. That was bad enough but locally in Kildare the Fianna Fail dominated VEC, which control Maynooth Post Primary, enforced a further increase in the pupil-teacher ratio in Maynooth. Deputy Emmet Stagg and the other Labour members of the VEC successfully put forward a motion to restore the pupil-teacher ratio to 20-1. This was accepted by Fianna Fail and Fine Gael members - but this was just prior to the General Election. As soon as the General Election was safely out of the way and the wrath of the electorate was no longer immediate, Fianna Fail, under Chairperson Paddy Power, moved to rescind the Labour motion. This cynical political exercise was fully supported by the Fine Gael members

Workers' Party Budget Proposals

In its budget submission to the Minister for Finance, the Workers' Party fully supported the ICTU's call for tax relief for the PAYE sector in the 1990 Budget. This sector continues to carry the business sector, a sector that receives generous state subsidies and grants. In its submission, the Workers' Party also called for a major drive against tax evasion and the black economy and for the abolition of tax relief of VHI plans D and E (Blackrock and other private clinics). The party also called for actual PRSI payments and levies to stand as tax allowances and for the introduction of a charter of rights for complying taxpayers. The party continues to oppose VAT being imposed on foodstuffs and other essentials. The Workers' party submission also sought the abolition of local charges and the proper funding of local authorities.

of the VEC and resulted in the loss of a teacher in Maynooth Post Primary, with all the adverse effects that are apparent to parents, teachers and pupils.

A 'Fianna Fail' campaign in Maynooth to restore the teacher to our Post Primary School must be viewed in the context of their control of the VEC (Chair. Cllr. Paddy Power (FF)) and their control of Government funding (Minister for Education Mrs. Mary O'Rourke (FF)).

At the next meeting of Kildare VEC Labour will facilitate Cllr. Brady and Fianna Fail members by tabling a further motion to restore the lost teacher to Maynooth. They can then put their votes where their mouths are!

Happy Birthday

Emmet Stagg T.C., John McGinley and the rest of the Maynooth Branch wishAnn Connolly, 350 Greenfield, a happy 92nd birthday on the 1st February. Ann is presently in Larkfield Nursing Home and we know that all Maynooth wishes her well.

O'Neill Park Submission

Emmet Stagg has submitted to Kildare Co. Council on behalf of the Maynooth Branch a proposal to have road repairs carried out at O'Neill park. The Co. engineer is currently carrying out a road works programme and given the conditon of the roadway at O'Neill Park the branch have asked that work be carried out as a priority.

Lights On

Following representations from John McGinley to the Co. Council a number of public lights in Beaufield Green have been turned on for the first time.

WOMEN'S SECTION

The local Women's Section has set the wheels in motion for its part in the Constituency Low Pay Campaign. The purpose of the campaign is to increase public awareness of the issue and of the conditions under which part-time and contract workers are forced to operate. Part-time work is increasing by 70% per year. With this type of increase it is essential that legislation be enacted to protect such workers.

The campaign will focus on three main areas. House to house leafletting throughout the constituency will begin next month with the intention of informing workers fo their rights under existing legislation, and of the factual situation of low paid and parttime workers. Indepth research has already begun into the facts with regard to workers in Ireand and their E.C. counterparts. This research will culminate in the publication of a 'factpack'. At a local level, firms and businesses will be identified with a view to assessing the overall situation in Kildare.

Low pay is one of the major factors which has led to a position whereby 34% of Irish people live on less than £48 per week. Women earn on average 62% of men's wages. Concentrated as they are in the low paid areas of work or in part-time work, women form a large proportion of those living in proverty. 78% of the 100,000 strong part-time workforce are women. They are excluded from legislative protection, with no holiday, sickness or unemployment entitlements. The Women's Section is committed to campaigning on these issues and on lobbying our legislators to provide decent working conditions for young workers and those in part-time employment.

1989 ended on a sad note, with the sudden closure of North Kildare Travel. Over the past ten years or so, in its various locations from Convent Row, to the former Miss Geraghty's shop on the main street, to its eventual purpose built premises a few doors further along, North Kildare Travel had enabled numerous Maynoothians depart on various excursions, whether the package hollyers to the Med or the Black Sea, a more modest hop to the neighbouring island, or despatching intrepid voyagers across the skies and oceans of the world. It was all done with a personal efficiency and kindness which set a standard of service in our business community.

On the surface it had looked as if things must have been going well for the agency, as new offices were opened in Leixlip and Palmerstown. But the travel business is notoriously volatile, and the winter months are the time when the deals must be made. the closure will leave a gap in the life and commercial facilities of the town.

Another recent departure to be regretted is the transfer of the business of Cillo Aquatics from its premises in Finnerty House to Newbridge. The rabbits in the window and the grainy smell of pet food brought a particular ambience to its end of the town, counteracting the more forceful presence of the cattle mart.

Salmon Walewska

4 salmon cutlets
100g/4oz butter
11/2 tablespoons lemon juice
salt and pepper
3 egg yolks
approximately 100g/4oz lobster meat
Garnish:
lemon slices
cucumber slices

Put the salmon into an ovenproof dish. Melt 25g/oz of the butter in a pan; leave the remainder at room temperature to soften. Brush the salmon with the melted butter and sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon lemon juice and a little salt and pepper. Cover the dish with foil. Bake in the centre of a moderate oven (180C/350F or Gas Mark 4) for 25 minutes until just tender - do not overcook. Lift the fish on to a serving dish.

STREET TALKING

As ever, the Christmas season brought its share of break-ins and robberies. This column extends its sympathy to the ever friendly Aidan's Newsagents, which was held up at the point of a shot-gun recently. Is it not a sad measure of our life and times that there is almost a tendency to write off such incidents as part of the hazards of business? What sort of life is it that casually accepts such violence?

Meanwhile two valuable bicycles were stolen from a house in Leinster park in broad daylight. The bicycles were by the back door of the house, the kitchen was occupied at the time, yet a group of three children, no more than twelve or thirteen years old, observed in the vicinity shortly before, were seen to enter the garden and ride off on the bikes. Presumably some adult was waiting for them around a corner with a van, and made a quick getaway. This is just one incident of many recorded over the past few weeks. Bicycles are particularly vulnerable, but thefts of all kinds are endemic at the moment.

More recently, Quinnsworth's Supermarket was broken into on the night of 18th-19th January, and a large haul of cigarettes and other easily disposable goods to the value of several thousand pounds was taken.

BOB'S KITCHEN

Meanwhile make the Hollandaise sauce. Put the egg yolks, a little salt and pepper and the remaining lemon juice into a heatproof basin; stand over a pan of hot, but not boiling, water and whisk until thick. Gradually whisk in the rest of the butter than add the diced pieces of lobster; heat for 2 or 3 minutes. Top the salmon with the sauce and garnish with the lemon and cucucumber. If using fresh lobster, use some of the small claws for garnish.

Fish Brochettes

450g/1lb firm white fish, weight without skin or bones
4 rashers long streaky bacon
1 green pepper
4 very small tomatoes
Marinade:
2 tablespoons oil

1 tablespoon lemon juice

Back in the law-abiding sector, it is a pleasure to welcome Allied Irish Bank's new logo. Early in January, as part of the nationwide simultaneous launch of the new identifying symbol for the bank, manager Dominic Guest and his staff hosted a friendly midday reception at the Maynooth branch, with a large representation of the colourful new design on prominently on display. The familiar circular AIB sign is henceforth a thing of the past - although many older Maynooth residents are still pleased to note a sign of a still earlier existence, with the words "Hibernian Bank" on the night safe.

Now, the difficult bit, as "Street-Talking" has to cross the road to Nuzstop. We have, alas, been unfair to Nuzstop - and, what is more, inaccurate. Last month it was suggested in this column that the premises sported a plastic shopfront, which called forth a justified bleat of protest that it is not plastic at all. Subsequent investigation by our crack reporter reveals that indeed it is not plastic, and this column should have got its facts right first and not be misled by bright colours and puzzling how to pronounce the name. Heartfelt apologies, and by way of amends may we confirm that, once inside the shop, customers will find a scrupulously clean display and charming service.

salt and pepper
1 teaspoon tomato purée
Garnish:
lemon wedges

Fillet of hake, cod or fresh haddock can be used for this dish, or thick fillets of sole or plaice. Cut the fish into about 16 equal sized pieces. Derind the bacon, cut each rasher into 4 pieces and fold these over. Core and seed the pepper and cut into 16 pieces.

Thread the fish, bacon, pepper and tomatoes onto 4 long metal skewers. Mix together the ingredients for the marinade and pour into a flat dish. Add the skewers and turn several times until the food has absorbed most of the marinade. Cook under a preheated grill or over a barbecue for 8 to 10 minutes. Garnish with lemon wedges. Serve with cooked rice or crusty rolls.

SPORTS NEWS

With the Christmas break now over we have a mixed bag of club activities to report on.

The player injury Benefit Night on Dec. 16th was an unqualified success. The club would like to thank the Leinster Arms, all ticket sellers, sponsors of raffle prizes. The Nashville Angels, local artists who entertained free and all who supported the event. The recipient of the proceeds extends his sincere thanks to all for their support and generosity.

Club outing to Wexford on Sunday Dec. 17th was a most enjoyable venture which was thoroughly enjoyed by all who made the trip.

On arrival we were cordially greeted by our host and hostess for the day Jim and Margaret who relived many past events with many of their visitors during the evening.

Our game against local side the Faythe kicked off at 2.30 with team manager Liam Farrelly forced to make a number of late changes. Lenny Murphy was drafted into action to form a new strike partnership with regular scoring star Tony Kearns and one wondered if 'Smoker' was the victim of a sudden rush of blood to the head. 'Smoker' seemed to have done his homework when 'Spud' scored twice in the first half to pave the way for a deserved win. With Willie Saults providing resuscitation in the form of a 'drop of the craytur' at regular intervals leap began to tire in the second half and the prospect of having to endure the story of a hat-trick diminished as the game wore on. Gerry Thompson completed Maynooth's scoring in the second half. By the way congratulations to Gerry on your recent engagement to Tina Fitzpatrick. Noel Dempsey in goal ensured that scoring would be difficult for the home side and he received good cover from defenders, Noel Kearns, Davy Thompson, Ger Thompson and Martin McTernan. The midfield trio of Michael Kelly, Robert Thompson and Gerry Tracey won the midfield exchanges and provided several scoring chances for strikers Murphy, Tony Kearns and Barry Farrell. With a bitterly cold wind beginning to blow in from the sea the sound of the referees whistle was a relief to all.

After match refreshments of soup and sandwiches were in ample supply having been prepared earlier by our catering staff capably led by Babie Newton whose efforts throughout the evening ensured that there was full and plenty for all. Our thanks to the Brady family for their generosity in this respect.

The ensuing sing song uncovered some excellent talent not fully experienced before. When Tony Kearns went on a trip over the 'Cork and Kerry mountains' abroad Arthur Carney's 'Old Grey Mare' we wondered what further escapades would be experienced. Willie Saults took 'Matilda' for a waltz in the shade of the Koolabah tree and met Clicko feeding all the little chickens in the garden. Noel Kearns brought a new meaning to the rock number of the sixties and showed that his reportoire could extend to a longer session if necessary.

The female members of our party were not to be outdone and lent great vocal assistance to the day's enjoyment. On our departure for home Jim and Margaret expressed a wish to return the trip in the near future and sent best wishes to their many friends in Maynooth for the New Year.

earned win over the battling Ringsend side. Gerry Tracey and Robert Moran played excellently and ensure that the forwards got ample scoring chances.

Giffney Cup 3rd Round Maynooth 3 Coolrain 2

We played hosts to our rivals from Offaly for this cup match. played in typical cup tie do or die endeavour the Offaly side looked to be bringing the game into extra time when getting their secnd goal in the 89th minute. Before they completed their celebrations Maynooth attacked from kick-off and secured the winner almost on the final whistle. Tony Kearns 92) and Noel Kearns scored for Maynooth.

Giffney Cup 4th Round Newbridge Ryston Rover 2 Maynooth 4

We made the trip to Newbridge for this game which was spoiled by a very strong wind. The home side opened the scoring midway through the first half and held that lead until half-time. On the resumption we went on the attack and equalised when Robert Moran scored form a difficult angle. Further goals by Tony Kearns (2) and Derek Murray assured us of a place in the next round.

BEETPULLERS RALLY

Determined to stamp their authority on the HELLA/ECCO Rally Championship Ted Gaffney ably navigated by Don Foley pressed on through the dense fog which engulfed the County on December 2nd. Last to record well deserved 2nd O/A on the County Kildare Motor Club's Beetpullers Rally.

MODELS OF CONSISTENCY

Conditions were made doubly treacherous by the presence of patchy ice but they kept their composure and drove the Bridgestone Golf GTi past all their nearest rivals to pull out a comfortable lead in the Series.

Having successfully coped with the adverse conditions of the Beetpullers Rally on December 2nd. Ted Gaffney and Don Foley brought the Bridgestone Golf Gti on the long journey south to Cork for round 4 of the National Championship on December 16/17. In conditions which saw most crews coming to grief with water logged electrics they again showed their mastery of adverse weather conditions to record a fine 2nd. O/A yet again and keep their hopes of a National Title alive.

HEARTBREAK RALLY

For the 3rd time in the space of a month Ted Gaffney and Don Foley beat off the determined challenges of their nearest rivals to score yet another 2nd. O/A in the County Kildare Motor Club's heartbreak Rally. After 90 miles of tough motoring around the Mountains SW of Carlow they were one of 3 Crews to finish with no marks lost.

However unusually for them the Tie Decider worked in their favour. As this Rally counted in both the HELLA/ECCO and National Rally Champsionships the anomolies of the rules which govern each Championship resulted in the Bridgestone/Carglass Golf GTi finishing 1st and 2nd respectively in each series. This result moves them well clear in the HELLA/ECCO Championship and they look very likely to record the first ever 3 in a row for this Championship.

There was a very big attendance at the annual general meeting of the Maynooth GAA Club held on Sunday 14th January. In his welcoming adress the chairman M. Gillick thanked all who helped in any way in the running of the club for the past year, the sponsors and teachers who do so much work with the juvenile teams. Our A team won division 4 of the semi league and so gained promotion to a higher grade. The B team got to the final of the championship.

Our minors and U21 teams played some excellent football during the year and with so many good young players around the future of the Club looks good. Congratulations to the U14 on winning the championship.

The secretary D. Mee gave a comprehensive report of the working of the club during the year but for personal

Dooley/Foley Victorious

County Kildare Motor Club avenged their disasterous defeat on the latters own Hide Out Rally when Terry Dooley and Don Foley emerged easy winners of the A.L.M.C. Canbog Rally. Terry who is a long time College friend of Don's and was in fact introduced to the sport by Don when they were in College together, normally navigates the Naas Motor Factors Escort for Dave Fitzgerald. At very short notice he decided to drive Don on this event and despite being unused to driving the car drove extremely competently to record the only clean sheet on the night. This was Terry's first outright victory as well as the first win for the Naas Motor Factors Escort.

The treasure J. McLoughlin presented a detailed financial statement which showed the club in a sound position. Michael Kelly gave details of fund raising ahd called for greater support from our members. Work on our new pavilion is going ahead and major fund raising has to be done to fund this project.

Team manager and trainer M. Meally who did so much work with the teams for the past few years did not seek reelection. Jack Farrell was appointed to that position.

A minutes silence was observed in memory of the late Paddy Dunne R.I.P. Regular monthly meetings will be held on the first Monday of each month at the athletic club hall starting at 8.30 p.m.

Its back to training time again for all you Community games entrants. All our events will take place earlier this year so as not to clash with, "you've guessed it" the football. Our indoor entries have to be with the Co. Board before 15th February. It is essential that we have a good turn out for our A.G.M. which will take place on Thursday 8th February. The Community Council Office, Town Centre Mall, at 8 p.m. The same few people have run the games with the help of the Community Council, for the past few years and some of these are not going forward for the Committee this coming year. We would like to thank all of those who have given of their time, in a voluntary capacity, over the years to Maynooth Community Games. In 1990 we will be hosting our 12 Community Games and if these are to take place we will need lots of new faces at our A.G.M. The Community Games disciplines are swimming, athletics, art, modelling, gymnastics and cycling for individuals and the team events are Badminton, Basketball, Camogie, Chess, Draughts, Gaelic Football, Handball, Hockey, Hurling, Hardcourt Tennis, Pitch and Putt, Rounders, Rugby, Soccer, Table Tennis, Volleyball, Choir and a Variety Concert of 15 minutes. If we have team managers for all of these events then we can take part in them. So anyone out there with an interest in any of these teams please contact Community Council Office 285922. We already have managers for Badminton. Draughts, Gaelic Football, Hurling, Soccer, Hardcourt Tennis and Volleyball, so as you can see there are lots of vacancies for managers. Therefore to keep Community Games alive in Maynooth we need a big turn-out at the A.G.M. and new faces as managers.

WHAT'S IN OUR WATER?

Just when we thought that bottled water offered a safe alternative to tap water, we find that perrier has been taken off the market while they try to find out where the benzene is coming from! But just how safe is our water here in Kildare? Certainly Kildare County Council isn't too sure, particulary as they do not employ a chemist who could monitor the quality of our waterways. A recent survey of water quality carried out in Leixlip gives some causes for concern about what's in our local waterways. Four times the permitted EC level of aluminium was found in the Liffey close to the Leixlip Water Treatment Works - and with the links being drawn between the incidence of Alzheimer's disease and aluminium, this must be worrying. There was also evidence of sewage pollution in the Rye river which is a tributary of the Liffey.

It appears that high nitrate levels in the Royal Canal are endangering plant and animal life. The work of the Royal Canal Amenity Group in restoring the canal to its former glory, and in developing a fine amenity for local anglers, and also for tourists, may be undermined because of the extent of pollution. It is suspected that the source of the nitrates is from the agricultural sector.

How about a similar survey being carried out in the environs of Maynooth? Surely the College, and perhaps the local secondary schools will have the expertise to carry out the relatively simple monitoring tests required to monitor the quality of our waterways.

CONFIRMATION

Tuesday 20th February was a happy day for the many children who were confirmed in the parish church by Bishop Lamont. However, not so happy were a number of parents who have mentioned to the Newsletter that holding the confirmation day on a working day imposes considerable expense n families, on top of the cost of decking the children out in their finery, and the lavish meals which seem to have become an unavoidable part of this big day.

Because of the involvement of parents and godparents in the ceremony, holding the ceremony on a working day entails perhaps up to four people taking a day off work - and not everyone can take a paid leave day. Some people even have to pay substitutes to replace them at work.

So a modest suggestion - other dioceses hold confirmations on Saturdays or Sundays, why not the Dublin diocese? To find out why not, please write to Archbishop McNamara.

DIRECTORY

Congratulations to the Community Concil workers who have produced the second edition of the Maynooth Information Directory. Free copies should be flying through letter boxes in the near future, but if readers have not received copies, please contact the Community Council Office. The Directory provides essential information on all aspects of life in Maynooth, and should be especially useful for new residents who may not be aware of the variety of organisations, facilities, amenities and services which exist in Maynooth.

ELECTIONS

Yes, Community Council elections are coming up again. The Newsletter reminds readers again of how important it is to support the only form of local democracy we have in Maynooth. The achievements of the Council to date are very impressive, and have been listed elsewhere. However, new people are needed to take up the baton from those who have given their time and energy to making Maynooth a better environment, and who now want to take a well earned rest. Nomination forms are widely available. We urge people to come forward, and continue the good work.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Finally, don't forget to attend Maynooth's own St. Patrick's Day parade. The parade is a great opportunity to experience Maynooth as a living community, either as a participant or a spectator. So avoid the crush in Dublin, support your local community, and watch ut for the Newsletter crew.

Dear Sir.

With regard to a recent note by Deputy Bernard Durkan in a circular to houses in the Maynooth area on Saturday 3rd February. I would like to raise the following Points:

- The matter has not been taken up with An Post.
- 2. There has been no latest reply.
- 3. They have not agreed that a problem exists.
- 4. No survey is about to be undertaken.

Perhaps Deputy Durkan will now publicise a retraction.

Yours sincerely, Eugene T. Donovan, Postmaster.

Dear Editor.

Having recently seen "Last Exit to Brooklyn" I was curious to see if your reviewer's opinion of it was the same as my own. I struggled through the review twice and I can only conclude that the soccer correspondent of the Irish Times is doing a nixer for the Newsletter, for that is the only quarter from which I have previously seen such pretentious drivel. For those who haven't seen it and who didn't have my perseverence with the review, "Last Exit to Brooklyn" is a very good film which shouldn't be missed.

Yours faithfully Jim Cunningham

The Editor, Maynooth Newsletter,

A chara,

In a letter in your February issue, Emmet Stagg T.D. claims that the Labour Party will continue to work for left unity and that "the major obstacle to advance in this regard is the attitude and actions of the Workers' Party". This claim is simply at odds with the facts. Over the last few years, the Workers' Party has made several approaches to the leadership of the Labour party to discuss mutual cooperation, all of which have been rejected. No such approach to us has ever been made by the Labour Party.

The rules on the allocation of time to parties in Dail Eireann (with which Labour had previously been happy) were only changed - at Labour's insistence - when the Workers' party had grown sufficiently large to benefit from them. Only Fine Gael - not Labour - benefitted from these changes. This is not a good example of left co-operation.

Regarding last year's Senate elections, the Workers' party proposed a mutual voting pact to Labour frm whch Labour would have been the main benificiaries, but this was rejected by Labour. This forced the Workers' Party to make deals with other candidates which precluded them from voting for Labour. No instructions were issued to Workers' Party voters NOT to vote for Labour (as Emmet Stagg alleges), and in fact some Labour candidates DID benefit from Workers' Party votes where no alternative pact operated. More recently, the Workers' Party again approached Labour to discuss the possibility of an agreed candidate for this year's presidential election. Not only did Dick Spring reject this suggestion, but made use of the opportunity to launch a vicious attack on the Worker's Party.

In last year's General Election, all Workers' party canvassers in Kildare were instructed to seek second preferences for Labour. I am aware of many of our canvassers (including myself) who are quite angry at Emmet Stagg's allegation that this was not done.

Leaflets circulated locally by Labour prior to that election claimed that Labour were the only party to oppose the health cuts (which were originally initiated by a Labour Minister for Health), and that Labour had led the campaign against service charges in Kildare. These are not good examples of the left co-operation espoused by Emmet Stagg in his letter.

The Workers' Party continues to enjoy good relations with Labour party members locally in Maynooth. It would be unfortunate if these relations were t be placed under stress by the attitude to the Workers' Party shown by Labour's natonal leadership.

Is mise, le meas,

Proinnsias Breathnach Cathaoirleach, Maynooth Branch, The Workers' Party

The Editor, Maynooth Newsletter.

Dear Editor.

I would like to agree wholeheartedly with the views expressed by P. Devaney, in February's issues of The Newsletter, on 'The Thing' in the Square. The plan to elevate the building to two storeys will certainly worsen the appearance of the Square. The public convenience has become so dirty and dilapidated that it contributes directly to the continued reduction of marks awarded in the Tidy Towns Competition. It has also become a health hazard due to lack of cleaning and the fact that the structure is used as an outside toilet at night.

Town squares should be attractive, open spaces, where the people of the town can meet and relax. As an aspiring Local Representative I demand that the County Council demolishes this building immediately.

With the forthcoming up-grading of the Straffan Road, the County Council has an ideal opportunity to do this.

Yours sincerely,

John McGinley.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARADE

We have been notified that the Army Bands are unavailable for the event, but all the usual bands have been notified and we look forward to a good response. The viewing Stand will be situated at Carton Avenue this year and the address will be given by the Rev. Gavin Williamson. All clubs and businesses have been notified and the parade should be even bigger and better than usual.

TIDY TOWNS REPORT

The committee are placing the proposed plans from K.C.C. for the "Thing" for viewing by the public in the library and they wish the residents to respond to this revised proposal.

K.C.C. are again to be approached on the general neglect of the Maynooth area and the necessity for S.E.S. workers in the town. Eight workers are required to fill these vacancies for K.C.C. anyone interested should contact FAS at the library on Thursday from 2 - 4 p.m.

John McGinley and Richard Farrell reported on two meetings of the Maynooth Castle Committee which they attended on behalf of the Community Council. Work has already begun and twelve students are carrying out an exploratory survey of the site. The Council donated £100 towards the initial cost and monies were also donated by other organisations. Gerard Howard-Williams was praised for his hard work and dedication t the project. All meetings have been hosted by the College and attended by the President Michael Ledwith. A committee has been established as follows:

Administrator: Gerard H.W. Secretary/P.R.O.: Joan H.W. Treasurer: Michael Stapleton

It was emphasised that the entire Community must be seen to support the restoration of the Castle so that the funding from the E.C. may be forthcoming. Outside bodies involved include the D.P.W. and Bolton Street. It is hoped to restore the Castle to its stately form of C. 1650 and it is generally recognized that it is the most important and best example of medieval castle in Ireland. The Committee hope to take a stand at the Trade Fair to publicise this project.

MEETING WITH TRUSTEE'S

The Executive and Tom McMullon met with the Trustees of both the Harbour Field and the Geraldine Hall the M.D.A. Two members of the Management Committee of the Geraldine Hall were also in attendance. It was stressed that the C.C. held insurance policies solely for activities for which we were responsible, primarily the Community Festival and that additional insurance was also taken for any other isolated extra events.

From communications received from Mr. Fred Leavy, it appeared that lack of proper communiction was the basis of the problem between Trustees and the Community Council. It was clarified that the Trustees are properly indemnified on all occasions on which the Community Council use the Harbour Field. It was agreed that the Council would inform Mr. Melligan, Mr. Leavy in writing prior to any usage of the Harbour Field. It was also agreed that a notice from the Trustees should appear in the Newsletter stating the present position - individuals and groups using the field were responsible for taking out their own insurance cover and that the Community Council had already taken such cover in any event for which they were responsible. The Community Council do not hold overall Insurance for the Field.

There followed a short discussion between the management Council of the S.H. and the Trustees. It was stressed that the playground area is not insured and is uninsurable like many playgrounds in the country. The Geraldine Hall does not have Public Liability insurance either and it is the responsibility of each group to insure it for their various activities. Finally it was decided, in order to avoid further confusion, that there should be a yearly meeting between trustees and the Maynooth Community Council.

YOUTH AFFAIRS

The Committee informed us that despite the very poorturn out at the A.G.M. they would continue to organise the Community Games for a further year. All events will take place a month earlier this year due to the World Cup Finals. A longer report will be found elsewhere in the Newsletter.

COMMUNICATIONS COMMITTEE

The chairperson gave a short account of the very successful Launch which took place in the Library on Tuesday 6th February. There was a very good attendance at the occasion for which the I.C.A. provided the refreshments. The Directory is being distributed by the Community Councillors at present, free of charge, to the households in Maynooth. We would like to express our gratitude to the following:

- * FAS, particularly Des Murray and Eamonn Rapple.
- * All the S.E.S. workers and Teamworkers, Geraldine Hayden, Maura Craddock, Evelyn Lane, Donal O'Donoghue, Helen O'Connor-Watson, Bernadette Gannon, Norah McDermott, Michael Hughes, Emma Boyce, Martin O'Brien, Fiona O'Connor, Anna Lavin, Dianne Walsh and Christina Saults.
- * Mr. Joe Wall
- * The Committee
- * The Advertisers
- * Ann Marie Sheehan for design of the cover
- * The Library
- * The I.C.A.

Among those present at the Launch were Des Murray, Eamonn Rapple of FAS, Councillor Gerry Brady, Sean Power T.D., Emmet Stagg T.D., Rev. Gavin Williamson. Copies of the Directory were formally presented to dignatories present and particularly to . Mrs. Daly the oldest resident of Maynooth. There were short speeches from the Chairperson Muireann Ni Bhrolchain, Eamonn Rapple of FAS and Emmet Stagg on behalf of the Celbridge Area Committee of KCC. There was great praise for the placement record from both schemes which is the highest placement in Ireland.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL ELECTIONS

The present Community Council comes to an end March when elections will be held for the next Council. It was agreed that three years was too strenuous for such voluntary work, particularly for the Executive, and that two years would be less strenuous and more productive.

Any resident over 18 who gives a nomination form to the Community Council office is eligible for election. Further information in this issue.

COMMUNITY AFFAIRS

The President of the S.U. (Pauline Madigan) informed us of an increase in the assaults on students. She also stressed that bad lighting and the lack of any lighting in some areas was leading to this increase. The general state of the roads and pavements in the area were also discussed at length and the inaction of KCC in this matter. In the mean-time the fastly deteriorating conditions were a hazard to cyclists, motorists, and particularly to pedestrians such as mother with buggies, prams and also to the older members of the community. Fr. McGreil of St. Patrick's College was praised for the Public stance taken over this issue on radio. Pauline Madigan also informed us the Rag Week would take place from the 19th - 23rd February and asked the community forbearance with the event. The Secretary, John McGinley, is to write to KCC regarding the installation of a Gaming Arcade beside McNamara's shop. such a venture was already condemned by the Community Council in the past years.

Some discussion took place regarding the change in appearance to the frontage of the Roost.

The Executive met with a representative of 1916 Commerorative Committee regarding the £10,000 which the Committee won recently, the erection of a Bandstand in Pound Park was suggested. The Committee is to discuss the possibility and contact the Community Council as to the outcome.

YOUNG SCIENTIST IN MAYNOOTH

I knew I had to at least investigate Stephen McCarron's project which had the obscure title 'Hacking - The Art of Armchair Espionage'. Stephen a student of the Post Primary School, Maynooth, instantly began to explain his project. "Hacking," he said, "is a term which has come to mean gaining unauthorised access to a remote computer system over the telecommunications network." My keen interst in computers led me to take more time with Stephen than I anticipated. I listened closely to his aims which were to explain what hacking is, the problems it causes and how to prevent it, along with its possible benefits; and also to keep a balanced opinion between the hackers and the security persons. Last but not at all least he remarked that he was there to enjoy himself, which he seemed to do. "That's the spirit," I told Stephen's analysis of hacking was intended to change the thinking that hacking is bad, instead stressing that it is misinterpretated by most people. Stephen continued that it is only a danger concerning industrial spies, electronic vandals and ex-employees with a vendetta to justify. Perhaps we watch too much American television.

A Dry White Season

'A Dry White Season' deals with the topical issue of apartheid in South Africa, as seen through the blinkered eyes of Ben Du Toit, a white teacher (Donald Sutherland). Du Toit, lives in a peaceful suburb of Johannesburg with his snooty wife, and two kids.

He does his bit for race relations by employing a black gardener Winston Ntshona. When the latter's son dies in police custody after a protest march, Du Toit begins at last to question the system. Further tragedies propel him into action, but he disagrees with the official explanation. He hires a liberal lawyer (Marlon Brando) famous for his defence of civil rights cases.

Brando, makes a welcome comeback to the screen after a disputed number of years. He turns 'A Dry White Season' around in his 20 minute cameo role. His commanding presence ensures a memorable court scene, where his ridiculing cross-examination of the despicable official (Jurgen Prochnow) becomes, by proxy, an indictment of the whole system.

Despite a disappointing ending, 'A Dry White Season' displays dynamic acting from the main protagonists, and the black actors especially. A very touching, inspirational piece of filmmaking, directed by Euzhan Palcy, the first black woman to make a film for Hollywood. Highly recommended.

THE DUBLIN FILM FESTIVAL

The 5th Dublin Film Festival recently showcased in the Screen Cinema complex in College St. promises a rivetting selection of world cinema over the next few months. Despite embracing an array of films as geographically diverse as Taiwan and Russia, this years programme has a distinctly native flavour. Thaddeus O'Sullivan, hitherto a supremely accomplished cinematographer, makes his feature directorial debut with the world premiere of 'The December Bride' which opened the festival on February 23rd. Closing the nine-day event is the eagerly awaited

DUBLIN ARTS DIARY

Neil Jordan feature 'We're No Angels', a remake/homage of the 1950's Michael Curtiz movie, with Robert De Niro and Sean Penn cast as the eponymous angels. Jordan's film has played to mixed reviews on the U.S. circuit but is apparently quite an enjoyable romp through the comedy-thriller terrain.

Flavour of the month, Sinead O'Connor gives quite an assured performance in 'Hush a Bye Baby', a realistic depiction of contemporary Derry life. Such creative indigenous cinema-making so recently vindicated by the five oscar nominations for Jim Sheridans 'My Left Foot', intimates a wealth of native cinematic talent which a Government so vigorously promotes by choosing to ignore.

Other notable inclusions are Polish director Krysztof Keilowski 'A Short Film about Killing' and 'A Short Film about Love', both currently being shown, albeit in slightly abbreviated form, on Network 2's 'Decalogue' Series on Saturday nights. both films were quickly sold out attesting to the power of an artist who has emerged as the pre-eminent European Director of the 1980's. Oliver Stones Golden Globe laden 'Born on the Fourth of July' promises to surpass his previous anti-Vietnam excursion 'Platoon'. other films worth watching out for are 'Santa Sangre' and 'Monsieur Hire', the former being a highly controversial surreal and stomach churning movie from Alejandro Jodorowsky (his first in 17 years!). The latter is Patrice Leconte's enthralling adaptation of a Simenon novel which received ecstatic praise at last year's Cannes Festival. Most of the festivals more interesting movies will be screened over the coming months in Dublin's Cinema's (particularly The Lighthouse and the Screen).

THE SILVER TASSIE

Immediateley, we're celebrating another Croke Park victory and the cup triumphantly raised, filled with wine to the backdrop of an icon of the face of Christ.

O'Casey's 'The Silver Tassie' is about football, war and other absurdities; about God, false Gods, "tambourine theology" and the need for restoration. The blind not seeing, the lame still, and the able sanctimonious, ineffectual and mute

God giveth, man taketh away.

Now in the foreground, a litany from the soldiers of Christ in France with the Tommies in World War I. Amidst their weariness with the ghostly dead passing before them on stretchers and their disfigured effigy of the crucified God held manically - a football descends, vellow and red. It restores to them a pure thing - a game claiming to be just that. Somehow with the enounter of two absurd negatives, a positive is made. Sylvestor and Simon (Godfrey Quigley and Aiden Grennell) are the half humanity we choose to propagate. They prefer to say something, anything at all rather than nothing lest they be made to feel foolish strutting noiselessly on a stage.

The telephone rings and we are launched into an apparently unconnected cameo, for comic relief perhaps - but it goes on too long. The characters are saying nothing life ded sycaphants talking to an ear-piece or listening to a mute mouth-piece - it's all wrong, they're mocking an attempt at contact, from some unseen thing, yes, but definitely coming now.

O'Casey's God, ever present and perfect, is bandied about like that football and the cup and chalice buckled and bent by mans own thrashings. And the breaking - point, as ever, the place of rendevous. Harry, played by David Herlihy, screaming after his beloved Jesse (sounding like J.C. whose presence looms larger as the play advances) broken. Through the wise words of the blind Teddy and some celestial cooings from white sisters - poor Harry takes his ukelele and begins a healing.

But the crowd turn away to celebrate a showering of festive balloons - the gaily coloured embodiments of hot air popping in and, popping out where once was plunging on a battelfield. The ring-master bids us merrily live on - to dance and keep time and we hear echo the inane lives of Sylvestor and Simon of Act I Scene (I) and all things being circular the voice-over of Nazi Germany and World War II.

We are as children destroying all in our path, and going forwards because we cannot go back and restoring the future is a paradox and a paradox like 'lose your life to find it' is inane and meaningless.

The Silver Tassie presently running at the Abbey directed by Patrick Mason is a powerful, evocative piece of Theatre. With splendid set design by Monica Frawley and sensitive characterisation from a host of our best players, I strongly recommend it. Isabella Cartwright

'A Celtic Fairytale' in the Aula Maxima Feb. 16th - 18th was a wonderful experience for those of us who attended, and judging by the high spirits of the cast an even better experience for them. This show had everything; original script and music penned by Helen Clarke, beautiful costumes and lighting, simple but effective sets, clear and true singing by the principals and many, many stars in the guise of fairies, elves, vagabonds, angels of death and birth, forest dancers and witches helpers. These marvellous children stole the hearts and minds of their audience and we willingly travelled to Arcadia with them - booed the Wicked Witch (Muireann Ni Bhrolchain), and laughed when she threatened to turn us into the statues outside the Roost, fell in love with the beautiful Princess (Grace Kelly), sympathised with the King and Queen (Jim Cunningham and Martina Tyrell), and cheered when everyone lived happily ever after thanks to the Good Witch Aishling (Anna Marie McDermott). The children of the cast are too numerous to be listed but Grace Kelly as the Princess must be singled out for her sheer professionalism. My personal favourites would have to be the elves and fairies. I laughed till I cried everytime they trotted on stage. Many congratulations to Helen Clarke, writer and producer, and to the Community Council and the College Drama Society who collaborated on the event. A shining example of community effort and spirit and for those of you who missed it - shame on you. It was a show which left those of us who saw it a warm and happy glow.

ROYAL CANAL AMENITY GROUP

The end of another year is in sight. Our FAS scheme ends in mid March. It was a very hard but in the end rewarding year. Fundraising continued to take up most of the Committees time, while coordinating costings, engineering problems and the 20 workers was a priority for the supervisor Phil McDermott and the Executive Committee.

Our plans for the next scheme include work on the Island, the Harbour area, and the Old Harbour area, and the old Harbour at Carton (on the Dublin Road). There are major technical problems in raising the height of the Island and sealing the sides but we are confident we will overcome them.

Running another project makes it necessary to continue our fundraising, which we hope to hold to a small number of a big events for the year. The concert presented in association with "The Music Society", Maynooth College on the 22nd February was the first event for 1990. The "Spring Fair" will be held on the 28th and 29th April in the Boy's School will be the next. We are also involved in a Regatta being run by the "Lions Club" at the "North Kildare" on Sunday May the 6th. Enfield, Kilcock and Maynooth branches will benefit as will other charities in the Maynooth area. It is worth making a note of the date, it promises to be a day not to be forgotten.

Our A.G.M. takes place in the Geralding Hall on Wednesday the 7th March at 8 p.m. sharp. Everyone is welcome. So if you want to know what we are dong, what our plans are and dare I say it, become involved, make a point to attend.

We wish to thank all who donated prizes for the Christmas Raffle, which was a great success. Our next fund raising venture is a Mother's Day cake, plant and flower sale, which will be held on Friday March 23rd. On behalf of the Community Council and the cast I would like to congratulate and thank all those who were involved in the unique, splendid and successful event. The only problem was the low attendance. This may have been due to lack of publicity, the weather, general apathy or simply other events which were also organised that weekend.

The "Musical Fantasy' was staged in the Aula Maxima on Friday 16th, Saturday 17th and Sunday 18th of February. With four adults and approximately thirty children it was fairly hectic and pandemonium reigned at times backstage. The production was a cooperative effort between the Community Councillor's Teamwork Scheme and the Roscian Players - the College Drama Society. Due to this co-operation there was wonderful additional support and aid given to the production. Most credit goes to Helen Clarke who wrote the script, composed all the music and lyrics and co-produced with paul Howard-Williams. It was a very talented, imaginative venture.

We would like to mention the cast, elves, fairies, angels, vagabonds, witches helpers and the principals: Jim Cunningham, Martina Tyrell, Paul Martin, Grace Kelly, Muireann Ni Bhrolcháin and Ann Marie McDermott. Then the children whose show it really was: Belinda Byrne, Sarah Carroll, Eithne Cunningham, Tanya McDermott, Linda Filbert, Catherine Cummane; Orla Cahill, Celine o'Donoghue, Rachel Cunningham, Niamh Mulready, Marlene Filbert, Pamela Farrelly, Janet McWeeney, Michelle Cunningham, Virginia Breslin, Mary Clarke, Darina O'Malley, Sharon McLoughlin, Peter Sheehan, Maeve Flood, William McWeeney, John O'Shea, Joanne Cunningham. We would like to mention the lads who served as soldiers and whose names are not available at present.

Larry Shaw and Paul Nash brought Helen's beautiful music to life. The Aula Maxima Committee provided the striking lighting effects and Breda Cunningham performed miracles with the costumes. Fiona O'Connor, Donal O'Donoghue, Martin O'Brien, John O'Connor, Breda Cunningham and Judy Brady took control of the backstage organisation, gathering children (and adults!), getting performers on and off stage, kept the silence, the peace and steadied the nerves. John Dowling provided the majority of the stage props and joined with the backstage crew to paint the set, change the scenery, and generally kept the show moving. Paul Howard-Williams co-ordinated all backstage activity. Rita Soldetti and Fiona O'Connor choreographed the dances. Fiona, Eilis and anyone available did the make-up. Paul Daly did a wonderful MC. as usual. The Drama Society also helped with front of house along with the Community Councillors; Eilis O'Malley, Tom McMullon, Peter Finnan, Madeline Stynes and Norah McDermott.

We thank the various Sponsors: Guinness Group Sale, Maynooth Office Supplies, Bank of Ireland, Ulster Bank, Kavanagh's Mill, Hickey Fabrics for donating material, the Drama Society and those who gave prizes for the raffles. We greatly appreciate the parents who ferried the children up and down to rehearsals and performances and tolerated the long hours at the end. Thanks most of all to the children and their wonderful enthusiasm, their love, joy and vivacity during the last four months. I hope that no one has been forgotten! We would like to announce that we plan to stage "A Celtic Fairytale" again within the next three weeks for all those who did not avail of this opportunity to see the production on the first occasion. Please watch for posters and support this unusual venture. May we see many more of them!

OLD PEOPLE'S COMMITTEE

VALENTINE'S PARTY

This was held on Sunday February 18th in the Post Primary School. It was well attended, in spite of other attractions. We are very grateful to Fr. Thynne for officiating at the Mass, at which we remembered Bridie Brady, and to Carol Barton, Paul Daly, Vinny Mulready and of course Josie Moore for providing lovely entertainment.

DONATIONS

We received a donation of £50 from the G.A.A. raised as a result of the New Year's Day match between the married and single club members. Our thanks to everyone who contributed.

We would also like to thank the lads of Derrinstown Stud for the generous donation which they put in the box at the Leinster Arms. We are indepted to Tess Kenny who arranges this weekly collection and who gives so generously on a regular basis.

ANNUAL COLLECTION FOR THE OLD PEOPLE

This will be held over St. Patrick's weekend. Collectors will be at the Supermarket and at the Church Gate. Please remember us then and give as generously as you can.

The next party will be held at the Post Primary School on March 25th starting with Mass at 3.30 p.m. Our thanks to Mr. Tom Ashe for allowing us to use the school.

Q. I have a Retirement Pension from the DHSS in the U.K. which has entitled me to a Medical Card here for the past five years. My husband was recently granted an Irish Retirement Pension which includes an increase to me. I have now been informed that I am no longer entitled to my E.C. Medical Card. Is this correct?

A. To be entitled to a Medical Card under E.C. Regulations you must be getting a Social Security Pension from an E.C. Country but you must not be receiving an Irish Social Welfare pension. Because your husband is receiving a Social Welfare payment on your behalf the DHSS in the UK do not accept liability for you and so, you come under our legislation and must satisfy the means test.

RIGHTS COLUMN C

Q. What is the difference between a Medical Card, A Hospital Services Card and a Long Term Illness Card?

A. All three of the cards you mention are issued by your local health board. A brief outline of what is covered by each card is set out below.

Medical Card

A Medical Card, is a person's proof of entitlement to a range of free health services. Your medical card must be presented whenever services without charge are being claimed. There is a means test to decide eligibility for a medical card but there is no fixed income limit as such and each case is considered on its merits. The income guidelines presently in use are:

Married couple (under 66) £108.00 Single person living alone £75.00 Single person living with family £65.00

In addition there are age allowances of those over 66 or over 80, child and dependents allowances, and allowances in respect of outgoings on your house and travelling expenses to work. Full details are given in the 1989 Social Welfare Rates Book which you may consult at your local CIC.

The Dept. of Health issued a circular in October 1989 recommending that applicants for medical cards should not be disqualified on the grounds of income from the Family Income Supplement or the Social Employment Scheme. It is not yet clear whether this recommendation is being taken up by the individual health boards.

Hospital Services Card

if you are not entitled to a Medical Card and if in the previous tax year your income was less than £16,000 you would be eligible for the services provided for persons in Category 2. If you are in this category you may apply for a Hospital Services Card but your entitlement does not depend on you actually having the card. If your earnings were less than the qualifying amount. You could simply produce your P60 (End of year statement of earnings from your employer) at the hospital.

Your wife/husband will be separately assessed if s/he had an income in her/his own right in the qualifying year. Where there are two incomes, the children will be regarded as dependents of the spouse with the higher income. Students aged under 25 who do not have Medical Cards are in Category 2, even though their parents may not be.

Certain people who were voluntary contributors to Social Insurance either on 31 March 1974 or 5 April 1979 may have an entitlement to Category 2 health services regardless of income.

Long Term Illness Card

Persons suffering from any of the following conditions can obtain without charge the drugs and medicines prescribed for the treatment of that condition:

Mental handicap, Mental illness (for persons under 16 only), Phenylketonuria (mental retardation in infancy), Spina Bifida, Hydrocephalous, Diabetes Mellitus, Diabetes Insipidus, Haemophilia, Cerebral Palsy, Epilepsy, Multiple Sclerosis, Muscular Dystrophies, parkinsonism, Acute Leukaemia dn Cystic Fibrosis. A person who suffers from any of the listed conditions may apply for a Long Term Illness Card. Asthma is not included on the list of illnesses covered by the Long Term Illness Card.

A SHOT IN THE DARK?

Eye Hear's reference to on unnamed Kingsbry gunman in the last issue generated a phone call from Mr. Bernard Martin who felt that other people might think that the piece referred to him. Eye Hear is happy to accept his assurance that he hasn't ever carried a loaded gun in a built up area.

TRAVELLERS' TALES

Eye Hear is informed that the recent Annual General Meeting of the Maynooth Travellers' Committee could have been held in the proverbial telephone box in view of the underwhelming response to invitations to attend. This may have been due to the incorrect information given in the Editorial of the Newsletter as to the date.

So for those thousands who presumably turned up the night before the meeting, the news is not good. The Committee will need to raise a considerable sum of money to carry out its responsibilities, which are largely related to transport of the children to school. anyone interested in getting involved, or in obtaining information about the work of the Committee should contact the Community Council Office, Telephone 285922.

STUDENT HEALTH CENTRE

The College Authorities have accepted a Student Union proposal to establish a Student Health Centre on the New Campus. The Centre will initially be located adjacent to the changing rooms beside the Arts Block, pending the construction of a permanent extension to the Student Union building. The Health Centre will be permanently staffed by a nurse, with a doctor in regular attendance, and will provide

EYE HEAR

CANAL BARRIERS

At last Eye Hear will no longer have to officiate at the retrieval of cars which have got stuck at the Straffan Road entrance to the Canal. Because of the proximity of the railway station entrance to the canal entrance, a number of drivers over the years have become confused and ended up in a perilous position vis a vis the canal. Now, barriers have been put in place and all, we hope, will be well.

ELIJAH

Eye Hear reminds readers of the performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" which takes place in the College Chapel on 4th March. Tickets, if any are left, are available from the Music department in the College. The garden is designed to reflect Irish prehistory and mythology, with an entrance through an underground passage modelled on Newgrange. Looking at the plan of the garden, Eye Hear is much taken with its resemblance to the shape of the site where the Thing in the Square is located, and inevitably, the idea has taken root. How about asking John Joe to build a replica of the Osaka garden on the site? The rubble from the Thing could be used for tasteful rock sculptures and fountains, and burial mounds. The fountains could be fed from the obsolete washand basins. The statuary outside the Roost could be repatriated as bird baths. The whole thing could prove a hugely popular tourist attraction, drawing in the millions of Japanese who have seen the Osaka version, to experience the real

ACRES AND ACRES

There was quite a busy turnover last year in the local stud farms, according to local auctioneers, Coonans. Six studs were sold, comprising 1,160 acres and totalling 6,150,000 pounds. The average price per acre was 5,300 pounds. At these prices, it's unlikely that the studs were bought by Maynooth residents trading up! However, Willie Coonan has reported an upsurge of interest among people working in Dublin for estate houses, or houses on half an acre, in the 80,000 to 120,000 pounds bracket

THE REAL THING IN THE SQUARE

Congratulations to former Cluain Aoibhinn resident John Joe Costin who has been selected to represent Ireland at a major garden festival to be held in Osaka, Japan starting in April. John Joe, who has a nursery in Kilcock, has designed and stocked an exhibition garden which will form a permanent souvenir of land on Japanese soil. The Japanese government will maintain the garden after the exhibition is over.

COLLEGE NOTES

information on various aspects of health. It is also hoped to provide a dental service eventually.

The Student Union is also planning a Helpline service for students, whereby volunteers frm various support agencies would be available at certain hours in the College to take telephone calls from those seeking advice. Other colleges have expressed interest in this Maynooth initiative, further information on which will be provided later.

SYMPATHY

This column extends sympathy to Maureen Mooney (Registrar's Office) and Sheila Larkin (Library) on the recent death of their father, Bill Donovan. Prior to his retirement, Bill had himself been a member of the college staff for forty six years.

A lady who gave of herself all of her life. Never once did she fail

You can only have one mother, Patient, kind and true, No, other friend in all the world, Will be the same to you. When other friends forsake you, To mother you will return, For all her loving kindness She asks nothing in return. As I look upon her picture, Sweet memories I recall. Of a face so full of sunshine And a smile for one and all. Sweet Jesus take this message. To my dear mother up above, Tell her how I miss her, And give her all my love. Your life was love and labour, Your love for your family true, You did your best for all of us. I will always remember you. My greatest memories are to date: 1964 My First Communion - getting the suit.

1970 My First Job - Lorry breaster 1983 My Wedding fixing my button hole.

1983 I.C.A. - driving a coach to Belfast.

1988 Home and Away - Conversation taken with tea shared with herself and Peg.

1989 Her-illness - number of get well wishes by post, phone, verbal and

The New Year began in earnest last month when we held our Annual General Meeting which we are glad to report, was attended by the largest number of members for many years. We were particularly pleased to see so many of the younger members present and they confirmed their interest by their willingness to join the Committee for the coming year. The future of St. Mary's band lies in their hands and they have now been given the opportunity to 'learn the ropes" and really see the amount of work which goes into the 'simple" operation of running the band. Her death - The attendance at her removal to church and burial.

Senior Citizens Annual Tour - meeting some of her large circle of friends.

Of her thirty two years, shared with myself I received an education no burden to carry. In my memory I recall I may not have been your dearest friend Nor one so dear to you But I am glad That I have found the joy and love in nowing you.

On closing now Thursday 4th January 1990 my attention is drawn to a calender I received from a business.

The month of March really marks the beginnings of our activities with the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Maynooth followed immediately on March 18th by our Annual Trip to the Limerick Marching Band Competitions. We hope to have some members of our drum and trombone classes on parade (as flag bearers) for both of these outings to give them a feel of big occasions.

Other items on the horizon include the big Lions Club 'Its a Knockout', a possible trip to the Isle of Man and a concert in the Parish Hall, all of which will be reported on as they arise.

Finally could we remind you of our Uniform Fund which we hope will benefit from some activities we hope to organise throughout the Year. You have been extremely generous in the past and we hope we can depend on you in the future because we hope to keep St. Mary's Band both looking and sounding as well as any Town Band in the Country.

See you here again next month.

ROYAL CANAL NOTES

The harbour now looks very well since the dam was removed and the approach area cleaned. Negotiations are now well in hand until the E.S.B., Kildare County Council and O.P.W. for the provision of lighting in the Canal Harbour area.

Next month on Thursday 22nd Feb. Maynooth College Musical Society joins with the R.C.A.G. to present the Second Annual Variety Concert at the Aula Maxima in the College. Artists are currently being lined up for this concert and judging by the names being mentioned and possible performers it should be a very good concert.

Once again the Boys' National School Maynooth are joining forces with the R.C.A.G. for the annual Spring Fair in April. Since this project takes a lot of organisation both committees have been working on this since before Christmas, more about this in the next issue.

Watch this space too for particulars of the "Lions Club" "Royal Canal Jamboree" which will take place on Sunday, May 6th.

CLUAIN AOIBHINN NOTES

The Neighbourhood Watch Scheme is now well underway and most people will now have received their folders. Special pens will soon be available to residents for security marking of valuable objects. This scheme involves both residents and students and it is nice to see everybody working in harmony.

On the subject of students it is heartening to see that the large majority living on the estate with us are so well behaved.

In the current inclement weather the roads adjacent to the estate are flooded on a regular basis. We therefore urge motorists utilising this road to exercise caution so that pedesterians won't be continually soaked.

Committee meetings will take place on the last Thursday of each month from

In Monasterevan last night 14/2/90 the Leinster Assoc. of Angling Clubs met to discuss the proposals of the Minister of Marine John Wilson T.D. to the representative anglers to except or reject them.

After discussing the Minister's proposals for over two hours it was decided on a show of hands to except them unanimously and the large gathering of anglers in a very hopeful mood that the outstanding issues of Fish Farming, Farm Pollution, Effluent Treatment Plants, etc., will be dealt with using calm, cool dialogue for the betterment of angling and the environment in general. I would like in particular to thank Mr. John Wilson T.D. for his timeless efforts to bring the rod Licence to a satisfactory conclusion also Emmet Stagg who supported our campaign from start to finish, Mr. Alan Dukes T.D. for the pressure he imposed n certain politicians, Jim Kemmy of the Workers Party and last but not least Bobby Molloy who had first hand knowledge of the hardship and bankruptcy of many of his constituents in Connacht because of an unjust piece of legislation. Finally I would like to thank our Chairman Joe Barrett who worked tirelessly and courageously against a lot of misguided propaganda, also Dermot Carbury our Vice Chairman, who's cool, calm assertiveness took us out of many a sticky meeting. The Leinster Association of Angling Clubs was disbanded last night after achieving what it set out to do, the abolition of the Rod Licence. It has been a privilege and an honour for me to have worked with all of the above, and I am sure that if the need should ever arise in the future the Anglers of Leinster will not be found wanting.

VICTIMS OF CRIME

Most of you reading this article will at some stage in your life have known somebody who has been the victim of crime and who have been particularly distressed by the experience. Victims of serious assaults, burglary, bag snatching etc. suffer high levels of distress from their trauma. We the Gardai come face to face with such individuals in the course of our daily duties. However because of the various commitments of other duties we do not have sufficient time to deal at a person to person level with such victims. Compassion and sympathy often compel a Garda to stay and chat to a victim and try and reassure them. However several other calls are waiting to be attended to by the member.

The main function of the Gardai in any crime situation is to try and find out who committed the Crime and apprehend the offender and bring him/her to justice. Due to pressure of work and time the Garda assistance to victims of crime is limited. It does not come easy to a member to rush away from the house of a young mother with a family,

With an appeal date fixed for later this month (March) it is appropriate to recall the main grounds for calling the case of the Winchester Three a miscarriage of justice.

- The arrests, which a policeman at the trial admitted might never have happened had the three not had Irish accents.
- The flimsy circumstantial evidence from which wildly speculative charges were made against the three.
- The media campaign against the three from the moment of their arrest right through the trial.
- The intervention of Tom King in mid-trial saying that the exercise of a defendant's right to silence could be interpreted as an admission of guilt.
- The savage 25 year sentences handed down by the judge.

Concern about the case of the Winchester Three grows apace. Among those groups and individuals who have expressed this concern are the following:

GARDA TALK

who has been burgled. A burglary often means that the Christmas presents are all stolen; a mugging can mean that all the money an elderly person has for a weeks food is gone.

Now however there is in place an Organisation known as the "Irish Association for Victims Support", 29/30 Dame Street, Dublin 2, Tel. 798673. This association has a panel of vulunteers who have undergone an extensive counselling training course and they can assist in a number of ways. They can offer advice on Insurance Claims and compensation allpications. They will provide information and answer questions on Garda procedures and court practises. In a 'nut shell' they help to unravel a lot of legal and bureaucratic terminology. More important however one of these counsellors will greatly assist in healing the psychological damage caused to the victim of a crime by reassuring the person and talking them through their experience and listening to them in a patient and humane fashion. Accordingly the victim can share his/her awful ordeal with someone suitably trained; an adviser who will sit and hear repeated tellings of what actually happened; this exercise may be conducted over interminable cups of tea as the counsellor patiently offers what support they can. Any further information may be obtained through your local gardai. The service is there so please avail of it.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARADE

The usual St. Patrick's Day parade will be held in Maynooth; this annual cultural event is expected to be bigger than ever this coming year; between approx 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. on the 17th March. There will be disruption of traffic around Maynooth; be aware of the pending inconvenience to traffic. Please obey Gardai and Stewards. Above all enjoy the day.

Your Local Gardai.

Age:

The February issue of Consumer Choice reviewed the available information on the quality of our drinking water. John Colgan, Chairman of the Consumers' Association, looks at some aspects of what we drink in North Kildare for the Maynooth Newsletter.

WHERE IT COMES FROM. AND HOW

North Kildare's piped drinking water is purchased by Kildare County council from Dublin County Council's water treatment at Leixlip and pumped (at a not inconsiderable cost) to the various towns, occasionally making use of a storage reservoir. The raw Liffey water which passes into the Leixlip plant has passed over peaty and limestone soils and is thus 'hard' by nature. It also, unfortunately, includes whatever spoil is passed into it from drains, industrial plants and Dublin Corporation's own water treatment plant upstream at Ballymore Eustace.

The raw water is piped into a reservoir where suspended solids can settle and bacteria is given time to "die off". It is then filtered through sand to remove any organic solids. An aluminiumbased coagulating agent, commonly called alum, is added. This combines with clay or organic particles to form a floc which settles out. Any residues of floc are filtered out. The amount of alum to be added is found experimentally. Chlorine gas is added as a disinfectant. Flouride is finally added to prevent tooth decay. Spent sludge from the process is periodically removed and disposed of, often through the sewage works, but sometimes by dumping it into rivers. The acidity of the water may be regulated by the addition of soda lime or caustic soda. River water requires more treatment than groundwater and, because its quality fluctuates rapidly, requires more management.

The process also depends on the water temperature, acidity and flow rates. Some of the alum components dissolve in the outgoing water, and in certain conditions some of the floc - a stringy, yellow, sediment - passes through the filters into the consumer supply. Until its recent extension to produce 25 million gallons per day, the Leixlip works was overloaded, leading to alum floc penetration of the filters and ending up in the consumers' team discolouring clothes in the wash, etc.

ALUMINIUM LEVELS IN NORTH KILDARE'S WATER

The EC and national regulations specify a maximum allowable concentration (MAC) of aluminium in drinking water of 200 micrograms per litre equivalent to about one half pound in a large swimming pool. Routine measurements by treatment plant staff are not published. In fact they are not allowed by publish this data without the consent of the Department of the Environment under a guidance handbook of May, 1989. However, the E.H.B.'s public Analyst's annual reports show some of his Laboratory's measurements and some independent academics have made measurements. Overall, these show that the level of aluminium in the Leixlip supply has declined over the past few years as the following table shows!

Percentage of Samples Exceeding Permitted Limits of Aluminium

1987 (average, year)	52%
1988 (average, year)	28%

In 1988 over one quarter of the time the drinking water contained more aluminium than the maximum levels laid down by law. The yearly averages conceal widespread variations between sample results. Of all the Dublin supplies sampled over the last quarter of 1987 and the 1st quarter of 1988, the Leixlip works showed the largest variation - on one occasion there was 5.5 times the largest amount of aluminium permitted by law and the worst case in 1987 was 46 times the maximum limit! The 1988 results suggest that there has been a considerable improvement in the management of the plant, illustrated by reduced spread in the sample results. It has been reported that the wide variation in Leixlip water quality has been due to the dumping of aluminium spoil from the Ballymore Eustace works into the Liffey upstream.

Having regard for the linkage between aluminium levels (below the MAC) and the risk of Alzheimer's disease, there needs to be continuing efforts made to reduce the average levels and spread still much further.

It is comforting to note that all of the samples taken for the purposes of checking the level of added flouride in the Leixlip water - put there to prevent tooth decay - met the specifications in both 1987 and 1988.

WHAT NEEDS TO BE DONE

Firstly, local authorities must be required to provide anyone who asks will all their water quality test results. This will happen shortly, for the usual reason - the European Commission is demanding it. Secondly, the management of water treatment plants needs to be improved; they should be required to get the equivalent of the Q mark. Thirdly, a safe substitute for aluminium should be used. Fourthly, unsafe domestic chemical cleaners should be banned - they're carcenogenic and can be flushed away into water sources. Fifthly, in the interests of security, there needs to be an (under) ground water source substitute for vulnerable river water supplies. And lastly, we need to curtail the overuse of fertilisers and pesticides which run off into our rivers.

FIANNA FAIL REJECTS MAYNOOTH POST PRIMARY

As advised in the previous issue of the Maynooth Newsletter, the Labour Party sought the restoration of the Pupil Teacher Radio in Maynooth Post Primary School.

At the meeting of the Vocational Educational Committee held on the 12th of Feb. Deputy Stagg tabled the following motion:

"That the Pupil Teacher ratio in Maynooth Post Primary School be restored to the 1988/89 level".

The motion was not accepted by the chairman of the V.E.C. Paddy Power (father of Sean) for about half an hour. However persistent demands by Deputy Stagg led to the discussion of the matter. Only the Labour Party Reps. on the V.E.C. voted in favour of the motion with F.F. and F.G. voting against. We would also like to advise the people of Maynooth that Gerry Brady a member of the V.E.C. did not even think it fit to attend the meeting. The local F.F. Cumann should think twice before it attempts to con the public in to thinking that they are concerned abut the education of young people in Maynooth. We will show them up for what they are. We make no apologies for that.

RAILWAY CROSSING FOR PIPED T.V. CABLE

Arising from requests from Moyglare

LABOUR NOTES

Res. Assoc., Deputy Stagg tabled a Dail question to the Minister for Transport concerning the delay in granting permission to Maynooth Relay's to bring their cable across the Railway line. The question was refused but it has caused resultant waves.

Mr. Gallagher of the C.I.E. Chairman's Office has advised Deputy Stagg that negotiations are at an advanced stage and it was likely agreement would be reached within a week.

CONVENT ROAD

John McGinley has made representations to Kildare County Council concerning the deterioration in the road surface at Convent Road. He has requested that it be included in the 1990 Works Programme.

LIGHTS - PHASE 3 GREENFIELDS

Following his recent visit to houses in Greenfields John McGinley made representations to the County Engineer concerning the considerable number of Public Lights which were not working. The County Engineer has advised that the request for repairs was notified to the E.S.B. for urgent attention.

FOOTPATH - CHAPTER TO COLLEGE FOOTBRIDGE

Strong representations have been made by John McGinley concerning the condition of the footpath from the Chapter to the College Footbridge.

FLOODING NEWTOWN

As a result of complaints from residents of the area John McGinley had written to Kildare County Council concerning the incorrect piping of the ditches in the area. This was done by a developer in the area who used an inadequate pipe to cope for the surface water.

JOAN SLADE

Concern has been expressed by residents of the area about the recent development of Parson Lodge. The surface water from Parson Lodge is piped into the Joan Slade. This has increased the height level of the Joan Slade and John McGinley has made representation to Kildare County Council concerning this matter.

O'NEILL PARK

John McGinley has requested Kildare County Council to take immediate action to repair the road surface in O'Neill Park.

ENVIRONMENTAL COMMITTEE ESTABLISHED

An Environmental Committee to monitor the state of the environment in the North Kildare area has been established by the Workers' Party. This follows the release of the findings of a survey of water quality in the area specially commissioned by the party. This survey, carried out by the Environmental Conservation Organisation, found the Rye River to be grossly polluted by sewage at a point on the Maynooth side of Leixlip. In addition, the Royal Canal was found to have such a high level of nitrates (thought to be of agricultural origin) as to threaten all plant and animal life in the canal. The river Liffey was also found to contain four times the permitted level of aluminium, which is suspected of being linked to the occurrence of Alzheimer's Disease.

As a follow-up to the report, the Workers' party has prepared an Environmental Charter for the North Kildare area. This Charter identifies a wide range of elements of the living environment which are endangered by actual and potential pollution problems. These include waterways and other amenities, drinking water, noise, litter and waste, atmosphere, energy, pesticides and other chemicals, and transportation. The charter outlines what has to be done, both locally and nationally, to protect our environment from these threats.

In order to pursue the aims of the Environmental Charter, a broadly based Environmental Committee has been established with the purpose of campaigning for a better living environment for the residents of all of the North Kildare area. Membership of this Committee is open to all who wish to involve themselves in this campaign. Further information available from Commissioner Catherine Murphy at 244903, or in Maynooth at 285241.

TABLE QUIZ SUCCESS

The Maynooth Branch of the Workers' Party held a very successful Table Quiz in Caulfield's Lounge on February 13 last. We wish to thank Ethna Carey for making the venue available and all those who so generously sponsored our spot prizes. Congratulations to all the prizewinners.

LEAFLET CIRCULATED

The Maynooth Branch recently circulated an information leaflet to all houses in the Maynooth area. As part of the Workers' Party nationwide policy of maintaining ongoing links with the people (and not just appearing around election time), such leaflets will be distributed on a regular basis.

YOUTH CONFERENCE

Five members of the Maynooth Branch attended the Workers' Party Annual Youth Conference in mid February. The Conference discussed a wide range of topics, including the need for a comprehensive education programme on AIDS, a task force on emigration, the right to information on all pregnancy options, and the need to repeal the archaic laws on homosexuality. The Conference also welcomed the process of democratisation in Eastern Europe, stating that "Socialism can only be successful if it is firmly linked to democracy and pluralism".

RUBBISH

Now that the green bins are in evidence all along the estates, it is sad to note that all sorts of rubbish is still being "flydumped" around the town. The Avenue, which should be one fo the glories of our local environment, is used as a handy tip by some householders, with supermarket bags full of rubbish thrown under the trees. And out the Straffan Road, near Dowdstown Stud, someone has emptied a load of old wooden fruit boxes at the side of the road. Other idiots take the presence of bottle-banks in Quinnsworth car parks as an invitation to leave assorted waste alongside them.

Quinnsworth are to be commended for giving space to these Rehab bottle banks, particularly in the face of such thick vandalism. Could the bottle-bank model not be extended to other types of rubbish retrieval? The council could make available at suitable locations large and covered skips where people could dump the sort of stuff that cannot go into a dustbin - the old mattress, garden refuse, the clapped-out cooker, etc. Otherwise these things end up disfiguring local beauty spots, such as the little piece of woodland out at Taghadoe. A well maintained skip, exchanged for an empty one on a regular basis, could go a long way to eliminate rubbish abuse. Maynooth's need for some such developed scheme is particularly pressing, as it is twenty miles to the council tip at Kilcullen. Having spent half-an-hour or so, and several litres of petrol in getting there, one is then charged a pound or more to enter into a quarry of mud and stink to jettison any rubbish. In our environment-conscious society, proper wastedisposal management requires more than this hole-in-the-ground approach.

NAKED WOMEN

This column has been remarkably restrained, in that we have been one of the few mouthpieces not to comment on the changes which have swept through "The Roost' in recent months. However, the embellishments on the outside of the pub which were added in the course of February bring a new dimension to the street furniture of our town. A row of statues at first-storey height ring the premises. The figures outside the pub give real meaning to the corny old saying about the Irishman who's always ready to fight his way past a crowd of naked women to get to the bar for a drink. Or perhaps they have been erected to test the resolution of seminarians making their way to the college gates.

Just across from "The Roost" is another addition to the town's facilities, in the shape of an 'amusement" hall next to Mr. McNamara's shop. We believe that this has video machines and pool tables, but we have not visited the place.

For visits further afield, see Travel Options. Last month we regretted the loss of a local travel agency, but the lack has immediately been remedied by the opening of Travel Options in the square, next to the bookshop.

BOB'S KITCHEN

Chicken Blanquette
1 large chicken with giblets
salt and pepper
sprig parsley sprig thyme
13 small onions
13 small carrots
Sauce
50g/2 oz butter
50g/2oz flour
150 ml/1/4 pint milk
150 ml/1/4 pint single cream
300 ml/1/2 pint chicken stock
2 egg yolks

GARNISH Chopped parsley

Cook the chicken as on the previous page; put 1 whole onion and 1 whole carrot in the pan with the chicken at the start of the cooking period. Add the remaining carrots and onions about 35 minutes before the bird is cooked, so they can be served around it. When the chicken is cooked, strain off 300 ml/1/2 pint stock. Carve the chicken neatly, put on to a hot dish the whole vegetables. Heat the butter in a pan, stir in the flour and cook slowly for 2 to 3 minutes. Gradually blend in the milk, cream and most of the 300 ml/1/2 pint stock. Stir as the sauce comes to the boil and thickens; season well. Blend the egg yolks with the remaining stock, whisk into the sauce and cook gently, without boiling, for several minutes. Spoon the sauce over the chicken, garnish with chopped parsley. Serves 6.

Chicken Supreme

4 cooked chicken breasts
25g/1 oz butter
25g/1 oz flour
300 ml/1/2 pint chicken stock
150 ml/1/4 pint milk
salt and pepper
2 egg yolks
3 tablespoons double cream
1-2 tablespoons dry sherry

GARNISH

2 egg, hard-boiled and chopped paprika chopped parsley

Skin the chicken breasts. Heat the butter in a large pan, stir in the flour and cook for 2 to 3 minutes over a low heat. Gradually add the stock and milk. Stir as the sauce comes to the boil and begins to thicken; it should not be too thick at this stage. Season lightly. Beat the egg yolks, cream and sherry together. Pour a little hot sauce over

Beat the egg yolks, cream and sherry together. Pour a little hot sauce over the egg yolk mixture, whisking hard as you do so, then return to the saucepan. Place the chicken breasts into the sauce. Lower the heat so there is no possibility of the sauce reaching boiling point and simmer for 10 minutes; do not cover the pan. Stir several times during this period. Serve the chicken and sauce topped with the eggs, paprika and parsley. Cooked rice is the ideal accompaniment.

Once again our A.G.M. was very poorly attended but after due deliberation by the same old few it was decided to go ahead and again have the Community Games for 1990. No doubt we will hear during the year 'it's the same officers again this year", but that is because no one new turned up at the A.G.M. So with renewed optimism and vigour on we go to the 1990 games. After all, if we don't go forward the children of Maynooth are the ones that will miss out at the end of the day. We have entered indoor teams in Badminton, Volleyball and Draughts. We will enter outdoor teams in Variety, Football, Soccer, Hardcourt Tennis and Hurling. Selection for the Variety team will take place at the drama classes in the Geraldine Hall on Tuesday 6th March and Wednesday 7th March between 3.30 -5.00 p.m. If you are interested in the Variety team and cannot make either of these dates leave your name in to the Community Council Office on or be-

EDITORIAL STATEMENT

The Maynooth Newsletter is published as a service to the people and organisations of the neighbourhood. It is an 'open access' publication and will generally carry any material submitted ot it, subject to the law of the land and to editorial judgement. The judgement is exercised by the editorial committee in order to preserve the independence and balance of the Newsletter. Any contributor seeking further guidelines in this matter is invited to contact the committee.

SOMETHING WRONG IN THE NEIGHBOURHOOD?

Form the reaction to the Newsletter's appearance at the St. Patrick's Day parade last month, we can take it that our view of the Thing in the Square is shared by many. While we were awarded the prize for the funniest entry in the parade, we would like to think that the politicians and other influential people on the reviewing platform will take our message seriously.

This thing is a blot on our landscape which must be removed. No amount of plans to beautify it, put extra floors on it, hide it with shrubbery, will convince us that this thing should stay. When something is so obviously wrong in the neighbourhood, who are you going to call? Don't call us, or Rose Violet - call the people who put it there. Ask for a few JCB's to come along and knock the whole edifice down. There would be enough towns people ready and willing to help. And lest anyone feel that another building should be put there, forget it. What the town needs is a square, with an open aspect leading up to the Canal bridge, bounded by the Georgian Houses on either side. When the famous bypass is built, the citizenry of Maynooth can congregate in the Square once more without being asphxiated by lead from cars, and other more noxious substances emanating from the abominable cesspit.

PARKING ON THE GALWAY ROAD

And while we're on the topic of beautifying our environment, how about a modest suggestion to the Tidy Towns Committee, which might enable our less environmentally aware neighbours to amend their ways. Just put some broken glass, nails, and other sharp objects on the grass island, in front of the church on the Galway Road. Then those selfish motorists who insist on destroying the kerbing and the grass, by throwing their cars there every Sunday morning might leave the grass to grow in peace. The only other alternative appears to be to build a fence around that area.

THANKS TO THE GARDAI

Back to the topic of the St. Patrick's Day parade-congratulations and many thanks to Sergeant Canny and his dedicated troops for their contribution to the best parade seen in the town for many yars. While in previous years, the parade participants had to battle past traffic threading its way through the town, this year, everything went smoothly because of the well organised bypass arrangements. The frequent mentions of the parade on the radio no doubt helped to swell the crowds.

WINCHESTER THREE

Many onlookers commented on the inclusion of an entry in the parade from the Winchester Three Support Group in what was otherwise a lighthearted event. The number of participants in this group highlighted the level of concern felt in the town about the severity of the sentence passed on the three, one of whom, Finbar Cullen is from Maynooth.

Twenty five years is a long time to imprison someone on the grounds that 'they must have been up to something'. Certianly, any Irish peson who refuses to provide an explanation as to why they were in the vicinity of a British politician's house would expect to be under as much suspicion as a Palestinian sitting on an Israeli Ambassador's wall. Nevertheless, all suspects are innocent until proved guilty in law, and silence is not necessarily an admission of guilt. the fact that the Provisional IRA may not adhere to such rules, does not excuse any government flouting such fundamental rights, as the right to a fair trial.

The case of the Winchester Three is to be appealed in April. The Newsletter extends its sympathy to the Cullen family at this time, and hopes that justice will be done, and be seen to be done.

MAYNOOTH SIX

Another reminder that all telephone numbers in the Maynooth area become seven digit from April 2nd, with the prefix of 6 to the existing number. So, the Community Council, Newsletter number changes from 285922 to 6285922. Don't just note this yourself, but make sure that your likely callers know it too.

We wish to apologise for the mistake in the Editorial which referred to the deceased Archbishop Mcnamara. This should have read Bishop Lamont. 13 Somerton, Rochestown Ave., Dunlaoire, Co. Dublin.

Dear Editor,

My husband and I, along with our two children have decided to move to Maynooth. We are really excited about relocating and look forward to life in Kildare. There is, however, one cloud on our horizon - The Tolls. I feel that we are taxed enough and to further penalize us for having to go to work everyday is bordering on the immoral. Perhaps it is time for the people who are going to be subject to this toll to unite and make themselves heard. I for one, would be most happy to help out in anyway I can. If you have heard of any action group - or if anyone else out there feels as put out as I do - please let's get together and fight this one together.

Yours sincerely

Daria Roche

We hope to move in April - College Road, Maynooth (Woodlands site 23).

Dear Editor,

As a Community Council member I am proud to say that this year we, in the Students' Union have been commended by the majority of locals on the good relationship that exists between residents and students in Maynooth. That is why it is unfortunate that pen has to be put to paper once again to convey the rift that exists between some of the locals and students in Maynooth. I think we would all agree that everyone is entitled to go out and enjoy themselves now and again, and obviously students do so, more so than any other person in society and there's certainly nothing wrong with that. But what is wrong is some students outlook of 'enjoyment'. It certainly does not and should not involve residents windows being broken, or phones and cars being vandalised or families being woken up at unearthly hours, and unfortunately this is what is happening to some residents.

It is sad that a minority of students who act in such a childish manner are diminishing the good relationship that we have been commended for, as mentioned above.

If anybody reading this is responsible for some of the damages and disruption caused in Maynooth, I would appreciate it if you would think seriously about the hassle you are causing and cop yourselves on.

Yours sincerely,

Pauline Madigan (President)

Dear Editor,

The Committee of the Parent Teacher Association of Maynooth Post Primary School wish to thank Mrs Curran of Moyglare Manor Hotel for kindly allowing the Committee the hotel facilities and for providing a meal for the function held on Friday 23rd February in aid of the school.

The final Community Council meeting of this session took place this month.

TOWN COMMISSION

The County Manager has returned the new agreed boundary for the Town Commission which now requires the signatures of those listed again. The Minister of the Environment is then to sign the order giving Maynooth the Town Commission Status.

MAYNOOTH INFORMATION DIRECTORY

The Directory has been delivered to the advertisers and to the houses in the area. The remainder will be sold in the shops in the Town.

TIDY TOWNS COMMITTEE

Bord Failte has circulated a document concerning the environmental improvements throughout the country. There is three million pounds available from the E.C. for such projects. The document outlines a "Theme" Aspects to villages, towns and cities such as historical, manor, medieval etc. The areas should concenetrate on one "Theme" and try to renovate the towns, villages and cities to this ideal situation. It ws decided to contact the Chamber of Commerce and then the College and Castle Committee with a view to designating Maynooth as an historical town. The Tidy Towns Com-

Nominations closed on Tuesday March 20th. There is no need to hold elections because in all cases the number of nominations was less than/equal to the number of seats.

The following is a list of those elected:

- 1. Town Centre: (5 Seats)
 Peter Hussey, 3 Buckley Court
 Gabriel Martin, Leinster Park
 David Moynan, 2 Convent Lane
 Bridie O'Brien, 15 Leinster Cottages
 Kevin Murphy, 557 O'Neill Park
- 2. Rail Park / Straffan Road: (1 Seat) None
- 3. Railpark Estate: (2 Seats) Mary Grennell, 39 Railpark Michael Keenan, 95 Railpark

COMMUNITY COUNCIL NOTES

mittee thanked the public for their support and the interest during the recent collection. There have been many complaints regarding the state of both the Blacklion Road and the road by Carton Wall. There is a disgusting accumulation of domestic rubbish in these areas. Despite the clearance carried out some years ago by the committee the refuse has built up again and it is impossible for the committee to clear the area again. Kildare County Council do not have the required resources to maintain the areas. Anyone wishing to sign the petition against the "Thing" in the Square may do so at the Public Library or in the Community Council Offices. It is very important that residents object to any rebuilding or renovation and continue to press for its demolition otherwise it will be a permanent monument in the town.

COMMUNITY GAMES

The organisation of various events is well under way and further information will be found in this and other issues.

change of venue for the stand, the number of floats and the presence of RTE cameras made it a day to remember. Three people deserve special mention for the organisation - Christina Saults, John McGinley and Bridie O'Brien. There is a full report in this issue.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL ELECTIONS

The present Community Council has now reached its conclusion. The response to the new Elections has been poor to say the least! The Council organises most of the major events in Maynooth town, apart from the employment of 14 people in the offices. It is the duty of the residents to run for election and to have an input into their own community. It cannot always be left to 'somebody" to do 'something". You, the community, are the 'somebody". The same people cannot be expected to work forever without new ideas and new faces. Voluntary work of any kind is thankless and to say the least and the same group cannot maintain the energy and enthusiasm endlessly. Therefore we hope to see the new faces and ideas we require. Without community support, co-operation and involvement the achievements of the past years will be nullified. Any community gets the representation and the dedication it deserves.

MAYNOOTH SUMMER PROJECT

The committee hope to have voluntary Service International helpers again this year. They were a great help to the project last year and were well received by the children. Our art competition was won by Maeve Stynes, second was Colin Hanley and third was Niamh King. Congratulations to all these on their success.

During the project we will visit Monkstown swimming pool, Dundrum Bowling Alley, Hell Fire Club, Donadea and Bridestream and we hope to once again have our camp in Ballinakill this year. Some of our leaders attended a week-end course at Lucan during March. There will be a youth action fair at the Riverside Centre, John Rogersons quay on the 1st April at 2.30 p.m. It was decided by the committee to invest in some new tents and this going to be done by Paul and Joan Shannon. The 1990 programme is now almost complete and will be appearing in a forthcoming newsletter.

THE APPEAL

The case of John, Martina and Finbar comes before the Appeal Court in London on 2-3 April. While the grounds of their appeal are irresistible from a legal point of view, the political context of the case makes it difficult to be optimistic about a favourable outcome. Of course we do hope, and our hearts and minds will be especially with the three during the appeal.

PUBLIC MEETING

The campaign for justice for the Winchester Three was launched onto a much wider plane at a public meeting held on 15 March in the A.T.G.W.U. Hall in Dublin. A huge attendance heard a platform of speakers outline the nature of the

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARADE

Here in Maynooth the support group entered a float in the St. Patrick's Day parade. A thematic pageant devised by Clairr O'Connor and ably enacted by members and friends of the support group won the prize for the most topical entry in the parade. We extend our thanks to all who contributed to the float and to those who chose to walk with us that day, including members of other Winchester Three support groups. A special thanks is due to the organisers of the parade for allowing us to present our fight for justice as an integral part of the life of the town.

VIDEO PREVIEW

ANOTHER WOMAN

In the traditon of Bergmanesque introspection, a director whom he greatly admires, Woody Allen's latest feature continues in the contemplative theme of Interiors and September. Another Woman is a moody sombre piece quite unlike the Marxian Zaniness redolent of his earlier work. It is a deceptively simple tale of a middle-aged academic Marion (Gena Rowlands) who on a sabbatical to research her latest book unwittingly becomes an eavesdropper on a psychoanalyst's sessions next door. Reticent at first to listen to the anguished and angry tale filtering through the airshaft, Marion is inexorably beguiled by the disembodied voice and engages in an obsessive phase of self-analysis.

Memories become reality as she resurrects a suffocated plethora of past events which perform a rehabilitative influence in her life.

Gena Rowlands portrays Marion in a powerfully sensitive characterisation of an inwardly tormented soul. Her husband is a repugnant character redolent of the Michael Caine character in Allen's earlier meisterwerk "Hannah and her Sisters", and ably played by Ian Holm. The whole work is intergrated by a brilliant sequence of flashbacks and complemented by the distinctive music of Gershwin, and Rogers and Hart. At 82 mins Another Woman is a perfect cameo of a life, summated in an extraordinary final flashback, and it reinforces the impressive oeurve of a director who has established himself in the vanguard of world cinema.

A CELTIC FAIRYTALE

Maynooth Community Council would like to convey their apologies for any inconvenience caused by the cancellation of the performance on March 8th. This was due to circumstances beyond our control. We look forward to next year's production which we hope will attract a larger audience than this years. Although it never exceeded one hundred people each night, those who did attend enjoyed the show immensely. Thanks to everyone who supported us, and to the cast and helpers.

OPPORTUNITIES FOR ADULTS:-Whilst it is true that many florists begin their careers upon leaving school, people of all ages find little difficulty in mastering the techniques of floristry with proper tuition.

Today's flower industry is a modern and expanding one whose growth potential is enormous as people are becoming more aware of the use of flowers and plants in the home. The practice of giving flowers has always been popular besides the popular dates of birthdays, anniversaries, sympathy wreaths, flowers today are also given to celebrate Easter, Mother's Day, Father's Day and Valentine's Day. In fact the gift of flowers is acceptable for many, many events. Working in floristry offers plenty of variety, a real opportunity to be creative and a chance to meet people from all walks of life. Whether your plan is to sell flowers from a shop, flower stand or even to work from home, the key word is tuition. With proper tuition the possibilities are endless and include church, embassy or home decoration for special occasions. Designing wedding bouquets for brides, bridesmaids and flowergirls, banks, golf clubs and hotels, require the expertise of a florist. The regular trip to

After a prolonged spell of literary laryngitis, I am glad to report that we have found our voice again. By way of introduction I'm Ellie O'Dwyer, newly appointed P.R.O. for our club and in future issues I intend to keep you in touch with happenings in our club, with leaders and most important with members. Each month we will profile one member and give a thorough portrait of our selected 'celebrity'. Lest any leaders feel aggreived, here alphabetically are our hardworking leaders:-

> Johnny Dowling Fiona O'Connor Ellie O'Dwyer Brian O'Malley John Reid Mary Spillane

Okay Leaders hardworking etc., now down to bread and butter issues, we urgently need - a transfusion of new members, leaders and funds.

- (a) Members require only to be over eleven and upwards. Annual membership fee is £2 per annum.
- (b) New leaders are always welcome, if you care to drop in to the Geraldine Hall any Friday after 8 p.m. we would be delighted to meet you. A leadership course run by the Catholic Youth Coun-flower markets, dealing with the growers of both plants and flowers go to make floristry a rewarding and interesting

FLORISTRY A CAREER FOR THE FUTURE

Very high standards and experience are needed. To cope successfully with so wide a range of work the trainee florist needs to have a flair with colour, composition and flowers, have a good pleasant personality, enjoy working as part of a team or at times on his/her own initiative and also enjoy good health as florists spend a good deal of time working in cold damp conditions - great for the flowers though!

QUALIFICATIONS: Applicants for jobs in florists should take subjects suitable for a craft career. Trainees who wish to train in flower shops should study Maths, English and any subject covering plants and flowers. Art, Needlework and Woodwork help to show manual dexterity which is essential. Business studies, a foreign language and an ability to drive would all be a bonus. To train as a florist you must first, serve an apprenticeship in a flower shop. You can then apply to the College of Marketing and Design in Mountjoy Square to attend their two year course. The course study includes Floristry, Floriculture, Botany, Finance and Marketing. You attend one day per week on a day release system, where, in your first few months you concentrate on shop procedure, the care of plants and cut flowers, learning the names of plants, flowers and foliage. Also in the first three months wiring, taping and bow making, are taught and you are generally given jobs like cleaning up leaves and changing water etc., so don't be put off if you don't actually make anything during this time. Your chance will come.

Outside the College of Marketing and Design, Kay's School of Floristry hold short classes for those outside the trade who would like to work from home. Interflora also arrange classes, however, most of these take place in England. There may also be classes arranged by the local VEC.

YOUTH CLUB

cil (C.Y.C.) will commence on Monday 5th March next (in Maynooth), so now, is a particularly opportune time for prospective leaders.

(c) Fundraising: We have a number of projects in the pipe line and will keep you posted about these in due course. We will be contacting parents of members with a view to recruiting leaders and where this is not possible to perhaps get parents to assist us in fund raising activities.

In our next issue we will give details of CYC competitions that our club will participate in and hopefully encourage our members to submit articles, or jokes or whatever for publication under our banner. See you all next month.

THE PROPER PLACE

Glad to hear that the Bishops have agreed that condoms are acceptable in their proper place. But they haven't told us where that is yet. The recent referendum held in the College, passed a motion providing for the distribution of condoms in the College, but that mustn't be the proper place, because the vote was overturned on a technicality. Maybe they were talking about rugby - isn't there a large French rugby player called Condom? The manager of the French team awaits a call from their lordships when they have established what position he should play.

MOTHERS DON'T COUNT

Eye Hear is informed that mothers don't exist for the Boys' Primary School - or so we are to infer from their recent reaction to mothers booking places in the school for their infants.

A number of mothers have confirmed to Eye Hear that on announcing that they wish to reserve a place for little, let's call him J.R., they were asked for J.R.'s fathers name and occupation. One J.R.'s mother waited in vain to be asked for her name and occupation. No, the school doesn't want to know about the mammy she was told - Department of Education rules.

However, the Department of Education informs her that either parent may be registered as guardian, and they don't decide that only fathers count. How about coming into the twentieth century, Boys' School? Start treating mothers as people in their own right, and not as J.R.'s mammy, or as J.R.'s daddy's wife.

EYE HEAR

IS THERE GOLD IN THEM TOWNLANDS

Eye Hear that a gold rush may be imminent. Or so one might think from the recent notice of intention to grant a prospecting licence, for the following townlands, not a million miles from where we live: Celbridge, Carton Demesne, Old Carton, Catherinestown, Ravensdale, Sion, Kellystown, Blakestown, Confey, Allenwood, Cullaghreeva, Jarretstown, St. Catherine's, Newtown, Moortown, Crodaun, Kilwoghan, Thornhill, Oldtown, Oakleypark, St. Catherine's Park, Easton, Leixlip, Collinstown, Kilmacredock Upper, Kilmacredock Lower, Barrogstown, Barrogstown West, Barrogstown East, Donaghmore, Aghards, Castletown, Rinawade Lower, Rinawade Upper, Barnhall, Parsonstown, Leixlip Demesne.

Maybe they should look around the Thing in the Square. A mine would look better than that old eyesore!

ELIJAH HIGHLIGHTS

Eye Hear attended the recent performance of Elijah, which was performed by the College Choir, the Choir of Mater Dei, with the Maynooth Chamber Orchestra, leader Audrey Park, and in the presence of President Hillery. Three of the soloists were Maynooth graduates, Colette McGahon, Regina Nathan and Emmanuel Lawlor. The other soloist was Ian Caddy.

A magnificent performance from all concerned, and a wonderful evening, rounded off by a most spectacular contribution from a love lorn swain from Jersey, who brushed aside his Excellency, to declare for all to hear his undying love for a member of the choir who shall remain nameless to spare her blushes, although they should have receded by now. Wonder how President Hillery will treat this incident in his memoirs?

OVER THE LIFFEY IN A JIFFEY FOR A JAR

On behalf of Newsletter readers, Eye Hear has inspected the Westlink Bridge since its opening. The pedestrian walkabout, before the opening was eminently successful in allowing potential suicides to guage the appropriate spot from which to leap into the Liffey, although the heavies were in force to prevent any such unseemly occurrences.

However, motorists can take the claims of the bridge's promoters with a grain of salt for the moment. Until the whole chain of motorways is built, you may get over the Liffey in a jiffey, but you just end up in a traffic jam on either end. The view isn't worth sixty pence either!

One possible benefit of the bridge is that it provides a very convenient short cut from the Lucan side to the Strawberry Beds public house, for pedestrians fit enough to stagger up the embankment. Eye Hear can only assume that is where the two gentlemen swaying across the bridge on a recent nocturnal crossing were coming from. Despite notices to the effect that pedestrians are prohibited from the bridge, there appears to be no way of physically restraining them from doing so.

CKR Radio (Carlow Kildare Radio) is the official radio station for counties Kildare, Carlow and also serves the West Wicklow Region. Like any new venture it takes a few months to iron out the problems that may materialise in the initial stages. Broadcasting on the FM waveband has caused problems for many of the regional stations and CKR has been no exception. However, the station will very shortly be issued with a new frequency for the North Kildare region which we will have details of in the next issue.

CKR Radio is now set to prove itself a real winner in the mid/north Kildare area.

CKR FM RADIO 97.5

The Radio Station will shortly open its fully equipped studio in Naas and has taken possession of its Mobile Studio on March 1st.

This is already booked to broadcast from the Spring Fair, in Maynooth at the end of April. This for many might well prove to be the first occasion to see CKR in action on your own doorstep.

It is CKR's policy henceforth to be the station of the people and will use the mobile studio as much as possible to broadcast from the entire Kildare Region 4 to 5 times a week.

The station is anxious to promote any community sporting events which will be taking place in the general Maynooth area. The people to contact in this area are Richard Farrell, telephone 286044 also Tom McLoughlin, telephone 288139. If its happening then CKR wants to know about it. Finally the station welcomes tours of youth clubs, local groups etc., to the main studio in Carlow for private tours of the station in action. Please phone the Chief Executive at (0503) 41044 to arrange above.

FOR FR. PETER DOWLING

The organisers of the card game for Fr. Peter Dowling, held the 2nd of March in the Kilcloon Inn, would like to thank all those who supported the above by either buying tickets, attending or providing sponsorship on the night.

The local businesses below generously provided the prize money: Caulfields, Jim Smiths, Newtown Stores, Allied Irish Bank, Ulster Bank, Jim Moore, Barrett's and Barry's Newsagents. We are very grateful to all the above businesses and also to those following who provided spot prizes; Sports Locker, New Waves, Coyne & Bergin, Bartons Newsagents, House Pride, Coffee Kitchen, Donovans and Tom Geraghty's.

We would also like to thank Mossy Flynn who single handedly organised the proceedings on the night and especially all those who attended the game and made it such a success. Without your support we would never have done so well.

The Blessed Sacrament Order has asked Fr. Peter Dowling, who himself was born in Maynooth, to help establish a new parish in Glasgow, Scotland. The monies raised, will I'm sure will be of great benefit towards this. It was a very successful and enjoyable night all round. Thank you.

LEIXLIP SALMON FESTIVAL

The Leixlip Salmon Festival was officially launched on Wednesday March 14th, at a reception attended by 200 guests in the Springfield Hotel, Leixlip. The idea was conceived by the recently elected Town Commission. A FAS Teamwork scheme has been engaged to carry out administration and organisation. Their brief also includes historical research and indexing the Poor Law registers for Co. Kildare.

Colm Purcell, Chairman of Town Commission and Festival organising committee said at the reception that, "The Festival will forge a community spirit and identity for the town and in tandem boost local commerce and enterprise. It should go further, in showing the great wealth and diversity of talent of Leixlip people, which only recently has succeeded in attracting the Intel Corporation to locate here, a world leader in micro - technology."

This is the first festival to be held in Leixlip, being held over the Whit Bank Holiday weekend, from Thursday 31st May until Monday 4th June.

Over sixty events will occur in an ambitious and varied programme which includes a Grand Prix Cycle Race, American Football, Gaelic and Soccer, lectures on heritage and cultural events.

The first printed history of Leixlip will also be launched in May.

Further details are available from the Leixlip Salmon Festival office. Write to Newtown House, Confey, or phone 244240.

MAYNOOTH SPRING FAIR 1990

C/O SPRING FAIR OFFICE

83 Maynooth Park, Maynooth, Co. Kildare. Telephone: (01) 286463

The fourth Maynooth Spring Fair will be held on Saturday/Sunday 28th - 29th April next.

The success of the SPRING FAIR has been based on a committee policy of widespread and effective advertising. This year there will be live radio and other recreational activities planned to coincide with the SPRING FAIR.

The proceeds from the SPRING FAIR will be equally shared between the Boy's National School (where the SPRING FAIR will be held) and the Royal Canal Amenity Group, Maynooth Branch. The price remains the same as in 1987. We can hold down this cost because of the revenue generated by the high attendance of the public.

If you are interested in having a stand contact the SPRING FAIR office. Good value means spaces are limited.

Our SPRING FAIR BROCHURE is also very popular and you may take advertising space.

Additional information can be had from the SPRING FAIR OFFICE.

ANNUAL COLLECTION

This took place at the supermarket, at the Church gate, and in the local pubs over St. Patrick's Weekend. The magnificent sum of £1,112.18p was raised. We are extremely grateful to everyone who gave so willingly and generoulsy. We would also like to thank the Lions very much for their donation of £500 which, at their request, will be used for fuel. Much of the money raised by the Old People's Committee is used to provide fuel and our second distribution of the winter will be taking place for Easter. Some of the money is also used to provide holidays. This year your generosity will enable about ten of the elderly to enjoy a well deserved week away.

OLD PEOPLE'S COMMITTEE

PANTOMIME

About 25 of our members from the morning sessions spent a most enjoyable night at the Pantomine in February.

PARTY

The party arranged for March 25th had to be postponed and will now take place on April 1st. It will be held in the Post Primary School at 4 p.m., with Mass before at 3.30 p.m. The draw for the holidays will be held at this party. As there are more than 100 old people in Maynooth, we have devised a system which enables each one of them to get a holiday once every 10 years. When this will be is the luck of the draw. In addition to these whose holiday is provided, other old people pay for themselves. The 'crack' at Kirduffstown is so good that they are willing to save up for a year or two.

SILVER JUBILEE

In May the Old People's Committee will be celebrating 25 years of helping old people, supported by the unfailing generosity of the people of Maynooth. Details in the next Newsletter.

POETRY

SPARROW HAWK

When you were brought to me
Half-stunned, your balsa-wood body
Slate-grey, flattening to a bladed tail,
Your glaring yellow eyes, fish-hook beak
And crescent pincer talons
Proclaiming your rapacity,
I yearned to possess you,
To glory in your fierceness
Tethered to my will,
Yet when gingerly I took you in my hands,
Your heart pounding against my fingers

Your heart pounding against my fingers Told of terror on an alien world.
Later, on opening your cardboard box Like a conjurer in our kitchen,
You exploded windowward,
Upsetting delph and children,
And when recaptured, you sank,
Your needle talon in my finger,
Refused our proffered meat
And watched us with distrustful eyes.

In the morning
The silence of your cardboard prison
Was an accusation.
Warily I removed you,
Delighted when you struggled
With frenzied wings against my hands,
And when I launched you
Into an aerial-transected sky,
I gloried in your spurning of our world,
Your fierceness throbbing in my finger vein.

Any village or town with even the smallest building of interest, has turned it to the advantage of that town. After months of talking to people to interest them in restoring Maynooth Castle a meeting took place in Maynooth College on the 9th Dec. 1989.

The attendance included representatives from the following organisations.

Maynooth Community Council, Maynooth College, The parishes of Maynooth, Kilcock, Maynooth Lions Club, Carton House, Maynooth Schools, Carton Committee, Workers Party, Maynooth Development Association, Chamber of Commerce, Royal Canal Amenity Group, History Department Maynooth College, Tidy Towns Committee, Don Bosco Trust, Workers' party and other interested people, Kavanagh & Co.

This meeting was given a report by Gerard Howard Williams informing them of what had taken place heretofore. After a meeting in the Office of Public Works, Mr. Paul McMahon, Architect and Ms. June Thompson were invited to Maynooth. Mr. P. McMahon said that a Community project could be a feasible proposition with E.C. monies available.

The Department of Archaeology, College of Technology Bolton Street was enlisted to carry out a survey. At this meeting it was agreed, to set up a Committee and Rev. Monsignor M. Ledwith kindly undertook to host a lunch and invite some important people.

Commissioner Brendan Scully of The Office of Public Works attended the lunch in Maynooth College and was very encouraging and optimistic about restoring Maynooth Castle. There would be many stages and a strong community based committee would achieve a full restoration. Stage One (which could take place in 1990) would be a "Visitors Reception Centre" with guided tours. Any participation by the Office of Public Works would depend on their acquiring the ownership. The Office of Public Works are guardians at the moment and the owner is the Hon. David Nall Kane. Another requirement would be an historical document and a survey.

At a subsequent meeting the Committee was formalised and the name Maynooth Castle Committee was adopted with Mgr. Ledwith as Chairman, Gerard Howard Williams, Administrator, Joan Howard Williams Secretary, M. Stapleton Treasurer, M. Cullen Historian, Eamonn McCann and Joan Howard Williams P.R.O. and Duncan Stewart Architect.

At this meeting the three most important items were put in motion, i.e. Ownership, History, Survey. The matters are in hand.

BAND BULLETIN

I just don't know where to begin the bulletin this month. We have had such astounding success over St. Patrick's week-end that its all just been too much so I hope you will excuse any mental aberrations (mental wha') during the course of these notes.

First things first though, and we begin with our own St. Patrick's Day Parade. What a wonderful day for a wonderful event and once again the crowds turned up in their thousands. It was a great thrill for some of our younger members who were marching for the first time, especially the flag bearers who could have done with sand in their shoes to keep them from being blown over by the strong wind. There was no doubt that the marching parade which the band put in on the previous Sunday worked wonders and as a result we carried off the prize for the best marching band in the parade. Great credit is due to all the band members who really put on a tremendous performance. The only disappointment of the day was our failure to make the T.V. News at 6.01 on Patrick's Day, maybe RTE didn't know we were the local band. Not to worry, there will be another chance next year. Sunday 18th saw us embark on our annual trip in the International Marching Band Competition in Limerick City. Despite a 7 a.m. start we were all bright eyed and bushy-tailed aboard a bus crammed with players, parents and pals and such was the 'crack' on the way that it seemed only 'an hour from Maynooth' to Limerick.

Once again it was 'mighty' to be mingling with bands from Illinois, Estonia, Germany, Portsmouth, Belfast and all parts of the Republic in this great annual band extravaganza. Thankfully the rain held off and we managed to put on an even better display than on St. Patrick's Day and succeded in carrying off the first prize in our section much to the delight of our members. They were really 'chuffed' imagine two first on the same weekend!

The celebrations really began on the way home and continued - after a few -pub stops' in Roscrea where we had a wonderful tea followed by top class entertainment from the very versatile members of the band all of which was greatly appreciated by the 'local' diners.

All in all it was a thoroughly satisfying and successful weekend and a fitting reward for all the hard work which went into the preparations.

DIRECTORS OF E.S.B. HAVE BOARD MEETING IN MAYNOOTH

Our photograph shows John McGinley Secretary of Maynooth Community Council (an E.S.B. employee) welcoming the Worker Directors of the E.S.B. - Willie Cremins, Joe LaCumbre and Denis Holland to Maynooth.

The special board meeting was held on the 6th and 7th March in Moyglare Manor. The main item on the agenda was the E.S.B.'s new Strategic Plan for 1990 - 2000. This plan is being submitted to the government in April for approval and it will ensure that the country has adequate energy supply to bring us into the 21st century.

SCIENCE BLOCK FUNDING ANNOUNCED

The long awaited confirmation of government funding for a new Science Block for Maynooth College finally materialised when the Minister for Education, Mary O'Rourke, addressed the recent Spring meeting of the Catholic bishops. A grant of £6.5 M from the European Structural Fund has been sanctioned for the construction of the first phase of the proposed building. To be completed by 1993, this phase will cater for 500 students in Technology, Biology and Information Systems.

Maynooth College attracted specific attention in the Structural Plans submitted by the government to the EC in 1989 as the only university in the East Midlands region, one of seven regions into which the country was divided for the purpose of drawing up the plans. Third level colleges, and especially universities, are seen as having a key role in providing centres of business and technology to support the country's future economic development. The Regional Plan saw Maynooth as playing this key role for the region, and the Minister's announcement confirms this.

This development will be a great boost for morale in the college, which has been experiencing growing pressures due to the failure of the government to provide extra staff and facilities in line with growing student numbers in recent years.

CONDOM REFERENDUM CONTROVERSY

Considerable controversy has arisen over the referendum on the provision of condoms which was recently held in the college. The referendum was initiated by a new student group called Students for Change. The necessary 350 student signatures were obtained to hold the referendum, which called on the Student Union to make condoms available for students on campus. Of the 1,000 students who voted in the poll (out of an electorate of 2,5000), some 60% voted in favour.

The referendum drew an amount of media attention, with RTE cameras on campus on the day of the poll.

The result of the referendum was subsequently declared invalid by the Council of the Constitution (a five member body which adjudicates on issues relating to the Student Union constitution) after a number of students submitted that they had not been sufficiently informed of the legal implications of the referendum. An article in the Student Union constitution states that students must be fully informed on any issues submitted to referendum. The campaign on the referendum in question was a low-key affair, with no public meetings or debate.

Students for Change are considering a legal challenge to this ruling. They say that the wording of the referendum did not specify that condoms would be sold, and therefore did not imply any illegal action on the part of the Student Union. The issue, however, is likely to be deferred pending the outcome of elections of Student Union sabbatical officers for the coming year, scheduled for late March.

HEALTH CENTRE

The Students' Union has been campaigning over the past few months to provide a medical centre for students on campus and we are happy to say it has been achieved.

Allied Irish Banks have given their sub office to the college in order for this service to be available. There will be a full time nurse available Monday - Friday, (free of charge), while a doctor will arrive at certain times throughout the week at an extremely reduced rate.

"It is certainly a service which is long overdue in the college and one which shall prove to be of utmost benefit to the students".

EXAM APPEALS

The Students' Union has submitted a proposal to all faculties and college authority meetings in the hope that a formal examination appeals system would be introduced into the college.

Thankfully, the timing was perfect, as N.U.I. authorities are currently working on such a proposal so it is important that the students' point of view is heard before N.U.I. finalise their report. The introduction of a formal examination appeals system would certainly be a tremendous achievement as it would entitle a student to appeal his/her results if he/ she were not happy with them under certain conditions.

REFERENDUM ON CONDOMS

A referendum was held on Wednesday 7th March on whether or not condoms should be made available to students in the Students' Union Building and any other areas deemed necessary.

The result was as follows:

Total Poll	1,012
Total Valid Poll	1,007
For	585
Against	422

This meant that the majority of students voted in favour of condoms being made available.

Since then, the Council of the Constitution, consisting of six members whose functions involve being sole interpreters of the constitution of the Students' Union and the final court of appeal with regard to all matters of an electoral nature within the union, deemed the referendum invalid due to letters they received from students stating that the referendum was given "poor publicity" and also that the voters were not informed before voting that to provide condoms in the S.U. Building would involve acting illegally under the Health (Family Planning) Act 1979, (Amended 1985).

The Council's decision has to be abided by, which means that the Students' Union present policy is the same as before the referendum i.e. not to provide condoms for students in the college.

ELECTIONS

Election of the new President and Vice president of the Students Union will take place on Thursday 22nd March. The following are the candidates:

President	Vice President
T. Carmody	R. Ward
V. Martin	S. Butler
F. O Ceilleachair	C. Flanagan
F. Quigley	D. Hall
P. Thornton	A. Bigley
J. Cotter

The new officers will take over from Pauline and John on July 1st. We wish them all the best of luck in their campaigns.

The Japanese buy over three million new cars a year but driving these cars is not only a frustrating experience due to population, it is also extremely expensive as parking costs can amount to anything from £200 - £300 a month in major cities and motorway charges are in the region of £1.00 for every 10K travelled, thus everyday driving as we know it is not encouraged in Japan.

CELBRIDGE CAR SALES LTD.

Celbridge Car Sales Ltd. have recently been appointed agents for International Vehicle Imports, an importer and distributor of quality second hand cars from Japan. The recent name for these cars has become "newsed" cars because of the very high quality of their condition and the very low mileage.

GUARANTEE

These facts are a major contributory factor in allowing a minimum of 2 years anti-rust guarantee and six months parts and labour. As main importers, International Vehicle Imports have guaranteed all part replacements so customer fears can be allayed on this point.

PRICE

Prices compare very favourably with the used car market price here but as the mileage on these cars ranges from 15K - 57K (10.000 miles - 40.000 miles) their condition can only be appreciated on sight and driving.

Environment Friendly

A major selling point for these cars must also be the fact that they are all fitted with catalytic converters to control exhaust emissions and are therefore much kinder to the environment. This converter will by law become standard from 1992 on all cars in Ireland in an effort to control pollution.

Despite that fact that women have had in theory, equal pay, and equal employment opportunities since the mid-seventies, the situation as we face into the last decade of the twentieth century, is that women still form one third of the workforce, and less than one third of married women are working outside the home.

The lack of adequate childcare facilities is the key element in restricting women's participation in the workforce. Instead of the marriage bar, where women were forced to resign on marriage, we now have the baby bar, where women resign after childbirth. Of course, all children have two parents, but somehow, society still sees the responsibility for the provision of childcare, as that of mothers.

CHILDCARE IN MAYNOOTH

winding its slow way through the Dail, but as yet, there are absolutely no regulations in operation for the running of childcare facilities, as there are in other countries.

Anyone can take in children, and it is up to parents to satisfy themselves that proper care is being taken, that the careers know what they are doing, and that facilities are safe. In Middlesex in England, childminders must be registered with the local authority, who inspect the premises, and lay down minimum standards for care and safety.

the needs of the little clients. There is a toddlers' room, a Montessori room, changing room, babies' room, large play room, and a kitchen. There are plans to convert the garage to a water and sand area.

All meals are provided, the radio plays in the kitchen, and the children are kept busy, with structured play. Their social skills are fostered and they are well able to integrate with other children when they go to school. The Kottage has a large garden, and on fine days, there are trips to the woods, to feed the swans in the Canal, to the library, to the bookshop. In summer, there are plans for trips to the beach, and the zoo - if it's still there.

Opened last September, the number of children has grown rapidly, as the effect

Yet many mothers want to work outside the home, either for personal development, or for financial reasns. Many do not want to write off the many years of education, and hard work, and friendships developed during their careers. Others cannot afford to live on one wage earners pay, or contrary to what society expects, there may be no other wage earner in the household. So what do they do?

Looking at Maynooth, the options for working parents are to have children looked after by a neighbour, or a relative, or in a creche. The only state provision for children is limited to children regarded as at risk. A Childcare Bill is The lack of such supervision is of great concern to many childcare workers here in Ireland. One such is Geraldine Scanlon, who has opened a superb creche in Maynooth, which is a model of the kind of childcare facility which should be available for all children.

This is the second creche which Ger has inaugurated. She started up the Rainbow creche in the NIHE in Glasnevin, and ran it for three years. When she moved to Maynooth, she quickly saw the need for childcare facilities in the town, and so the house in Old Greenfield was purchased, and transformed into Kids' Kottage. Ger's aim is to provide a family atmosphere for the children while they are in the Kottage. The building is totally dedicated to of word of mouth recommendations spreads. The services offered include a Montessori school, four mornings a week, from 9.30 - 12.30 a.m., a toddlers' session, afterschool activities (the school bus stops outside); as well as full-time childcare for babies and toddlers. Parents interested in finding out more, should contact Ger, who will be only too happy to show them around.

From the level of enquiries received to date, it is clear that Maynooth needs more of these facilities. Isn't it about time that Government recognises the importance of providing a proper child-care service for all working parents, firstly by setting and monitoring standards, and secondly by allowing parents to obtain tax relief on childcare fees.

Holidays are important for both children and parent and even more important when a child in the family has a mental handi-

"BREAKAWAY" is a scheme enabling parents with a normal family to take into their home, a child with a mental handicap for a week or two during the Summer. The child gets a 'holiday, the host family a new experience in family life and the natural family an opportunity for St. Raphael's, Celbridge; the centre for people with a mental handicap in North Kildare, which provides a range of services, has 'placed' about thirteen children each year up to the age of 16 since the Breakaway Scheme got underway in 1981. Most families participate in a short training course prior to placement and parents of the child who is to have the holiday meet with prospective host parents to exchange information before any decisions are made.

No financial commitment is incurred by participants in 'BREAKAWAY'. Expenses are made available through 'BREAKAWAY' resources.

One couple who have acted as host family for the BREAKAWAY holiday are Mary and Joe Norris, Highfield Park, Kilcock. The Norris' who have four children have been a BREAKAWAY family for the last three years. They have hosted a boy of ten years, who spends holidays and the occasional weekend with them.

The Norris family heard about the BREAKAWAY Holiday Scheme on the radio and through an article in the local paper and decided that they would get involved. They feel that their involvement in the Scheme has been very worthwhile and has enabled themselves and their children to understand mental handicap. St. Raphael's, Celbridge provides a full back-up service for families providing a BREAKAWAY holiday. So a host family who may experience a worry can call on the Social Worker who is available on a 24 hours basis. During the holiday, the Social Worker visits to see that all is going well and to provide a link between the host and natural family. The average duration of a holiday is two weeks.

Further information about the BREAKA-WAY Scheme is available from:

SUMMERHILL 0405-57115

Dublin Road, Maynooth Following representations made by affiliated residents' assocation, ACRA has considered the whole question of the privatisation of domestic refuse collection. We believe that the arrival of private operators in our town and residential estates present NO answer to Kildare Co. Co.'s refuse charges because:-

- As householders are PAYE and VAT tax payers we have already paid for this essential service.
- 2. Experience in other counties has been that private operators only collect in 'economic" areas, i.e. residential estates. Householders and indeed whole communities outside of such areas will have to dispose of their own rubbish.
- 3. The result could be a build up of waste endangering human health and the environment.
- Private operators do not provide waiver schemes for those unable to pay their rates.

The supper dance was held in March in Slevin's of Dunboyne and I think I can safely say that a good night was had by all. The food was excellent as usual and the dancing vigorous. There were plenty of spot prizes and we wish to thank all those who were so generous yet again. There has to be a special word of thanks to a few who were especially kind to us. Mr. Jim Downey of Laurence Avenue who gave us a voucher for a meal for two in the Poitin Stil, Leixlip Tyres for a £20.00 voucher and last but not least to Kathleen of Moulin Rouge for the lovely culottes which were won on the night by Mrs. Grace Kennedy who showed them off to wonderful advantage the following weekend. The list of donors is below, but if by some oversight I have left off anybody who did give us a prize please do accept my apologies in advance.

RESIDENTS ASSOCIATION NOTES

ACRA COUNTY KILDARE BRANCH OUT OF THE FRYING PAN AND INTO THE FIRE'

5. Private operators are presently charging £10 or more than Kildare Co. Co. Should they replace the Council altogether their rates could increase sharply.
6. We wish to advise residents that a High Court judge recently allowed a member of Meath Co. Council leave to seek an order by way of judicial review requiring the council to continue to remove house refuse, under the Public Health Act. County Meath went "private" last year.

While we can understand that many residents are angry with Kildare Co. Co. as a result of their imposition of Local Charges, and may be attracted by the superior wheely bins, we believe that privatisation represents an 'out of the frying pan and into the fire' alternative to local charges. We wish to remind residents that Kildare Co. Co. is a democratically elected authority and its members should be obliged by the electorate to provide the refuse service free at the point of collection. With the Local Elections looming this issue should be raised with all candidates.

Michael Quinn, Secretary, 13, Laurence Avenue, Maynooth.

While the supper dance was a great success, the same could not be said for the Annual General Meeting. The total turnout of 22 people, despite multiple reminders, was very disappointing. The out-going Committee made up the bulk of the attendance. Most of them agreed to serve for one more year. The Treasurer, Mr. Tom Purcell has decided to resign his office but is willing to continue as a Committee Member. His place has been filled by Mrs. Mary Farrell who is sure to prove an able successor. It is a shame with the arrival of the Link Road imminent, that more people could not make an appearance on the night. This is a matter of concern for the residents of Straffan Way and should be for all of us. The amount of traffic on that road is going to have an effect on us all. It seems that apathy is rife in Maynooth as the attendance at the AGM of the Community Games Committee proves. There is money available centrally for the first time and yet Maynooth parents are not even willing to give their time.

The big positive item was the vast and very pleasant improvement in the Greenfield Shopping Centre. Congratulations to Mr. John Doran.

The Post Primary School was honoured on Monday, March 12th with a visit by Bishop Eamonn Casey. The occasion was the launching of the Annual Awareness Week which is promoted by the First Year Leaving Certificate Students.

The central aim is to educate themselves and others on the inequalities and injustices of the world. Bishop Casey addressed the students on the causes of famine and poverty in Africa, Central America and Asia. A lively and informative discussion followed, after which the Bishop was presented with a replica Trocaire Box by Ms. Deirdre Burke on behalf of the students, to symbolise their support for Trocaire's development programmes.

During the course of the week, representatives from organisations dealing with Substance Abuse, the Travelling Community, the Homeless and Apartheid met the students. The climax of the week was the 24 hour sponsored fast, through which students made their own personal contribution to the Third World and its problems.

CLINICS

Clinics will be held by Deputy Sean Power in Caulfield's Public House in the Main Street on the second Thursday night of every month (from 7.30 p.m.) Deputy Charlie McCreevy will also oblige; he will attend at Gerry Brady's Auctioneers office in the Main Street on the first Thursday night of the month, from 8.30 p.m.

COLLEGE

At our February meeting, we were glad to have a visit from two officers from the Maynooth College Cumann. They brought us up to date on their activities and initiatives and we will explore measures for further meetings and develop ways to harness cooperation to mutual advantage in the future.

ROADS

At the recent Comhairle Ceanntar meeting, Deputy Charlie McCreevy outlined

POLITICAL PARTY NOTES

FIANNA FAIL NOTES

some of the positive elements of the Budget as he saw them. He also said that the increased finance for roads in Kildare County was likely to be used to greater effect because of a coherent policy of the Local Authority to use it to best advantage in designating/classifying roads for treatment and improvement rather than dilute its effects by stop-gap measures thoughout the county.

EUROPE

More than milk interest was expressed in a letter from Paddy Lalor MEP about organised Information Visits to the European Institutions at Brussels and Strasbourg with possible visits to Heidelberg and Paris thrown in. There will be four separate groups travelling at times coinciding with full sessions of the European Parliament in March, April, May and June. The trips, which promise to be as enjoyable as they are educational, last eight days and are on offer at the extremely attractive price of £300 per person approximately, thanks to a substantial subsidy from the European Parliament. Further details from the EDA offices at (01) 715344.

POST PRIMARY SCHOOL

The Cumann recently discussed the needs of the Post Primary School for an extra teacher with our local representatives. Deputy Power reported back to us at our January meeting that he was following up the issue vigourously and would keep us informed of developments.

THE TOLL ROAD CONTROVERSY

The opening of the West Link Toll Bridge between Lucan and Palmerstown, followed by the revelation that several further tolls are envisaged for other sections of the Dublin Western By-Pass, has brought the spectre of toll roads into closer focus for the inhabitants of Maynooth. With big foreign groups making spectacular monetary bids for permission to operate these additional tolls, the government will obviously be even further convinced of the attractions of applying tolls to the Leixlip-Maynooth By-pass, work on which is due to begin before the end of this year.

The arguments for and against toll roads raise a very fundamental philosophical question concerning the costs and benefits of such public 'goods'. The use of tolls implies a belief that the main beneficiaries of the roads in question are those motorists who use them. However, the benefits are much more widely spread than this. The removal of through traffic from towns and cities reduces congestion for local road users (including public transport as well as private motorists); it also reduces air and noise pollution (especially where heavy trucks and buses are diverted onto by-passes); and it generally makes the by-passed towns much more livable for the local inhabitants (as the residents of Maynooth will quickly appreciate once the local bypass is completed).

In addition, by-passes reduce inefficiency in the economy by eliminating a lot of time wasted in transit by both goods and business people. The benefits of the resultant improved productivity eventually spread throughout the economy in the form of reduced costs or higher incomes. There is therefore a strong argument that the community at large should pay, from general taxation, for by-pass roads, since the community at large - and not just motorists as such benefits from their construction. There is the additional argument that tolls, by providing a disincentive to people from using by-passes, reduce the potential benefits to the community arising from the by-passes.

There is also the long accepted view that taxation, needed to pay for public services such as health and eduction - as well as roads - should be collected from people according to their ability to pay. Hence the practice of levying higher rates of tax on higher levels of income. Toils, on the other hand, by charging a standard fare, make no allowances for motorists' differing abilities to pay, and therefore penalise the least well off. They therefore force the latter off the by-passes with negative results for the rest of the community thereby leaving the by-passes to benefit primarily the better off.

The Workers' Party believes that roads are a vital public service which benefit the community at large and which therefore should be paid for from public funds raised from general taxation. While the government may argue that it has not got the funds to build roads, ultimately the roads will have to be paid for anyway, and by one section of the community (those paying tolls) rather than the whole community. In addition, the total amount to be paid will be inflated by the need to provide private road builders with a handsome profit, which would not be required if the state built the roads instead.

CASTLE RESTORATION COMMITTEE WELCOMED

The Maynooth Branch of the Workers' Party welcomes the establishment of a local committee, chaired by the President of Maynooth College, to pursue the full restoration of Maynooth Castle and the provision of tourist facilities therein. The Workers' Party through its representative on the committee, Paddy Daly, looks forward to supporting this very laudable project in every way possible.

ROAD REPAIRS

The diabolical state of our roads in North Kildare is a constant source of agitation to pedestrians, cyclist and motorists alike. Labour councillors and local representatives forward a constant stream of complaints and representations to the Co. Council from residents in their areas. A small sample of representations made recently on behalf of Maynooth residents is printed below.

Following representations from residents in College Green and Cluain Aoibhinn, Deputy Stagg has been informed by the County Engineer that major repairs to the Rathcoffey Road as far as the turn to Cluain Aoibhinn are planned but that these await the completion of building work in the area and the payment of levies.

The need for repairs to Convent Road was also taken up by Deputy Stagg with the Co. Engineer and a commitment was given that these would be undertaken shortly.

Deputy Stagg has also made representations to Kildare Co. Council on behalf of the residents of Old Carton regarding the condition of the Dunboyne Road beyond Carton Wall to the Meath border. The Co. Engineer has undertaken to include this work for consideration along with the other projects to be financed from Strenghtening Grants.

LABOUR PARTY NOTES

KINGSBRY

Deputy Stagg has been in contact with the Co. Council regarding the condition of building areas in Kingsbry estate which have not yet been developed. This problem, together with the problem of large scale dumping in the ditch between Kingsbry and Greenfield is now being investigated by the Co. Council.

MAYNOOTH RELAYS

As part of their plans to extend their piped TV service to new areas of the town, Maynooth Relays are seeking permission to bring a line across the railway track at Mullen Bridge. In order to speed up this development, John McGinley has been in contact with Iarnrod Eireann stressing the desirability of the project and urging Iarnrod Eireann to grant permission to Maynooth Relays for work to begin at Mullen Bridge at the earliest possible date.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARADE

Undoubtedly this years St. Patrick's Day parade in Maynooth was the most successful ever. The several thousand people who thronged the Main St. enjoyed the combination of spring sunshine and colourful spectacle. Maynooth should be proud of its parade - remember that many much larger towns around the country had no parade because they lacked the dedicated band of workers who make these things possible. In Maynooth, the community owes a debt to the Social and Recreational Sub-committee of the Community Council. Bride O'Brien and John McGinley deserves special mention for their Trojan work.

"But here" - I picked up the morning paper from the ground - "let us put it to a practical test. Here is the first heading upon which I come.

'A Husband's cruelty to his Wife'. there is half a column of print, but I know without reading it that it is all perfectly familiar to me. There is, of course, the other woman, the drink, the push, the blow, the bruise, the sympathetic sister or landlady. The crudest of writers could invent nothing more crude." - A Case of Identity: Adventures of Sherlock Holmes (1892).

The popular perception and experience of marital breakdown has hardly changed in the last one hundred years.

The last thirty years or so has seen a number of laws passed in this country which have attempted to afford some measure of legal muscle to the marital partner in the weaker position. There are now provisions to provide certain protections for marital property, to direct the payment of maintenance by one partner for the support of the other and the children, and to bar a partner from the Family Home in cases of violence and oppression.

The courts have a limited power to declare certain marriages invalid or void for lack of consent or capacity; in other words, the Courts may rule in such cases that no marriage existed in law. In such situations, it is open to the couple involved to legally marry in the State because they will be deemed not to have been married at all.

Of course, there is no provision to dissolve a valid marriage which is not working; all that we know here is a form of legitimised separation, in other words the partners may decide to live "separate and apart" from one another but the marriage would still be in existence from a legal point of view and the partners are therefore prohibited from remarriage according to the laws of the State. Some people may have been unaware that our "Divorce a mensa et thors" was not in law a divorce at all, merely a releasing of the partners from the marital duty to live together.

The 1989 Judicial Separation Act has now provided, among other things, Judicial Separation to replace the obsolete notion of divorce a mensa et thora. Apart from that, the principal purpose of the Act is to try in the first place to remove certain aspects of formality in the court process which often serve to make the non-lawyer uncomfortable, viz., the wearing of wigs and gowns by barristers and judges. Secondly, and more importantly, the new law places a duty on the solicitor to inform the client of the practical alternatives to Judical Separation including the possibility of Family Mediation or a Separation Agreement.

Thirdly, the Act adds two further grounds to the pre-existing grounds for Separation (Cruelty, Adultery, unnatural practices). The additional grounds are:- the fact of the partners living apart for two years or more, - the behaviour of one spouse being so unreasonable over time that no reasonable spouse could be expect to live with them.

Advocates of divorce will not be very impressed with the law as it now is even after such amendment. There are many other problems which the State needs to legislate upon particularly when so many people are in the twilight zone of the separated in a second relationship. Problems such as succession, gift and inheritance tax spring to mind.

To borrow the words of one family law practitioner, all the ingredients are still there for "a lawyer's paradise and a social nightmare" in the coming years.

DESPICABLE INCIDENTS IN MAYNOOTH

Recently an elderly lady residing alone close to the town had the window of her home smashed when a large stone was thrown through it. This cowardly behaviour happened late at night (after midnight) and the victim was visibly terrorised by the experience. Another home of an elderly couple was recently burgled, while the occupants were out visiting one Sunday evening. This was a routine of theirs and obviously the miscreants were aware of this. Their house was ransacked and some money and valuables taken. The victims were so shattered that they had to stay overnight with relatives.

Other lesser acts of vandalism and rowdyism have also occurred and all possible iniatives are being explored to prevent and deter such unwanton misbehaviour. Such acts of lawlessness are to be deplored because of the shock and fear, distress and anxiety that they inflict on our most vulnerable innocent citizens. The Gardai wish to assure local residents that those occurrences are being fully investigated in the hope of apprehending the perpretrators. Hereunder is a short poem written by a victim of crime, entitled, 'A Victims Prayer'.

A Victims Prayer

Dear God, as I prepare for bed tonight, Please give me strength to turn out the light,

MCL used to stand for Maynooth Cabs Ltd., and for many of us it still does, but in fact it now signifies Maynooth-Celbridge-Leixlip Cabs. The widened scope reflects the past expansion and future ambitions of this local service enterprise based in Finerty House, on the Dublin side of Maynooth. Since Eugene O'Shea took over the business in April of last year there has been a remarkable consolidation in the cab service and it has now become an integral factor in local community transport. With an enlarged fleet of three Ford Orions and a six seater Mitsubishi Spacewagon (shortly to be augmented by another), it is MCL's boast that they have never left anyone stuck. Indeed, Eugene O'Shea has plenty going for him. His cars are all non-smoking, are cleaned daily, and get a service every ten days. With radio control they are in constant touch with base at Finerty House while on the road. Although there have been a number of long-distance chauffeured trips down the country to places such as Galway and Longford, O'Shea emphasises that the local short runs are

For I am afraid when darkness is here, Although you are standing near.

For when darkness comes it fills me with fright.

I sigh with relief when daylight is in sight.

Tonight I ask for a good night's sleep, Not like the night before, when all I did was weep.

Dear God you know I am so lonely, sad and confused.

I pray for strength to forgive those who have abused,

I know you will give help, with my sorrow,

To give me hope, to face the future, especially tomorrow.

So, you wrong doers, heed the message of the above poem and reflect on the fear and anguish you instil in people and the emotional damage you cause by your conduct.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY PARADE

The Gardai wish to thank the residents of Maynooth for their patience and understanding during the annual St. Patrick's Day Parade. Inconvenience and disruption we hope were kept to a minimum and this was due in no small way to the tolerant attitude and goodwill of the local people. For your support and wholehearted co-operation we express our appreciation.

BURGLAR ALARMS

As more houses and business premises in the area are being fitted with Burglar Alarms we wish to advise people to ensure that those appliances are not a source of annoyance to the neighbourhood. The Gardai recognise the value of a good alarm system but we must also point out the disturbance and discomfort caused by defective systems that are not properly installed. After installation they require regular and proper service by competent and reputable back up firms. Burglar Alarms are instantaneous warnings of the interruption or intrusion and should be tended to as soon as possible after being activated. Gardai often arrive at the scene of a ringing alarm only to find that there is no keyholder available or contactable. On some occassions alarms are left ring all night.

Therefore we request people who have alarms fitted to notify their alarm company or the Gardai of the name and address and telephone numbers of the keyholders.

interviewing Eugene. It is to be hoped that our readers don't abuse the indulgence.

O'Shea, an ex-Army man from Tipperary, has fitted well into our town - even to the extent of succumbing to the local custom of parking his cars on the pavement, as one disgruntled pedestrian has remarked. He speaks enthusiastically of his drivers and the service they provide around the clock, 365 days a year. There is a pool of eight drivers on call, some of them part-time. At the moment they are all men, but there are some women drivers who have applied for the stringently controlled PSV license necessary. Soon it is hoped that one or two of them will take a turn behind the wheel, as well as the men such as John McDermott and Jim Staunton who are already well-known to MCL regulars. Apart from the straight forward taxi and courier service, MCL can also arrange mini-bus hire, has a car rental agency, and runs something of an accommodation bureau in recommending local places to stay.

STREET TALKING

the basis of the business. With no callout charge, he is able to run a group of shoppers into the main street from the local estates for £2.00, or take home a group just off the last bus from Dublin and anxious about the walk home in the dark

These local runs are much used by the elder citizens, and were particularly appreciated during the harsh weather of the past couple of months when many would have been housebound otherwise. His cabs have been in attendance in practically every local wedding of late, providing a reasonable Maynooth based alternative to the flash 'limo'. His drivers find their way to addresses down the narrowest twistiest boreens, often at dead of night and perhaps with a reveller not able to give the clearest of directions. And if someone is unable to get home, and does not have the money, MCL being locally based can see to it that things are settled later - indeed, just such an incident cropped up while "Street Talking" was Our draughts, volleyball and badminton teams are practising away, and by the time we go to print they'll have started their County competition. We wish them all the best of luck. Draughts manager Breda Gormally, volleyball manager Bernie O'Shea and the badminton club are looking after the badminton. Our outdoor teams are also starting to practice i.e. variety, producer Fiona O'Connor, Manager Norah McDermott, Tennis manager Tom Sullivan, and football, soccer and hurling will be looked after by the respective clubs. Our grateful thanks to all these people, who give of their precious time to look after our teams. The following are dates for the individual events:- Art, Fri. 4th May - Boys National School 6 - 9 p.m.

Athletics - G.A.A. field Sunday 20th May.

Swimming, Sat 21st April - Stewarts 4.30 p.m. sharp and gymnastics Thursday 26th April. If there are any changes in these dates we will notify the schools and put up posters. Also don't forget to leave back all the perpetual trophies in proper condition for this years winners. We congratulate the O'Shea family from Smithstown who won the overall family perpetual trophy for 1989 and to Caoimhe O'Sullivan who won the overall individual cup for 1989. These trophies were presented at the Patrick's Day parade.

The last report in the Newsletter must have been from a different team, or else Paddy McGovern our erstwhile club captain paid me handsomely! Suffice to say that the season has not gone too well, or otherwise why would Aidan Siggins be talking about the formation of a cricket team for the Summer. Sadly we will reflect on this season as the year that we blew it. Never was success so easily attainable. Dacent (sic) Skins as Eamon Dunphy would put it, don't make a team, but what the hell we still enjoyed it, which was the raison d'etre (or as McGroarty puts it in ancient Greek "hit the box").

Bradley Shield - Quarter Final

After the euphoria of the previous match which saw us bundle the cup favourites out in the premier competition, away from home, most neutrals predicted a phenomenal season. Clonee tossed us out of this secondary competition deservedly. Two nil down at half time, our Zig and Zag, Paul Broughan and Aidan Siggins pulled two back. On merit Clonee got the fifth. The outstanding feature of the game was undoubtably the incredible incompetence of the referee, which certainly surpassed by a very wide margin anything in this writers very extensive experience. Up to now we had gone three and a half years without a sending off or a suspension for accumulated points. On the day we had two sent off and three booked. Sadly the idiot in having been shown the red card. After the game one wit remarked that a bus would be necessary for the next disciplinary committee meeting. His colleague replied that they could start a campaign entitled 'free the Summerhill eleven'.

Challenge Cup - 2nd Round

Having beaten Navan side Brewery in last years quarter final, we had some confidence in facing the Div. 1A, formerly Div. 1 side. Sadly the day ended with a dismal 5 - 1 thrashing, the only goal coming from Joe (Brendan Bradley lookalike) Buckley.

black probably ended our season and maybe even gave the club the kiss of death.

League Div. 2

Despite the previous result we went on to record a 1 - 1 draw away to Stackallen Rovers thanks to a second half goal from Ciaran McGroarty. Then followed a fine 4-0 win away to Summerhill Celtic. The goals came from McGroarty (2), O'Boyle and Hughes. The game was abandoned after 65 minutes when a Summerhill player refused to leave the field after ensued, with both goals coming from the boot of Aristotle McGroarty. Another 1 - 1 draw away with league leaders Rossin Rovers followed thanks to a goal from our own Percy French, Paddy McGovern. John Hughes in the best tradition of Norman Whiteside scored twice in an infamous 2 - 3 defeat at home to Clonmellon side, Killua Wanderers. A 2-2 draw against runaway leaders of Div. 2 Drumcar Celtic meant that we have now taken three out of a possible four points from the certain League Div. 2 winners. The goals came from Ray Broughan whose new beard now resembles that of Peter Withe and the ubiquitous Paddy McGovern. The north Donegal philosopher and sometime goalscorer McGroarty got the equaliser away to the probable league runners - up Grove Rangers, 1 - 1. A 1 - 3 defeat away to Kells Celtic meant the end of any tenuous promotion hopes. The goal came from our own Franz Carr, alias Martin O'Dea.

League Div. 2

A 2 - 2 draw at home to Stackallen

With four games remaining at home in the League and one away we can only hope to attain mid - table respectability and our pride. The Divisional Cup draw is away to Clonee Utd., this year's likely Div. 3 Champions who knows! The exhumation of the remains of Gerry Murtagh, Eanna O'Boyle and Peter Connell should only serve to confuse our enemies!

Yours in sport, Declan Forde Chairman.

An excellent all round team performance which resulted in us gaining two hard earned points. Ken Cribben and Joe O'Riordan scored the all important goals. This defeat for Sarts dealt their title aspirations a severe blow as they had sights n being in the hunt for honours.

Our recent efforts off the field were centered around preparations for the St. Patrick's Day parade and our dance in Slims on Sunday 18th March. The Juvenile/Junior/Senior All Ireland Cross Country Championships were held at Bellewstown Racecourse on 4th February in the worst weather conditions imaginable. Our only medal winner was Carmel Noonan who put up a superb performance to take the silver medal in the Junior U/17 event. Our juveniles in action were Emer Diggins (Boys U/9), Irene Kearney, Susan Adderley (Girls U/ 10), Niall Byrne, Ciaran McDermott (Boys U/10), Michelle Gillick, Sarah Adderley, Laura Kearney (Girls U/11), Shauna Feeney, Tracey Kearney, Dervla McDermott, Linda Haren (Girls U/12), Emer O'Sullivan, Aisling Redmond, Gemma Haren (Girls U/13), Emma McCluskey, (Girls U/14), Niall Gillick, Christopher Byrne, Paul Flood, (Boys U/ 14) and Fiona Redmond, (Girls U/16). They all deserved a medal for combating the atrocious conditions.

Most of these athletes plus Thomas and AnnMarie Farrell, Karl and Andre Ennis and Lisa McCluskey were in action in Ras Chill Dara at Kilcullen during international week. Most successful was Niall Byrne who had a great run for third in Boys U/10 while Carmel Noonan was time in the preparations a sincere thanks. Our dance in Slims proved to be a marvellous evening with all and sundry having a most enjoyable time. The excellent entertainment provided by "Second Chance" contributed a great deal and we look forward to having them again in the near future.

The large attendance made for a carnival atmosphere and our National Holiday was celebrated in true Irish fashion. It was very heartening to receive support from various other clubs and associations and it was also a great fillip to see the various codes mingle on the night and enjoy the occasion.

We would like to thank Maynooth Labour party, Kathleen Dempsey, Brady's and Caulfields for donating prizes for our raffle also the Leinster Arms. The evening was a fitting opening to our 21st birthday celebrations which will continue throughout the year. A number of other functions and activities are in the pipeline and will be advertised locally or as the man said "watch this space".

Good progress has been made in our negotiations with Kildare Co. Co. to have the Mart Boreen restored to its former enrichment and we expect the problem to be solved in the next few weeks.

again in the prizes also. Patsy McCluskey took the Vet Ladies Race with the team completed by Helen Redmond and Margaret Gillick 2nd while Frances Kearney and Marie Gleeson also ran. Liam McNamee was 3rd in Veteran men with the team also 2nd completed by Brian Redmond and David Jolley.

Maynooth Club was host to the international visitors from USSR, France, Portugal and Belgium at a function in Slims, Leinster Arms on Friday 2nd March. It was great to see so many people who were involved with the club over the years at the function for the first such assembly in Maynooth of foreign athletes. A superb night was had by locals and visitors alike. The club would like to thank Beechgrove Construction Ltd., through Kieran Diggins for their generous sponsorships and all those who donated spot prizes - Barberstown Castle, Ulster Bank, Maynooth Autos, Leinster Arms, Maynooth G.A.A., New Waves, and Mary Tierney. Also Willie Kiernan for supplying and erecting sound equipment, the Leinster Arms and Staff for their excellent service, Mary Tierney and staff for the magnificent meal and all our home grown entertainers: The McMyler Sisters; The Maher School of Irish Dancers; Paul "Elvis" Kelly; and the "Band" some of whom did not even know each other before, but put together a great session.

Peter Keegan, Gerry Fitzpatrick, David Jolley, Philip McDermott and Kevin McGovern not forgetting those who got up and gave a hand from time to time including Brian Stewart, Kevin Connolly, Sean Molloy and the visitors among others. We were sorry to discover that Paddy and Imelda Desmond were unble to be with us on the night due to Paddy's hospitalisation; Get well Paddy from everybody in the Club.

Trainings continues at 7.00 Tuesdays/ Thursdays at the G.A.A. Field. With the advent of the summer evenings we would like to see those who hibernated for the cross country season re appear.

Anybody interested in joining a meet and train group for Evening Press 10k should meet at same times or phone 280075 or 285246 for details.

MAYNOOTH GOLFING

Maynooth Golfing Society members travelled to the Heath Golf Club, Portlaoise, on March 3rd last, for their first outing of the year. The weather conditions were ideal for golf and everyone present thoroughly enjoyed playing the excellent Golf Course. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Health Golf Club for the excellent facilities provided and in particular the catering staff for the magnificent meal provided on the day. Congratulations to all the prizewinners, patricularly Tony Dunning the overall winner (11) 33 pts.

Training for all teams for the coming season has started and a good turn out of players has been reported. If we are to continue our success of last year our teams must be turned out fit and well trained.

Work on the construction of our new sports pavilion at Moyglare Road is progressing very well. I will be writing in detail about this in the next issue of the Newsletter.

MAYNOOTH G.A.A.

As already reported in the media, a Super Members Draw will be taking place during the next six months. First draw takes place in Maynooth on Friday 20th April 1990 with subsequent draws on the 3rd Friday of each month concluding in September.

Members of the club are selling tickets house to house in the Maynooth area at present and according to reports coming in we are getting widespread support. Our thanks to everyone who helped us take part in the Maynooth St. Patrick's Day Parade, to Colm Feeney and Michael Kelly who provided the transport and Maynooth Autos who loaned us a new Nissan Micra car for the day. This car is one of the major prizes to be won in our first draw in April.

Also in the parade our juvenile players looked excellent in their brand new outfits. Our thanks to Kevin Connolly for turning them out so well.

Michael Caden P.R.O.

We wish to apologise for the inadvertent ommission of the G.A.A. notes, the citizen consumer report and the Fianna Fail notes in the March issue of the Newsletter.

EDITORIAL

EDUCATION

The weeks after Easter saw the focus of media attention firmly on education, as the three major teacher unions held their annual conferences. Apart from the heightened interest in the possibility of the Minister for Education, Mrs. Hussey, there was much discussion on the problems posed for the future of education.

The problems highlighted include those with which Maynooth parents and children are all too familiar, including high pupil teacher ratios, reduced subject choice through cutbacks, as well as teacher stress. Despite the extension of free education in the 1960's, access to education, particularly third level, is still the preserve of the wealthier elements of society. Many schools now require a 'voluntary contribution' just to provide the school with essential equipment. This contribution has been described as a 'roll tax', and makes it even more difficult for poorer families to ensure that their children obtain the same quality of education as children from wealthier families. Given that education is so important in providing children with the skills required to earn a living, the quality of the education which the child receives is crucial - and the elements which go to ensure this quality include the amount of individual attention available, remedial teachers, career guidance, range of subjects, and good teachers.

Good education and good health are essential to the well being of society. Both areas are unequally distibuted today, leading to a cycle of deprivation, which has made Ireland one of the most stratified societies in Europe.

With these issues in mind, we wish all students taking exams within the next few weeks every success.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Yours sincerely,

Richard Farrell, Secretary/PRO

rurther to your editorial (re-parking on the Galway Rd./ Green), we respond as follows:

We would hope that when people see the effort that is being put into cutting the green, and in the near future the planting of flowers, common pride will make them park their cars in the proper car park. We hope that it will never come to the stage that was outlined in the editorial.

Once again we ask KEEP CARS OFF THE GREEN - before a serious accident takes place. Finally, we have requested that

Re: St. Patrick's Day Parade

Dear Madam,

As you are no doubt aware we are the organisers of what now has become one of the biggest St. Patrick's Day parades outside Dublin. We are effectively the only parade in Kildare. We are very encouraged to see so many businesses and clubs from Leixlip taking part. We think that this can be improved on if we co-ordinate participation through your good offices for future parades.

Now that we have finally got Kildare County Council's support on detours, Maynooth is an ideal town for holding such an event. Traffic from Dublin is detoured through the back lanes and traffic to Dublin takes the Moyglare Road route.

We are very lucky in that we have our own Brass & Reed Band (St. Marys) to lead our parade and we also have the participation of vehicles from the Fire Brigade and Eastern Health Board showing off the strength of the North Kildare local services.

We hope that with your active support we can make the parade the best in the Country. We look forward to hearing from you.

Yours sincerely,

John McGinley, Secretary.

Mr. P. Flynn T.D., Minister for the Environment, Dail Eireann.

SWANS NEST

This month we start with what may be bad news, but which we hope will be good news. Recently water levels of the canal in the Maynooth rose due to the opening of Lock gates further up stream. While it was never intended, the rising waters rose dangerously close to the swans nest where the eggs were being hatched. Swift action however by committee members brought the water down to a more acceptable level and we can just hope and pray that all is well in the nest. It is comforting to see that the swans are still sitting on the nest.

COMMITTEE

In last months Royal Canal Notes we published details of the incoming Canal Committee which had just being elected and regretably omitted the name of committee member Gerry McGlinchev. Gerry is one of our very active members and does a vast amount of work for which we are very thankful.

ROYAL CANAL

NEWS

WATER SAFETY

With the Canal Harbour and the advent of fine weather many people will no doubt be strolling along the canal. The amenity is there for everyone to enjoy, but we stress that the canal is a public waterway and normal water safety rules should be observed at all times by those frequenting the

OFFICIAL OPENING

As stated earlier Maynooth Harbour is now complete and will be officially reopened on Sunday May 27th at 1.30 p.m. This event is being organised in conjuction with the reopening of the entire canal from Blanchardstown to Mullingar. It is hoped that both St. Mary's Brass Band and Maynooth Accordian Band will attend and various side shows are being arranged. A good afternoon's entertainment is in store.

CANAL JAMBOREE

The Royal Canal Jamboree which takes place on the 6th May at the North Kildare Club is now at an advanced stage of organisation and we are pleased to announce that the Mermaid as seen on the Kenny Live show on R.T.E., will be in attendance and she will be giving away lots of tickets for free trips to Mosney. The All Ireland School Canoeing Championship will take place on the canal during the Jamboree. R.T.E. will be there to televise the now famous "Its a Knockout" and no fewer than 24 teams have entered the contest. The Jamboree Queen will be chosen at a disco in the Marquee at the Jamboree site on Saturday May 5th and will preside at the Jamboree. C.K.R. Radio will be broadcasting live from the Jamboree and will be playing all your requests. Maynooth Brass Band will give a recital and many side shows will be there. The Pub Tub Derby will also take place, so be there to see how the team from your local gets on. A special swimming pool is being installed at the North Kildare for the Jamboree and this fabulous pool will be raffled later during the Jamboree.

Gerry Fitzpatrick P.R.O.

The last party was held in the Post Primary School on April 1st. Our thanks to Fr. Ernest for celebrating Mass and to the members of the Accordian Band, Vincent Mulready and Josie Moore for providing the excellent entertainment.

ACTIVE AGE WEEK

This usually takes place in the Autumn but this year it will be during the week 13th -20th May. Happily so because this coincides with the 25th Anniversary of the founding of the Maynooth Old People's Committee.

VICTORY CELEBRATIONS

A very enjoyable function was held in the Gymnasium of the school last Friday evening April 6th. The victorious Senior and Junior football teams were being presented with their medals by the well known trainer of the Meath team, Sean Boylan.

In the course of his address Sean emphasised the importance of playing games, fitness and a commitment to the team. Aer Lingus provided the catering and Fr. Thynne was the genial Master of Ceremonies.

The senior team Captain in a reply thanked the teachers for their commitment of time and energy in preparing the two winning teams. Mr. Griffin and Mr. Holt trained the Seniors while Mr. Dunne and Mr. McKeon trained the Junior teams. Well done to one and all.

ming to rock climbing to canoeing. We hope all concerned will have a pleasant time.

Our 2nd years are all geared up for their trip to Wales at the end of May. This will be both educational and social. The slate mines in Llechwedd will be visited, Snowdon mountain railway together with a shopping visit to Chester and an evening of fun at the Rhyl Sun Centre.

For an investment of one hundred pounds once off, or in four instalments of twenty five, you can contribute to the provision of extra facilities in the school. Plans are well advanced for two fenced-in tennis courts which, it is intended, to hand over to a tennis club which hopefully will be organised so that everybody in Maynooth can enjoy the use of this facility. We would appeal in particular to past pupils and past parents who would like to show their appreciation for any help given by the school in the development of their children. Now is your chance to give something back - buy a Bond!

MOCK INTERVIEWS

The Mock Interviews have been held once again this year and our gratitude to all those who responded to the request to act as interviewers in a wide selection of careers.

There is of course the first prize of one thousand pounds which can be won in November. Buy a Bond now for one hundred pounds or in four instalments of twenty five pounds between now and November. Contact Mr. McManus in the Post-Primary School.

SCHOOL TOURS

Our 1st year students are getting ready for their school tour to Smarmore Castle, Co. Louth - May 7th to 11th. This is an adventure, sporting, outdoor activity centre which will provide a great variety of activities for the boys and girls from archery to swim-

BOND SCHEME

Finally, - Past, present and future parents and students are invited (requested, arm twisted!) to participate in our Bond Scheme.

A party of twenty two first and second year students will set off for a month to the Kerry Gaeltacht in June. Needless to say they will return with a "Fior Bhlas".

GAELTACHT

MAY DAY

Maypoles and May Queens traditionally greet the first of May, which for many centuries has been traditionally celebrated among the Latin and Germanic peoples.

However, there is some confusion regarding the origins of May Day. It is supposed to be named after Maia, the mother of Mercury, to whom sacrifices were offered on the first day of the month. Other scholars believe that May Day festivals stem from the rite, practised in honour of Flora, the Roman goddess of spring.

May Day is currently celebrated as a festival for children, marking the re-appearance of flowers during the spring.

May Day is greeted by dancing around a garlanded pole, a Maypole, from which hang streamers held by dancers as they perform. It is also celebrated in many European countries as a labour holiday, comparable to America's Labour Day. In the Soviet Union and other communist countries, May Day is especially significant. Observance of the holiday by some workers in Europe and the United States, probably dates from the celebration of the Second International, an assembly of socialist and labour parties, convened in 1889.

MAYNOOTH SPRING FAIR 1990

When Maynooth people tell you that on the last weekend in April the Maynooth Spring Fair is the biggest attraction in County Kildare, West Dublin and South Meath, you have to take their claim seriously. Saturday and Sunday 28th and 29th April, sees the Spring Fair in its fourth year. It started in 1987 as a once off fund raising event between the local Royal Canal Restoration Group and the Management Committee of the Boy's National School. Its success that year has been built on in each subsequent year with the slogan "BIGGER AND BETTER".

The Maynooth Spring Fair is held in the Boy's National School and adjacent grounds. Ground space is rented to exhibitors at the same rates as in 1987. You or any exhibitor can rent a minimum size sales pitch for two days for £45 all in. Last year the organising Committee had to close applications for sales space when the figure of 107 units had been reached. The organising Committee believe that success depends on widespread and effective advertising, and in its first three years has gone public on national radio, 'Live at 3' (twice), AA Roadsigns, Newspapers and Roadside Hoardings.

From the start Maynooth Spring Fair has not been just another Trade Fair. Fringe attractions are always organised to encourage people to attend in greater numbers. To date these attractions have included live radio broadcast by Radio 2, the Sam Maguire Cup, wine and beer making competitions, free valuations and antiques, coins, stamps and medals.

It's a great day out from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day. Use the day to visit historical Maynooth - St. Patrick's College, the restored Royal Canal Harbour, the Fitzgerald Castle, the Round Tower and Connolly's Folly.

COLLEGE NOTES

CANTEEN AND RESIDENCE TO BE BUILT

Hot on the heels of the recent announcement that the Government has given the goahead for the construction of the first phase of the long-sought new Science Building comes news of two further buildings which the College authorities hope to get under way shortly. The first of these is a new, purpose-built canteen to replace the present overcrowded facility in the Arts Building. The idea seems to be to locate it on the New Campus so that it would be linked to both the present Arts Building and the new Science Building when completed. This would also release space in the Arts Building for conversion into additional offices and teaching rooms which have become increasingly necessary due to the rapid expansion in student numbers in recent years. If Government permission is forthcoming, the possibility is that the new canteen could be built during the coming summer.

Meanwhile, the College is advancing plans to build a residence for lay students on the campus. The earmarked site is off the Moyglare Road, beyond the Post Primary school, and adjacent to the SMA Hostel. Details regarding the number of students to be accommodated, facilities and costs etc. are not yet available. Nevertheless, it is now quite clear that after many years of stand-still, the campus will shortly be a hive of construction activity, which argurs well for the future.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The College Authorities are currently investigating the establishment of an association of college graduates, or "alumni", as they are more grandiosely known. Such associations are now the norm among universities, with their get togethers great occasions for nostalgia and renewal of old acquaintances (not to mention appeals for hand-outs from the College President!). So, if you see groups of middle-aged people staring dumbfounded into the new lounge in the Roost, or asking after Doss in Caulfield's, you will know what is up.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The temporary-looking building on the New Campus which houses most of the Arts Faculty was opened in 1976. Some people still call it the "New" Arts Block, although for most it is simply the "Arts Block".

However, having given the matter weighty consideration at its last meeting, the College Executive Council has now deemed it desirable that the erection in question should be known henceforth as the "Arts Building'.

A similar designation is to be applied to the forthcoming edifice to house the Science faculty. Perhaps it is time to consider naming the buildings in question after illustrious people with past (or even present?) associations with the college. In the meantime, while it is unlikely that instant expulsion or dismissal will ensue should any students or staff be heard to utter the unmentionable word "bl..k" in the vicinity of high-ranking college officials, it is probably wise to be careful just in case.

NEW STUDENT OFFICERS

Congratulations to Vincent Martin and David Hall on their recent election to the positions of Student Union President and Vice-president, respectively. Vincent is currently studying for the Higher Diploma in Education, while David is in First Arts. They will take up their full-time posts on July 1st.

Meanwhile, the present incumbents of these positions are still beavering away on behalf of their constituents. Following a recent survey which showed a very strong demand among the student body, the Student Union presented proposals for an Examination Appeals procedure within the college. As it happens, such a procedure is currently being considered by the Senate of the National University of Ireland for implementation NUI colleges, including within all Maynooth. The Maynooth Student Union proposal has been forwarded by the college to the NUI Senate for inclusion in that body's deliberations. Meanwhile, congratulations to Pauline Madigan and John O'Sullivan for their initiative in this matter.

DUBLIN ARTS DIARY

Recently Italian Cinema has given us two remarkably similar films Ettore Scola's 'Splendor' and Giuseppe Tornatore's 'Cinema Paradiso'. Ostensibly hommages to the 'hot medium' both also are evocative portrayals of small town life in pre- and postwar Italy. The award laden Cinema Paradiso, recent winner of the best foreign film Academy Award and winner of the CINEMA PARADISO -SCREEN COLLEGE ST. who has created a carnival of characters which Federico Fellini would be envious of.

The film flags ever so slightly in the absence of Noiret most noticeably in the latter stages where the impish Toto has grown into a more sedate adolescent. Now the omnipresent cinema which has suffered conflagration and reconstruction, is suffering

Grand Jury Prize in Cannes in 1989, is a spellbinding film not least due to another amazing performance from Phillipe Noiret in his one hundredth film role. The pervasive nostalgic atmosphere is enhanced by a narrative that unravels in flashback which has its catalyst in the persona of Alfredo (Noiret) and its genesis in Rome. Here Salvatore, an accomplished director returning from work hears of his old friends death, news which reawakes memories of his childhood in post-war Sicily. Alfredo the projectionist of the eponymaus cinema is a compassionate fatherly batchelor who is the closest companion of the fatherless Salvatore / Toto (Jacques Perrin). This central relationship infuses an enchanting movie with its heartwarming aura and elevates it into the stratosphere of contemporary cinema. Unlike the cosiness of Peter Weirs 'Dead Poet's Society' which incidentally shared the same cinema bill, it is a thought provoking study of the medium executed in impeccable style. One scene in particular, which is shot from the perspective of the Paradiso screen, equates Tornatores' audience with the 'real audience, a situation not unlike that evinced in Velazquezs', Las Meninas, where the realism of the subject is questioned. This polemic of art versus life recurs throughout the movie giving an added dimension to its pastoral simplicity. The cinema itself serves as the cynosure of the village populace, a microcosm of its culture, which is depicted in endearingly comic fashion by Tornatore in the birth of the cool medium of television. Alfredo in parallel with the Paradiso has physically degenerated having in an ironic quirk of fate lost his sight in the aforementioned fire. Salvatore eventually heeds the advice of his aged mentor leaving for the mainland and doesn't look back.

Cinema Paradiso is destined already to become a classic of the nineteen nineties and has to be seen on the big screen. Highly recommended viewing especially for the cineastes.

POETRY CORNER

TO MARIGA

You were always unlike us Even when you joined our meetings In a cardigan with torn elbows; We crafted hard pragmatic plans; You spoke of fragile lovely things As if they were the common currency: Birth and privilege afforded you perspective, Lets space and calmness in Until they were necessities. How then could you abide The suburb's onslaught: Our motors cruising down your drive, Our children plucking blossoms from your trees. Our lovers kissing in your ruined gazebo?

Dear life - bewildered princess Sleep quiet beneath your folly With Maytime beauties that you loved Piled here in fresh-cut splendour: I lay this cottage-grown rosemary Beside the stately arum lilies.

When You Need Them by Clairr

O'Connor. (Salmon Publishing. £4.50 on sale in Maynooth Bookshop).

Clairr O'Connor's collection of poetry has recently been published in an impressively presented fifty-seven page volume by Salmon Publishing. The poems are nothing short of wonderful, rounded and finished with a quiet power of intimacy which leaves one silent in its wake.

They range through three sections with a cleverly orchestrated progression of theme. Part one, 'From the Belly', unveils the earth mother slowly and very painfully becoming human, fighting the restrictions of domesticity and finding a sense of release only on/in moonlit nights ("My blood-tears tick/new time, spotted moon." "Moonless I lurch about, / Osiris my guide / but somehow I never/get it right." "Only at night do I feel unpacked.") She is constantly doing battle with the realm of the domestic where everything seems to be too particular to contain her; it demands order, structure and is governed by the imperative of having to "stage first impressions." The myth and archetype of this section is superbly evoked by the careful use of words which, in themselves, are connotative of mystery and power: 'Savage', 'Moon - Dragged', 'Birthings', 'Passage', 'Mudmen', and by the recurring images of villages, smoke and fire, dance and face painting. All very primitive, superhuman. The driving force behind this presentation is centred in female fertility and in aspects of the earth mother or goddess. But the wonderful achievement of this section comes with the poems from 'Playpens' onward. Here Clairr O'Connor begins to show the goddess moving into a more mundane realm, slowly from archetype to individual:

In the kitchen / head tight as a bandage / I burn and spill . . . / Only at night do I feel unpacked.

The images of restriction are everywhere and the sense of there being something far more universal than can be confined in a house is overwhelming:

In bed I wake

The moon threads the curtains, The brasseyes of our bed stare. The dream serpent wakes me

In sudden winter
The house lies down in snow,.
Fear slouches off his skin and lodges in my eye sockets;
The guest, shifteyed Ophidian, secures his habitation.

BOOK REVIEWS

She manages to convey the impression that the pain of this movement is something wholesome and natural; formative, despite her efforts to reject it.

Part two, 'Another Space', sees the woman of part one needing companionship and being overtly concerned with birth, growth, children. The poems chart a rapid progression into an area where it is necessary to 'Hit the Brakes' and where it becomes essential to 'find another space, my own.' Existing side by side with this desire for a 'glass island' is the opposing need to contact; long distance contact with her companion and an over-riding desire for total intimacy with nature ('its not easy / to find oceans when you need them'). The pain is all too silent. 'Waves and Voices' part three, slides through the noise of New York, listening to and watching the many manifestations of entanglement; pawnbrokers skewering owners' dockets; the great 'escape' of the druggist's wife; the plight of a woman who has had her breast removed and sees it everywhere, and, towering above them all, great aunt May - 'squaw long years'. Here the goddess has returned to the movement of the poems in the person of an ancient matriarch (the 'hag' dimension):

From her black ark ashore great Aunt May Remembers the energy of waves,

The complete silence of sea under moon.

In this final section, Clairr O'Connor has come back to the mythical and the primitive. "I just don't wanna / play - act no more" shoves the entire movement towards a resolution of sorts; driving a determined passage through despair and back to a wholesome universality. 'Ceremony', the final poem in the book is rounded by the tones of acceptance and connotates completion - it is both brutal and compassionate, mysterious and definitive at one and the same time.

Feel the shape of the bowl
Without speaking Drink.

These poems are mature in anger and strength. They flow from page to page and back again, endlessly rocking a cradle of love and motherhood. It is one of the finest attempts yet in Irish literature to make room in the house for the goddess in suburbia.

OPERA MINIMA

(24 pp; £1.75 softback - on sale in Maynooth Bookshop)

A unique bilingual anthology of poetry written by two locally resident poets has recently been published. 'Opera Minima' a collection by Bill Tinley and Edoardo Zuccato is a series of sixteen works of which Tinley's six poems constitute the first part of this unusual collection which is completed by Zuccato's Italian penned pieces (three of which are in the Milanese dialect). Each work is translated into its companion language.

Tinley's oeuvre comprises what are ostensibly love poems tinged with a sense of vague regret. 'Reunion', 'Tattoos', 'Sleeping Together' and 'Wanting a Child' are written within these parameters in conventional fashion, honest and frankly undisguised writing, whereas 'A Black and White Photograph' and 'Sacco, the "Fasting Man" are subtly masked in themes of photography and abstinence respectively. Imagery and emotion mingle fluidly in this writing 'The streetlight blooms its yellow disc again As we revive our wilted passion a technique that is employed with considerable dexterity in "Tattoos", an invigoratingly clever treatment of sexual calligraphy or more succinctly 'the hieroglyphics of desire'. Such inventive syntax imbues the text with a vital dynamism as evinced in the concise terminology of 'jamjarred' and 'days and weeks, weep into phases of the Zodiac'.

This economy of composition is epitomised in the terse language of 'Sacco, the "Fasting Man", a work lean and hungry like its subject, notable for its clarity of desperate urgency. Perhaps in its epitaphic niche Tinley has decided there has been 'enough of the symbolic' and evokes Beckett with a plea for the communications of silence. This is an apt endpiece to a collection which advocates the emergence of a promising young writer, who unlike the eponymous Sacco, appears to have plenty more to say. Edoardo Zuccato's poetry is in immediate contrast to Tinley's, embracing urban consumerism and rural landscape in a staccato mimalist style. Hints of William Carlos Williams abound, most noticeably resonant in 'Script for all possible films'

'As then two lonely birds Swallowed in the white Chirp 'one' On the screen of the sky' A measured academic cadence pervades this writing which tends to petrify its impetus (a possible result of translation?). This characteristic however does enhance on occasion as in 'of the deserted railway along the river' creating a synesthetic effect with its incongrous imagery

'Some shouts in the background the code of a laughter

then not even the time to say 'Amen'.,

The dedication of the writers is attested to by the book which they compiled, typeset and published with a cover designed by Kevin Horan. The result, Opera Minima is an interlude with enough inspirational arias to make it well worth the price of admission.

MAYNOOTH CREDIT UNION

On the 5th March we celebrated our second birthday. The Maynooth Credit Union has grown tremendously in that short period. On St. Patrick's Day we again took part in the Parade - this time entering a float. Great praise and thanks must be given to Oonagh Breslin who designed our float depicting some gorgeous squirrels being thrifty and making plans for the future. We hope that some of the on lookers to whom we distributed leaflets will be encouraged to come along and find out more about The Credit Union and join it.

The Irish League of Credit Unions was founded in 1960 and celebrated its 30th birthday on Sunday 7th February. Five Credit Unions founded the League which now has 509 Credit Unions as affiliated members. The range of services provided include

- Support for the formation and development of new Credit Unions.
- Advice, Training and Monitoring of existing Credit Unions.
- A wide range of legislative, Administrative, Financial and Secretarial support services.

MAYNOOTH WINCHESTER THREE SUPPORT GROUP

This month we are awaiting the decision of the Appeal Court in London on the fate of Finbar Cullen, John McCann and Martina Shanahan. Our anxiety at this point can be nothing compared to that of the three themselves and their families, and we extend our solidarity to them particularly at this time. We understand at the moment that they are awaiting two distinct decisions by the judges; (a) Whether to allow the application to appeal in the first instance, and (b) their ruling on that appeal, the application to appeal having been accepted, by mutual consent, as the appeal itself. Leave to appeal the severity of the sentences has already been granted. Where to find the balance between hope and realism in all that, is difficult to say. What we can be sure of is the encouragement which the three get from local support such as ours. Below is an extract from a recent letter from Finbar, which speaks for itself.

> Frankland Prison 26-3-90

Dear Friends,

This is just a note to let you know how much your hard work and support is appreciated and how much it means to me

... Among the things which sustain me from day to day here, and keep my head and spirits high, are the regular reports I hear of your wonderful support and efforts for Martina, John and me. The recent burst of activity has been great for our morale at what is a difficult time. I was especially moved by the description of the St. Patrick's Day Parade in Maynooth - it certainly sounded like a brilliant occasion and everyone seems to have surpassed themselves! Many thanks to each of you for all your concern and support. It is one beacon of hope which never fails me, not even in the darkest hours behind Franklands walls.

With every best wish, and our hearts set to the future, Slan go foill, Finbar Cullen.

BAND BULLETIN

Band activists, like the weather are now beginning to warm up and we already have a pretty full diary for May. One of the main events this month is the Royal Canal Jamboree in the North Kildare Club on 6th May where, through the generosity of the Lions Club, we hope to add to our Uniform Fund. A great deal of work has gone into the organisation of this event, which includes the famous T.V. spectacle 'it's a Knockout', and we hope all our friends will support the Jamboree. We may just 'miss the bus' but for those of you who buy your Newsletter early we are holding a 'Sixties Night' in the Hitchin' Post on Friday 27th April at 8.30. There will be a real honest to God live Showband providing the music and if you feel like coming in your '60's gear you will be even more welcome. We promise all a great night out. Proceeds of the night will also go towards our Uniform Fund and we hope you will have patience with us during the year as we go about Fund Raising for our new uniforms. Our present set is almost 10 years old so we should not be bothering you for another ten years at least. Finally, may we thank the Lions Club for their surprise 'Congratulations Advert' in last months Newsletter. We were delighted to see our dual victory being recognised and we are grateful for their consideration. We hope for many more triumphs in the future. Hope to see you here again next month with a little more news.

Kingsbry Residents Association would like to thank everyone who attended their Annual General Meeting which was held recently. Councillors Bernard Durkan, Emmet Stagg and Gerry Brady were in attendance. At this meeting many proposals were discussed. One such topic was the employment of an estate gardener through the offices of FAS, on a Social Employment Scheme. Following investigations this proved uneconomic due to the high costs which would be incurred. A new contractor has been hired to maintain the large greens in the estate. Smaller public areas will be maintained by committee members. The contractor has started work already and the committee hopes that this arrangement proves satisfactory to everyone.

NEW COMMITTEE

The incoming committee members have been elected as follows:

Gerry Delaney - Chairman
Joe Geraghty - V. Chairman
Ian McKenna - Secretary
Kieran O'Grady - Treasurer
Maureen Fitzsimons - P.R.O. members are: Kevin Coyle, Breds

Other members are: Kevin Coyle, Breda Barrett, Jack Butler, Kathleen Keogh.

RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION NEWS

KINGSBRY RESIDENTS

The incoming committee would like to thank last years committee for all the time and effort they gave to organising last years events. This year the committee will be following their footsteps in endeavouring to replace any dead or broken trees throughout the estate. Recently a number of trees have been vandalised late at night and we appeal to any residents who witness the defacing of trees to report the perpetrator to the committee. Another problem in the estate concerns a few individuals who continuously dump their household and other refuse at the back of the estate and on empty building sites in the estate. Aside from being unhealthy and dangerous for children, it is extremely inconsiderate of others. Dumping is illegal and anyone seen disposing of their refuse in this manner will be reported to their council.

FORTHCOMING

EVENTS
We would like to thank all residents who subscribed to the Residents Association and for grass cutting fees. Last year we organised many social events which were both well attended and enjoyed by all. This year we hope that even more residents join in: it's a great way of meeting and socialising with your neighbours. It is hoped extra events this year will be arranged starting with a pitch & putt competition in May.

NEW COMMITTEE

Following a year in which the Residents' Association almost went to the wall, the caretaking committee were delighted to get a good turn-out to the A.G.M. held on the 20th of March this year. There was a great show of enthusiasm by those present and there was no problem getting a new committee elected. The officers being;

Treasurer
Pauline Kearns
Social Officer

COLLEGE GREEN RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION

Committee Members: Paul O'Brien and Matt Shortt.

The Associations representative on the Community Council Peter Connell will also attend committee meetings to keep us informed on more global issues.

COMMUNITY DAY

As we had such a successful Community Day last year, it is decided to organise a similar day but a little earlier this year. Last year a lot of people who would otherwise have attended were on holidays so we thought we would opt for late June this year. Our Social Officer, Pauline Kearns, will get a sub-committee together and collect money on a weekly basis with a 'draw' each week before the big day. The date will be settled by the next edition of the Newsletter.

FUNDRAISING

It's subscription time again folks and by now the heavy gang will have called to your house and threatened your family so we are sure that you gave with good grace. If you were not at home (or in hiding), any of the above committee members would be only too glad to accept your contribution. The money is needed as soon as possible so that we can arrange for grass-cutting before some children disappear in the long grass never to be heard of again.

Chiropractic, The Way to Bodily Harmony

Since it's discovery in 1895, Chiropractic has been a blessing to millions of people. Many, who were resigned to a life of pain and disease have been restored to health under chiropractic care. Traditionally, the majority who have been helped have come after attending other healing practitioners.

Chiropractic is a completely different approach to health. It is based on the principle that harmony or ease within the body is the normal body function. An absense of health is an unnatural state called dis-ease or lack or normal body function. Chiropractors are not concerned with treating or covering up disease symptoms but with restoring health. Chiropractors have said for years that diesases, no matter what they are medically labelled, are usually signs that the body is not working in harmony. The Medical Therapeutic approach is to try to fight these diseases individually. The Chiropractic approach is to restore health.

Your nervous system is made up of your brain, your spinal cord and spinal nerves. Messages are assembled in the brain and carried

Your nervous system is made up of your brain, your spinal cord and spinal nerves. Messages are assembled in the brain and carried through the spinal cord and into every area of the body via the nervous system. The bones of the spine protect the spinal cord and nerves because of their extreme importance to the function of the body. Sometimes a bone in the spine can move or be moved out of it's normal position. It will then press on spinal nerves, a situation which the chiropractor calls a "subluxation". The effects of a subluxation can be observed, but often the damage occurs so slowly that it may take months, even years, to produce a noticable malfunction in the body. These malfunctions can manifest themselves in many ways, but often the problem is highlighted by pain in the body's structure, including the spine, shoulder, neck, armor leg. Chiropractors specialize in locating and correcting these subluxations, and by doing so, restoring the body's normal function.

The doctor or Chiropractic will carry out what is called an "adjustment" to the spine, correcting any misalignment which is causing problems. Naturally, the body will therefore function better when the nerve system is free of interference.

Under regular chiropractic care, the correct position of the bones in the spine is maintained to allow a better flow of mental impulses, resulting in greater harmov in the body and thereby a healthier life.

resulting in greater harmoy in the body and thereby a healthier life.

To ensure that you have correct chiropractic care, you should make sure that the practitioner you attend is a fully qualified doctor of chiropractic. Fully trained doctors of Chiropractic in this country will have completed at least four years full time training at a recognised Chiropractic College and most will be members of the Chiropractic Association of Ireland. If you have any queries about Chiropractic, you can contact Dr. Linda M. Finley who has recently moved her practice from Clonsilla, where she has been for three years, to Maynooth. You will also have received a strongly worded letter concerning cars being driven at speed through the estate. Doyle. Sergeant Canny has met the residents in connection with the Neighbourhood Watch, following which, information leaflets were distributed in the area. There was a very positive response to these leaflets, which have been returned to the Gardai and residents will be advised of all developements as they arise.

Following much hassle and frustration on the part of our residents we at long last seem to be nearing a solution to the age old problem of speeding traffic on the Pound/ Convent Lane. This has been a serious problem for many years and despite several accidents nothing has been done, until now that is with the grateful assistance of the Gardai and Sgt. Canny in particular, we may soon be able to walk down the lane without thinking that we had been transported to Mondello Park. We hope to be in a position to give further details at the next residents meeting which will be held in Caulfield's meeting room at 8.30 on Thursday 17th May.

We would like to welcome our new residents one of which has joined our committee and hope they will all become actively involved in the association.

Finally may we encourage those who have not yet paid the annual subscription of £5 to drop it in to any committee member before our next meeting.

GARDA TALK

ATTENTION PARENTS

A recent incident where a young boy was molested by a male, at the Harbour, Maynooth is being investigated by the Gardai. We advise all parents to supervise their children, and not to allow them to wander. This is a very serious situation, and we would appreciate any useful information concerning this occurrence.

REMEMBER PARENTS, THE BEST DETERRENT TO THIS TYPE OF CONDUCT IS CONSTANT SUPERVISION OF YOUR CHILDREN; AND KNOW WHERE THEY ARE AND WHO THEY ARE WITH.

TAKE CARE OF YOUR CAR

Unfortunately, Maynooth like other centres with close proximity to Dublin gets its fair share of crime, and to this end, stolen cars are no exception. A recent increase in this particular type of crime causes concern, and we feel obliged to point out the importance of securing your car properly. It is after all probably your second biggest expenditure after your home.

- 1. Lock you car, remove the ignition key, and secure all windows even for a short space of time. If possible garage your car at night.
- 2. Do not leave property in view.
- 3. Consider fitting a good quality alarm/immobiliser.
- 4. If your car is stolen, report it immediately to the Gardai.

On a similar note, may we thank local residents who recently apprehended a "Number Plate Merchant', who favoured removing number plates from cars in the dead of night. Hopefully this will put a stop to his little 'Number'. Well done to all concerned.

DOGS

Dogs worrying and killing livestock is a menace and every year it appears to be getting worse. If you own a dog, it is your responsibility to ensure that he is under effective control at all times. Every dog which is loose can worry and kill livestock. Please play your part.

Our dog warden can be contacted at (045) 81765.

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

A well attended A.G.M. of the Maynooth Branch was held on March 27th last. Addressing the meeting, the incoming Chairperson, John McGinley, complemented the Branch members on their high level of activity in the community over the past year and pointed out the prominent role played by party members in a wide The following officers were elected; range of local community organisations.

He stressed the importance of the forthcoming Local Election and that the Labour Party was in a strong position given the poor performance of Fianna Fail, Fine Gael and the P.D.'s on Kildare Co. Council. Central Government had starved Local Authorities of finance over the last five years and Kildare's Fianna Fail, Fine Gael and P.D. councillors had acquiesced in the cutbacks. John McGinley argued that a thorough reform of the financing of Local Authorities was required. This could be done without the re-introduction of domestic rates while at the same time abolishing service charge which labour councillors Stagg and Purcell had always opposed.

BOND BRIDGE

Again, the residents of Newtown, Beaufield, Cluain Aoibhinn and College Green are being obliged to navigate their way over Bond Bridge through a lunar landscape of potholes. Emmet Stagg has brought the atrocious condition of the road surface to the attention of the County Council and asked that remedial action be taken immediately.

DUNBOYNE ROAD

The County Council recently carried out patching work on the Dunboyne Road from the entrance to the Convent to the end of Leinster Cottages, following repeated representations from Deputy Stagg. However, this road needs to be resurfaced and Deputy Stagg will continue to request that this work be carried out.

Emmet Stagg TD has made representations to the Minister for Education Mary O'Rourke on behalf of Maynooth Brass and Reed Band seeking funding from the National Lottery.

BILL ON PART-TIME WORKERS

There has been a massive growth in the number of part-time workers in most Western countries over the last decade. While part-time work suits some people, for most it has become a case of necessity due to a simultaneous decline in the availability of full-time jobs. In fact, many large firms have been letting their own full-time workers go and then buying in the goods and services previously produced by these workers from sub-contractors employing part-time labour.

This strategy is attractive because it reduces costs, due to various disadvantages under which part-time workers operate compared to their full-time counterparts. These include low pay, poor working conditions, and lack of entitlement to various benefits such as holidays, maternity leave and redundancy payments. And, because part-time workers are frequently difficult to organise in trade unions, they become vulnerable to instant dismissal and other forms of maltreament.

In Ireland, up to 100,000 people are now employed part-time. As elsewhere, these are mainly women and young people, the former frequently trying to make up for the lost wages of redundant spouses, the latter desperately trying to break into the workforce, and prepared to work under atrocious conditions in order to get any kind of job.

In the first Bill which the Workers' Party has brought before the Dail since gaining Parliamentary Party status after the 1989 General Election, it is proposed to end existing discrimination against part-time workers by extending to them the entitlements fo full-time workers. These include:-

- · Holiday leave
- · Maternity leave
- · Overtime rates
- · Redundancy payments
- · Training and workplace facilities

These proposals have already been demanded by the Irish Congress of Trade Unions. Similar EC proposals have been blocked by conservative governments in Ireland and elsewhere since 1982. Commitments along these lines given in Fianna Fail's Programme for National Recovery have not yet been acted upon.

The Workers' Party urges all those who wish to see ALL workers getting a fair deal to support these proposals by bringing them up via your trade union or by lobbying local TDs to support the Workers' Party Bill in the Dail.

LOW PAY SCANDAL

Apart from the increasing amount of parttime work, there has also been a growing incidence of poorly paid full-time work in recent years, as employers unscrupulously exploit the desperate desire to get a job at a time of high employment. Perhaps the worse example yet of how employers are exploiting low paid workers is that of the Seven-Eleven group of 24 hour shops which has been set up in Ireland recently.

These shops mainly employ young workers at a basic rate of 90 for a forty hour week. However, even to get into such a miserable job, workers have to sign EACH page of a twelve page contract which, among other things, provides for:

- · The use of lie detectors in case of suspected theft;
- · Refusal to recognise a trade union;
- · Instant dismissal, even for such trivial "offences' as leaning elbows on the counter;
- · Relocation to any shop within the chain at 24 hours notice.

Several of these provisions, imported from the company's American parent, are illegal. However, they show clearly how far many employers are prepared to go to squeeze the last ounce out of young, inexperienced and defenceless workers. It is vitally important for workers and the unemployed to organise themselves against such measures. The Workers' Party will continue to lead the way in providing a vocal and active medium in defence of the Irish working class.

Tel: Pat or Eileen at 01-6287565 51, Courtown Pk., Kilcock We have recieved the Entry Forms for the 1990 Tidy Towns Competition. The entry forms will have been completed and returned together with our entry fee of £75 to Bord Failte. We have been asked on what criterion the National Competition is judged. There has been a change in the marking system this year, the following are the areas where marks are won or lost.

EFFORT

Assessment may take into account sustained effort over a number of years or the overcoming of special local difficulties - 45 marks available.

TIDINESS

Appropriate placing of litter bins, absence of litter, advertising hoardings and indiscriminate dumping - 40 marks available.

Off the street, up at Greenfield Shopping Centre, things have been happening. A new canopy across the shopfronts and several new outlets mean a new vibrancy for the group of shops which has to serve the growing estates to the south of the canal. Alongside the well-established Donovan's Newsagents - it probably carries the largest stock of all such shops in Maynooth - and El Dorado, which for my money still has the best fish and chips in town, even if the interior of the premises is rudimentary in the extreme, there is a butcher's, a hair salon and a dry cleaners. The latest unit to open there is a branch of Richard Murphy's burgeoning empire, Xtra-vision - did you avail of the introductory offer of a free video?

Now, I'm not sure whether the town needs another video outlet, but it is interesting to see this branch of a large chain locating away from the main street where the others are grouped, and taking the business to where a large part of the local clientele is to be found. A packet of chips from El Dorado, twenty cigs from Donovans, and a hot video from Xtra-Vision, Greenfield can cater for nightlife in Maynooth. Meanwhile, the anchor tenant in Greenfield, Tom Geraghty, still keeps his well-known supermarket as ever, with its range of diverse goods. Among all the changes, its good to see this emblem of stability.

No harm to get off the main street if you can, it's not looking its best as we come into summer. Among the usual detritus of litter, the latest game is to spot the contraceptives; this columnist spotted two on a Sunday morning trot along the street to get the papers a while back, any advance on that? (Personally I don't understand it - with the weather as cold as it has been, lovers on the street should hold on to all the covering they can). Even worse is the dog shit; a much more serious game is to see if you can walk from one end of the street to the other without stepping in any; my record is two there as well - one on each foot. I like dogs - but a lot of their owners should be put down. Some half wit thought it would be a gas to use the traffic lights for stone throwing practice, so we've had a set of broken light for the past few weeks. No one has thought it important to fix them yet either. Yet we and our children still have to rely on them to get across one of the busiest national routes in the country, which just happens to run through our town. The way we live measures our own lives; what do you think of it so far?

More half-wittery by the County Council, when they decided to do some work on the Moyglare Road, between the church and the schools. Yes, great to see things being done - but the time they chose to do them! Right outside the schools, but would they wait until 9.30 to start work? Not at all, so the cars, and buses delivering children had to weave through tar lorries, diggers and rollers, backing up past the mill, blocking the Galway road and the main street.

And in Holy Week, when there were bound to be crowds turning up at the church for the various services. More jams! This was a foreseeable cock-up, which a little planning might have avoided.

Maynooth deserves better.

SPORTS NEWS

All our teams are practising away at the time of going to press. Our Badminton team are unfortunately out of the County Final, but put up a good fight in the match against very strong opposition from Naas. The team consisted of Helen Buckley, Yvonne Casey, Yvonne Nolan, Eimear Hogan, David Ryan, Robert Casey and Declan Buckley. Hopefully, most of this team will be available for next year and it will give Maynooth a very strong team for '91. Our thanks to Carmel Buckley who looked after the teams with refreshments, to Paddy Nolan for managing the team and to Carmel Nolan and the Badminton Club for organising the play-off for teams. Well done to all.

Our U-10 Draughts are still in there in the County Competition. They won their first match against Monasterevin in great style

MAYNOOTH COMMUNITY GAMES

13 pts to 7. Well done to Breda Gormally who manages the team and to her son John and daughter Miriam for their help. Fiona and Ann O'Connor are working hard on rehearsals for our Variety team, and their competition takes place on Saturday 26th May in Newbridge. Bernie O'Shea, the Volleyball Manager, is working away with her team at the moment. Our tennis Manager Tom Sullivan is practising away with his team at the time of going to press. Our thanks to all of those Managers without whom we would have no teams competing in Community Games County Finals. Also getting ready at the moment are our Hurling team, Gaelic Football, (Boys), and Soccer (Boys) U-12 and for the first time Girls U-15 Soccer. More about all these teams in the next issue.

On the 4th May in the Boys National School the Art and Modelling will take place from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. Art for Boys and Girls U-8, U-10, U-12, U-14, and U-16 on 31st July 1990 and Modelling for boys and girls U-10 and U-14 on 31st July 1990. Athletics finals will take place in the G.A.A. field on May 20th with registration taking place at 12.30 p.m. on the day. All who wish to take part in the Athletic finals must register on the day and be under the age on 31st July 1990.

"All that glistens is not gold;
Often have you heard that told.
Many a man his life hath sold
But my outside to behold;
Gilded tombs do worms enfold.
Had you been as wise as bold,
Young in limbs, in judgement old,
Your answer had not been enscrolled.
Fare you well your suit is cold."

- Cold indeed, and labor lost.
Then farewell heat, and welcome frost!
Portia, adieu. I have grieved a heart
To take a tedious leave. Thus losers part.
(Merchant of Venice - Act 2 scene vii?)

This not so traditional introduction serves to disguise the fact that we have won nowt since the last report. Unusually Ann Broughan's trophy cupboard will be as bare as Old Mother Hubbard's this year. Zeppo to Groucho Marx "Dad the garbage is here tell him we dont want any son". Equally Woody Allen remarked "not only is there no such thing as God, but have you ever tried to get a plumber at weekends". What the foregoing has to do with football is anybody's guess, but at least it helps to fill up space without ever having to mention football.

COLLEGE GREEN F.C. NOTES

... WHILE WE'RE ON THE TOPIC

In the league we came a cropper to a late goal, as, Drogheda side, Grove Rangers came out best on a 1 - 2 scoreline. There was little doubt but that we deserved one if not both points, on this windy Sunday morning. Our goal came directly from a corner thanks to Gordon Strachan lookalike Kevin Sullivan. A late goal from well known inside forward and inside trader Gerry Murtagh earned us a well deserved 1 - 1 draw with his home town side, Kells Celtic. Despite an outstanding display of goalkeeping a very understrength side went down 1 - 3 to Agher Park. Joe Carey got a late consolation goal despite appeals for offside (from his own colleagues at that).

The Divisional Cup saw us drawn away to newly crowned champions of Div. 3, neighbours Clonee Utd. On a windy evening and on the narrowest of pitches imaginable we had marginally the best of exchanges, despite the absence of several regulars. Sadly the result went against us again on a 1 - 2 scoreline. Metaxis (sic) Mc. Groarty recovered a half time deficit with a magnificent piledriver from all of 31.5 metres (his own measurement).

Unhappily a scrambled injury time goal sunk us at a time when our defence was busily engaged in exchanging Phoenican puns amongst themselves. Finally on a note of success the Paul Broughan led side managed to bribe the organisers of the Tullow inter - county tournament into allowing them to win this indoor event for the umpteenth time. Congratulations are also due to Paddy McGovern's Salesian College side who became the first non Dublin school to reach the Leinster Senior Final. This is a tremendous achievement for such a young school, but nothing more than typical of the extraordinary attitude of staff and pupils alike. At the time of writing we are looking forward to the replay of the intriguing final. By the time this piece appears we will have completed our programme for the season and will be planning our next A.G.M.

Also watch out for the "College Green F.C. tie", the sartorial highlight of the year.

Yours in Sport,

Declan Forde, Chairman.

Our U-13 football team had a great victory over Naas in the school league recently, winning by 8-13 to 2-4. This is a very good U-13 team and they deserve our support. How about more of the parents coming out and cheering on their little heroes. In the first match of the senior league our A team was well beaten by Rathangan. If anything is to be learned from this match, it is that we are now in a higher grade than last year and our standards will have to be stepped up.

SPRING SHOW

We are having a stand at the Maynooth Spring Show again this year. Last year we had the Sam Maguire Cup on display there, and this was a very big attraction. This year we plan to have some other exciting attractions, so come along and see us.

Maynooth athletes were in fine form at the Easter Sunday Road Races in Dunboyne. Niall Byrne gave a superb display to get up in the last 40 metres to win the Boys U-10 - a race in which Conor Diggins running out of age finished a good 11th, just out of the prizes. In the Girls U-10 Susan Adderly, tenth and Shaun Feeney, eleventh. The Girls U-14 also performed well with Emma

Work on our new sports pavilion is going ahead according to plan. The dressing rooms are nearly finished, complete with all new showers. A huge amount of voluntary work was put in here and it is only right that the public should know who these dedicated people who give of their spare time so generously are. Some of these people put in five or six nights per week at this work but I give hereunder a list of all who took part. They are: Mick Gillick, Liam Lacey, Mick Kelly, Colm Feeney, Joe Conway, Michael Ryan, Mick Flaherty, Paul Lacey, Mick Gahan, Graham Kelly, Seanie Molloy, Jim Ennis, Paschal Ennis,

Jim and Kevin Connolly. We thank these people for their efforts. If there is anyone out there who can help us in any way we would be very glad to hear from you.

MEMBERS DRAW

Our club members have been selling tickets for our big draw in the area over the past few weeks and we are most encouraged by the peoples generosity. We are very grateful for this and the courtesy shown to us at the door step. In order to give us time to sell the last one hundred tickets we have postponed the first draw for a couple of weeks. We will be announcing the new date for the first draw very shortly in the Leinster Leader.

COMMUNITY WEEK

WINCHESTER THREE APPEAL

Details of the forthcoming community week are given elsewhere in this issue. The number of activities planned indicates that the incoming Community Council intends to continue the excellent record of previous councils in providing a focus for the community of Maynooth. All residents should make every effort to come out and participate in the planned events. Maynooth and its surroundings provide a lovely environment in which to live, but it is still the interaction between people which makes it worth living here.

All residents of Maynooth will join in our good wishes to the Cullen family. What must have been an intolerable burden has been lifted with the recent release of Finbar Cullen from an English prison, following the successful appeal against the verdict on the Winchester Three conspiracy case. We hope they can now enjoy a well deserved rest away from the glare of publicity which has focussed on them for the past two years.

FINALLY

PARKING ON THE GALWAY ROAD

Following a recent editorial which suggested that extreme measure be taken to prevent motorists from parking on the green in front of the Parish church on the Galway road, the Editor was gently taken to task by the Tidy Towns Committee.

However, a recent Sunday morning illustrated just how difficult it is to make people see how their individual actions are collectively ruining our environment.

A motorist seen parking on the grass was politely reminded that his action was tearing up the grass, breaking the kerb, and thereby destroying what could be an attractive feature at the entrance to the town. So what might be an accurate description of his somewhat puzzled response. So what, it looks like the tidy towns will have to invest in something a bit more formidable, in order to make these lazy motorists park elsewhere.

Some attentive readers may have thought that the editorial writer is losing some marbles judging from recent editorials.

Yes, we all know (now) that Archbishop Connell is in Drumcondra, and that Archbishop MacNamara has passed on elsewhere. However, the last issue's reference to the current Minister for Education, Mrs. Hussey, was actually caused by a gremlin which ate up a whole sentence, and made a hames of a paragraph. For those less attentive readers, and in case it comes up in a table quiz, the current Minister is of course Mary O'Rourke.

ETTERS TO HE EDITOR

St. Mary's B.N.S., Maynooth.

We were so horrified at hearing the news that Dublin Zoo might be closed that we decided to do something to help. We asked the boys of our school to contribute a small amount of money each. In all we collected £76.00 and each boy signed a petition against the closing of the Zoo. We then delivered the money and petition to the Zoo personally.

The Promotions Officer, Celine Henry, accepted the money gratefully.

We would like to thank Mr. O'Connell, the School Principal, for allowing us to make the collection, and all the staff for their kind co-operation.

Most of all we would like to thank all the boys who contributed so generously.

We remain, yours sincerely,

Gerard Anthony Furlong, Anthony Daniel Kennedy, Gerard McTiernan, 6th Class.

THEME TOWN CONCEPT

An application and outline plan has been made to Bord Failte and Kildare County Council for the inclusion of Maynooth in the "Theme Town Concept". Selection will take place in the next couple of weeks and the Council is hopeful that Maynooth will be selected as an example of a University and 18th Century estate town.

DEMOLITION OF THE "THING"

John McGinley told the meeting that it is now County Council policy to demolish the public toilets in the square. He pointed out however, that policy is not practice and that continued pressure will need to be exerted on the Council so that the Community can be rid of its worst eye sore.

MORE EYE SORES

"The Thing" is not the only item Maynooth needs to be rid of. All agree that the litter problem plus the unsightly and untidy state of the pavements, grass verges and weed-infested, walls and roadways were a disgrace to the Community as a whole. It would appear that the people of Maynooth take no pride in their town.

Constant pleas by the Tidy Towns Committee for help in cleaning up the town have been vitually ignored. While Kildare County Council must take some of the blame, it is the general attitude of the community as a whole who must take responsibility for the neglect of which should be one of the most visually beautiful towns in Ireland. A 'Town Gang' will shortly be available under an S.E.S. Scheme. This should ensure that areas such as Carton Avenue, the approach roads etc. will be better cared for, but will not of itself solve the problem. The Community as a whole will have to play its part. This will involve each house and business owner taking responsibility for the public space outside their homes/premises. It will also involve no personal littering and taking to task any litter lout seen.

COMMUNITY FESTIVAL

The Social and Recreational Committee are busy organising what should prove to be a very enjoyable Community Week, which will take place from 27th of June to 8th July. Owing to a previous booking Hudsons Carnival will be here from 14th June to 15th June. A provisional list of events is included elsewhere in the Newsletter.

CELBRIDGE CAMERA CLUB

Celbridge Camera Club would like to express thanks and appreciation to all who visited their stand, expressing interest in photography and the work of the Club during the recent Spring Fair.

The Club was formed five years ago and meets each Monday night at 8 p.m. in the Slip Hall Celbridge (at Castletown Gates).

If you are interested in photography, and would like to learn more why not join the Camera Club. Further information can

NO APPOINTMENTS NECESSARY

The new Chairperson of Maynooth Community Council needs no introduction to the people of Maynooth, John McGinley. John, a Donegal man, is married to Mary Morgan, has three children and has lived in Maynooth since 1974. He works with the E.S.B. as a technologist, where he is an executive member of his union, the E.S.B.O.A. John is Chairperson of the Kildare Constituency Council of the Labour party and also Chairperson of the Maynooth branch of the party. He will be the party's local candidate in the next local elections.

He has been active in Community affairs since he came to live in Maynooth. At present he is an active member of his local residents association, the Maynooth Castle Restoration Committee and the Social and Recreational Committee.

John has a number of priorities set for the Community Council during his term of office. Chief among these is gaining Town Commission status for Maynooth. He feels that this would give the community proper funding and increased responsibility, allowing the people of the town decide for themselves what they want for the town.

Another priority is to see Maynooth develop so as to enhance its natural beauty as a place in which to live and to see the town develop as a major tourist attraction.

He sees this being achieved in two ways. At the moment the Castle Restoration Committee, a body representing the Community Council, the College, Schools and Chamber of Commerce, is making great progress under the guiding hand of Monsignor Ledwith, President of St. Patrick's College. It is hoped the Castle, probably the most important Norman Castle in the Leinster area, will soon be floodlit and a reception centre for visitors be built.

Q. My Unemployment Benefit is almost used up and I am about to go onto Assistance. For the past few months I have had a part-time job for two evenings a week, with the permission of the exchange which pays me my full benefit. What effect will this part-time evening work have on my assistance?

A. A person on Unemployment Benefit who has 78 weeks of PRSI paid in the previous three years may be allowed to do spare-time work i.e. work which is done outside their normal working hours and still be paid their full benefit.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL NEW CHAIRPERSON

Secondly, John believes that Maynooth has a very good chance of being selected by Bord Failte for its 'Theme Town' scheme. This is a scheme whereby Board Failte, using E.C. heritage funds, will select towns with distinctive historical characteristics and develop them as major tourist attractions.

Under the guidance of John, the Community Council, Chamber of Commerce and the Carton Committee have already made application to Bord Failte for inclusion in the scheme and to the Kildare Council Manager. The preliminary report proposes that Maynooth be adopted as a classic example of a University and Estate town.

Between now and 1993 Bord Failte anticipates that £14 million will be invested in the best of Irish towns and villages. John feels strongly that Maynooth is ideally suited to the 'Theme Town' concept.

Firstly it is the only University town in Ireland. Secondly, Maynooth's history is inextricably linked with the Fitzgerald's, who had their main Castle built in the town, on lands granted by Strongbow in 1176. It was the Dukes of Leinster who

COMMUNITY INFORMATION CENTRE NOTES

However, the position will be different when you do go onto Assistance. In this case if you do any work whatsoever in the 24 hour period, you must sign off for that day and you won't receive any payments for that day at the exchange. The earnings from your job will not be assessed against your Unemployment Asistance. If this part-time work is likely to last for at least two months, it could be worth developed the present day structural layout of the town and as such it is one of the finest examples in Ireland of an 18th century Estate town.

The jewel in the crown is of course Carton House, home of the Dukes of Leinster after 1656. The long tree lined avenue connects the town, castle and college to the house and gives Maynooth one of its most distinctive features.

Surrounding Maynooth are some of the finest examples of 18th century Georgian houses such as Dowdstown and Moyglare, as well as a number of historic sites. The area is also home to many of the best stud farms in the world, a major tourist attraction

The planned construction of the 'by pass' will improve the town's ability to develop its distinctive character, as has the development of the Canal Harbour by the Royal Canal Amenity Group.

Future plans would include the much sought after demolition of 'The Thing' (Public Toilets) in the square, repaving of footpaths, refurbishment of shopfronts and houses to adopt coherent colour schemes and facades consistent with the Theme of an Estate town.

The development of the town as a major tourist attraction would benefit the business community which will in turn lead to job creation, a major objective of the Community Council. The council has already succeeded in creating 14 jobs, and has the highest placement rate for permanent work in the country.

Under John's stewardship there is no doubt that the community's plans to develop Maynooth will be furthered in the coming years.

while going onto the part-time Job Incentive Scheme. Under this Scheme you can do part-time work of up to 24 hours each week and, in addition, you can be paid a supplement of £30 per week, if you are single or £50 if you are married, at the exchange. Enquire about this at the exchange.

NOTES

Once again its "Tidy Estate" time and a bigger effort is needed to prepare the estate for the competition. Judging takes place in late June so there is not much time left. The committee was disappointed with the response to the last clean up and a second clean up is being organised for Saturday May the 26th. If everybody does a little it will ease the burden on those who make an effort.

CLUAIN AOIBHINN

The AGM takes place on Wednesday May 30th in the Arts Block at the College at 8.30 p.m. and transport will be provided for those with difficulties. Please make an effort to attend.

Winners in last months draw were: 1st (£25) Joe and Geraldine O'Rourke, 2nd (£15) Mr and Mrs Siggins, and third (£10) Mr and Mrs Watson.

We wish those students resident in the estate success in their forth coming exams, and to those who are finishing this year we wish them 'the best of luck' in their chosen career.

A meeting of Officers and Committee of Carton Court Residents Association was held 7th May 1990 with a view to presenting the Summer Programme. The following items were agreed upon:- CARTON

A leaflet drop will be made advising all residents of dates and times of the above events. The Committee look forward to a 100% turn out for these events.

The Committee and Residents would like to express our heartfelt thanks to the outgoing Committee for the trojan work that they have carried out over the last three years. A special vote of thanks to Frank O'Shea, Seamus McLoughlin and Padraig Kearney, who gave of their time unstintingly, especially in dealing with the County Council.

Kingsbry Residents Association had their first of many social outings to be held this year on Saturday 12th May. The scene was set for a light hearted Pitch 'n' Putt competition to be held at Celbridge Golf and Pitch 'n' Putt range. The competition took a very relaxed form - competitors tee'd off at their lesiure and at the end of the night six winners emerged. Prizes were presented in Norris's pub. In the men's league Eddie Cunningham won first prize and Mick Cratan took second prize. The winners in the ladies competition were Ann O'Grady and Sandra Downey winning first and second prize respectively. But winning the best prizes of all - the booby prizes, were Robbie Dunning and Kathleen Keogh. Anyhow, a good night was had by all and we'd like to thank all those who supported.

Kingsbry held their annual 'Clean-up' on Saturday 26th May. The committee would like to thank everyone who came out and helped tidy up the appearance of the estate.

When the Co. Kildare branch of ACRA was formed last September one of the first tasks that we set ourselves was to seek affiliations from residents associations throughout the county. Through affiliation residents associations would be able to combine in a democratic and co-ordinated fashion to promote the interests of residents on a county wide basis.

Even after a short 8 months we are delighted to report great progress with this task. In recent weeks the two largest associations in Maynooth - Greenfields Estate and Kingsbry have affiliated. In Leixlip new affiliations are progressing steadily with Glendale Meadows and Newtown Park signing up recently.

But the best news so far is the affiliation of River Forest, Leixlip. With the 680 homes it is the largest estate in Leixlip and one of the biggest in the county.

-ACRA-COUNTY KILDARE BRANCH

FUNDING BY LOCAL AUTHORITIES FOR RESIDENTS ASSOCIATION

The following motion was passed at ACRA's A.G.M. held in the Mansion House, Dublin, last March:-

"That ACRA organise in 1990 a nationwide campaign for the introduction of financial support by Local Authorities for Residents' Associations. Such support is necessary to assist Associations in providing many important services for residents."

At great cost associations are cutting grass, planting trees, maintaining green spaces etc, and we believe that Kildare Co. Co. should help associations fund these services. Indeed such funding was available until 1986 and is presently available in Leixlip from their new Town Commission. We will be seeking support from all local residents' associations and then we intend lobbying Kildare Co. Co. to provide generous funds for all associations in the county.

Michael Quinn, Secretary.

RAILPARK RESIDENTS ASSOCIATION NEWS

ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The AGM of the Association was held on 29th March, in the back room of Caulfield's Lounge. The 90% of the adult population of Railpark who had other engagements on this auspicious occasion missed an entertaining evening, but they have already been informed of this via the local version of Maynooth Newsletter.

THE COMMITTEE

The following agreed to serve: Frank McCarrick, Chairperson, Kay MacKeogh, Secretary/PRO, Eamonn MacKeogh, Treasurer, Committee members: Eddie Tobin, Tommy Killian, Mick Higgins, Aine Hearns-Kennedy, Joe Buckley, Brid Keenan, Pat Carr, Mary Grennell, Michael Keenan.

NEIGHBOURHOOD WATCH SCHEME

Aine Hearns-Kennedy reports that there has been less crime since the scheme was introduced - certainly the presence of the squad car in the estate, courtesy of Sergeant Joe Canny, may be of some help

The good news for all residents is that a Committee has been formed with a contact person from each road who will act as caretaker and work towards the upkeep of the estate. Many thanks to all those civic-minded people who participated in the 'clean-up' day. A special thanks to Tony Murray, Tagadoe Developments and Pat Travers for their assistance.

The response to the appeal for the contributions towards the cutting of the grass has been a huge success with almost every house in the estate co-operation. Sadly there are still those among us who want all the benefits of a clean estate without contributing. Fortunately they are in a tiny minority.

GOING ON HOLIDAYS

If you're planning to go on holiday this year, - don't keep it to yourself - tell us, even though we may be jealous, we'll do our best to advise on security arrangements, and keep an eye on your house while you're basking in Costa Del Kilbeggan.

If you're going abroad, now is the time to check your passport. If it is out of date, renew it now, and bon-voyage.

CHILDREN PLAYING

With the long stretch in the evenings, children are out and about, especially here. Aine is to arrange a meeting in the near future, to rejuvenate the scheme, to remind older residents and inform new residents of how the scheme works.

ACRA

ACRA, the Central Body for Residents' Associations has invited the Association to affiliate. This is being considered by the Committee.

ENVIRONMENTAL MATTERS

There was some depression at the poor performance of Railpark in recent tidy estates competitions, despite the heroic efforts of some residents to maintain the public areas, and to emulate the Botanic Gardens in their immediate surroundings. However, some other residents are not so diligent, and tend to leave gardens and grass verges to revert back to the not so virgin forest. Also some residents are dumping domestic rubbish into the ditch at the back of Railpark causing flooding into other residents' gardens.

A special effort is required in June, so a clean up day is being held on 23rd June.

A skip will be provided as usual, for large items of junk only, not for the domestic rubbish which has accumulated while you decide whether or not to pay your refuse charges.

FINANCE

As usual, we're in the red, due to a certain lack of efforts in the subscription collection and payment department. The subscription this year is £10, and collectors will be calling on all residents. Pensioners, unemployed and those on low incomes are not expected to contribute, although small donations would be welcome.

BARBECUE

Finally, we are happy to announce that the annual midsummers barbecue will be held on Saturday, 23rd June, at 8.00 p.m., in the usual place. All residents and friends are welcome to attend this social highlight of the season, to meet their neighbours and to renew acquintances. The Association provides the barbecue residents supply the sausages, burgers, steak and the entertainment.

BEAUFIELD NEWS

There are two representatives for Beaufield on the Community Council. They are John McDermott of Beaufield Avenue and Anna Kavanagh of Beaufield Lawns.

Following the last meeting in the parish hall, a small working party has been setup to examine the feasibility of forming a formal residents association. It would be very much appreciated if you made your views known to the contact person on your road. Those involved are anxious that any future committee which is formed be democratic and reflect the views of all residents in so far as this is possible. As yet there is no contact person for Beaufield Gardens.

Community Weeks is taking place shortly and those interested in taking part in the Male 7-A-Side inter estate tournament should contact John Dunne no. 6 Beaufield Lawns. Contestants must be over 30 years and not playing competitively. Those interested in taking part in the ladies 7-A-Side should contact Linda Cullen no. 8 Beaufield Lawns. Contestants must be over 25 years of age.

GARDA TALK

when the school holidays arrive. Don't forget our warning in the last issue of the Newsletter: Know Where Your Children are at all Times.

With you young (and not so young) playing on the roads, now is the time to give a little attention to the aspect of Road Safety. It is an all too familiar sight - the child knocked down running out on the road after a ball, or cycling 4.5 or 6 abreast with an irate motorist behind. A lot of these type of accidents can be prevented. A little consideration by all concerned, especially by parents in giving good example, and advice will go a long way. The Gardai will be visiting the schools before the holiday break-up, to give a talk on road safety.

P.S. This author is availing of his holidays - thus the short contribution.

Your local Gardai.

We are delighted to be able to report this month that our swans hatched three cygnets, two of which disappeared in uncertain circumstances. That the cygnets were attacked by a large pike or by some bird of prey cannot be ruled out and we would very much like to hear from anyone with information as to the demise of the cygnets. Swan lovers in and around Maynooth will be gladdened by the sight of a cygnet once again.

Sunday the 6th of May saw large crowds make their way to the North Kildare Club where the Royal Canal Jamboree was taking place. Winners in the fishing competion were: Senior 1st Christy McLoughlin, Enfield, 2nd Fergus Crowe, Summerhill, 3rd Brian O'Donoghue, Enfield; Junior 1st Derek Greville, 2nd Bobby Milton, 3rd Mark O'Donoghue. came first in the "It's a Knockout" with publishers Gill and McMillan in second place and the Institute of Education (business section) third. Fifteen public houses took part in the Pub Tub Derby which was won by The Manor Inn, Naas. The proceedings were officially opened by Mr. Alan Dukes T.D. who also turned the first sod on the new all weather pitch at the North Kildare club, Mr. Dukes was also introduced to the Jamboree Queen Eavan Salmon of Cow and Gate, who was selected at a disco the previous evening, and also to the Air Corps who demonstrated Air-Sea Rescue. Also present at the Jamboree was the very beautiful "Mosney Mermaid". This was the first time the Mermaid ever left Mosney's Fun Tropica other than a brief T.V. appearance.

Sponsors of the various competitions included:

Travel Options Maynooth, B & I, R.T.E., Doyle Electrical Kilcock, Wells Hotel (Restaurant), Roadstone Ltd., Mrs. Leslie Harris and many many more.

The Jamboree was organised by the Lions Club to raise funds for: Senior Citizens holiday fund, Maynooth Brass Band, Stewarts Hospital, and the Royal Canal Amenity Group.

This years Spring Fair which as usual was organised jointly with the Boys National School was a resounding success with a big increase in outdoor stands. Sincere thanks to all those who helped in any way to make it the success it was.

Once again we would remind all those using the canal's amenities that danger does exist for those who act in an irresponsible manner in the vicinity of the waterway. Please treat the canal as you would any river or lake and follow the usual water safety rules.

CARTON HOUSE OPEN DAYS

Carton House will be open to the public on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th June from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. each day. Admission will be £2 per adult, 50p per child.

Carton, former house of the Fitzgeralds, Dukes of Leinster is, one of the finest examples of an eighteenth century house and demesne.

Carton forms part of the Manor of Maynooth which was granted to Maurice Fitzgerald, by Strongbow in 1176. It became the residence of the Fitzgeralds in 1739.

The 19th Earl of Kildare had Carton enlarged and redesigned by the famous architect Richard Cassells. It is his genius which has given Carton its distinction and beauty. Both the exterior and interior are perfectly proportioned and the interior architecture and decor are superb examples of 18th century ornamentation. The 3 open days present a unique opportunity to view the house and grounds. Carton is closed throughout the year to the public and its future is uncertain. It is one of our national treasures comparable to Castletown, Muckross and Powerscourt. As such more than well worth seeing.

Eye Hear that the venerable chairperson of the Editorial Board, Kay MacKeogh is going to run the Evening Press women's 10K mini marathon on June 10th. When all who know her have picked themselves up off the floor, and are securely attached to their bar stools, or whatever, they will be requested to sponsor her fool hardiness. As Kay is Treasurer of the Maynooth Travellers' Committee, all sponsorship money raised will go to support the work of the Committee.

On May 3rd at 10.30 a.m. or thereabouts, part of Maynooth's history was felled. A dear Ash tree of approxmately 250 years of age had to be cut down. A tree surgeon helped by his team of workers predicted her falling with great professional accuracy and she lay across the road out onto the grassy island in front of the College. The Ash was badly rotten and had to be cut down much to the dismay of the family in whose garden she had stood for generations. That done, the neighbouring Beech tree had her boughs trimmed and the wood was cleared away by the workers and within a few days the railings taken away to allow the tree a graceful fall, having since been reinstated and nothing marks the spot save the woody stump in which the family intend to plant another ash.

It seemed to me to mark in an uncanny way the sad demise of Cardinal O'Fiaich another great figure in the history of Maynooth and of Ireland.

One man's meat is another man's poison. We discussed here some months ago the requirements of Food Labelling laws so what about those other products which are not covered there and how are such "border-line" cases covered?

The issue frequently arises with such goods as cosmetics, disinfectants, certain 'foods' containing vitamins, minerals, herbal or amino acid ingredients (such as slimming products). It all depends on the definition of a MEDICAL PREPARATION OR COSMETIC PRODUCT.

Medical preparations are defined under the Health Act 1947. Put simply, they include any substance or preparation which may be used for the prevention or treatment of any human ailment, infirmity, injury or defect. Cosmetics are defined elsewhere in the coy language of such definitions (again put simply) as a substance or preparation intended for contact with the exterior parts of the body or with the teeth or mucous membranes of the oral cavity with the principal or sole intent of cleaning, protecting, changing the appearance of those bodily zones or correcting body-odours.

The manufacturing, wholesaling, importing and retailing of medical products require authorisation from the Minister for Health. Cosmetic products conforming to prescribed EC standards do not generally require such approvals unless the labelling or literature connected with them claims a medical property or use. For example, substances such as antibiotics, hormones, chloroform, etc., are not allowed in cosmetics and any commodities containing them would be regarded as medical products. Again, preparations intended to be ingested, inhaled, injected or implanted in the human body are not cosmetic products. Let us look at some sample situations: disinfectants not intended or unlikely to be used on humans are not medical preparations but they would be, if intended for use as an antiseptic for a cut or wound. Contact lens cleansing solutions are not medical preparations; the fluid which is used to hold the lens in place in the eye cavity is.

Foods may become medical preparations if-

- * made in a form such as capsules or tablets, contain vitamins, amino acids, minerals and/or herbs.
- * and are represented as having any preventive, curative or remedial claim.
- * when they go beyond the Department of Health's recommended daily intake and, where, in the case of herbs, they are recognised as having medicinal properties.

There are, of course, some exceptions on stipulated grounds, such as Carrigeen Moss, Senna Pods or Senna Leaves.

MAYNOOTH POST PRIMARY SCHOOL

Maynooth Post Primary School added yet another trophy to their collection this year by winning their third final last Friday against Naas CBS. The final score 2 - 10 to 0 - 6 was a fair reflection of their superiority in this under 14 competition.

In a sunny but breezy day, Maynooth elected to play against the wind and quickly got into top gear by going 2 - 2 ahead without reply. Two very well taken goals by Cathal Ryan and Martin Lyons after some splendid approach play by half-backs Graham Kelly and Stephen King set up Maynooth for their eventual easy victory. Naas CBS tried hard and sportingly for the full hour but could not overcome the strength and depth of the boys from the Post Primary in Maynooth. Once Maynooth changed ends with a big half time lead and the wind at their backs the result was a foregone conclusion.

Best of a very well balanced Maynooth side were the entire half back line, centre-forward, Kevin Gannon, half-forward Padraig Flood and Martin Regan when moved out field in the second half.

ST. MARY'S BRASS AND REED BAND - PRIZE WINNERS MAYNOOTH AND LIMERICK 1990

Thanks to the generosity of the Newsletter Editorial Committee we have been afforded the luxury of an entire full page in addition to our normal notes this month. Perhaps it is further recognition of our great dual win on St. Patrick's week-end.

At last we are in a position to put names to those handsome (masculine gender) attractive (feminine gender) and Uggh (senior gender) faces responsible for those victories. The majority of the present Band are less than 18 years of age and it is a tribute to both themselves and their tutors that success has been achieved at such a tender age. These young members are the product of music classes which began four years ago and by virtue of much hard work they have become quite accomplished musicians.

Much of this was in evidence last month when we entertained Senior Citizens and Parents at an excellent House Concert. During an entertaining musical programme we unveiled our latest crop of budding musicians when our trombone and percussion class members made their first public appearance. With the help of first class instructions from Dublin they have made remarkable progress in a short space of time and will be a most welcome addition to the Band.

All this progress highlights our urgent need for new uniforms which are needed to replace our existing ones which are more than 10 years old. We are at an advanced stage in the selection of materials and design but we cannot progress much further without the necessary finance.

We will require between £6,000 and £7,000 to completely fit out our existing Band without allowing for new members and we ask to be as generous as you have been in the past when we organise fund raising events later this year. We are proud to represent Maynooth no matter where we play and we hope you will ensure that we look as smart as you would wish.

Finally we would like to thank all those who supported our stand at the recent Trade Fair and to remind all those who expressed an interest in joining the Band that we shall be commencing a new course of classes in the Autumn and will contact all of you before then. Should anyone else like to join just drop in to the Band Hall on any Monday night (except the first two weeks in August) between 8.30 and 10 p.m.and leave your name with our Secretary, Elaine Bean.

Thank you most sincerely for your continued support.

Our uniform fund received a welcome boost from a number of events during the last month. Top of the list was the very successful 60's Night in the Hitchin Post.

A large crowd turned out to dance to 'The Sound of the Sixties' band which included three of our own band. Oliver Bright and Kevin and Paddy Boyd. A great night was had by all helped in no small way by the large number of spot prizes so generously sponsored by the following: Hind, Heineken, Maxol, Volvo, John Boyd, CPL Maynooth, Leo & Rose Bean, Mick Hyland, Pat Conroy, Westend Carpets, Elite Bakery, E.A. Coonan, Advance Office Supplies, Seans Newsagent, Hibernian Meats, Quinnsworth, Dan Logan, Flower Pot, Coyne and Bergin, New Waves Hair Salon, FMK Casuals, House Pride, TAB Tyres, Mary Boyd. Our sincere thanks to all these sponsors. We have had many requests for a repeat performance and we hope to stage another 60's Night later in the year. Thank you for your support.

BAND BULLETIN

Our debut at this year's Trade Fair was very much of an experimental nature but we were very pleased with the contributions to our Uniform Fund. Lets hope we can improve on our stand next year.

The Lions Club Jamboree in the North Kildare Club was a huge success and a terrific result for all the hard work which went into the organisation of this fund raising event. Hopefully the results of their labours will provide a further injection to our Uniform Fund.

On the Band front, last month we held a very successful social outing for all the members to the bowling Centre in Palmerstown by way of recognition for the dual success on St. Patrick's week-end.

All members worked so hard to achieve these results and we hope they enjoyed the reward. Finally just a few of our engagements for the coming weeks:

May 27th
- Official Opening of Royal Canal Maynooth Section

June 4th
- Leixlip Salmon Festival

June 14th
- Corpus Christi Procession

June 16th
- St. Mary's Church Anniversary

June 24th
- Beamount Hospital

May we mention that all requests for the Band should be sent to:

Elaine Bean, The Hon. Secretary at Rye View, Maynooth.

TREASURE HUNT

As part of its Festival programme, the Community Council is organising for the first time, a treasure hunt on Sunday 7th July (from 2 p.m. - 6 p.m.). The route will cover approximately twenty miles starting and finishing in Maynooth. The event will be suitable for motorcycles and bicycles as well as cars. There will be no speed element involved in the competition. Competitors will be required to report to the finish not later than 6 p.m. No advantages will accrue to a team who cover the route in a shorter time than that set.

There will be awards/prizes for the 1st three teams o/a as well as prizes for best car, bicycle, motorcycle.

All those wishing to take part should ring the Community Council 285922 for entry forms.

MAYNOOTH CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Maynooth Chamber of Commerce recently held it's Annual General Meeting and it was a great loss for the Chamber when Michael Stapleton retired as chairman after three years excellent service. Ted Kehoe of Kehoe's Delicatessen was elected as the new Chairman, Declan Foley and Eugene Gargan were re-elected as Secretary and Treasurer respectively, and the new Committee includes Michael Stapleton, Pauline Burke, Paddy Ryan, Trevor Reilly, Tony Barrett and Jim McManus. The meeting noted that the Santa Claus Christmas Bonanza which they had organised had been an overwhelming success.

The Chamber decided on new projects for the coming year and all agreed that Kildare County Council should be urged to do something about the ridiculous state of the Public Toilets in the Square and the Footpaths in the Town.

Sergeant Bill White of Naas gardai specialising in Security gave a long talk and showed Videos which it was unanimously agreed was of great enlightenment to the members.

May was a very busy and exciting month. It was the time for the rescheduled Active Age Week which usually takes place in October and also for our celebration of the Silver Jubilee of the Maynooth Old People's Committee. The Committee came into being in 1965 as a result of the Red Cross' Year of Old Age. Members of the Maynooth branch together with other interested parties came together to look at the needs of the elderly. The Committee have gone from strength to strength over the ensuing 25 years.

Active Age Week started on Sunday 13th May with prayers for the elderly in the local churches and in the afternoon, with a party organised by the I.C.A. On Tuesday a coach load of our members visited Castletown House. They came back to Maynooth via the new Toll Bridge where the driver was able to stop long enough for everyone to appreciate the superb view of the Liffey Valley. On returning to the I.C.A. hut, we were able to enjoy cakes and tea - the latter with some difficulty brewed on a selection of gas rings since that was the day of the long electric cut. We would like to thank the driver and the Castletown guides for their kindness and Mr. Barton for providing the coach.

Also on Tuesday a good crowd enjoyed a really great evening at Caulfields. There was a sing song lead by Josie and Kevin and lovely refreshments. Our thanks to everyone who joined in and contributed special songs and also to Mrs. Carey, Bridie O'Brien and the staff of Caulfields for their kindness and for doing so well for us.

MAYNOOTH OLD PEOPLE'S COMMITTEE

On Thursday the special bingo session was very well attended and once again the committee members came up trumps with the refreshments. On Thursday evening St. Mary's Brass and Reed Band put on a special concert as their contribution for Active Age Week. This was very much appreciated by the elderly. Thank you very much St. Mary's Brass and Reed Band members especially those who missed the soccer match.

Sunday 20th May was a very special day for us all - the 25th Anniversary of the founding of the Old People's Committee. The celebrations were held in the S.V.D. Hostel and were attended by about 160 people. Our guests included past committe members: John Leach, administrator of the Eastern Health Board and members of the local community who have been so very supportive over the years. We started with mass celebrated by Fr. Phelan Jordan and Fr. Eoin Thynne. We then enjoyed a lovely meal, including a slice of the special anniversary cake made by Trish Cusker. This was followed by speeches given by Fr. Supple, John Leach and Imelda Delaney. Josie Moore thanked Imelda for the special contribution she had made as Chairperson in recent years. Presentations were then made to Patricia Cusker, Rita O'Reilly and Patsy Rafferty, who have been members of the committee throughout the 25 years. We then enjoyed an excellent entertanment lead by Josie and Kevin (it was lovely to have you with us Kevin) with items by Carol Barton, Eithne and Elaine Bean, Aideen Flood, Georgina and Vincent Mulready and Phil Donovan. We would like to thank the many people who helped to make this such a memorable occasion: Fr. Power for allowing us to use the Hostel, those with special roles in the Mass especially Frs. Jordan and Thynne; the Chamber of Commerce for the generous contribution towards the cost of the meal and the Cardinal Press for providing the invitations; Peter O'Brien and his staff for the care they took to make the tables so festive and the meal so enjoyable, to Trish Cusker who made the beautiful cake and Rose for her special flower arrangements, to the Committee members who donated the many raffle prizes and all who entertained us so well.

Finally thank you to all the Senior citizens for all you have given to the Committee members in so many different ways throughout the years - God bless you all. We would like to extend our sympathy to the family and friends of Joe Murphy who died recently.

Congratulations and best wishes to Greta Payne who celebrates her 80th birthday on July 10th.

The outing will take place on June 2nd leaving the Band Hall at 1.30 p.m. Please be prompt.

The exhibition of handcrafts made by our Senior Citizens will be in the library for the next four weeks, do go along and have a look.

"Educate Together" the groups which helps communities to set up national schools where children of all faiths and those of none are educated together, where parents have a controlling say and the churches have not, have announced that a project to set up such a school in North Kildare is now under way. The announcement was made at the group's annual conference held on the 12th May at University College Galway. The contact person for parents interested in setting up the North Kildare School is Colin 271910 and Veronica 272822. A preliminary meeting of the school's organisers has been held in Celbridge and plans are in hand for a public meeting of interested parents which will be held at the Kildrought Inn, Celbridge on June 13th at 8 p.m. There are now nine multi-denominational national schools, with another to open shortly. The first one, at Dalkey, opened in 1978. 99% of the country's 3,000+ national schools are under the control and ownership of the Roman Catholic and Church of Ireland churches. Although there is an evident demand for schools of the multi-denominational type, as shown in successive surveys of opinion, progress has been slow at providing them. This is mainly because of the large financial costs to be borne by the school patrons, who must provide the school site and about 15% of the cost of the buildings. At one time the Department of Education was unsupportive, but this is changing, and there have been contestants with church interests. However Educate Together have made considerable progress during the past year. They have been recognised by the Minister and her Department as a negotiating body and they have made some progress in the issue of the appointment of teachers.

A MULTI DENOMINATIONAL SCHOOL FOR NORTH KILDARE

Report by John Colgan

There still remains several difficulties in this area. Because of the monopoly accorded to the churches by successive governments, no one can train as a teacher except in a church controlled college. National Teachers must be practising Catholics to get jobs in schools, even though they are paid entirely by the Department and teachers from multi-denominational schools are handicapped in getting transfers to church controlled schools. In turn, the multi-denominational schools have been pressed to employ redundant teachers from church controlled schools who are not accustomed to respecting the rights of parents to religious autonomy.

Minister Mary O'Rourke told the conference that she expected to produce proposals to provide for free transport to the sector's schools within the next two weeks. Up to now, Department officials refused to recognise the right of parents to choose which schools they sent their children too. If they were baptised Catholics, children were deemed ineligible for subsisdised transport if a 'suitable' (RC) school - the department's coy description - was nearby. The Minister also indicated that her Departmental staff were looking at the thorny problem of recovering disused national school buildings for use by multi-denominational school groups. This issue had rarely arisen in the past because of rising births, but in the present climate, and more especially since the legal action taken against the Minister by the Campaign to Separate Church and State for failing to recover the protect millions of taxpayers moneys given to Carysfort Teacher Training College which has now been sold. Subsequent to this action, the Sisters of Mercy, who sold the premises and lands, have agreed to hand back nearly £2 million next July.

Many of the problems in the sector are due to the absence of legislation to secure and protect the rights of individuals pupils, their parents, teachers, trainee teachers and taxpayers collectively. Ireland hasn't had a single law passed to control primary education since the state was established. And the Department of Education hasn't published an annual report or updated rules for national schools for 25 years. The Department 'caves in' under pressure from the leading interest groups - the teachers' unions and the institutional churches.

The Dail and Seanad, as the elected representatives of the people, have been 'locked out' of the whole process. In this Ireland is unique among the developed countries; all the others have democratic control over publicly funded education, operating under Acts of Parliament which can be changed at the will of the people.

DERMOT BRADLEY 49 CLUAIN AOIBHINN MAYNOOTH 6285387

It was one of those nights, when that dreaded wind from the west, the one they call, with reason, the kilcock, swept through the abandoned sweet wrappers, the forlorn condoms, the fag ends of life, on Main Street, Maynooth.

There were five of them, all searching for something. For teutonic, statuesque, blond Ira Von Furstenburg, it was that most miserable of creatures, a man. Voluptuous, brunette, Jessica Wretcher sought something to help her forget her writers block. Quiet, petite, mousy Agatha Cripy merely longed for a quiet place in which to disappear. Dark, saturnine Mickey Swillanthin wanted revenge on the dirty rat who shot his paw with an arrow, and then there was Mat Locked. Thin, scholarly, weary, Mat was looking for the lost chord, or it may have been the last card, but who cared.

What brought them there together, on that fateful night? The 66 bus. And what made they stay? The Editor of Maynooth Newsletter.

As the oddly assorted quintet, as yet unknown to each other, disembarked from the belching leviathan, Ed had just completed the nightly perusal of the urban detritus, desperately seeking copy for the soon approaching deadline. Nothing much tonight, readers are bored with the nightly sweet wrapper etc on Main Street count. Time to resurrect Pub Spy again. But who? Commander Tara Mac Adam, and Lucy Jacuzzi had finaly been hunted down after last year's raid and were now in internal exile in Mullingar. The rest of the troop were still hiding out in the Bog of Allen.

Ed looked up. Who were these new guys in town? The newshound's nose sniffed out the link betwen them. "You guys lookin' for somethin'? How about us getting together. Maybe we'll find what we're lookin' for" Ed whispered, in the voice of one whose false teeth are at home in the tumbler beside the unmade bed.

It was a deal, and this is what they found.

It was 10.00 p.m. when they entered the red flocked wall-papered hush of Caulfield's Lounge. The few locals eyed the crew, and lifted a weary glass, or three. Service was speedy and functional. Ira stayed loyal to the family product, and ordered a glass of Furstenburg (99p); Jessica's white wine was served chilled. and in a small bottle (1.80); Agatha's gin and tonic came as she liked it with ice and a slice (1.82); Mickey's vodka and orange produced gasps of anguish at the price (2.10) and twinges of conscience (is Britvic South African, he wondered); Mat quietly sipped his pint of Guinness (a bit watery - 1.51). Total £8.22.

Ira enjoyed her sojourn in the ladies, ash trays, soap, hot water, hand drier, even smelled clean. Mat complimented the men's toilet on its comforts. Agatha contemplated the deeper meaning of providing soft tissue for women, and hard shiny stuff for men. What does this signify? Should the Equality Agency become involved?

At 10.20, the quintet, now happily exchanging life histories, quietly entered Bradys. Slightly fuller than Caulfield's, bar service was just as speedy and efficient. The same drinks cost £7.30, due mainly to the wine, one pound for a generous glass of chilled white wine, which Jessica adored. Mat found his pint to be of better quality than Caulfields. Ira was distraught to find that a rival family had cornered the lager market here, but condescended to sip with the Carlsbergs. A less suburban ambience characterises this locale, less attention to emptying ashtrays, and a fly did try to chat Ira up by landing on her nose.

The lighting in the men's was described by Mickey as only desperate, he didn't know where he was. But both male and female versions had soft white tissues, cold water, slivers of soap, and paper towel dispensers. Ventilation was problematical.

Onwards, Ed cried, to the Leinster Arms, It was 10.54. The decor by Laura Ghastly had not quietened down since last year. Owner must be a partitionist. Service efficient, a dirty glass replaced without quibble, and with profuse apologies, Agatha glad to be asked if she wanted ice and a slice. Barman cleared off table. Could be the quintet was drawing attention to itself. £8.34 for the round of drinks. The wine served in the familiar bottle.

All going well until Jessica discovered that there are other blocks besides writer's block. Toilets deplorable, patrons bring their own supplies of tissues. One toilet flooded. No towel, hand drier working but wish it didn't. Ira screamed, I've just had an organism! Mickey reported that the men's was being renovated so difficult to assess.

To the Roost, the intrepid five rushed at 11.18. And stopped. They had each found what they were looking for. Ira cried, 'that's him, I've found my man' (the others were too kind to remark on his marble pallor, the fact that he was wearing nothing but a bunch of grapes). Jessica was moved to poetry at last by the awe inspiring majesty of it all. Agatha knew that they would never find her here, in this little niche with the purple spotlight. The dirty rat who shot Mickey's paw lolled on the bar counter, encased in plaster, masquerading as Eros. And Mat, he found the lost chord, but was persuaded not to use it to find his way through the Labyrinth where Thescus the Minotaur lay in wait.

Having debated on whether they should order communion, the group realised that they were indeed in a house of alcoholic worship. The drinks were served quickly and efficiently (must be something wrong here, Ed.) Cost £8.29. Jessica had to accept red wine, in a bottle, the white having gone. Some confusion when she was offered a snipe of wine. This is what the little bottles are called.

Toilets require a BA in Classical Civilization, to identify. Venus Victorious denotes the womens' room, and no, the mens room does not rhyme. Go through the door marked Theseus the Minotaur, and you're there. All clean, well lit, tissue, soap and hand driers.

And so ended a typical night in the old town of Maynooth. The kilcock still riffled through the lime trees. The Pub Spy squad hopped on a bus to Dun Laoghaire, hoped it wasn't going too far. Ed picked up the tab, and the votes of the jury:

CLINICS

There has been an outstanding public response to date to the clinics held by our local deputies. For the record, Deputy Sean Power holds his in Caulfield's Public House on the Main Street on the third Thursday night of every month; Deputy Charlie McCreevey attends at Gerry Brady's Auctioneers office in the Main Street on the first Thursday night of the month.

MAYNOOTH SEWERAGE

At the recent Cumann meeting, members were happy to note that the combined efforts and representations of Deputies Power and McCreevey have brought good news from the Minister for the Environment to the effect that he has recently approved contract documents for the southside extension of the existing sewerage scheme. This now enables the County Council to seek tenders for the contract. Cumann members welcomed this development as being essential for the area's needs, bearing in mind particularly the rapid building development which continues under the present Government.

QUARTERLY BULLETIN

Graphic and letterheads are now ready for our new publication and the first issue is expected shortly and will be distributed to all households.

SLOT MACHINES

Cumann members expressed disquiet at the arrival in the town of such machines and the fact that young people had access to them. It was resolved to take the issue up with our public representatives and the County Council.

EASTER DRAW

Congratulations to our winners of the draw which was very successful and also yielded a healthy contribution to the Cumann funds.

FLOOD LIGHTING FOR MAYNOOTH CASTLE

Over the last number of years the Branch have been in contact with the office of Public Works seeking to have a Floodlighting system installed for the Castle. Under the auspices of the Maynooth Castle Committee it now appears that a lighting system will be installed in the coming months. John McGinley has received costings and a design from the E.S.B. and these have been approved by the O.P.W. Site trials to determine the best location for the flood-lights took place in early May and we hope the work will be completed in time for our Community Festival in early July.

Congratulations to Monsignor Ledwith and his Castle Committee for the great progress on the project to date.

FIRE HAZARD IN COUNCIL YARD

Emmet Stagg, TD, has made representations to the County Engineer regarding the burning of rubbish in the Council yard at the Harbour in Maynooth. Local residents are concerned at the nuisance this practise causes and on a number of occasions the fire brigade has had to be called to quench the fire. The matter was discussed at a recent meeting of the Celbridge Area Committee and the Council have now agreed that rubbish should not be burned in the yard.

widespread support.

LOCAL ELECTIONS POSTPONED

As most people will be aware by now the Fianna Fail/PD coalition government have decided to postpone the Local Elections due this year until 1991 on the pretext of 'Local Government reform'. While there is no doubt that local government is in need of serious reform it is also obvious that the Government are simply afraid of the electorate - and with good cause!

Local charges, the state of our roads, the threat of toll roads and cutbacks in our schools are some very good reasons why Fianna Fail and PD councillors don't want to face the electorate here in North Kildare this summer. Labours' three candidates in the area - John McGinley, Cllr. Colm Purcell and Emmet Stagg, TD, will continue to campaign on these issues and are confident that come 1991 there consistent stand for decent services and against local charges will meet with

STRAFFAN ROAD IMPROVEMENTS

Following representation from Greenfield Residents Association, Deputy Stagg has received assurances from Kildare Co. Council that hedges and ditches on the Straffan Road will be repaired, and, if necessary, replaced when work on the motorway in that area is completed.

SUCCESSFUL ARD FHEIS

This year's Workers' Party Ard Fheis received much more media coverage than it has in the past, for several reasons. Firstly, because of the Party's success in last year's General Election, it is now entitled to live television coverage. This included Proinsias de Rossa's Presidential Address, in which he reaffirmed the party's commitment to democratic socialism and to furthering the interests of all those groups who find themselves disadvantaged by undemocratic and unfair structures in Irish society. Proinnsias de Rossa also called for a debate and review of Articles Two and Three of the Irish Constitution, whereby the government in the South claims legal jurisdiction over Northern Ireland, contrary to the wishes of the great majority in the North.

The Ard Fheis also drew attention because of the possible reverberations of the monumental political changes which have taken place in Eastern Europe over the last year. These changes were enthusiastically welcomed by delegates as being essential prerequisites to the building of true democratic socialism. The Ard Fheis confirmed the party's commitment to building a society in Ireland where the community would possess effective control over all major aspects of life, and use that control to assure the basic economic and social rights of every citizen.

Delegates also endorsed the party's decision-making structures whereby party policy is determined by the party branches through their delegates at the Ard Fheis, while the running of the party's day-today affairs is entrusted to a Central Executive Committee, also elected at the annual Ard Fheis. Party members are expected to respect the democratic decisions of the Ard Fheis, and to work towards the achievement of party policy. For some reason, the media seem to think there is something sinister about this arrangement, which is the most open and democratic of any Irish political party. The Ard Fheis also featured the public resignations of a number of prominent party members. This followed the taking of disciplinary action after an attempt was made to by-pass the normal democratic channels of discussion concerning party policy. It was disappointing to see long-time members who had done so much to build the party leaving in this way, but the episode has served to confirm the centrality of democracy in the party's structures.

MAYNOOTH BRANCH AGM

The Annual General Meeting of the Maynooth Branch of the Workers' Party was held on May 12. The following were the principal positions filled:

Chair: Proinnsias Breathnach Vice-Chair: Jim Walsh Secretary: Kay MacKeogh PRO: Fiachra O Ceilleachair

CULTURAL DOCUMENT LAUNCHED

The Workers' Party has just launched a discussion document which seeks to define a socialist approach to the promotion of culture in Irish society. The document defines culture in the broadest possible way to include such things as the mass media and our historical heritage. The party wishes to remove the "elite" image of much cultural activity by both promoting popular participation in cultural activities and maximum public access to cultural events. The document calls for increased state funding for these activities and events, but without accompanying state interference in their content. Copies of the document may be obtained by contacting 6285241.

Curried Prawns

1 tablespoon oil

1 medium onion, finely chopped

2 teaspoons curry powder

1 dessert apple, peeled, cored and diced

2-3 sticks celery heart, finely chopped

225g/8oz peeled prawns

1/2 tablespoon lemon juice

3 tablespoons thick mayonnaise

1 tablespoon tomato purée

300ml/1/2 pint single cream

salt and pepper

BOB'S KITCHEN

Heat the oil and cook the onion for 2 to 3 minutes only; it should still be slightly firm. Stir in the curry powder (the amount depends upon personal taste). Blend the apple and celery with the onion and curry powder. Add the prawns and the remaining ingredients and mix well. Chill for 1 hour before serving. Either serve on a bed of shredded lettuce or in a border of Rice Salad.

Fish Vol-au-Vents

8 medium vol-au-vents

350g/12oz cooked or canned fish 150g/1/4 pint thick White Sauce or thick mayonnaise

If serving hot, blend the fish with the hot sauce and put into the hot vol-au-vents just before the meal. If serving cold, add the cold fish to the cold sauce or mayonnaise and put into the cold pastry. By following this procedure you keep the pastry beautifully crisp.

DANCING AT LUGHNASA - ABBEY THEATRE

'Anything goes' in Brian Friel's 'Dancing at Lughnasa' with ghosts from the future and the past dancing a ceilidh of rejuvenation in a time and place than transcends a world of physical pain and suffering. Friel's latest play is a veritable cornucopia of melodic delights, invigorating theatre, that breathes life into the soul of a forgotten age and a specific place, Ballybeg Co. Donegal. As the narrator Michael recounts, this is a world where Marconi is king and the dance reigns supreme. It is a dreamworld of halycon radio-days centred in the Mundy household which beats to the tribal drum of the wireless. Beaming from Athlone into this female dominated home it has a hypnotic effect, regulating and controlling the conversation and revealing the household's hierarchy. It is also a precursor of the industrial revolution (in Donegal), a mechanical icon of time that revives in the sisters the local tradition of dancing under the harvest moon. Maggie is the central emotive force in this tribal family and the catalyst of the dance.

The radio however, being mechanical, is subject to inexplicable breakdowns. It has in an ironic sense, a life of its own, stopping and starting in unpredictable fashion as if it too is controlled by external mystical forces. Breakdown is not exclusive to this device, as Jack (Barry McGovern), brother to the sisters, emerges as a disorientated figure who has apparently lost the art of communication in his new surroundings and has to relearn its language. He has only just returned from the missions in Uganda for health reasons, a victim of malaria (reasons which later turn out to be more psychical than physical). Parallels abound between these twin worlds of Jack - Uganda and Donegal. The young Michael paints kites, that can't fly, with masks that recall the ethnicity of his culture and Uncle Jack's travels. Likewise the boys from the hills with their strange customs reflect the native rituals of Africa.

Michael the 'love child' of Chris rarely meets his father, Gerry Evans (Paul Herzberg), who trips flamboyantly in and out of his life like a Welsh Fred Astaire who represents a more sophisticated external world. He is a gramophone peddlar who in any other landscape would be a reprehensible figure but here, as a ghost of nostalgia he appears as a clownish likeable character. All the characters in fact are infused with a warmth and humanity that is both infectious and convertive. The final tableaux of all these ghosts, who have been reanimated through a menagerie of memories, is a moving and vivid scenario.

Anita Reeves as the earthy Maggie excels in a production that is replete with exceptional perfromances. She embodies the primordial impetus of the play, a figure of fun and gaiety. Like the wireless she is an integrative force even on the priggish Kate (a suberb performance by Frances Tomelty). However it seems slightly unfair to highlight any particular role. Individual and ensemble acting delight, in a weave of voices linked by the omniscient narrator (Gerard McSorley) who manages to conjure up these reveries with a pathos that is hauntingly convincing.

'Dancing at Lughnasa', which is incidentally a world premiere, marked the reopening of the recently renovated National Theatre. Patrick Mason's direction is tautly assured and conveys an intimate understanding of this dream-piece. The sharp set-design by Joe Vanek paints an idealised universe increasing the nostal-gia-imbued atmosphere of a production which captures at once and unforgettably a moment in time on a bright August in Donegal in 1936.

BLIND JOE

He lived way up among the woods
That clothe the blue slopes of the Catskills,

A striking, white-haired fellow You'd take for Rip van Winkle, Except that Joe was Irish, A warrior from Roscommon or Mayo, Who outdaring most of his countrymen, Had ventured far beyond this city, And following pioneer tradition, Took up farming in a modest way Till, fatefully, glaucoma struck him But could not make him quit his homestead.

Each summer the latest generation
Of New York's Irish immigrants
When to the Catskills for a week or two,
And always after the swimming,
The shuffleboard, the visits to the creek,
The ample, wholesome food,
The drinking and the dancing in the bars,

POETRY CORNER

We'd make a pilgrimage to Blind Joe's farm,

Driving up wood-shadowed, twisting roads

To wonder at the guideline he had rigged Between the cowshed and his home And talk to him of country things.

And while he listed in in the open air Blind Joe's sunburnt face would be alight, No doubt because the untroubled voices Brought some laughing crossroads back. Finally, the ritual discourse ended

And the visitors as they said goodbye, Recollecting absent fathers, Pressed money into Blind Joe's hand, Then drove off heartened by a courage, Greater than ancient Oisin's at Elphin, That, when the tourist had departed, Would face alone the winter's onslaught.

I like to think that Joe still lives
Above East Durham on the farm he cleared
Out of the virginal, broad-leaved woods
And that he'll probably turn up one day
Just like Oisin or bewildered Rip,
Seeking the world he left behnd
And wonder where the suntanned lads and girls,

Part Irish, part American, have gone And tell strange tales to thrill the listener's ear,

For all of us recall a Land of Youth Where summer was unending and the hurt

That drove us from it is at last forgot.

CARDINAL TOMAS O FIAICH 1923 - 1990

Born Tomas Seamus O Fiaich in Anamar, Crossmaglen, South Armagh on November 3rd 1923. Patrick O Fiaich his father was principal at the Cregganduff Public Elementary School. This is where our Cardinal received his early education. His mother died when he was eight years old.

After Elementary School he attended St. Patrick's Secondary School in Armagh. In 1940 he entered Maynooth College. While studying in the College he suffered with pleurisy and pneumonia. Eventually he received his B.A. Degree in Celtic Studies in 1943 from the Catholic University of Louvain, France. Two years later he moved to St. Peter's College in Wexford. In 1948 he was ordained there for the Armagh Diocese. After his ordination he returned to Northern Ireland and was a curate in Moy, Co. Tyrone. In 1953 he was made lecturer in Modern History at Maynooth College. The President of the College at that time was Msgr. Edward Kissane. On the 13th October 1959 he was made Professor of Modern History. This was just the start of his hectic life. On the 9th of October 1968 he was made Registrar and that position lasted for two years until the 23rd of June 1970 when he was made Vice-President of the College. Then in June 1974 President.

In 1977 he was made Bishop of Armagh and in 1979 his full title was His Eminence Cardinal Tomas O Fiaich, Archbishop of Armagh and Primate of All Ireland. What a ladder he climbed and all in the space of 24 years.

Cardinal O Fiaich was a Trustee of the College until his death on the 8th of May. The staff and students of the College were quite used to seeing him wander about the Campus. This jovial person with a love for Irish song and dance, and of course history will be sadly missed throughout the College.

COLLEGE NOTES

CARDINAL TOMAS O FIAICH

Very deep shock and sorrow were occasioned in Maynooth College at the sudden death of Cardinal Tomas O Fiaich. Apart from being Chairman of the College's Board of Trustees, Cardinal O Fiaich was a former student and staff member in the College, during which he was at various times, Professor of History, Registrar and President. All who knew him remember him with great admiration and affection, especially for his human qualities, and his infectious enthusiasm for Irish history and culture. As a mark of homage and remembrance, a very beautiful and touchingly sung Mass was held in the College Chapel, featuring much of the traditional Irish music which the late Cardinal loved so much. Prayers were offered by many students and staff members, while offerings commemorating many aspects of the late Cardinal's life were presented. In a moving homily, College President Monsignor Michael Ledwith paid tribute to the Cardinal's contribution to the College, the Church and to Irish life in general. Ar dheis De go raibh a anam.

STAFF EXPANSION

The continued growth of student numbers in the College in recent years has not been matched by additional staff, with the result that staff/student ratios had begun to reach breaking point. However, the situation should improve considerably in the near future, due to the government sanction for additional new posts. Up to ten lecturing posts will be filled immediately as a result. In addition, a number of support staff in Administration, the Library and the Computer Centre will be recruited. Added to new developments in terms of additional facilities, this will contribute greatly to boosting morale and the quality of education available in the College.

BUILDING COMMENCES

Building work has commenced on the first of a number of major developments which are to take place on campus over the next couple of years. This is the new residence for lay students which is sited between the SMA Hostel and the Moyglare Road, immediately beyond the Post Primary School. The tastefully designed development will consist of a number of small three-storey units aranged around courtyards. Accommodation will consist of single bedroom/studies, with shared lounge and cooking facilities. The development will cater for 240 students, which should help take some of the accommodation pressure off the town of Maynooth, especially in view of the expansion of student numbers in the College which is expected over the next few years.

CAREERS GUIDANCE SERVICE

The Careers guidance service available in the College should improve greatly in the coming year, with the opening of the Careers Guidance office on three days a week (two days out of term), compared with the two half days provided at present. The office will also be expanded, so that the library and display area will be separate from the consultation room.

Derek Scholefield, who has provided parttime service for many years, will continue to operate the expanded service, which will include developing links between the College and potential employers of College graduates. This long overdue improvement should be of great benefit to students in the College.

Chiropractic, The Way to Bodily Harmony

Since it's discovery in 1895, Chiropractic has been a blessing to millions of people. Many, who were resigned to a life of pain and disease have been restored to health under chiropractic care. Traditionally, the majority who have been helped have come after attending other healing practitioners.

Chiropractic is a completely different approach to health. It is based on the principle that harmony or ease within the body is the normal body function. An absense of health is an unnatural state called dis-ease or lack or normal body function. Chiropractors are not concerned with treating or covering up disease symptoms but with restoring health. Chiropractors have said for years that diesases, no matter what they are medically labelled, are usually signs that the body is not working in harmony. The Medical Therapeutic approach is to try to fight these diseases individually. The Chiropractic approach is to restore health.

Your nervous system is made up of your brain, your spinal cord and spinal nerves. Messages are assembled in the brain and carried through the spinal cord and into every area of the body via the nervous system. The bones of the spine protect the spinal cord and nerves because of their extreme importance to the function of the body. Sometimes a bone in the spine can move or be moved out of it's normal position. It will then press on spinal nerves, a situation which the chiropractor calls a "subluxation". The effects of a subluxation can be observed, but often the damage occurs so slowly that it may take months, even years, to produce a noticable malfunction in the body. These malfunctions can manifest themselves in many ways, but often the problem is highlighted by pain in the body's structure, including the spine, shoulder, neck, armor leg. Chiropractors specialize in locating and correcting these subluxations, and by doing so, restoring the body's normal function.

The doctor or Chiropractic will carry out what is called an "adjustment" to the spine, correcting any misalignment which is causing problems. Naturally, the body will therefore function better when the nerve system is free of interference.

Under regular chiropractic care, the correct position of the bones in the spine is maintained to allow a better flow of mental impulses, resulting in greater harmoy in the body and thereby a healthier life.

To ensure that you have correct chiropractic care, you should make sure that the practitioner you attend is a fully qualified doctor of chiropractic. Fully trained doctors of Chiropractic in this country will have completed at least four years full time training at a recognised Chiropractic College and most will be members of the Chiropractic Association of Ireland. If you have any queries about Chiropractic, you can contact Dr. Linda M. Finley who has recently moved her practice from Clonsilla, where she has been for three years, to Maynooth. Dr. Finley's Phone Number is 6285962.

STREET TALKING

St. Patrick's weekend marked the opening of the Country Shop Restaurant in the evenings. I spoke with proprietor and chef John Bennett about his ideas of what his restaurant has to offer.

Resident in Maynooth for twelve years, John trained and worked in the Burlington Hotel, Dublin, Belview Palace in Bern, Switzerland and most recently in The Station House Hotel, Kilmessan.

He believes it is altogether possible to provide well prepared and good-food in pleasant surroundings for a reasonable price. Many restaurants he says provide some of these but John successfully provides all.

Instead of extensive advertising, John has chosen to grow with the business. There is a danger of rapid expansion and finding oneself ill-prepared, this way the business grows with the demand - depending on the good recommendation passing from one friend to another.

The informal atmosphere that characterises the day and lunch time buffet is maintained by night - on Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays there is a transformation that makes it a restaurant.

The King's pattern cutlery comes outgreen and white table linen looks fresh against pine furniture padded with deep green cushioning. John bakes his own bread and cakes and makes a beautiful soup. He serves fresh fish and because his own speciality is sauces there is always interesting and new ideas to choose from - Trout in avacado paupiettes for instance.

The Table D'Hote menu, a five course most substantial meal is reasonably priced from £10-£14 beginning with the chicken or try the duckling. And there's A La Carte from £7 - £9 main course.

The Wine List includes Australian wine plus champagne. This customer enjoyed the novelty of being received individually having rung the bell and being escorted to her table by a friendly attentive waitress.

Congratulations to John on his opening.

G.A.A. NOTES

Our junior B footballers won the first round of the championship by beating Clongarey on a score of 0.16 to 0.2. This was a good all round performance by Maynooth but it must be said that the opposition was sub-standard.

UNDER 14 FEILE NA nOG

Maynooth got off to a great start in this years U14 Feile NanOg competition with a very impressive win over Na Fianna in the First Round on a score line of Maynooth 7 - 14, Na Fianna 1 - 5. In the second round which was played on Sunday, 20th May, in Rathcoffey, Caragh provided much stiffer opposition. From the throw in Caragh assisted by the stiff breeze took control of the game and after twenty minutes were leading by 1 - 3 to 0 - 2 and but for an outstanding performance by Peter Grant at Full Back for Maynooth, Caragh could have been further ahead.

Maynooth came more into the game towards the end of the half with a well taken goal to leave the half time score Caragh 1 - 3, Maynooth 1 - 2. In the second half Maynooth assisted by the breeze took control but could not get the vital score until with about ten minutes left E. Harrett sent in a high ball which ended in the back of the net. Maynooth added a point by P. Burke and a goal by P. Flood to win by 3-4 to 1-4. Those were both very good performances from Maynooth who are now through to the Semi-Final stage. The team is as follows:

T. Fay, P. Leacy, P. Grant, S. Noonan, J. Higgins, E. Hassett, M. Greene, J. Lawlor, O. Nevin, N. Gillick, P. Burke, D. Mooney, C. Ryan, H. Nevin, P. Farrell.

Subs: A. Gaffney, T. Farrell, S. Griffin, D. Nevin, M. Nugent, P. Flood, D. Murtagh, F. Murtagh, C. Ashe, J. Rossiter, E. Kerr, R. Murphy, B. McGlinchey, D. Farrell.

This team is also doing very well in the North Dublin League. More about that next month.

Paddy O'Neill (Leinster Arms) presenting Padraig Kearney with a set of Jerseys for the Senior Teams.

MINOR FOOTBALL LEAGUE

While fielding a young team Maynooth have done quite well with winning against Fr. Prendergast's Kilcullen, Robertstown, St. Laurences and Clogherinkoe but loosing to Rbt. Emmets, Ballykelly and O'Tooles. With one match left to play against Celbridge, Maynooth are in a very good position to reach the Play Off Situation of the league. The team is as follows: D. Fleming, D. Ryan, M. O'Shea, K. Killoran, J. Dempsey, F. Leavy, E. Dunne, A. Burke, J. Nevin, P. Byrne, M. Kelly, M. Madden, S. Horan, M. Downey. J. Clarke, J. Lee, G. Kelly, C. Gallagher. D. Scarff, B. Nevin, B. Lawlor, P. O'Toole, G. Horan, S. Molloy.

We were exhibitors at the Maynooth Spring Fair again this year and here we wish to thank all those who helped us in any way to make this a success, our sincere thanks in particular to the proprictor of Ultravision, Maynooth Shopping Centre for lending us the video and the Dublin Co. Board for lending us the Leinster Senior football Championship Cup. Also we wish to thank the proprietor of the Leinster Arms for donating a set of jerseys to our senior teams. The presentation was made by the ever courteous and very popular manager, Mr. Paddy O'Neill.

The first of our clubs super draws was held on Friday night 18th May and first ticket to be drawn for the big prize of a new Nissan Micra car was held by Jim Moore, of Jims Shoe Repairs, Maynooth Shopping Centre. Jim proved to be a very popular winner indeed and on behalf of the club we wish him and his wife and family many years of happy motoring. Next draw is on Friday 22nd June in the Roost. All our loyal supporters and everybody who contributed to this draw will be happy to hear that it was a big success and that all proceeds goes to the development of our new pavilion at the Moyglare Road grounds. We are most grateful for your support. I will be writing in detail about the U16 footballers and the U12 and U14 hurlers in the next issue of the Newsletter.

At a reception held recently at the Spa Hotel in Lucan, Maynooth residents Ted Gaffney and Don Foley were presented with the Hella/ECCO Awards as Champions for the third successive year.

This marks the first occasion on which a crew has won this prestigious title three times in a row.

With the Bridgestone Golf Gti 1.8 for sale at the moment Ted has decided not to contest the Championship next year and will concentrate instead on building a new car for the '91/'92 season. Don however will once again defend his Navigators title next season and is currently having discussions with a number of drivers with this aim in mind. He has already agreed to contest the Circuit of Ireland Retrospective with Terry Dooley in an RS2000 next September as well as the Hideout Rally and Canbog Rally which they won last year.

Ted and Don will resume their partnership for the 1991/92 season and should be testing the replacement for the Bridgestone Golf towards the end of next season.

Hella - ECCO east coast championship winners; Don Foley and Ted Gaffney being presented with their awards.

Now that the season has come to a close it is disappointing to report that we did not figure in any of the honours lists.

With the blooding of some of our younger players during the season the experience gained should stand them in good stead for the future.

The integration of these younger players with our more seasoned campaigners should ensure that we regain our high status among the top clubs once more.

The club would like to extend a hearty homecoming to Finbar Cullen and trust that the support given by the club to the campaign for Justice for the Winchester Three was of some help in strengthening the case for an early release.

The club extends best wishes for the future to player Derek Murray on the occasion of his recent marriage to Pauline Farrell.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Lenny Murphy on the recent death of his father Joe.

MAYNOOTH COMMUNITY GAMES

Congratulations to our under 10 Draughts Team who won gold medals in the Co. finals. Great credit is due to their manager Breda Gormally and her son John, who have given so much of their time to training the team and also the use of their home as a meeting and training place for the team. As far as Community Games are concerned those people are few and far between. This is the first time in over 12 years in Community Games that Gold medals were won in Draughts. The team were Geraldine O'Gorman, Brid-Ann O'Shea, Christopher Arthurs, Brendan Cody-Kenny, Gearoid Higgins, Thomas Halton and William McWeeney. Great credit is due to this panel for their hard work and we wish them the very best in the Leinster Finals.

Our tennis team are unfortuantely out of the finals after a good battle against a very strong Naas team. The team were Enda Lyons, Fergal Ward, Rory McDonagh, Edward Keogh, Alison McDonald, Caoimhe O'Sullivan, Lisa Loughnane and Emer O'Sullivan. We'd like to thank Tom O'Sullivan for all his hard work with this team. At the time of going to press we believe that our Hurling and Soccer teams are also out of the finals, but well done to all the teams and managers for participation, as that is what Community Games is about.

Our Variety team is still going through their paces under the guidance of Fiona and Ann O'Connor. They have done trojan work with this team and we wish them the best in the County Finals. All our individual competitions are now over and all winners will be printed in the next edition of the Newsletter.

EDITORIAL

CARTON UNCERTAINTY

Once again the glories of Carton House were on display to the ordinary people of Maynooth, during the June weekend, courtesy of the current owners. However, the month of June has seen a series of rumours concerning a change of ownership.

While the Gleneagles Hotel Group had not confirmed its intentions at the time of going to press, it is considering the possibility of buying Carton for use as a Gleneagles Resort Hotel. This will mean that with the exception of Castletown house, almost all of the big houses and demesnes in the vicinity will have been bought for luxury, exclusive leisure complexes.

Would it not be better for the State, or the County Council to buy the Demesne for the enjoyment of all? Dublin County Council has opened Malahide Castle to the people of Dublin. How about Kildare doing the same for Carton?

FOOTBALL CRAZY

Unfortunately, the outcome of the World Cup is undecided at the time of writing. However, Ireland's participation to date has no doubt contributed substantially to the gross national well being, as well as to publicans and producers of anything in green, white and yellow.

COMMUNITY FESTIVAL

Further details of the Community Festival are given elsewhere. All readers are urged to participate, in order to take their minds off the World Cup. Look out for the Chariot Race from the Fire Station to the Roost on Saturday, 30th June. This spectacle may grow to rival the St. Patrick's Day Parade.

AND FINALLY

Remember tidy towns? Well do all in your power to help the Tidy Towns' Committe to raise our abysmal marks out of the gutter. Tidy up your own property, and lend a hand with the communal clean ups.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

Perhaps someone! anyone! can give a valid reason for Iarnród Eireann's change of timetable. Certainly Iarnród Eireann can't.

The Maynooth train currently departing Connolly Station at 4.20 p.m. is to be changed to 4.10 p.m. There are to be four new stations on the line, which will, it seems add at least 10 minutes to the travel time. Iarnród Eireann seem to forget the reason for the trains being on the line in the first place. Surely, its to bring passengers home! The 4.20 p.m. as it stands carries people who finish work/school around 4 p.m. most of whom will have great difficulty making it to Connolly station for 4.10 p.m. Mr. Oliver Doyle, of Iarnród Eireann, believes he is facilitating the passengers, he reminded me how school children at school in South Dublin use this service and they finish school at 3.20 p.m. Since this new timetable is on trial until September, (school holiday time), who exactly does Iarnrod Eireann expect to travel. Is it to be reduced to a 'Ghost Train'!!

Parents Association, Presentation Convent, Maynooth.

Dear Editor.

At this the end of the school year, we are very happy with the amount of funds raised since September 1989. Due to the generosity of the parents we were in a position to make a worthwhile contribution to the cost of an Alarm System for the school. This was badly needed, as there have been a few break-ins in the past.

We were also able to provide mathematical equipment and music tapes, which were much enjoyed in the classroom. It was unanimously agreed by the Committee to fund a Gaeltacht Scholarship for a fifth year girl. This has been done and Gael Linn generously agreed to fund a second one. Our sincere thanks to all who contributed during the year.

Rose Dillane P.R.O.

CARTON HOUSE OPEN DAYS A BIG SUCCESS

The Carton House Open Days were an outstanding success. Rough estimates show that over two and a half thousand people viewed the house over the 3 days of the June Bank Holiday Weekend.

Credit for the smooth running of the venture must go to the Community Council staff who spent long hours organising the event. Mrs. Bridie O'Brien once again showed her excellent organisational ability in catering for the huge crowds who supped tea and ate scones in the kitchen. We are also grateful to Carton's house-keeper, Mrs. McCourt and to Mr. Michael Barry for their generous assistance with the arrangements. Thanks also to all those Community Councillors who helped on the day and to the following whose help was available.

with something to attract everyone from 9

This year some novel events have been added including a Treasure Hunt, Roman Chariot Race and Greek night in the new lounge in the Roost, an American night and lots more. The full programme is included elsewhere in the Newsletter. The Community Festival is a non profit making event run for the benefit of the enjoyment of the community. We urge you all to come out and support the various events. The more participation there is the better will be the atmosphere generated for everybody.

BOREEN

The Boreen is now gated at both ends but the road is still in a dreadful state with rubbish and potholes much in evidence. The Community Council will continue to press the County Council to clean it up and to fill the ditches on the Blacklion Road. It is felt that this would go some way towards stopping the dumping of rubbish which is a constant problem. Planters are being put in the area and until such time as 'the thing' is knocked, it is planned to clean it up by painting it.

The deplorable untidiness of the town was once again condemned. It was pointed out that if more business people took responsibility for cleaning areas adjacent to their premises, the appearance of the town could be improved. Weeds grow as tall as 5 feet in some of the side streets giving an unsightly and neglected look. A small amount of time spent clearing these is all that is required.

The proposed 'town gang" which Kildare County Council will provide under a Social Employment Scheme has not yet materialised due to a lack of workers. If you know anyone eligible for a Social Employment Scheme who would like to work at cleaning up the environment, just contact the Community Council Office and we'll give you details.

Details of the Shop Front Competition will be circulated shortly.

TOWN COMMISSION STATUS

A letter has been received from the Department of the Environment acknowledging our application for Town Commission Status. The decision rests entirely with the Minister so all we can do at this stage is wait and see.

MAYNOOTH CASTLE

The Castle should be lit by mid July. Unfortunately, this will be too late for the Community Festival due to the holding up of contracts. Kildare County Council will also re-pave the path outside the Castle where it has disintergrated.

COMMUNITY FESTIVAL

This years' Community Festival will run for 10 days from the 27th June to 8th July. It promises to be a very enjoyable festival

TIDY TOWNS

The Committee reported that the green area opposite the church has been cut and flowers planted. Work has now commenced on the area around the toilet block,

The Academic year '89/90 was a good year for the school. Right throughout the year successes were recorded over many different areas. Again this year a highly successful Debs dance was organised in the Keadeen and was attended by 450 students, parents, teachers and friends. This was quickly followed by our 1st year Mass and the 5th year tour to Germany. The 2nd years very much enjoyed their trip to Wales while the first Years had a three day adventure trip to Lough Dan in Wicklow. In between several trips were organised for the Theatre, Ice-skating and Bowling.

POST PRIMARY SCHOOL

The Retreat for senior students together with Awareness week and the 24 hour fast highlighted the serious aspect of growing up and the social problems which exist in our neighbourhood and country.

On the sport front the school had a very distinguished year. The senior Football Championships together with the 7-A-Side tournament under 16, under 14 and 1st year Champsionships were all won by the Post Primary School and to crown a very fine year John O'Reilly, 2nd year student won the All Ireland Colleges Junior 800m title in Belfield.

Scholarsips in Irish were won by Cian McGinley 1st year, Alison Barry 2nd year and Aidan Clynce 5th year. These will spend 3 weeks in the Connemara Gael-tacht while 24 other students travel to the Kerry Gaeltacht. As a result of the generosity of the parents it was possible to include another student in the party who otherwise would not have been able to travel.

Finally as a result of contributions to our Bond Scheme two tennis courts will be laid during the summer and will be available from September. This will add to the facilities available to our students and will also be available for the community when a Tennis club is established. This is just a simple demonstration of what can be done with co-operation among many. There is still more to be done and parents past and present together past pupils are invited to join in our Bond Scheme for a contribution of £100 by way of instalments or a single contribution a great deal can be done for the students. Anybody interested should contact the school now and inquire how you can help.

The official opening on the 27th May was the culmination of six very intensive months for our group. In April we cohosted the Spring Fair with the Boys School Management Group, and a week later the Royal Canal Jamboree with the Lions Club at North Kildare.

The Spring Fair turned out to be one of the most successful events we have run, and indeed we are under pressure by the commercial interests in the area to run it again next year which proves it's not just for fund raising but fulfills a need in Maynooth. The photograph of Susan Buckley, our Canal Queen talking to Leixlip Steel Fabrication is a good example of what its all about.

The Jamboree took over six months to set up and again showed what can be achieved with hard work and determination. The Jamboree and Boat Regatta on the 28th brought home to us the potential of combining both over a weekend with say, Leixlip, Maynooth, Kilcock and Enfield. The attraction to people living in the area would be tremendous and hopefully would bring visitors and possible spin-off enterprises to the town involved. We are at present looking into this idea.

Our opening of Maynooth Harbour on the 27th May and the opening of the Canal from Blanchardstown to Mullingar on the 28th was a huge success and far exceeded our expectations for the large crowds and great atmosphere created by the boats, bands and magician.

I don't think much more can be said but to thank everyone who helped us on the Saturday, Sunday and Monday and in particular the businesses who sponsored our costs for the two days.

The Regatta ended up in Mullingar after an eventful week, where the 'boat people' were dined and entertained along the way. The work continues and we are working at Carton Harbour at the moment and hope to do something with the island in Maynooth harbour later this year.

Now that the harbour and slipway are open anyone can use it to launch a boat. Arrangements will be made to leave the key locally, but in the mean time the key (to the harbour gate) is available from Phil McDermott or myself at 6286463.

Our next fund raising event is the flag day on the last weekend in July and we will be making an all out effort to make it a success, we hope you will support us willingly.

OLD PEOPLE'S COMMITTEE

THE OUTING

The outing took place on June 2nd. Our first step was the new shopping centre in Navan. We then drove through the beautiful Boyne Valley and had a brief stop at Balbriggan before reaching the Pier House Hotel in Skerries. There we were served with an excellent meal and were entertained by Josie and Vinney Mulready and Paddy Bermingham who played the accordian. We would like to thank Mr. Barton for providing the coaches and drivers for their patience and kindness; the proprietors and staff of the hotel for the beautiful meal and for caring for us so well; the entertainers and everyone else who helped to make it such an enjoyable day.

CELEBRATORY MASS

The old people were represented in the offeratory procession of the 150th anniversary Mass by Mrs. Daly and Mr. J. Tracey accompanied by the Chairperson Mrs. I. Delaney.

MORNING SESSIONS

The morning sessions finished at the end of June. They will start again, after the summer break on Tuesday, 11th September and Thursday, 13th September. All the elderly of Maynooth are welcome to these sessions which are held from 10.30 a.m. - 12.30 p.m. in the I.C.A. Hall. On Tuesday we have cards and crafts and chat and on Thursday's we have a bingo session.

The next monthly meeting of the committee will be at 8 p.m. on September 4th in the Health Centre. We would be delighted to welcome new members.

Finally, we hope everyone will have a happy summer. We send our best wishes to those going to Kerdiffstown (August 19th - 25th) and look forward to seeing all our members in the Autumn.

BAND BULLETIN

The two main events last month were the 150th Anniversary Mass in St. Mary's Church and our trip to Thurles to the annual Feile na nGael G.A.A. Festival. The Anniversary Mass was a very special occasion, a once in a lifetime event for many of our members. The weather was for once kind to us as we played appropriate music outside the Church before the Mass. The Archbishop Dr. Connell seemed agreeably surprised to find a Band to meet him on his arrival, and chatted easily to the Band-master and some of the members. It was also a pleasure to hear him mention how well our uniforms looked.

Inside the Church the Band were again well represented both in the Offeratory Procession and at the consecration where Kevin Boyd rose splendidly to the occasion with a note-perfect and musically brilliant salute. The evening was completed with a short recital outside the Parish Hall to welcome the parishioners to the refreshments laid on by the Parish. It was good to see Fr. O'Higgins, one of our former Parish Priests, celebrating Mass. He made a sizeable contribution to our instrument fund in 1970 when he cycled to Armagh and back raising £750.00 in the process. Needless to say that was quite a sizeable amount 20 years ago. Fr. O'Higgins is an Honorary Life Member of St. Mary's Band.

At the time of writing, the trip to Thurles has not yet happened, but we hope it will live up to previous Feile na nGael Festivals which we have attended. The 'crack is mighty' with young hurlers from all over Ireland coming together in competition preceded by a special Mass and a most colourful parade with each group of counties being led by Bands - also from all over the Country. This will be the first Feile na NGael for our younger members and no doubt they will be on the ball and will have a ball if you pardon the dreadful pun.

We will be looking forward to our Summer break next month, but we hope to have news on the forthcoming classes for new members in the next Newsletter. See you then.

FEES DISCUSSED BEFORE ANY ASSIGNMENTS

Things are moving along at a nice pace at the moment with both Committee and Open Meetings being held on a regular basis, so that all residents can be made aware of development and more importantly, to make the Committee aware of their own particular problems and views. Speaking of residents, we notice that there are still some who have not yet "Thrown in their lot" with the association. We would like to impress upon them that the Residents' Association works for the benefit of ALL members and it is our wish that EVERY HOUSEHOLDER in the area should attend the open meetings, the dates of which are circulated to every house in the area by our very efficient Secretary, Patricia Begley. Don't forgetyour problems are also our problems.

LYREEN RESIDENTS ASSOCIATION dates of which are circulated to every house in the area by our very efficient

The Neighbourhood Watch Scheme is making steady progress and by the time these notes appear a further meeting will have been held. The appropriate and distinctive blue and white signs are being organised and should be erected shortly in the various areas. In order to defray the costs of the signs and other sundry expenses, we are organising a draw to be held in Caulfield's Lounge at 10.30 p.m. on Friday 27th July. Patricia Begley will distribute the tickets to the residents during the next week or two and we hope we can count on your full support. At this point we might remind those who have not paid in their subscription that they can be handed in to Patricia Begley if possible before the end of July.

We look forward to meeting all our Residents at our next open meeting which will be held in Caulfield's on Monday the 16th July, at 8.30 p.m.

Subscriptions: The collection of the annual subscription of £10.00 is progressing. A number of residents have said that they will drop it in to their local committee member. If you are one of these people, please put it in an envelope with your name on it and drop it into their house TODAY.

Estate Name: We hope to get an Estate Name Maker of some sort within the next year. The Committee are checking out what is available and what is the best value.

Planning Permission: There was some concern that planning permission for light industrial development had been either sought or granted for the field bordering Greenfield Drive. Thankfully this is untrue. That area is still zoned only for agriculture. The County Council have been requested to notify the Association of any planning permissions submitted for the area. The area Five Year Plan is due out soon and may be inspected in the Library - further news when available.

GREENFIELD ESTATE RESIDENTS ASSOCIATION

Laurence Avenue: Mr. Michael Quinn, 13 Laurence Avenue has been co-opted on to the Committee to represent Lawrence Avenue. The Committee are delighted to welcome his arrival. Michael wishes to remind all the residents that the mower is available at his house whenever it is required.

Ladders: The ladders will, in future, be available only from Mary Farrell, 11, Greenfield Drive, with a deposit of £10.00 which will be refunded on the return of the ladder to her house. There will be a nominal charge per day. The ladders are NOT to be passed on to another resident under any circumstances, as the borrower is held responsible for the ladder until it is returned to Mary and their name removed from the Loan Diary.

ACRA: ACRA is trying to organise a joint insurance policy for Residents Associations for their equipment. If this gets off the ground next year, your Association hopes to take part in it.

Football: The Inter-Estate Football is coming up shortly so have a quick listen to Jack Charlton and get out and show what you can do for your estate. Anyone willing to participate get your name on the list. If you are not needed on the field, do come along and cheer them on. It is great fun and fabulous social event.

Kildare Co. Co.: We have not had definite word from KCC retheir intentions for Straffan Way. This is being followed up again.

Students: The problems with students will for the most part be resolved at least temporarily with the most of the College students gone home for holidays. However, some residents are having ongoing problems and while we sympathise, there seems little we can do to alleviate the situation.

FRAUD

With the holiday season upon us, and large amounts of money in circulation, perhaps it is timely to consider how we can prevent this particular type of crime. If you are a business person then read on. If you, like myself hold a cheque book, or credit cards, then this advice applies to you also.

- Do not keep your cheque book/card together - if lost, report at once to your bank.
- 2. Cross all cheques written.
- 3. Be cautious of strangers who are name droppers e.g. Fr. O'Brien the P.P. said you would change the cheque for me.

GARDA TALK

- 4. Be suspicious of customers who are indignant at requests for identification.
- 5. Be wary of cheques drawn on a bank outside this country. Should it turn out to be a dud, there is no easy remedy.
- Be aware of Juveniles cashing cheques, they are not legally liable for their debts.
- 7. Do not accept a cheque which shows signs of change . . . have the issuer write a fresh cheque.

- 8. Keep in mind that in accepting a cheque which is post-dated or cheques over a month old you are taking a chance.
- 9. Don't let the client hurry you in accepting the cheque, take all the time you need, and get answers to all your questions.
- 10. Be aware of cheques presented over bank-holiday w/end, or other busy times.
- 11. Stop and think if somebody asks to cash a cheque for a sum larger than what is required to cover the transaction.
- 12. Have employees initial cheques cashed by them, and lodge all cheques promptly.

The recent (29th May) reopening of the Maynooth Fire Station, following a comprehensive facelift, was marked by an impressive ceremony and drill display by nine Fire Officers. Since it was founded by John Creed 40 years ago, the Fire Station has undergone an amazing structural metamorphasis from a dingy rat inhabited barn into an ultra modern buildng. It now serves a catchment area of 35,000 and has three fire engines one of which is specifically equipped to deal with the taller buildings of St. Patrick's College (and bought as a bargain in Newcastle). Surprisingly quite a lot of the duties of this very busy station involve road accidents. However relief is in sight as a new Sectoral Control System based in Newbridge will come into operation this month to deal with all emergency activity alerts within the Kildare County Council ambit. Despite the arduous nature of this voluntary profession the number of applicants for the Fire-Officer position has increased dramatically in recent years.

RE-OPENING OF FIRE STATION

Prior to the lavish reception, the station was blessed by Father Supple and Rector Gavin Williamson who extended a tribute to the recently deceased Cardinal O Fiaich who was to have officiated at this opening. This was formally performed in apique style by the Chairman of K.C.C., John Carrick, aided by a hydraulic cutter.

The ensuing drill display highlighted graphically the efficiency and professionalism of the Fire-officers who perform an uneviable task away from the limelight.

This Fire Station is a fitting tribute to their altruistic work.

THE MEN FROM THE MOUNTAINS

It all began when six lugs of sheep men down from the mountains for the week-end, thinking they were big, picked a fight with the barman of the County Hotel.

He loosed his shotgun at the crowd of them and sent them out into the street howling blue murder to the four corners of the town. Finding the door of the Lounge-Bar locked they wandered the streets looking for trouble and granted they found it with the local lads who never sit easy and take any chance they get for a shot of excitement. The noise they raised that night was something dreadful and at the end the Sergeant was called out of his bed to deal with the unruly mob and pack them back out of the town.

At the far end of town the daughter of the barman of the County Hotel cried herself to sleep for the fourth time that week. Again her father came to her, singing his song under the sheets, while the town was busy fighting the men from the mountains.

She dreams of the mountains and the humble smiles of the shepherds.

Richard Hayes.

RETIREMENT

When we come to the age of retirement 'Tis the end of an era we feel,
The years seem to roll in upon us
And a sadness o'er life seems to steal.

We may feel we have passed into history, Yet we know that life still goes on, Let us make up our minds and let's face it, A new era has just! come along.

Many friends we have made in our life time,
Of joys and of sorrows we've seen.
We've enjoyed every moment we've lived in
This beautiful isle of green.

We still have our beautiful country Our families' and friends ever dear. We can still help others a little Every day with a word of good cheer.

We can enjoy the beauties of nature -The birds, every flower, every tree, The programmes on the TV stations, And how we enjoy Live at Three!

To relax with a book in the evening To me is a joy and delight. I humbly thank God most sincerely For His wonderful gift of sight.

I have enjoyed my years of employment, Each duty a joy to fulfill. Those years will live in my memory, Through the years I will cherish them still.

Now I enjoy my retirement And as the shades of life's eventide fall I recognize through the path-ways I've trodden God's wonderful plan for all.

Brigid Saults, Mrs.

THE FAMINE

I, the landlord feeding, And the peasants needing, Wishing to be me, They will never be.

People dropping off like flies, Not a tear will form in my eyes, Not a scrap of food is sent, Until they can pay the rent.

Their clothes are raggy, Their stomachs baggy, The clothes are dirty, On that brat Bertie.

Bertie searches down the drains, And upon the old corn trains, For just a single coin or two, To feed his poor sick cow called Moo.

Moo is sick with hunger, I threaten to bung her, In among the bodies, Lying in the pits and holes.

The holes and pits,
Are full of its,
Its being nobodies,
And nobodies being nothing.

Belinda Byrne

VICTIM OF A MINOR INCIDENT

THE SNOW

Ever get a shoesize or some knuckle hairs shown to you?

Did I?

It's not the string but the bomb that powers through,

Who say why?

When it happens, when reasons enough, incline to relax,

Like as a mouse, no, not without facts.

You say be red, You say be white, Be pink is said. Try it, supposedly right, I say how would you know!

In your mind black is traced, But yellow is your face.

But punch hard your wall, And wish bad and tall, Enjoy your tongue's outrage Then wash your mouth, And know that if time swings the same

To them, with red lungs can you shout!

Silently a grey cloud crept in Like a bomber moving in on its victim Its hold opened and dropped the white bombs Down, down and still down Causing great white explosions on the world below.

The darkness of night became the brightness of day. Stiff, screaming shouts boys awoke to the whiteness of heaven crunching, crisp snow clung to people.

Mist flew in covering the city once more Whistling people with smoking breath huddled up closer Now frost gripped its victims which hurried to escape Somewhere in the city a siren rang out A car lay smashed against a wall The snow A friend an enemy.

Mark C. Grassick

When I was one, I had just begun, When I was two, I was able to chew, When I was three, I was still a bit wee, When I was four, I could open a door, When I was five, school arrived, When I was six, I learnt new tricks, When I was seven, I wanted to be eleven, When I was eight, I was able to skate, When I was nine, I played football all the

And now that I'm ten, I've taken to the pen.

Ronan McGinley

THE SEA

The sea's a mighty beast, That circles round our world, It carries boats and ships, Or drags them to its lair.

It's long, cold, foam-flecked tongue, Laps at rock and sand, And penetrates the sheltered coves, Where screaming children wait.

When the beast is in a rage, It smashes piers and dykes, Then swallows chunks of earth, And grinds the huddled rocks.

THINGS I SEE IN THE DARK

A two headed dog with lots of teeth, An awful warlod eating Uncle Pete, A Goblin having tea under my bed, Ugly spiders crawling on my head.

POLITICAL PARTY NOTES

INDUSTRIAL POLICY DOCUMENT LAUNCHED

A discussion document on industrial policy was launched recently by the Workers' Party. The document sets out an alternative approach to industrial development to current policies which have been a dreadful failure as regards employment creation in Ireland. These policies have focussed on providing an attractive climate (grants, tax reliefs, wage restraint, low inflation) for private investment. However, all they have succeeded in doing is boosting profits, while emigration and unemployment have soared to massive levels.

The Workers' Party points to other small European economies such as Denmark, Finland and Sweden to show that full employment and high living standards are not just unattainable pipe dreams. These countries have based their success on building strong home-based exporting firms on a foundaiton of natural resources and high technology. By sourcing their raw material and service needs at home, and by reinvesting their profits locally, these firms have generated high levels of spin-off employment thorughout their home economies.

WORKERS' PARTYNOTES

Ireland, by contrast, has relied heavily on foreign firms which source very little of their supplies from within Ireland and reinvest their profits abroad. Native Irish firms, at the same time, are mainly small-scale and focussed on the home market only.

The Workers' party belives that the only long-term option, if Ireland is ever to appraoch full employment, is to build up a set of strong, home based exporting firms on the Scandinavian model. This requires a much more focussed industrial policy than operates at the moment, with scarce public resources bieng devoted mainly to developing a limited number of sectors with long-term growth potential. In order to achieve this, a first prerequisite is a national consensus - embracing politicians, private business and trade unions - on what needs to be done and how it is to be done. Accordingly, the Workers' Party proposes the establishment of a National Industrial Development Council to bring together these interests. However, far from being simply a talking shop, this Council would have the function of drawing up an industrial development plan and overseeing its implementation.

In addition, the twenty or so state agencies which are involved in one way or another in promoting economic development should be rationalised into a single agency which would provide a better coordinated approach to industrial policy. This agency would establish special task forces to build up corporate strength in targetted industrial sectors. State financial aid, however, would take the form of loans and equity to replace the free grant mentality which currently dominates the Irish private sector.

Overall, the Workers' Party approach is based on the need to realise that major structural changes are needed in order to create full employment in Ireland, and that only the full and unified involvement of all relevant interest groups is capable of achieving a mobilisation of the nation's resources in pursuit of this objective.

SYMPATHY

The Maynooth Branch of the Workers party extends its deepet sympathy to Branch Vice-Chair Jim Walsh and his family on the recent death of his father.

LOW PAY

Labour Councillors Stagg and Purcell have proposed a motion to Kildare County Council, which calls on the Minister for Labour to introduce Minimum Pay Legislation as a matter of urgency. Outlining the reasons for proposing the motion, the Councillors pointed ut that:

- (a) 25% of Irish workers are low paid (i.e. earn less than £140 per week, the fair level set by the European Community).
- (b) 61% of the low paid are women (c) 70% of workers under 20 years of ag
- (c) 70% of workers under 20 years of age are low paid.
- (d) Irish wages are only 60% of the European average.

The Labour Councillors summed up the need for action on this issue when they stated that the scandal of low pay is affecting a growing section of the Irish workforce. Unless minimum pay lesislation is introduced immediately, Ireland will continue to move towards Third World levels of pay, not those of the European Community.

LABOUR PARTY NOTES

MAYNOOTH PUBLIC TOILETS

At a recent meeting of the Celbridge Area Committee of Kildare Co. Council Labour representatives Cllrs. Stagg and Purcell led calls for the demolition of 'the thing'. The County Engineer presented his plan for the refurbishment of the building. Mr. D. Kirrane (Administrative Officer) pointed out that the estimated cost of the demolition was £8,000 and even if this work were done there would be further costs for reinstatement of the ESB sub-station and the provision of new toilets. At this point Deputy Stagg informed the meeting that the ESB were willing to locate the sub-station underground free of charge. Cllr. Brady (FF) disagreed with the removal of the toilet and Cllr Gallagher (FG) argued for the retention of the bus shelter. Based on the public reaction to the circular recently distributed calling for the demolition of 'the thing', the Maynooth Branch of the Labour Party are at one with the people of Maynooth in calling for the JCB's to roll and let's have an appropriate focus for our main street.

REPORTS OF REZONING FOR LIGHT INDUSTRY

Following reports that the field opposite 46-61 Greenfield Drive and adjoinging Carton Court had been rezoned for light industry, John McGinley visited the Planning Office in Kildare Co. Council to find out the true position. The field has not been rezoned and is still zoned for agriculture. The new draft 5 year County Development Plan will be completed in 6 months time and any rezoning can only take place then. When the draft becomes available John McGinley will advise Residents' Associations of any changes from the present Development Plan and there will then be a period of 3 months during which objections may be lodged.

TOWN COMMISSION STATUS BLOCKED

In the last issue of the Newsletter the Maynooth Branch condemned the postponng of the Local Elections due this year. The so-called review of local government structures is obviously bieng used as an excuse so that the FF/PD coalition do not have to face the wrath of the electorate on issues such as local charges, health and education cutbacks and the state of our roads. It now appears that the 'review' is also being used as an excuse to delay the processing of Maynooth's application for Town Commission status and a further blow has been struck by Minister Flynn against the principle of local democracy.

LEINSTER PARK

Despite repeated calls by Deputy Stagg for improvement work to be carried out on the road surface at Leinster park and a committment by the residents of the area to assist the project, the Co. Council have again failed to make the necessary finance available. The Branch hopes that when Minister Flynn concludes his review of Local Authorities he will enact the most necessary reform of all - proper financing. At the moment his concern with the well-being of Local Authorities is certainly not reflected in the gross under funding of our Co. Councils.

LOCAL ISSUES

Deputy Stagg has recently made representations to Kildare Co. Council on a number of local problems - including the following: the overgrown state of the banks in front of houses at Laraghbryan, the closing of the exit from Laurence Avenue onto the Celbridge Road and the dangerous state of the exit from Greenfield Estate onto the Straffan Road to the overgrown state of the grass verges. Deputy Stagg has also called on the Co. Council to prune the trees in the Main St. and has again insisted that the practice of burning rubbish in the Council yard be discontinued as it is a considerable nuisance to local residents.

FILM REVIEW

JOHNNY HANDSOME

JohnnyHandsomés credits presents a slightly appealing prospect - Mickey Rourke with his engaging 'method' variation, employed to such notable effect in Rumblefish and Diner in a film directed by the stylish creator of Southern Comfort and 48 Hours, Walter Hill. Indeed the opening credits and the slickly edited jewel robbery sequence promised to fulfil these early expectations. However unlike a quite similar premise witnessed in Best Seller, Hill's film quickly degenerates into an unintentional (I presume) parody of a Six Million Dollar Man/Angel Heart scenario with cardboard characterisations. incoherent (in both senses on occasion) dialogue and a plot which is as predictable as Eamonn Dunphy's World Cup analyses.

In fact the histrionics of the indomitable Mr. Dunphy would not have been out of place in a film that features/reaches new heights in miscasting. A redoutable cast including Oscar winner Morgan Freeman and accomplished character actor Forrest Whittaker seem distinctly uneasy in their respective roles of detective and doctor. with the dialogue between this duo epitomising the ludicrous storyline. The narrative unfolds from a double-crossing in a heist orchestrated by two slightly obviousbaddies resulting in the demise of Johnny's best buddy Mickey. As a result of this incident Johnny is incarcerated in a state correction farm where he is attacked and badly injured on the orders of the aforementioned doublecrossers. Jump to the prison hospital where Mr. Handsome (what a cleverly ironic name!) is greeted by the doctor (Whittaker) with the completely unexpected promise of a new physiogomy. What happens next requires a vast intellectual effort on the part of the viewer. Suffice to say that Walter Hill's complexity of plot is marred by the vacuos characters that flit in and out of this film as if they have accidentally strayed onto the wrong set and engage in inane conversation in the hope that they might not be noticed. Presumable, Johnny Handsome will not attract such a gullible audience as this seemingly cast.

- 2 dessert apples, peeled and diced
- 4 fresh or canned pineapple rings, diced 1/2 small white cabbage heart, finely shred-

Spiced Coleslaw: Blend the French Dressing and mayonnaise, as in the recipe above with 1 tablespoon French mustard, a few drops Worcestershire sauce and a pinch of cayenne pepper. Shred 1/2 small white cabbage heart, blend with the dressing, 2 to 3 tablespoons diced gherkins, 2 teaspoons capers, 3 tablespoons finely chopped celery and 3 tablespoons chopped spring onions.

Waldorf Salad

4 dessert apples, peeled and diced 4-5 tablespoons French Dressing Small head celery, neatly diced 75g/3oz dried or fresh walnuts, chopped 2-3 tablespoons mayonnaise lettuce

Variation

Apple and Watercress Salad: prepare the apples, as in the recipe above, blend with the French Dressing, add 4 to 5 tablespoons coarsely chopped watercress leaves, 1 teaspoon finely chopped tarragon, 100g/4oz deseeded but not skinned black grapes and 50g/2oz coarsely chopped cashew nuts. COLLEGE NOTES

THAT TIME OF YEAR AGAIN

The annual round of summer examinations started a little earlier than usual this year, presumably in order to allow for the beginning of that major potential source of distraction, the World Cup. With the number of candidates growing each year, organising the exams has become an increasingly complicated operation. However, under the expert guidance of Examinations Supervisor, Ann Burns, and her team, everything seems to have gone off smoothly again this year. We wish all examinees every success in their efforts.

IT'S A WASH-OUT

The latest event to be organised by the College Staff Social club (the 5.05 Club) was a tennis tournament, which, unfortunately, was terminally interrupted by some unseasonal weather. This was a great disappointment to the big attendance which turned up. We are assured by the organisers that the hamburgers which were to be used in the after-match barbecue will not have lost their freshness by the time the event is rearranged!

CONGRATULATIONS

Our congratulations to local residents Peter Denman (Leinster Park), Proinnsias Breathnach (Rail Park) and malachy McCann (Kingsbry) who were all promoted to Senior Lectureships by the College Trustees at their June meeting.

SYMPATHY

We extend our deepest sympathy to Claire Greene, of the College's secretarial staff, on the recent death of her father.

STREET TALKING

A little tour outside the immediate vicinity of the street led to a comparison of the various styles used by the estates to announce their names. Massive stone slabs - limestone or granite - seem to be favoured. "Parson Lodge" is in square roman capitals at the corner of the entrance. "Beaufield", "Kingsbry" and "Carton Court" have planted huge stones - impressive, yes, but they look almost forbidding rather than inviting to visitors. In appearance they have something of an Irish style about them, being not unlike the megalithic orthostats - or gallauns - associated with Newgrange and such sites. But only "Cluan Aoibhinn", one of the oldest of the estates, has an actual Irish name; its slab is pleasantly softened by a surrounding of flowers and greenery, but someone will have to watch that the growth doesn't end up by concealing the name altogether.

At least those estates do have the name prominently displayed as an aid to visitors and delivery workers. Nearer the street, Leinster Park remains anonymous, with no name at the entrance and many of the houses without a name or number. If you're going down that road, you need to now your business! Not only that, but it has what is probably the worst road surface in the vicinity, with lunar craters and extensive flooding after any rain. Right next to the main road as it is, the condition is a constant repraoch to our county engineers and councillors.

And still on the subject of Quinnsworth, one of the fascinating evolutions in its range over the past year or two has been the step by step introduction of hardware lines. It began wth a few can-openers and combs hanging at strategic places on the shelves, but recently more and more goods are on offer - dust bins, flasks, baking utensils, lightbulbs. Of course, hardware is a strong element in the Quinnsworth stores generally throughout the country, but I wonder what Housepride

Latest innovation in shopping locally is the introduction of bar-coding at the Quinnsworth check-outs. The automation certainly seems to have speeded things up for shoppers (and for Quinnsworth management, of course, who can now shift more Yellow Packs in the space of an hour). But, with fewer price stickers on the actual goods, can we be certain of how much we're paying? This is an area in which the local shop has sometimes been found wanting, with prices not always clearly marked on the shelves. And they still persist with the practice of tagging goods at the meat and fish counter with the price per pound, but weighing them up on the scales in kilos and grams.

nextdoor in the shopping mall make of this new departure?

Top of the Crop has taken its fruit and vegetables across the street, in temporary premises next to O'Neill's the butchers while its proper store is newly fitted out.

It was always a drawback in the old shop that, while the range and quality of fresh food on offer brought in the customers, moving around and getting to the cash desk was often unnecessarily awkard. It is to be hoped that the new store will eliminate some of those problems.

And another new premises to look out for is a refurbished barracks for the guards. Tenders have been invited for he work and it should be commenced before long.

By the way, a reminder about purchases of medicines on prescriptions. There are no longer reimbursed by the VHI, but do make sure that you get a receipt from the chemist for them nevertheless: the expenses can be partly set off aginst tax. Scrutinise the front of your tax form for details.

SPORTS NEWS

With the country in general and Maynooth in particular rapt in the euphoria of the present World Cup excitement playing activities have taken a back seat. Ireland's fate may have been decided at time of issue but nevertheless the achievement of qualifying for the World Cup finals has been something to savour. The taking of another point from the "ould" enemy in a major championship game was an added bonus. The later moaning of the British tabloids in wondering why they could not handle Jack's "misfits" quote, is typical of the attitude of poor losers. Ireland's capacity to accept defeat with dignity has always been a trademark of our sportsmen on the great sporting stages of the world. Do Bobby Robson and the tabloids so easily forget Stuttgart '88 when they were taught a lesson in discipline, management and playing to the strengths of the players at your disposal. They have had two years to devise a plan to counteract our system and have failed to do so. As Maggie Thatcher herself once said "stop being Moaning Minnies".

Our A.G.M. was held on Sunday 17th June where a large attendance discussed the various plans for the new season. A number of important issues were raised which generated lively discussion and provided for a stimulating morning. The first team will again compete in the Premiere Division while the Second team will play in Div. 3 Private Grounds. Colm Feeney and Martin McTernan will be in charge of Second team affairs and if either can transfer any of their own boundless enthusiasm to their team the result could be quite interesting.

MAYNOOTH TOWN A.F.C.

Our 21st birthday dance will have been already held in the County Club so more about that in the next issue.

The officers and committee elected for the new season are:

> Hon. President: Emmet Stagg T.D., M.C.C.

> > Chaplain: Fr. Thynne C.C.

Chairperson: Thomas Dempsey

Hon. Secretary: Seamus Feeney

Minutes Secretary: Gerry Durack

Treasurers: Willie Saults, Lenny Murphy

> Club P.R.O.: Lenny Murphy

A feature of this years A.G.M. was the marrying of the Schoolboy's Club with the Senior Club. It is hoped that good results will be the outcome of this amalgamation. Three teams have been entered in the Dublin Schoolboy's league in the Under 12, Under 15 and Under 17 Divisions. Trials for those teams will be held shortly and anybody willing to help in the running of those teams should contact any member of the committee. Our recent "name the Team" competition stumped most people but provided for many a good natured argument as to who was who.

We received a fair number of applications for the position of first team manager. Those applications are now being considerd and we expect to make an appointment shortly. Jack Charlton will not now be considered following the Egypt result.

Committee: John Saults, Noel Dempsey, Gerry Thompson, Michael Kelly, Ben Daly, Brian Farrell, Barry Farrell, Pat Moynan

If anybody has any old photographs, we would like to borrow them for a 21st Birthday feature later in the year. Any other items which might be of interest, such as newspaper cuttings etc. would also be appreciated. Let's hear from you.

G.A.A. NOTES

Our junior A team was beaten by Laragh in the second round of the championship on a score of 1-5 to 1-4. This was a game we could and should have won. On the day we had a solid defence, on adequate centre-field but our forwards missed too many good scoring chances. Our two county players Pascal Ennis and Mick Nevin played some excellent football. Now we must insure that we win our remaining games in the league so as to stay up with the leading teams in our division. The next draw in our Super Members Draw will take place in the Roost Lounge on Friday night the 22nd June. Look out for results of draw in the Leinster Leader and the Newsletter.

APPOINTMENTS TAKEN DAILY

The Maynooth Golfing Society had their annual weekend outing from 17th to 20th May. This year however, the Society decided to break with tradition and travel overseas, to Wales. This decision proved very popular, as a total of 35 travelled including members and visitors. The golf courses played in Llandudno and Colwyn bay were in excellent condition and proved a fitting challenge for all competitors. All those who travelled thoroughly enjoyed themselves and the Soceity. I am sure we will consider travelling overseas again in the near future.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank Gerry Cosgrave of Gerry Gosgrave Travel for his kind assistance and the professional manner in which he arranged the trip. Should the Society decide to travel abroad again, we will certainly be availaing of Gerry's services.

Congratulations are due to all the prizewinners, in particular the overall prizewinner Tommy Flanagan.

EDITORIAL STATEMENT

The Maynooth Newsletter is published as a service to the people and organisations of the neighbourhood. It is an 'open access' publication and will generally carry any material submitted ot it. subject to the law of the land and to editorial judgement. The judgement is exercised by the editorial committee in order to preserve the independence and balance of the Newsletter. The committee reserves the right to alter, abridge or omit material which in its opinion might rend the Newsletter the promoter or mouth-piece of sectional interests. Any contributor seeking further guidelines in this matter is invited to contact the committee.

NOTE TO CONTRIBUTORS

We request all our contributors to make sure their material is legible. If possible, material should be typed, but as not everyone has access to typewriters, the best way to present material is to use either neat legible writing or block letters, on one side of the paper.

All Material Copyright Maynooth Newsletter 1990

Note to Contributors

We emphasise that material submitted after the copydate will not be accepted and will be withheld until the following copydate.

EDITORIAL

Recently a number of serious allegations concerning the Editorial Board of the Newsletter were made in public to a member of the Board by a resident of Maynooth. These were couched in slanderous insults and totally unwarranted verbal abuse. The Editorial Board has decided to publish the following statement which further highlights and emphasises the 'Editorial Statement' on page three of every Newsletter.

The Editorial Board of the Maynooth Newsletter is comprised of individuals appointed by Maynooth Community Council and of individuals who have joined of their own accord who oversee the regular monthly publication of the magazine. Their explicit duty is to ensure that the Newsletter does not in any way become the promoter or mouth-piece of sectional interests and that it always preserves an independence and balance of its own. The Editorial Board is especially careful to maintain an objective independence from all political parties and organisations and will publish whatever material is submitted to the Newsletter providing the material does not effect the balance of the magazine. The opinions and statements expressed in the articles are those of the contributors and not necessarily those of the Editorial Board. Any resident of Maynooth may join the committee and attend its two meetings per month. Editorial Board members are expected to help out in the organisation of social activities connected to the Newsletter (such as the Newsletter table quiz, the St. Patrick's Day parade, writing competitions etc), to sell the Newsletter outside the church one Sunday each month and to continually keep an eye out for items of news which may be of interest to readers. The decisions of the committee are always arrived at by consensus at meetings and no member has ever exercised undue influence over this process.

It is hoped that by publishing this statement the function and philosophy of the Editorial Board will be made perfectly clear and that no member of the committee will again be subjected to the type of unfounded allegations which were made by the individual concerned last month.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Garda Station, Maynooth. ing got to know so many of you.

Please God, I will come back for many visits.

Dear Editor,

Dan Monahan.

Please permit me to express my sincere thanks to one and all, as I depart Maynooth over the next few days. I transfer to Castlefin, Co. Donegal on 18th July, and while one has to go, I will never forget the many friends I have made in Maynooth over the past 10 years. To my friends, collegues, neighbours, I wish to say a big thank you for everything.

To the people of Maynooth, I especially want to say that I have enjoyed every minute being here. I am privileged to have worked in this beautiful town, and to hav-

Due to increasing costs of production the Newsletter will be raised in price from the humble forty pence it now costs to a meagre fifty pence from September 1990 onwards.

RIGHT TO REPLY

In fairness to our readers and given that this magazine is not insured against libel damages or costs, we undertake the following: In the case of errors of fact we will publish corrections when we become aware of such.

In the care of unfairly impugning the reputation of any person we hereby offer that person or their representative the right to reply in this magazine subject only to reasonable lengh, the laws of libel and our right to respond to such reply.

Dear Editor.

My curosity has gotten the better of me. What on earth possessed the residents of Laurence Avenue, to put three large notices on the trees PLEASE KEEP OFF THE GRASS? It sounds so unfriendly.

What are green spaces for, an extension to ones garden, or a place for young folk to kick ball and play rounders etc? That avenue has the name of being the most friendly and neighbourly place in Maynooth, so it is definitely not in keeping. How can one play and keep off the grass? Could it be that a track has been made from the bus, a short cut like the harbour field? But if that is the case could the notices not read PLEASE KEEP TO THE PATH. Now, to a stranger, I think it would say "BUYERS WITH CHILDREN BEWARE, NO PLAYING SPACE".

The O.N.E. have been regular participants in our

St. Patrick's Day Parade and it is for this reason that they made the presentation. In all Joe Fitzpatrick painted and presented 3 paintings to the Community Council during the Community Festival. The others are of Padre Pio and Willie Bermingham.

Despite the fact that the Community Festival coincided with the World Cup, all events were reasonably well attended. WHO ARE THE DOLANETTES?

A report in a number of newspapers in recent months has shed light on the existence of a group of ladies from Maynooth who call themselves the Dolanettes. It appears that these are not ladies whose professional occupation is drawing the dole, rather, it appears, their particular vocation involves dedicating themselves to the perpetual adoration of one Joe Dolan from Mullingar. Perhaps some reader may enlighten us further concerning the identities of these ladies. We would like to be able to offer help in overcoming this slavish addiction.

COPY THAT

Eye Hear is definitely to see that Quinnsworth are giving something for nothing at last. However, we are now coming down with a surfeit of free copies given away with every ten pounds worth of groceries. If the average household shopping amounts to £70 per week, we estimate that if they keep it up for a year, each household in Maynooth will amass over 350 copies. Nice try Quinnsworth!

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations and well done to Dan Monahan, on his recent promotion to the rank of Sergeant. Dan who is a very popular member in Maynooth has been with us for the last 10 years. By the time you will read this, Dan will have settled in his new station of Castlefin, Co. Donegal. Maynooth's loss is Castlefin's gain. We wish Dan every success and happiness,

Q. Can you give me details about the New School Uniform and Footwear scheme?
A. The Footwear Scheme is to be incorporated into the new Clothing Scheme. This Scheme will be administered by the Health Boards as part of the Supplementary Welfare Allowance Scheme.

There will be two maximum rates of payment:

£25 for Primary School Children £40 for Secondary School Children The maximum rates will apply where the family is solely dependent on the basic rate of the relevant Social Welfare or Health Board payment. In other cases a reduced

LEIXLIP AWARDS

Eye Hear that the Town Commission in our sister town, Leixlip has honoured a number of people in appreciation for their service to the people of Leixlip. At a simple ceremony held recently in Leixlip library, certificates were presented by Town Commission Chair, Colm Purcell, to long standing residents who have contriuted to Leixlip through their cultural, sporting, social, commercial, or civic achievements.

Among those honoured were Albert and Mary Bewley, for their work with the Tidy Towns Committee; Anna Pegley, for her contribution to Irish culture; Brian Waters, President of Leixlip Utd Football Club; Louis Eiffe of the Catholic Boy Scouts in Ireland movement; and Brendan Hackett, local entrepreneur. The inclusion of one Padraig Flynn, TD, and Minister for Environment among this distinguished number, raised some eyebrows, in view of the long struggle which had to be waged in achieveing Town Commission status for Leixlip.

Howabout Maynooth Community Council having a look at the possibility of honouring publicly a number of Maynooth residents who have made significant contributions to life in Maynooth. Selection might prove invidious as so many give to the best of their availability. However this is something that might merit further thought.

DOG DAY AFTERNOONS

Kildare County Council are to be congratulated on their recent excursion into Maynooth, seeking out every unlicensed canine. Now ever dog, or its owner, must have a licence £5 at the nearest post office), or forever hold its bark whenever anyone comes to the door. Eye Hear is most favourably disposed towards this development and proposes that it be extended to further species, including cats. Careless owners who fail to keep their brazen felines under control must also be required to visit their nearest post office. How many dogs (incuding Eye Hear's ancient, but now legitimate, best friend), have been tormented by brazen moggies, who lure them into pointless chases, which invariably end up with the panting cur wailing at the foot of concrete walls surmounted by smug feline escapees.

Eye Hear is currently working on proposals for compulsory laryngectomies for Corgis, IQ tests for poodles, and nappies for all forms of untoilet trained beings human or animal.

GARDA TALK

and indeed he will be sadly missed, but rumour has it that he will be back in the not too distant future.

WORLD CUP

While we were all glued to the T.V. watching Ireland's magnificant performance in the world cup, the criminal (who perhaps doesn't understand the game) was also at work around Maynooth stealing radios from cars, particularly when vital matches were being played. Again we ask people to be vigilent, and to protect their property as best they can, no matter where they are.

RENOVATIONS

We are delighted to announce that work will shortly commence at the Garda station which will incorporate the quarters adjacent to the station into one building.

MAYNOOTH CREDIT UNION

While business is going very well at Credit Union House there are also Social and Community involvements attached to Credit Unions as can be seen from the programme lined up for the next few months.

A Youth Quiz has been organised by Chapter 25 for 16-21 years for Sunday 9th September in the Silver Granite Palmerstown: representing us will be a team from the Youth Club, selected and coached by John McGarry. We wish them every success.

Credit Union Poster Competition

This is run each year by the Irish League of Credit Unions who award the prizes at National level and also give a cheque for Art Materials to the winning School or College in each category at National level. The first stage is organised at local level by the Credit Union who will award prizes in the following categories:-

Under 8 8 - 11 yrs 12 - 14 yrs 15 - 18 yrs and adults

The winners at local level then go forward to chapter level. We will be approaching several firms during the next month or so to sponsor the prizes, and are hoping for their full support.

In late September we will inform all the local schools, college, I.C.A. Guild and Youth Club about the Competition and will also put up notices giving details. Each year the poster must be based on a Credit Union slogan. We are hoping for full co-operation from all the schools - so get your paints and brushes ready. In January, Chapter 25 will also run a Table Quiz for members of Credit Union and we hope also to enter a team this year and come out tops again this time.

Office Hours at Credit Union House, The Harbour are:-

Thursdays: 7 p.m. - 8.30 p.m. Fridays: 7 p.m. - 8.30 p.m. Saturdays: 10 a.m. - 12.30 p.m.

At approximately 8.18 on the evening of Saturday 7th July the chairperson of Maynooth Community Council was seen with his family furiously counting cartwheels outside the Hitchin' Post on the Dublin road. At about the same time in Celbridge two prominent members of the Maynooth branch of the Workers' Party were peering in bafflement up to lamppost in Castletown Estate. A blue Opel Cadet meanwhile ferried four excited Maynooth residents up and down Captain's Hill in Leixlip in a desperate attempt to locate a kettle, while a notorious yellow Citroen Dyane waited for its passengers to complete an intense scrunity of a brick wall in the same town. Three other groups of inspired Maynoothians were similarly occupied along the highways and byways, flitting about with bits of paper and the appearance of dementia during what was Maynooth's first ever Festival Treasure Hunt.

Competitors were asked to solve 20 clues regarding the identity of places or objects situated in and between Maynooth, Celbridge and Leixlip and to return with the correct information requested regarding each. They were also required to bring back 10 pieces of 'treasure' - everyday objects whose identity was concealed in 10 seperate clues. The hunt began in the Town Centre Mall at 7 p.m., when the six teams embarked in bewilderment upon Main Street and wandered in search of orange arrows, the 'King of Harps', pumps, plaques and pigeons. They returned in mad dashes shortly before 10 p.m. brandishing plastic bags packed with everything bar the dustpan and deposited their spoils before Carolann Reaper and Peter Hussey (the judges and organisers) in Caulfield's lounge. While they regaled one another with accounts (bizarre and hilarious) of their mishaps and misadventures the judges examined cigarette butts, tights, bean times, combs and other 'interesting' treasure pieces before announcing Evelyn Lane and Lenny Murphy as the winners. First prize was £40 and there was a special prize of £10 for the funniest/most deranged answer which was by Team One (Margaret Clince, Grainne Kelly, Willie and Christina Saults).

Due to the tremendous amount of fun generated by the treasure hunt the organisers have agreed to run another one which is provisionally scheduled for Sunday, 9th September at 3 p.m. The starting point will be as above and there will be a £50 prize for the winners.

Full details will be published in the September Newsletter and will also be available from the Community Council office (Tel. 6285222). Look out for posters and notices.

MAYNOOTH CHARIOT RACE

The inaugural running of the Maynooth Chariot Race was held at 2 p.m. on a very wet Saturday 30th June. (The time was changed in order to avoid clashing with Ireland's World Cup Quarter Final tie with Italy).

The race took place from the Harbour to the Roost and was won in the excellent time of 42 seconds by the Maynooth Soccer Club. Their Chariot, which was driven by John Saults with Lennie Murphy on board is known as The Marker during work days. Congratulations to both!

Due to increasing costs of production the Newsletter will be raised in price from the humble forty pence it now costs to a meagre fifty pence from September 1990 onwards.

MAYNOOTH ACCORDION BAND

On behalf of the committee of the above band I would like to offer sincere thanks to all who contributed so generously to the collectors during our recent flag days. We are grateful to the business people of the town and surrounding areas who welcomed our musicians and gave the collectors such a warm reception. A special word of thanks to Phil, Mrs Brady and staff for the refreshments that they provided for the teacher, John Mitchell, every Wednesday on his arrival in Maynooth. Our young musicians take pleasure in playing, when requested, at any function provided that it does not coincide with any of their other activities.

Finally don't forget to support us please in early Autumn when, once again, we will stage the band festival in the parish hall. This is an afternoon of musical entertainment. Mr. Mitchell brings his pupils from all his teaching venues together to compete for awards. The ajudicator will be the very talented, Paddy Kavanagh, a member of the Teachers Advisery Council of the British College of Accordionists.

Maisie McMyler, Secretary.

BAND BULLETIN

July was a particularly busy month with recitals in Tallaght, Peamount and our own Community Week.

In all cases the response was tremendous and very satisfying. There was perhaps the most appreciative audience yet for the Community Week recital. The patients in Peamount Hospital thoroughly enjoyed our performance and the Tallaght recital was part of a major Band Festival attended by bands from Dublin, Navan and Germany and gave our younger members a wonderful opportunity to meet and exchange news with fellow musicians.

Things are winding down for the holidays but we hope to have news of our new classes in the next issue.

We wish all our readers a very happy and sunny holidays. See you in September.

RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION NOTES

CARTON COURT RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION

At a recent meeing of Carton Court Residents' Association the following motions were adopted (1) that all motor traffic entering or leaving Carton Court do so with great caution as we tend to forget that there are children playing. (2) As the residents are in agreement we are becoming involved with the Neighbourhood Watch Scheme. There will be a fee of £1 as a once off payment for stickers etc. We are very grateful for the annual subscription of £5 per house for the upkeep of greens and maintenance of lawn mower and anybody who has not subscribed please give to a Committee Member on your road. As the holiday season is upon us we earnestly request that all residents ensure the security of their houses.

LYREEN RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION

Things are now begining to wind down for the Summer Holidays. We held our final meeting before the holidays in Caulfield's on 17th July, where a good attendance was brought up to date on all outstanding matters. Main topic of discussion was the Tidy Area Competition and it was hoped that residents would help by looking after the cleanliness of their own particular area. It was hoped to arrange for some work to be done on the Green as soon as possible. The member's draw will be held in Caulfield's on 27th July and we hope to have the results in the next issue.

ACRA

ACRA LAUNCHES CAMPAIGN FOR FINANCIAL SUPPORT FOR RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATIONS AND AGAINST TOLLS ON MOTORWAYS

The Co. Kildare branch has recently written to all residents associations seeking support on two major issues affecting residents. routes exist, we will not accept tolls on roads built mainly out of E.C. (i.e. taxpayer's) monies.

1. Financial support for Residents Associations.

Until 1986 some financial support from Kildare Co. Co. was available to residents associations for the planting of trees, maintaining green spaces, etc. These grants were abolished but ACRA believes that they should be re-introduced on an expanded scale.

2. Toll roads in Co. Kildare.

ACRA's policy on this issue is that while we are not opposed to tolls on roads erected out of private funds, where alternative There is a strong possibility of tolls being levied on the Naas/Newbridge and the proposed Leixlip/Maynooth/Kilcock bypasses. This would mainly affect residents commuting to and from work and could cost £500 p.a.

Associations are being asked to support our policy on these issues and we intend to lobby members and officials of Kildare Co. Co. quoting the results of our circular.

Michael Quinn, Secretary.

The College Secretary~(01-6272100)

It has been a concern of the Community Council that a certain age group does not seem to be catered for at all in the social activities of the town. However, this section of the community, aged between 15 and 21, was especially in attendance at the Community Council's fourth annual Battle of the Bands on Thursday 5th July.

Seven bands participated in what was without doubt an outstanding success. The Geraldine Hall was packed with groupies and supporters from every conceivable sub-group in hard rock fashion, ranging from long haired, leather and denim clad head bangers to smooth super-cool American Rockers. The bands delighted all, spending at least 15 minutes each in furious bids to outdo one another with the serious business of establishing sound checks, tuning guitars and bounding at random with leads, wires and sound systems. It was impossible to quantify the amount of large black boxes which passed by the judges en route to and from the stage for the first hour or so. Eventually the terrain was conquered to the sufficient satisfaction of the bands and they finally began to play. The noise shook the building and sent the fans into orbit.

Despite the fact that the first band took command of the stage shortly after 8.30 and the final one left it at 11.10 the three judges were never once bored during the entire show. The enthusiasm and sheer energy of these seven bands were remarkable. All seven are talented - some moreso than others - and the command of instruments was especially notable among such bands as The Dudley Runaways, Grim Reality, Craven Idol and Running Scared. Sunday Blue from Lucan provided a competent but somewhat lack-lustre performance of Adult Orientated Rock while Wool, a duo from Leixlip, concentrated on blues and Woodstock rock with the incredibly talented voice of Jenny Dowling making up for an otherwise loose and unpolished performance. Given some time this act will be one upon which considerable attention will focus. The youngest band present were from Maynooth - Wild Cry, fronted by Declan Molloy from Mill St. If this band stay together for another few years they will gain the experience they need to turn their act into a more tightly controlled and versatile show given the fact that they are without doubt quite talented for their years.

FLEX, WIRES AND MASKING TAPE:

MAYNOOTH BATTLE OF THE BANDS 1990

That special mark of originality which distinguishes a fine band from the remainder of the others, based upon total comfort with instruments and the courage to experiment with sound came from three bands in particular. The Dudley Runaways from Dublin displayed excellent versatility with guitar and a controlled co-ordination of sound: this talent would shine if put to greater effect on material more original than the standard rock of their act. Craven Idol, from Leixlip, showed remarkable maturity for such a young band. Their comfort with hard rock material was obvious and developed to a degree where the hypnotic quality of the sound clearly emerged - this co-ordination was the one quality which the other metal band, Grim Reality, have not yet mastered. Craven Idol seemed to be the only band who had given their image more than the usual degree of thought, managing to incorporate a sense of madcap fun into what is generally an overly serious business indeed.

The winning band of the night, Running Scared, from Maynooth, came across as the most mature and controlled act of the seven. Their 2¹/₂ years' experience was quite obvious judging by the polish of the performance and by their state of overall development. Their original material, hard rock in inspiration, was greatly enhanced by fine use of vocals (3 of the 4 members taking part) and hinted at the type of stuff of which great rock bands are made. Running Scared are Declan Noonan, Enda Breslin, Andrew Kirkpatrick and Thomas ('Spike') Murphy.

Apart from encouraging up-and-coming acts, Maynooth Battle of the Bands provides a worthwhile and badly needed outlet for the enjoyment of the young adult age group. Given the popularity of events such as this, it is hoped that others like it will take place more than once a year. Grateful thanks to the Community Council team workers for organising the event and to Martin O'Brien for managing the sound system. Anne Marie Thompson was professionally exuberant as mistress of ceremonies and Donal Fitzpatrick, Michael Murphy and Maura Walsh displayed marvellous crowd control skills during 'the Night'! Final thanks to our three judges (Muireann Ni Bhrolcháin, Peter Hussey and Patsy Treacy) and to Johnny Dowling for helping out on the night.

The Newsletter has heard from the inimitable Peig Lynch after a long silence imposed by ill health. We're glad to see that she can still wield the typewriter, and we look forward to hearing more in the future. Unfortunately for reasons of space we were unable to print her entire contribution. However, we hope that the following edited version will convey her sentiments.

Dreams of other days

Peig remembers her early days, when she first fell in love with the Royal Canal, at Binn's Bridge in Dublin. She remembers the barges, and the horses, and the barge men who plied up and down the canal from Dublin to exotic places such as Mullingar. A film showing the last barge to travel the Canal, shown in the College by Dr Ian Bath, some seventeen years ago, was the spur to the realisation of a dream which came true for Peig on 26th May of this year, when once more the Royal Canal was open for navigation.

How the dream came true

Of course dreams don't come true without inspiration, imagination, co-operation, and hard work. Peig firmly lays the responsibility for inspiration at the feet of Don Bosco, the patron saint of the Bru Bosco Club. Following the renovation of the Gerladine Hall by the Bru Bosco Club, another project was sought to keep the young people of Maynooth working. The restoration of the Canal seemed like an imaginative project to tackle - to restore this weed choked drain to its former glory, and to allow boats once more to ply up and down its waters.

DON BOSCO AND THE ROYAL CANAL

PEIG LYNCH REMEMBERS

There was much involved in getting the project going. While Peig attributes much to Don Bosco, it seems that without the cooperation of AnCo and the funds provided to pay the Teamworkers, little would have been achieved. Still, even in a faceless bureaucratic organisation, Peig was able to appeal to the good nature of a former Bru Bosco boy who was able to pull the appropriate strings on her behalf!

The search for a foreman was as exciting as that for an actress to play Scarlet O'Hara. However, Philip McDermott got the part (Vivien Leigh being unskilled in directing canal excavation operations). The Royal Canal Amenity Group became involved through chance conversations between Peig, Eddie Slane, Charlie Hayden, Jim Rochford, Mark Clinton and Father Gerry Myers. The first meeting of the Maynooth Royal Canal Amenity Group was held in the Salesian House, the second in the Parish Hall, and a committee was set up to oversee the project. Unfortunately, due to ill health, Peig had to withdraw at that stage, and take her place on the sidelines, while the hard labour began, through hot summers, and freezing wet winters. In May, Peig was able to stand on the Canal banks and watch the happy crowds, the thank yous, speechmaking, unveiling, launching and sailing, reflecting on the mysterious ways in which these dreams come true, with the right mix of chance, luck, hard work, and co-operation.

Further dreams

Peig is by no means finished with her dreams, and is hoping that someone will run with her proposal for a project which would involve teaching young people to build canoes, for use on the newly opened canal. She is a Salesian Co-operator, and is proud to be a lay worker for Don Bosco, thanking God for the day the Salesians set up their house in Maynooth. The community in Maynooth has benefitted to a great extent from her presence - long may they, and people like Peig survive.

The new and the old

Among Peig's reflections were regret that some of the members of the Maynooth Development Association were not present at this happy occasion, as they too contributed to the project, through inviting Dr. Bath to show his film, and through their support in other ways over the years. This prompted some observations on the Maynooth phenomenon whereby it takes three generations before anyone can become a 'real Maynoothian', and how she feels that despite not qualifying under these terms, nevertheless, she feels that she herself is turning into a real Maynoother after all these years.

LABOUR PARTY NOTES

BOND BRIDGE

As residents of Newtown, Beaufield, Cluain Aoibhinn and College Green will be aware Emmet Stagg TD has been pressing for some time both the Dept. of the Environment and Kildare Co. Council for the provision of a new bridge. The Minister for the Environment recently informed Deputy Stagg that funds for a new bridge would not be forthcoming in the current year. Following this Emmet had the following motion placed before Kildare Co. Council: - 'That Kildare Co. Council undertake to resurface Bond Bridge, Maynooth and the roads leading up to same and that this be financed from development levies collected in the area'. We are glad to report that this motion was accepted and that resurfacing work will commence in the very near future.

BOREEN PROBLEM SUCCESS

Following repeated representations by Deputy Stagg and continuing pressure from Maynooth Town A.F.C., goalposts have been erected at each end of the Boreen thus preventing caravans from entering the lane. We congratulate Maynooth Town A.F.C. in persisting on this issue with us over the last number of years.

Welcoming the news, John McGinley said the next step is to ensure than the Co. Council clean up the laneway before the new season starts. Representations have been made in this regard,

The Maynooth Branch wish the Soccer Club all the best in celebrating their 21st birthday this year.

LIGHTING OF MAYNOOTH CASTLE

At a recent meeting of the Celbridge Area Committee of Kildare Co. Council, Emmet Stagg TD successfully proposed that the Council agree to cover the annual cost of the lighting of Maynooth Castle. The lighting system is to be installed shortly and we believe that it should bring about a significant improvement in the appearance of the Castle area.

'THE THING'

As was reported in our last 'Labour Notes', Emmet Stagg has been continuing his campaign to have the toilets at the town Square demolished. At his instigation a motion calling for their demolition was passed at Co. Council level and at the most recent Council meeting there was a debate on how this work might best be carried out. Deputy Stagg urged that the work be carried out as soon as possible and that a new public toilet be provided at an appropriate location off the Main Street.

The councillors were informed that the demolition work would cost £8,000 and that the removal of the ESB station at the Square would cost £24,000. Deputy Stagg suggested that the Council draw up a land-scape plan for the area which would incorporate the planting of trees and the laying down of attractive paving.

PROPOSAL TO PAVE MAIN STREET FOOTPATHS

Following representations by Emmet Stagg TD to improve the condition of footpaths in Maynooth, Kildare Co. Council have put forward a proposal to pave the footpaths in the Main Street along the lines of Grafton St. in Dublin. Part of the proposal is that business premises would make a contribution to the paving of the area immediately outside their own building and the Council would undertake to pay the cost of paving any gaps which remained. The Branch welcome this proposal as a contribution to improving the appearance of our Main Street.

PROPOSED BAN ON IRRADIATED FOOD

As Labour Party spokesperson on Agriculture and Food, Deputy Stagg has introduced a Private Members' Bill before the Dail seeking to ban the processing, importation and sale of irradiated food. Food irradiation is the process whereby food such as meat, fruit, vegetables and poultry is exposed to ionising radiation. The process is similar to that used in nuclear power stations. There are many reasons why the Labour Party believe irradiated food should be banned:-

- irradiated food causes untested and potentially dangerous chemical reactions in food.
- animals fed with irradiated food suffer kidney damage, chromosome defects, mutations in off-spring, increased incidence of tumours and other ill-effects.
- Irradiated food destroys a number of vitamins such as Vitamin C, A and B.

The Labour Party is proposing this bill as part of its Safe Food policy. When it comes to food the first priority should be the health of the consumer and not the profits of large multi-national food companies.

WORKERS' PARTY NOTES

POLICING RETHINK NEEDED

The recent Leixlip armed bank robbery, with its fatal consequences, has brought into focus once again the need for a restructuring of the Garda network in the North Kildare area. The current division of the area into three separate Garda districts dates back to when North Kildare was entirely rural in nature. This is now completely outdated given that the area now has a population of some 30,000 people. Towns of this size in other parts of the country have fifty or more Gardai, including detective and several squad cars. While the existing Garda force in the area does a superb job in the circumstances, it is clearly inadequate to the task of policing such a large built-up area. This is common knowledge among Dublin-based criminals, many of whom regard the area as easy prey. While Maynooth itself has thankfully not been subjected to bank hold-ups such as Leixlip has experienced on a number of occasions, two recent armed holdups of retail outlets in the locality indicate that it is only a matter of time before it does happen.

It is time that the adjoining towns of Maynooth, Leixlip, Celbridge and Kilcock are regarded as a single urban area, bigger than most towns in the country, and deserving of a fully-equipped Garda station appropriate to an urban area of its size.

CARTON TAKEOVER SCANDAL

It is increasingly likely, judging by recent reports, that Carton House and Estate will be taken over by the Gleneagles Hotel group for development as a leisure centre. While this would undoubtedly provide much-needed employment, and would be more preferable to previous proposals to build houses on the estate, it is still nothing short of scandalous that such a central part of the country's historical heritage should be closed off to public access forever.

SEAN POWER

Turf Accountant
Main Street, Maynooth

If Carton was located just a couple of miles further east, it is likely that it would long ago have been bought up by Dublin County Council for preservation and development as a public park. However, Kildare County Council simply does not have the funds to pursue such a policy. This points to how badly the country is suffering from the absence of any kind of national policy for the conservation and development of the country's premier heritage sites. Carton is a site of major national importance which should be taken into public ownership. However, given a succession of governments which appear to value all properties in terms of their potential for profitable commercial development, it is not surprising that Carton will now become the exclusive preserve of the leisurely wealthy, with ordinary working class people only able to get a view if they manage to get a job in the project.

COMMUNITY FESTIVAL CONGRATS

This column takes this opportunity to congratulate all those involved in organising the highly successful Community Festival in Maynooth. It takes a lot of work on the part of a lot of selfless people to organise all the events which went to make up the festival, and to help the rest of us to enjoy ourselves. Coming as it did immediately after the World Cup euphoria, the festival certainly prevented a lot of local people from suffering from withdrawal symptoms following Ireland's eventual exit from the other festival in Italy!

VIDEO REVIEWS

COUSINS

Starring: Ted Danson.

A nice romantic love story. It involves two sets of married couples. One husband and one wife from either couple have an affair. The other two partners find out and confront one another. To get their own back they decide to pretend to have an affair and the story goes on. Yes, before you see the film you know what's going to happen, but it's well worth keeping on your list just in case you've seen every other video in the shop, also it's well worth looking at if only for the amount of wedding receptions in it.

Ratings: 5 out of 10.

THE PARTY

Starring: Peter Sellers.

This hilarious film must be said to be one of Seller's greatest performances. He plays the part of an uninvited guest to a party in Beverly Hills given by some extremely wealthy Americans. Nobody knows who he is. He is also supposed to be an Indian in this movie. This film is a delight to watch as everything that can possibly happen happens and one can almost feel oneself squirm with embarrassment. It's good family entertainment and well worth watching.

TABLE QUIZ

Members of the Editorial Board were happy with the turnout at the Newsletter Table Quiz held in Caulfield's Lounge as part of the Community Festival. Thirteen teams fought a closely contested ten rounds. While questions on obscure soccer trivia, such as name the five fanatics from Maynooth who paid a small fortune to attend the Ireland versus Italy match in Rome in July 1990, were mercifully absent, the preponderance of geographical questions was seen to cause some difficulties for some. The winning team was the No Hopers (Proinnsias Breathnach and Co); "gracious" in unaccustomed second place were the terror of the table quiz network, the Farrell/McGarry gang; and delirious in third place were the Eamonn Dunphy Fan Club (Gerry Durack and Co). A special prize for the most amusing (but wrong) answer, was awarded to The Kelly Team (Michael Kelly, Michael Murphy & Co.) for their interpretation of the title of the initials of the new defence forces representative organisation. No, the letters did not stand for the Public Demand for a better Newsletter, but good try.

Many thanks to all who supported the event, to our sponsors, to Peter (Magnus Magnusson) Hussey, and to Peter Denman, who is now seeking exile in the Albanian Embassy (capital Tirana) who was responsible for setting the questions.

VARIETY CONCERT

The show was a great success (on stage at any rate). The great shame was the lack of interest from the community as the audience was dismally small.

First, thanks and congratulations should go to everyone who performed on stage well done. Thanks to Pat Travers for the use of the Hall and to Billie Higgins for his great work in preparing the venue. Our gratitude to Bridie O'Brien for doing a great job as Mistress of Ceremonies and to Nuzstop for providing the shop. greatly appreciated the services of those who managed the door-desk, sold tickets in the Hall, helped back stage and those who provided prizes for the raffles (sweat shirt from Billie's, teddy bear from Nuzstop, shirt from Classified Casuals). Finally, let's not forget Willy Kiernan and Martin O'Brien for doing a wonderful job with the sound system. Thanks also to Ann-Marie Thompson.

WRITER'S CRAMP

Due to the huge amount of entries we received for our poetry competition in June, we have decided to publish a selection of the work each month. This month's selection includes representatives from all three age groups (Aengus O'Connor, aged 12; Ronan Nulty, aged 16; Belinda Byrne, aged 13 and both Richard Hayes and Christina Hession from the over 18 category.

My Mum's Boogie

Boogie is an action, it means you have to dance, not stand to attention, But dance and prance.

You tried to boogie, The dogs couldn't stand it. you really are an old fogie, And you are not very fit.

Loosen up I said to Mum, You look very stiff, Exactly like a bottle of rum, Or even a bottle of jif.

The wok and the pots, Were trembling on the shelf, You said you were seeing spots, But I said it was the delph.

The delph was flying, The baby was crying, The dog were whining, And I was dying.

I wish I had never, Taught you how to dance, Now you come to all the discos, and prance to "Buffalo Stance".

Is this verse destined for purpose?

Is this verse destined for purpose? In the outcome, when we leave this paper do we seek an impression?

Do I need to tell of tomorrow's elation because,

We have not heard or just remembering the end of yesterday's depression?

Do I have to force our mouths to curve either way?

Or silver-line or cloud-over our fate decided way?

Is this verse destined for purpose?
Will I, can I, do I arrange this script to its limit or just enough?
Do I want to say of undulating hills or a fume-filled bus?
Or scorn in my heart for one and for another love?
Should we hear something that is not in our minds?

Or what has been heard before or, to my knowledge, writings of a different kind?

Is this verse destined for purpose? in words, can I neutral in every way? Should I have nothing more to say?

The Company of Wolves

Times, you interlude your dawn meanderings to puzzle over my spoon-to-mouth rituals,
Other times
you lead fellow dawn revellers into temptation, in through hedges, to foreign territory,
large head bowed in self-abasement.
Someday I will join you running naked in the dew, and I will gambol
in the company of wolves,

Christina Hession

I knew you were not what first I knew

I knew you were not what first I knew, the rose of your eyes was not as real as the flower of your flesh or your nails on my cheek - I knew you were not when I felt your nails grind in my skin and my trickle of tears. I knew you were not when I suffered your eyes in my tremble of dreams - life bred once then closes - I saw what I knew, my death, on the thorns of your roses.

When Ireland win the World Cup

It starts on the eight that is that date
When Argentina meets Cameroon;
Oh! It will be great,
We all can't wait
But it's going to happen soon.
We will come home from the finals in Rome with 22 heroes in green.
It's the green machine, the greatest we've seen so that's why I wrote this poem.

STREET WISE

We have heard from numerous sources that there is an individual roving about Maynooth offering young people the opportunity to make big money quickly by selling lines in other towns across the country. One young woman accepted the offer but became ill during the course of her first day's work. When she asked to be brought home the man in question apparently refused to do so and fired her. She had, it seems, to walk fifteen miles back to Maynooth while ill. Beware of accepting offers of employment unless you are confident the employer in question will uphold certain rights of employment which are completely undeniable.

SPOT THE BALL

It has been whispered about that there will be an extravaganza of a soccer match on Sunday, 5th August in the Harbour Field. Players (rather, non players - those who do not know the first thing about soccer) have volunteered to embark upon the pitch during half time in the soccer tournament finals in fancy dress and attempt to bewilder a soccer ball with a display of ingenious mismanagement of talent. No rules apply in this 'Crazy Soccer' match (indeed no rules could possibly apply) and the more bizarre the costume the better.

AGAIN SESAME

Back to Aladdin's Cave where Peter Hussey

RUMOUR HAS IT ...

and Carolann Reaper are deviously planning another treasure hunt which will take place on Sunday, September 9th. The last one was an outstanding success (report elsewhere in this issue) and if word of mouth is anything to go by, there will be thousands taking part in this next one.

BEAT'S WORKIN'

We hear that there will soon be a concert in Maynooth aimed at entertaining the younger generation of rockers in the town. Due to the large turnout at the recent Battle of the Bands (report elsewhere in this issue), the Community Council is planning to invite Running Scared (the winning band in the competition) and other groups to perform at some stage in August or September. For further details watch for posters and listen to the vibes emanating from your teenagers.

M.A.D.E. UP

It seems that the Maynooth Adult Daytime Education Centre (M.A.D.E. Centre) beside the Post Primary School is currently being restored, painted and renovated by a dedicated group of Youthskills trainees from Newbridge. This is their community project and is being supervised by John O'Brien, a woodwork instructor was has trained no small amount of young adults from Maynooth. Newbridge Youthskills course is co-ordinated by Evelyn Lane from Carton Court (who, incidentally, won the Festival Treasure Hunt with Lenny Murphy last month). The M.A.D.E. Centre has not been used for adult educational purposes for quite some time now and is currently the base of Maynooth's boy scouts. We hope that once the renovations are complete there will be a resurgence of classes in the centre.

OVER TANNED, OVERJOYED AND OVER HERE

Finally, it has been rumoured that some local shopkeepers have had their fill of bronzed, beautiful and bright-eyed Spanish students failing to observe correct procedure when queuing to purchase. Granted, it can be tiresome when fifteen invade the shop at the same time and unleash disorganised chaos but bear in mind that they are quite young, miles from home and usually struggling with a language which is incredibly difficult to learn and a culture which baffles even ourselves at the best of times. It is, in fact, rather pleasant to witness the town take on the appearance of a Mediterranean village for one month of the year and their zest for life can hardly be disparaged.

On the other hand, if only we had those tans . . .!

John Byrne with McGinleys Senior and Junior. Ronan McGinley came 3rd in the under 12 section in our poetry competition.

Winners of the Children's Fancy Dress Competition with Madeline Stynes (judge) and John McGinley.

TALENT COMPETITION A HUGE SUCCESS

One of the hit events of the Festival was the talent competition on 6th July in Caulfield's. Being the night of the first of two bar extensions the pub was packed to capacity and there was no shortage of competitors to entertain the assembled throng. Gerry Fitzpatrick presided as M.C. for the night and also provided most of the musical back-up with the able assistance of Philip McDermott on harmonica. Spot prizes were donated earlier in the week by the following:-

Quinnsworth

- Two bottles of wine Top of the Crop
- Voucher for a basket of fruit
 - A/C Curtains
 - Two pillow slips Smith's Butchers
 - Voucher for a chicken
 The Elite
 - Voucher for a gateau New Waves Hair Salon
 - Voucher for a hair cut

The competition was won by Enda Breslin and Declan Noonan who also won the talent competition at Christmas. Second prize went to Martin O'Brien and third went to Elaine and Eithne Bean. The Community Council would like to thank all the other competitors who took part and who gave such enjoyment to all.

THE KID'S DISCO

Also a huge success, the disco was well attended and was enjoyed by all. Thanks to the Leinster Arms for the use of Slim's free of charge. Many thanks and congratulations to John Reid for a very professional job as D.J. We greatly appreciated the assistance of the few parents who stayed around and joined in the fun. Thanks to all the kids who turned up in such large numbers and to Johnny Dowling for helping out. Thanks a lot.

THE SHAUGHRAUN

- AT THE ABBEY

The National Theatre celebrates the centenary of Dion Boucicault's death with the comic capers of his 1874 production 'The Shaughraun'. Intimating at Boucicault's obsession with stagecraft and his inversion of the stereotype 'stage oirish', the current revival is cranked into action by the shadowy form of a (leather-jacketed) street-clad Conn, (The Shaughraun) who struts about the stage preparing it for the ensuing drama. By using such a framing device Garry Hynes ensures that the melodramatic excesses which follow are seen for what they are, covertly cloaked political messages.

The play develops in stage-craft complexity from a rather simplistic opening scene limited to a single character, Claire and a butter-churn to the carnivalesque closing finale of a frenzied mob chasing the cowardly informer, Harvey Duff, to his death. Boucicault used throughout his work, extravagant scenery and stage devices to maximise the naturalism of his oeuvre. Such a theatrical style of Spielberg - like 'sensation scenes' proved the natural predecessor to the swiftly edited format of the cinema, so that the farcical dialogue and knockabout style of 'The Shaughraun' recalls the early two-reelers of Buster Keaton and Charlie Chaplin. However, the resultant frantic pace entails numerous changes of scenery, a problem overcome in the Abbey production by a simplistic, yet effective set.

Sean McGinley, a recent winner in the Time Out Awards, plays the title character with a roguish naievete as a character wised up to the joke that lies underneath the 'series' melodramatic surface. However it is Martyn Stanbridge as the confused Captain Molineux who seems eternally on the brink of uncontrolled laughter who imbues the production with a farcical dimension. This element reaches a discordantly hilarious crescendo in the wake scene in which Anna Manahan steals the show. From a slightly inauspicious beginning the production develops to a raising climax that has the audience literally joining in.

BOB'S KITCHEN

Salmon Cream

450g/1lb cooked or canned salmon, flaked 50g/2oz soft white breadcrumbs 2 tablespoons fish stock or liquid from the canned fish

1 tablespoon lemon juice

4 tablespoons double cream

3 eggs

1 tablespoon chopped fennel leaves or parsley

salt and pepper

Variations

*Use cooked white fish instead of salmon. To give a more interesting colour, add a little anchovy essence to the fish stock.

* Seafood Cream: Use a mixture of chopped prawns and crabmeat, together with a little cooked white fish instead of salmon.

Spanish Coconut Cream

3 eggs 50g/2oz caster sugar few drops vanilla essence 450ml/³/₄ pint milk 4 tablespoons water or pineapple syrup 15g/¹/₂oz gelatine 50-75g/2-3oz desiccated coconut 150ml/¹/₄ pint double cream, lightly whipped 150g/5oz canned pineapple rings, well drained and finely chopped

Seperate the eggs. Beat the yolks with the sugar and vanilla essence, then add the milk. Stand the heatproof basin over a pan of hot, but not boiling, water and cook gently, stirring frequently until the custard sauce coats the back of a wooden spoon. Put the water or pineapple syrup into another basin and sprinkle the gelatine on top. Stand this over the hot water until the gelatine has thoroughly dissolved. Stir the gelatine into the hot egg custard sauce with the coconut.

Allow the coconut mixture to cool and become syrupy, then add the pineapple and cream. Put on one side again to slightly stiffen. Whisk the 3 egg whites until stiff and fold into the coconut mixture. Spoon into glasses. Serves 6.

Blend the salmon and breadcrumbs with the other ingredients. Put into a wellgreased 1 litre/13/4 pint basic. Cover with greased foil. Steam over a pan of hot, but not boiling, water for 1 hour until lightly set. Turn out and serve hot with Hollandaise Sauce.

SAMHRADH SONA

Ní minic a ghuímid Sahradh Sona ar a chéile. Go deimhin, is minic a bhíonn eagla ar thuismitheoirí: "cad a dhéanfaidh said go dtí meán Fomhair?" an cheist a chuireann siad orthu féin agus ar a chéile. Leanaí nó déagóirí a bhíonn i gceist leis an "siad". An chúis is mó a bhíonn leis an eagla ná an abairt "I'm bored" - glór nach binn a chloistear ró-mhinic.

Is breá liomsa go mbíonn saoire fhada ag na leanaí. Tá saol na scoile cruaidh go leor ón lá a dtéann leanbh isteach sna naíonáin shóisir. Anois go mbíonn líon mór dealtaí sna ranganna, ní minic a bhíonn an tsaoirse ná an scóp a bhí i gceist leis an gcuraclam nua ag mórán daltaí. Sular féidir leo a scíth a ligean, caithear an obair bhaile a dhéanamh. Ní haon ionadh nach mbíonn siad róábalta lá breá fada a eagrú dóibh féin.

Ag tús na laethanta saoire i mbliana, nuair a bhí an aimsir go dona agus gach seans gur mar sin a bheadh go ceann na saoire. d'iarras ar mo leanaí liostaí a dhéanamh de "Rudaí le Déanamh". Bhí mé an tsásta leis an toradh. Ní raibh "teilifís" fiú gar do bharr an liosta. Is fíor gur éiligh roinnt mhaith de na rudaí foighne uaimse - péinteáil, cócaireacht, "Make and Do" agus mar sin de. Ach d'oibrigh sé thar barr. Is mór an sásamh don duine óg a rogha féin a bheith aige/aici agus imeachtaí an lae á bpleanáil. Aontaím le tuismitheoir a scrígh isteach go dtí RTE ag rá gurbh fhearr leí go mbeadh se de féin-mhuinín ag a leanbh leas a bhaint as am saor ná go mbeadh an Mheán-teist ar an rud ba thábhactaí leis ar an saol.

Is mór an chreidiúint atá ag dul do lucht eagraithe and "Maynooth Summer Project". Go dtí cúpla bliain ó shin, bhíodh imeachtaí ar siúl sa leabharlann agus bhaineadh na leanaí an-spraoi astu. Ní féidir iad sin a eagrú anois, mar gearradh siar ar fhoireann na leabharlainne. Feastalaíonn go leor daoine óga ar champaí samhraidh agus is maith ann iad. Is é an trua nach bhfuil linn snámha i Maigh Nuad: caitear alán airgid agus ama ar chúrsaí snámha i mBaile Phámair agus i gCill Droichid. Ag an am a bhfuil sé seo á scríobh agam, tá an aimsir chomh hálainn nach bhfuil aon fhadhb ag óg ná ag aosta taitneamh a bhaint as an Samhradh. Go leana se!

AMERICAN NIGHT

Held on the 4th of July to coincide with American Independence Day, this event was voted by all who attended to be a most enjoyable evening, which ended with the patrons of Caulfield's rockin 'n a rolling in the Lounge. Al Brady and Jo Scanlon, both professional musicans, provided the music free of charge. They played everything from Dixie Land to seventies disco and bee bop, providing a sound which belied the fact that they were only a two piece band.

STREET TALKING

The burst of fine weather in July wrought a minor transformation on the street, with the pubs gallantly attempting an al fresco approach, with tables and parasols out on the pavement. Patrons were thus enabled to gulp in the dust, diesel and petrol fumes along with their drink, while getting sunburn at the same time and looking at the cars, buses and lorries inching their way along the Galway road! But this is an uncalled for sour note; roll on the by-pass, which should bring a measure of calm to the town, making the street into a street rather than the major national thoroughfare that it is at the moment.

Indeed, the best open-air atmosphere on the street in recent times was not during the heatwave but late in the evening after ireland's World Cup win over Romania, when the crowds poured out on to the pavements with flags and banners. An informal spontaneous demonstration, although it was noticeable that the shops and other establishments still open at the hour did not seem ready or inclined to enter into the festivities in any particular way.

A pity that "Stephen Hero's" was not open that evening. This new coffee shop is located in the former premises of North Kildare Travel. Maynooth is relatively well-supplied with places for light meals and snacks: the "Coffee Kitchen" in the shopping centre, the Elite bakery, Kehoe's Delicatessen, Patrick's Restaurant, and the Country Shop each cater for different tastes. But "Stephen Hero's" especially if it offers extended opening hours into the evening, could well become the place for those long deep and earnest discussions beloved by students of all ages and types. Maynooth does not really have such a centre as yet, with the pubs coming the nearest to supplying the role. Certainly, the Joycean name of the new coffee-shop is suggestive more of intellectual substance than of Black Forest Gateaux.

"Top of the Crop" is now back to its reorganised premises, with much greater floorspace for the shopper and a clearer layout of produce all at counter height. however, the appeal of this successful outlet has always been in the range and quality of its fruit and vegetables; no doubt this will survive the change to a more streamlined customer service.

SPORTS NEWS

Now that the excitement has died down following the World Cup it is time to get down to more mundane activities. The dawn of the new season is now upon us and even during the World Cup certain club members were working behind the scenes in the search for a first team manager. We are hereby pleased to announce the appointment of Vincent McKenna and Dessie Farrell to that position in a joint capacity. Vincent is a native of Celbridge from where he graduated to League of Ireland. In more recent years he was a very successful player manager of Celbridge Town who gained many honours under his expert guidance. He feels that this will be a new challenge to him and while we do not anticipate overnight success we do look forward to the future with great anticipation. Dessie Farrell needs no introduction. A native of Maynooth he spent many years with us before his short sojourn with Palmerstown Rangers. He is now welcomed back into the fold and is determined that Maynooth will once again be a force to be reckoned with.

Pre-season training will have already commenced and if you haven't yet made an appearance at some of the sessions now is the time to do so as time is running out.

MAYNOOTH TOWN A.F.C.

In previous issue it was stated that Martin McTernan and Colm Feeney would be looking after second team affairs. This should of course have read Colm Feehan. This was all brought about by a typographical error probably caused by the exertions of the previous nights activities involving Ireland and Romania. Colm Feeney is a former stalwart of the club but probably feels that he is not ready yet to go into football management. Apologies to both Colms.

Our Annual Dinner was held on 22nd June when we had the usual band of die hard supporters who support us in such great numbers. This is the night when players wait with bated breath for the player of the year announcements. Liam Farrelly selected Gerry Thompson as his first team player of the year while Martin McTernan was the choice of manager and Colm Feehan as second team player of the year. The awards were presented by John and Eithne Carey to whom we are extremely grateful for their continued generous sponsorship of those awards.

A feature of the evening was our 21st birthday cake which was enjoyed by all and sundry. A special word of thanks to the Elite Confectionery for their generous donation towards the cost of the cake. We would like to thank all the following for sponsorship and prizes donated for the night:-

John and Eithne Carey, Elite Confectionery, Brady's Clock House, Leinster Arms, Roost, McNamaras, Sports Locker, Michelle & Eileen, P.J. Wallace, Clane.

We would like to thank the management of the Roost for their recent generous donation of a football to our schoolboys section. This gesture is greatly appreciated. The club extends best wishes for the future to club player Gerry Treacy on his recent marriage to Regina Victory.

Our seven-a-side tournament is now nearing completion with results and details in next issue.

The club scored a minor success during Community Week when the club Chariot scored a success in the Chariot Race. Our Chariot which was crewed by John Saults and Lenny Murphy completed the course in a winning time of 42 seconds. It is hoped that with further training we can reduce this time considerably.

G.A.A. NOTES

The fourth of our club members' monthly draws was held in Brady's Bar on Saturday night 21st July. The following is a list of prize winners:-

Draw Results

1st - £3,000 Ticket No. 1138, Maura Adderely, 105, Rail Park, Maynooth.

2nd - £500 Ticket No. 163 Birchell Coachs, Barrogstown, Maynooth.

3rd - 2 Mountain Bikes Ticket No. 84 or £400 Johney Mulvihill, Telephone Exchange, Rathmines

4th - £150 Ticket No. 437
Josie Murphy, 13 Leinster Cottages, Maynooth.

5th 2 tickets Ticket No. 331 for hurling final John Greene, 48 Carton Court, Maynooth.

Next Draw Caulfield's, Friday 24th August

There is some disappointment felt by club members and players at the lack of competition and the few games played this season. This however is not the fault of the club, but is the result of a decision taken at County Board Level to prolong the competitions.

With the Tom Flood Cup and other tournaments coming up we should be able to provide games for our players each week in the future. Our minor team was beaten in the championship but they continue to play good football and if they are looked after and well coached they will go on to better things in future years.

Michael Caden, P.R.O.

INTER ESTATE GOLF

The Community Council intend holding an Inter Estate Golfing Competition in September. It is hoped to run the event over a weekend (Sat./Sun.). budding players should begin practising now. Moyglare Golf Course is probably the best location. More news later.

Due to increasing costs of production the Newsletter will be raised in price from the humble forty pence it now costs to a meagre fifty pence from September 1990 onwards.

Summer Project 1990 got off to a great start on registration day. People using the Harbour Road could not figure out what the big queues were for, as the mums, dads and children got into line to book for the Project and also to book on all the trips.

The committee was congratulated on numerous occasions on the orderly fashion in which registrations and bookings were carried out. We resorted to the queue by ticket fashion as is seen in so many places, and this worked perfectly and nobody was disappointed. The only disappointment on the Project this year is no camp. There are not enough committee members available this year for the August Weekend, and therefore it is not possible to organise a camp. But there is always next year. Most Projects only last two weeks but Maynooth's last four weeks and this means we have to have a very big committee to see it through and also to

A.G.M. is announced we would like to see double what we have at the moment. Our new members this year turned out for all events and our grateful thanks to them for that and giving so generously of their time for the enjoyment of the children of Maynooth. Most of our long-term leaders and committee members have now returned to work and therefore are not as free for travelling each day as they used to be. So all the signs at the moment are that we will need more people and more involvement for 1991.

At the time of going to press, the Project has been a great success. All the outings were fully booked and the Over 13's night activities are in great demand. Our disco dancing competition in Lucan brought a great lot of prizes to Maynooth. The following were winners, Sandra Brady, Michelle and Joanne Cunningham, Michael Pierce, Virginia Breslin, Meadhbh Flood, William McWeeney and Bernadette Keigher.

A great day was had by all at Bridestream, where everyone's dream came true, to be on horse back. I don't know if it was the adults or children who enjoyed the pony rides the most. Great swimming and bowling outings were enjoyed by all, as was the trip to Pine Forest. I'm still awaiting news on the over-night hike for the over 13's into the Wicklow Mountains. Hope by the next Newsletter they'll have arrived back safe and sound with all their nelpers in tow.

We would like to wish Josie Moore a speedy recovery following her operation. Take it easy this year Josie as we need you for next year.

INTER ESTATE FOOTBALL

This event was again the highlight of the Community Festival. Despite the counter attractions of the World Cup the Organising Committee managed to arrange the matches to suit all the teams. This was helped in no small way through the trojan efforts of Christina Saults and her fellow workers in the Community Council Office. The membes of the Organising Committee were: Denis McDermott, Padraig Kearney, Peter Holland, John McGinley.

In addition many thanks to our two referees Lennie Murphy and Michael Hegarty, Willie Saults, John Saults and Tom Dempsey for marking the pitch (along with Lennie) and last but not least Francis Kearney for washing the bibs and ironing them (front and back). The new bibs were sponsored by CPL Main St., and Leslie Slevin Motors - thank you very much for both of them.

The Men's Competition

Nine Men's teams participated in two leagues:

- Maynooth Park, Laurence Ave/Rail Park Estate, Moyglare Village and The Crescent.
- 2. Kingsbry, Carton Court, Greenfield Drive, Beaufield and The Town.

The Crescent, LaurenceAve./Rail Park, Kingsbry and Carton Court won through to the semi finals. The Kingsbry V Laurence Ave./Rail Park, semi final was a real cliff hanger, going into extra time and a penalty shoot-out before Kingsbry won on the last kick of the ball. The other semi final between Carton Court and Laurence Ave./Rail Park saw the latter overwhelm the favourite even though they were without their star player, Tom Purcell, following his car accident. It's good to see you up and well again Tom.

The final on Sunday 8th was a bit of an anti climax with both teams obviously showing the effects of the previous week's exertions. It was a good clean hard fought match with Kingsbry winning with the only goal of the game. The Chairperson presented the cup, (sponsored by Sean Donovan) to the Kingsbry captain Mick Gahon afterwards.

The Women's competition:

The women's competition attracted 8 teams and they took part in 2 leagues:

- 1. Maynooth Park, College Green/Cluain Aoibhinn, The Town and Kingsbry.
- 2. Greenfield Drive, Ballygoran, Carton Court and Greenfields.

Maynooth Park, the Town, Carton Court and Greenfields won through to the semi final. Carton Court beat the Town in the first semi final. Great praise is due to Denis McDermott, Carton Court's manager who has worked wonders with this team. The Town were fancied going into the match but it is possible that they peaked too soon. Greenfields beat Maynooth Park in the second semi final. The well drilled Greenfields team were too good for a game against Maynooth Park team. It would appear to the casual observer that maybe the Maynooth Park Manager Peter Holland over coached his team and this is what led to their downfall.

Sunday's final saw a brilliant Greenfields team finally wear down a brave Carton Court 7. Johnny 'Beckenbauer' Thompson, the Greenfields Manager, has now completed the double. It is rumoured that he has already started rebuilding the team following the imminent sale of two of his star players to College Green.

The cup sponsored by Tom Geraghty was presented afterwards by the Chairperson of the Community Council, John McGinley, to Michelle Farrell, captain of the winning team.

The whole event showed community spirit at its best. One incident for me speaks for the whole tournament. The 29th June was a wet Friday evening and the Haren family were starting their holidays. Yet May Haren showed up at the Harbour Field at 8 p.m. to play for Greenfield Drive. Well done May.

John McGinley, Chairperson.

P.S. Sad note - The men's football was stolen from the Harbour Field on Thursday evening 28th June during the women's match. We would appreciate if it was returned to the Community Council Office - otherwise it will cost us £50 to replace it.

Meanwhile, not a single concrete block remains unshattered:

in their competition in September. Our thanks to Jim Fleming for looking after our Squad and all the other swimmers at the County Final.

Our Volleyball boys' and girls' teams were beaten in the County Finals, but there is always next year to come back and regain our title. Again thanks to Volleyball Manager Bernie O'Shea for looking after the team. She spent months on the road opening and closing halls to facilitate practices for the teams and to Matthew Doran who coached the team to the finals.

Congratulations to our girls soccer team who were gold medal winners in the county.

This was a great match and a great suprise for Maynooth as it's the first time that we have entered a girls soccer team in the County Finals. So watch out lads! Our thanks again here to Manager Louise Boyce and her helper Francis Kearney who gave of their time to train the team. We feel it's something that should be ongoing during the year as there is such an interest in it.

Our next results will be from the National Finals in Mosney.

MAYNOOTH SWIMMING CLUB

SPLASH NEWS

Our A.G.M. was held on 21st June in the Boy's National School. The attendance of just six people was more than disappointing to say the least, considering that the club has a membership of approx. 120 children. One wonders where the parents of all these children are. Never-the-less we managed to form a new committee on the night, even with such a small turn out. The committee is as follows; Chairperson:

- Gretta Keogh - 6286604. Secretary:
- Mary Healy - 6286942. Treasurer:
- Gretta Keogh - 6286604. Assistant Treasurer:
- Ann Gallagher. P.R.O.:- Sheila Fleming - 6286475.

Our grateful appreciation to Francis Callaghan (outgoing treasurer) for all her hard work during the past two years. Thanks also to our 3 instructors and the faithful few who do the buses each week.

The last swim of the final term was held on June 23rd and it was our annual Gala Swim. It was a great sucess and enjoyed by all the children. Each participant received a medal and special treat. We have a break now due to the summer holidays and return again in September when we hope to welcome back all our members.

The club now has vacancies for new members and if your child is interested in learning how to swim please contact the secretary Mary Healy (6286942) to secure a place for September. Children must be over 4 years of age. The club would also be happy to welcome children who already know how to swim and who would like to be part of our club. Looking forward to seeing you all in September.

Happy holidays.

Sheila Fleming. P.R.O.

GOING TO COLLEGE

August is a cruel month for leaving certificate students, and for their parents. Anyone who has observed their heroic efforts to master the vagaries of the higher education system, and intricacies of points, can only sympathise. However, getting a foot in the door to higher education is literally only the first step. All around the country there are parents facing sons and daughters who have achieved their cherished points, after many hours of hard work, only to add up the sums, to find that there just isn't the money to send a child through college.

Sources estimate that it can cost as much as £4000 per annum to survive at a college away from home. How many families with one earner and a number of dependent children can afford that? The grants system is totally inadequate and must be overhauled. If the Minister for Education really wants to know why more pupils from working class backgrounds are not making their way to third level education, she should look at what it costs, and what these families earn, and then draw her own conclusions.

FAILURE RATES

With a University on our doorstep, it is difficult not to notice that the return to college started a little earlier for a lot more students this year. There is a consensus that failure rates in the summer examinations in the College were high this year. As official statistics are not released, it is not possible to verify this impression, nor is it possible to compare it with previous years. This seems to be a common phenomenon, as the Students Union in UCD suggests that almost half of the students in some courses are repeating their examinations in Autumn. This seems to be an unsatisfactory situation. These students are all highly qualified at entry level - what is happening to them in the intervening year? Is it the teaching, are the students reacting against the strain of studying for the leaving, or are they just not prepared by secondary school for what awaits them in University? Failure at examinations is traumatic enough, although the majority pass at their second attempt. Nevertheless, having to study during the summer wrecks the chances of students to earn some much needed money to keep them going during term time. The College should be making more efforts to find out what is going wrong.

ACCIDENTS

Road accident statistics published recently show that Co. Kildare had a relatively high proportion of road accidents, with 1.8 accidents per 1000 population, and 5.3 per 1,000 registered vehicles this compared with 1.3 per 1000 population in Ireland overall, a disturbing statistic is the rise in the numbers of cyclists killed, reversing a decline in recent years. Maynooth must have among the highest volume of cyclists and pedestrians in Kildare, and many of these are at risk. A road safety campaign is to be launched in October. However, with the mass exodus back to school and college, and the darker evenings, some attention now to reflector strips, lights and the development of good road habits in September would pay dividends.

PRICE RISE

Due to rising costs and the need to provide additional equipment, it is now necessary to raise the price of the Newsletter to a modest fifty pence.

Laragh, Maynooth, Co, Kildare.

Dear Editor,

In August 1990 edition of Maynooth Newsletter you published an item under "Rumour has it". This item headed M.A.D.E. UP did not reflect the truth in two ways.

 You failed to mention that materials being used by Newbridge Youth Skills Trainees were paid for by the scouts, I think this is unfair to the Scout Committee Members who raise these funds.

2. The M.A.D.E. Centre is currently the base of Maynooth Boy Scouts. This implies that the Scouts are guests of M.A.D.E, and is therefore incorrect.

We are at present appointing a PRO and hope to be able to contribute to the Newsletter in the future.

Regards and best wishes.

Yours in scouting, L. Muldówney Unit Leader

TOWN COMMISSION STATUS

The Minister for the Environment has advised the Community Council that our application for Town Commission Status will have to await the outcome of the Government review on the structures and functions of Local Authorities. The review is due for completion this year.

SOCIAL EMPLOYMENT SCHEME WORKERS FOR MAINTENANCE OF MAYNOOTH PUBLIC AREAS

Due to great difficulty in getting adults over 25 years of age to apply for these positions, the Community Council has asked Mr. John Carrick, County Engineer to consider using 16 to 25 year olds under the FAS Community Youth Training Programme.

We have no shortage of such young people who would welcome the opportunity to contribute to improving the appearanace of our town.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

While I have absolutely no desire to see my name in print, nevertheless, I feel I should endeavour to satisfy the professed curiosity of Peig Lynch, as it would appear from her letter in your August issue that she feels responsible for the welfare of the people living on Lawrence Ave. My personal view is that writing letters to newspapers and magazines is a cop out. As the person responsible for fixing the KEEP OFF GRASS signs on Lawrence Ave., I much prefer to do something practical and positive in my spare time, and the evidence for this claim can be seen on Lawrence Ave.

Ms. Lynch's assertion that the signs were erected to prevent children from playing on the grassed areas is so ludicrous as to be hardly worthy of comment, especially when one remembers that the fence between Lawrence Ave. and Celbridge Road was erected by the people of Lawrence Ave. at their own expense in order to make the grassed areas a safer place for children to play. The writer is both happy and proud of having been associated with that project.

I thoroughly agree with Ms. Lynch when she refers to the friendliness of the people of Lawrence Ave., but I would go further and point out that they are an intelligent and caring people, fully capable of looking after their own affairs.

I am sure the two young males (not from Lawrence Ave.) who, under the cover of darkness, vandalised the area by tearing down the signs in question, smashing them up and scattering them around, and who removed some bushes, which had been placed to protect fresh grass seed, and spread them on the Celbridge Road causing a serious hazard to motorists and others will be much encouraged and consoled by Ms. Lynch's letter.

M. Gargan, Lawrence Avenue.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL NOTES FOR NEWSLETTER

THE 'THING' IN THE SQUARE

John McGinley has asked the E.S.B. to consider using an alternative location for their sub-station which is part of the existing toilet block building. Kildare County Council has agreed that the building should be demolished but they point to two costs in doing so:

- a) £8,000 to demolish the building.
- b) An undisclosed cost to relocate the ESB station,

It is possible that the E.S.B. will only look for a nominal amount as their contribution towards our environment. However, Kildare County Council says that the Community must meet the cost of demolition. Anyone got any brilliant ideas?

We have asked the 1916 Commemoration Committee to consider becoming involved in deciding whatever replaces 'The Things'! Next year is the 75th anniversary of the Easter Rising. When this committee was set up in 1966 it was their objective to commemorate the rising with something suitable in the Square. ('The Thing' was not there at the time).

What about a vandal proof fountain with facilities for St. Mary's Brass and Reed Band to perform as a replacement for 'The Thing'.

CHRISTMAS TREE

No we have not gone mad. We have good news. We are delighted to announce that Edward Kavanagh, Manor Mills has offered to supply and erect a Christmas Tree in Maynooth cach year as a contribution towards social events and amenities of the town.

The Community Council has erected a small Christmas Tree on top of the public toilet building for the last 6 years. However, this location is no longer appropriate now that it is Kildare County Council policy to demolish the building.

We would welcome suggestions on a suitable location for this year's Christmas Tree from our readers.

Again we would like to thank Edward Kavanagh, Manor Mills for their very kind offer.

EYE HEAR

LOCAL HISTORIAN IN LEIXLIP

Eye Hear that local historian, Gerald Nelson, despite his Maynooth origins has ventured into print with an excellent history of Leixlip. This is a fascinating, if all too brief attempt to provide the curious passer by with answers to many questions about the development of Leixlip, For instance, not many commuters crossing the Liffey Bridge will be aware that the interesting stone building seemingly hanging off the bridge on the left was in fact the Toll House, which was used for collecting tolls in the eighteenth century (some things never change!). The building predates the bridge which was built in 1734, while the top storey was completed after the bridge was built.

Early nineteenth century commuters could take the 9.30 passage boat from Clonsilla, and arrive at the Rye Aqueduct at 9.55 - with the introduction of more stations on the Maynooth line, the train journey between the same points will be just as long!

Gerry is now in London, where we hope he is working on a sequel which will look at the history of Maynooth.

FESTIVAL OF FLOWERS

Belated congratulations to Maynooth flower arrangers whose work was prominent among the many unusual displays at the Flower Festival held in the College in June. This festival is organised by the Association of Irish Flower Arrangers, which represents eighty five clubs in Ireland. Every two years, the Association adopts a national charity and holds fund raising events, including a Flower Festival in aid of the chosen charity. This year, the event, which attracted many thousands of visitors from all over Ireland, was held in aid of the Irish Kidney Association.

The cloisters and the Refectory in the College were bedecked with the most extraordinary creations, composed of flowers, twigs, bits of glass and other unlikely items. Based around themes, such as the Famine (two rotten spuds, a spadeful of earth and some old sacks), our bogs (two ricks of turf), biblical studies (lilies), the exhibits certainly left an impression on this reporter.

Congratulations to all concerned and particularly to local winners in the National Competition.

Thanks Frank!

The following extract is taken from an expose of the new wave of mahogany and brass which is washing out the Red flock wall paper, formica tables, and leatherette upholstering of our favour watering holes. Frank MacDonald of the Irish Times found the Roost to be a stunning experience and placed a full colour spread of photographs of the interior in the Weekend Suppliment. Now, at last Maynooth is on the map!

"Where classical kitsch rules the Roost"

"Perhaps the most startling pub refurbishment in the country has been carried out at Cassidy's Roost, in Maynooth. Classical statues recently erected on the otherwise unremarkable facade give a hint of what is in store, but nothing could really prepare the visitor for the plethora of columns, capitals and cornices, urns, niches and medallions, Grecian wall panels and Roman busts, reclining Baroque cherubs with painted toenails and medieval-style candelabra from some baronial hall. The floor is marble, the ceiling mottled purple and its centrepiece is a clerestory-style hexagonal lantern in (what else?) stained glass. There is also a digital Victorian cash register.

With all that marble and bar stools in striped pink, black and grey, it looks more like an ice cream parlour than a pub, but it's so outrageously over-the-top that it transcends mere kitsch to become an amusing exercise in tongue-in-cheek classicism. Some of it is real, too, especially the pillared dome of what must have been a tabernacle and the bits and pieces of marble communion rail which serve as a sort of reredos behind the bar. Indeed, it is probably the unforeseen legacy of our devotion to Vatican II that such discarded church fittings end up being re-used as decorative features in a public house - and in Maynooth, of all places.

Public piety, Irish style?"

Could this be why Caulfields have started an image change,

RAILWAY BLUES

The recent increase in the number of stations on the Maynooth line is a good example of good news/bad news. Good for those living near the new stations, bad for Maynooth commuters. When the line was reopened for commuter traffic on December 1st 1981, the journey time was around 35 minutes, now, it takes 45 minutes. If there are any more stations, and if the lines aren't upgraded, there will be no time advantage in taking the train from Maynooth anymore!

AROMATHER-APY

Aromatherapy - a relatively new word to the Irish alternative health scene, and one that is perhaps misunderstood due to its association with fragrance and beauty. Aromatherapy is not simply a therapy using fragrances, it is a true holistic health therapy taking into account the mind and body. The therapy bears little relation to beauty treatment, though it is an inevitable consequence of the therapy that the condition of the skin will be improved, sometimes dramatically.

Basically, aromatherapy is a therapy using the powers of healing contained within essential oils. These are highly aromatic essences extracted from various plants from all over the world. Many of you would have heard of i.e. Juniper, Lemon, Mandarin, Rosemary, Jasmine, Frankincense and Myrrh. The use of these extracts is believed to be as old as history itself. Early people would have learned that the use of certain roots and berries would cure certain illnesses and from there, the practise of extracting a more concentrated and therefore more potent substance would have grown. From ancient times up to today, the use of "healing oils" has been mentioned in books and manuscripts, and all these practices from all over the world have been brought together into what we know today as the practise of aromatherapy.

The body absorbs the oils in a number of ways, through massage, inhalation, baths and compresses. Each oil has qualities peculiar to itself and some which overlap with other oils. They act not only in a physical way but also on the psyche, some having uplifting, stimulating qualities and others having leveling calming effects.

Sceptics may scoff at the idea of essential oils having this effect but they need only consider the effects of tobacco and glue sniffing to understand the way in which inhalations affect us. Some will suggest that oils could have little effect when massaged into the skin, yet medical science is now beginning to administer drugs using specially impregnated plasters applied to the surface of the skin.

A visit to an aromatherapist will normally last about two hours. A case history will be taken and inquiries made into the patient's lifestyle, emotional condition and diet. A mix of essential oils appropriate to the patient will then be blended and massaged into the patient's skin. Some people think they may be embarrassed at the prospect but it is important to stress that the patient's modesty is preserved at all times by the dexterous use of towels.

Aromatherapy as a holistic health care treatment is appropriate for almost everyone, from children right through to pensioners. Many disorders respond well to aromatherapy ranging from simple muscular problems through to respiratory problems, menstrual problems, arthritis and rheumatism, sinus and skin problems and general stress, the root of many of today's illnesses. One thing to remember though is that you don't have to be ill to attend an aromatherapist. A treatment is a very enjoyable way of relaxing and boosting the body, thereby increasing the body's own inate ability to look after itself. The more you look after your body, the better able it is to look after you.

BAND BULLETIN

The holidays are over for another year and its now back to business once again. Two items occupying most of our attention at the moment are our classes and fund raising. At the time of writing dates for the classes have not yet been finalised but notices will appear in Sean Donovans, Barry's and the Supermarket as soon as dates have been arranged.

Fund raising for our new uniform is an ongoing priority and we hope to boost the fund with our annual Flag Week-End on 7th, 8th, 9th of September, a race night in the Hitchin Post in October and a 60's night at the same venue in December. If these functions prove successful we would hope to be a long way towards meeting our target for unveiling the uniforms on 17th March 1991. We hope we can count on all our loyal supporters to help us meet this target.

See you all in October.

During the last week of August, eighteen of the elderly people of Maynooth spent a week at Kerdiffstown House, the St. Vincent de Paul holiday centre. We are sure that, as always, they are having a wonderful time.

Our morning sessions resume on Tuesday 11th September and Thursday 13th September at 10.30a.m. in the I.C.A. Hall. The next meeting of the committee will be held on 4th September.

Our very best wishes to Mrs Kenny whose 80th Birthday was this month and our heart felt sympathy to her on the death of her daughter Mary Redmond. We extend our sympathy also to the rest of the family.

We are very glad that Josie Moore is progressing well after her operation and send our best wishes for a speedy and complete recovery.

RIGHTS COLUMN

Q. When we renewed our Hospital Services Card recently we were told that our son aged 17 was no longer covered by our card. We are very concerned about this. He has completed his schooling and is looking for work. Would he be eligible for a Medical Card of his own Hospital Services Card?

A. A person over the age of sixteen years can apply for a Medical Card. However, as your son has no income he would be regarded as a dependant and would generally only be eligible for a Medical Card if the family has one.

If he had even a small income in his own right, perhaps from a job or if he was eligible for a social welfare payment, he wouldn't be regarded as dependant and could generally qualify for a Medical Card.

Some Health Boards will issue a Hospital Services Card if the parents have one or if the school confirms that he was a full-time student there, from April 1989 to April 1990. There is a form for this purpose which should be stamped by the school. The school secretaries would still be working even though the schools are closed and they could stamp the form. As the position can vary from one Health Board to another you should check with your own Health Board to see what operates in your particular area.

OPENING HOURS Wed, 10 - 12 p.m. Thurs. 7 - 8 p.m. Fri. 10 - 12 noon and 2 - 4 p.m.

MAYNOOTH WORKERS' PARTY NOTES

DUBLIN TRANSPORTATION STUDY

Kildare Workers' Party has made a submission to the Dublin Transportation study, highlighting the importance of public transport, and expressing opposition to toll roads. This study is to make proposals for the future transport needs of the Greater Dublin Region, including North Kildare.

Among the specific proposals in the submission are a dual track on the Clonsilla-Maynooth stretch of the Sligo-Dublin rail line, better signalling equipment and rolling stock, and improved facilities for the disabled. The plan also recommends a new commuter service on the Dublin-Newbridge line, including a station at Hazelhatch to serve Celbridge. Feeder buses to rail stations in the area are also proposed.

The submission calls for higher levels of subsidy for bus services in the Dublin area. Only twenty per cent of the cost of these services is paid for by public subsidy, compared with norms of around seventy per cent in comparable European cities. Investment in roads does not represent the most effective long-term solution to the problems of urban traffic. Most European cities have accepted that the only answer is a cheap, efficient and reliable public transport system. Dublin's buses cannot provide such a service because of the amount of private vehicles clogging up the roads. The success of the DART shows that people will readily abandon their cars if a good alternative is provided.

The Workers' Party document vigorously opposes the idea of charging tolls on the proposed Leixlip/Maynooth bypass road. Tolls discriminate against the least welloff, will unnecessarily divert a lot of traffic (especially regular commuters) from using the new road, and represent too narrow a view of just who will benefit from the road, according to the submission. Because the community at large will benefit from the by-pass, it should be paid for from general taxation.

The submission calls for better car parking facilities in the towns of North Kildare, seeks more investment in pedestrian facilities, especially footpaths, and proposes a special cycle lane on the link road from Maynooth to the proposed bypass. A direct link between the Dunboyne road and the Maynooth by-pass which would avoid Maynooth town centre is also sought. Further information on the submission can be obtained from Commissioner Catherine Murphy, at 6244903.

EDUCATION FOR ALL?

The Minister for Education's initiative in reducing the honours requirement for eligibility for Higher Education Grants is to be welcomed. However, this may prove an empty gesture, as most parents and school leavers will be aware. The points spiral has long made it impossible for anyone with just two honours to find a place in University. The Minister should now tackle the income limits for award of grants, which are unrealistically low, The number of places at third level must be expanded, otherwise tinkering with the regulations remains a cosmetic exer-

HERE'S TO YOU MRS. ROBINSON!

The Workers' Party is supporting Mary Robinson as candidate in the presidential elections due this autumn. The Party will jointly nominate her with the Labour Party and other members of the Oireachtas, who are supporting her presidency. Party president, Proinnsias de Rossa has said that the contest will open up the possibility of a national debate on contemporary political values and the direction in which Irish society should move as we approach the twenty-first

Mary Robinson is a person who enjoys the respect, not just of the Workers' Party, and others on the left, but a broad spectrum of Irish society. She has fought a continuing battle against discrimination and injustices through her work as an eminent lawyer in the courts and as a member of the Seanad.

PEDAL CYCLES (Road Safety and Prevention of Thefts)

The purpose of this article is not to forecast gloom but the reality is that the long dark evenings of the Autumn will gradually be stealing up on us so once more vigilence is called for by pedal cycle users, both adults and children. Unfortunately despite previous warnings its not unusual to see cyclists in dark coloured clothing with no lighting travelling around Maynooth. Not alone are such cyclists a danger to themselves but they create nightmares for motorists who cannot see them.

Here are the lighting requirements for Pedal Cycles during the hours of darkness:

- 1. One front lamp.
- 2. One rear red light.
- 3. One rear reflector.

Sam Browne type reflectorised belts worn help to make cyclists clearly visible. Check roadworthiness of your own and your child's pedal cycle in respect of brakes, tyres etc. Care and attention in this area is vital to prevent serious accidents. Garda attention will shortly be focussed on pedal cycle users especially with the commencement of the school year. However we stress responsibility in respect of the issues raised above is much preferred to waiting on the Gardai to detect irregularities.

LARCENY OF PEDAL CYCLES

This is a very common problem in the Maynooth area; so be forewarned. Owners note the Serial No. of your cycle and keep it in a record that's safe and can be found; never leave a bicycle unattended without applying a solid locking devise. (Purchase a good quality lock don't rely on a cheap item which can be easily broken by would be cycle thieves).

HOUSE HOLDERS BEWARE

You probably have heard it all before but we feel this advice cannot be repeated too often. Burglars are always active and they do not give advance warning of their impending visits. The following hints may be of assistance.

- Secure your home and property adequately; lock all doors and windows.
- Do not leave a calling card, i.e. milk bottles accumulating, letters piling up inside door or curtains drawn etc.
- Alert reliable neighbour and the local Gardai of your absence.

4. Be vigilent and alert yourself; anything suspicious you see in your area, either people or vehicles etc., contact your local Gardai. Confidentiality is assured by us and all information is treated in the strictest confidence. Where Neighbourhood Watch is in operation liaise with your Street or Area Co-ordinator. We hope to endeavour to further spread this scheme to all areas in Maynooth in the future and revitalise schemes already set up.

 Never hesitate to dial 999; get accurate descriptions and in case of motor vehicles, Reg. No., make and colour.

6. Be wary of people calling to your home offering a service or indeed articles or goods for sale; be firm and demand identification and fully satisfy yourself as to their genuiness; don't hesitate to turn such people away if doubtfull and of course contact the Gardai.

Use only reputable people to carry out any work or repairs,

8. Where possible fit an alarm. If you have an alarm notify us (the Gardai) of the Keyholder. Alarms can be a cause of extreme annoyance to neighbours when activated and not turned off. Finally don't ever hesitate to call the Gardai - With a Patrol Car attached to the local Station a quick response is assured. Thank You.

Your local Gardai.

BY CELBRIDGE CAMERA CLUB

Readers in Maynooth may be interested to know that a ceremony on 26th July in the National Library, Celbridge Camera Club launched "The Celbridge Album", A copy of the Album was presented to Ms. Pat Donlan, Director of the National Library by Mr. Dallas Camier, outgong Chairman of the club. The Album will be achieved by the National Library and will be available for inspection by the public. In fact, RTE were so impressed with the Record that they devoted staff, cameraman, soundman etc., to do a special short documentary on the production of the Record and I am pleased to say that details were shown on the 9.00 News on Saturday 28th July,

A PHOTGRAPHIC RECORD OF CELBRIDGE

The Album is a unique photographic record consisting of over 150 photographs of Celbridge town and environs including over 30 aerial photographs and some photographs of Celbridge in years gone by. The Record covers all areas of importance in the town, including general views of the streetscape, the housing estates, local architectural features, amenity areas, aspects of life, human interest and areas such as the schools, churches, shopping centres etc. This is thought to be the first Album of its kind ever produced by a voluntary organisation for a community.

The members of Celbridge Camera Club, with the kind sponsorship of some of the major businesses in Celbridge, including the principal sponsor Telemecanique and Abbey Farm Developments, Allied Irish Banks, Spectra Laboratories and AGFA Gaevert Ltd. carried out the photography for the Record during the months of April and May.

A number of Albums were produced and at a reception on 27 July in the Celbridge Branch Library, copies were presented to:- Celbridge Branch Libary, St. Wolstan's Secondary Sc. 31, The Salesian College and each of the four Primary Schools in Celbridge.

The Record will grow in importance and value over the years and it is expected that it will be in use in 50, 100 or even 200 years time. As time goes by the record will prove more and more invaluable and of immense interest and benefit to the town. Celbridge Camera Club would like to record its appreciation of the support it received from the business community in Celbridge.

Judging from the feedback from all sectors this has been a particularly worthwhile and interesting project. If any organisations in the Maynooth area are interested in producing a similar record of their town Celbridge Camera Club would be happy to give advice and assistance in the matter. After the Summer break Celbridge Camera Club re-opens for the coming year on Monday 3 September at 8.00 p.m. in the Slip Hall, Castletown Gates. For the new year an exciting and novel approach to the Club's activities is promised. The Club meets each Monday night in the Slip Hall and we look forward to meeting lots of new members during the coming season.

The Club will run an 8 week beginners course towards the middle of September for new members and anybody interested in photography. Enrolment for the Course will take place on Monday 3 and 10 September. If you are interested in photography and would like to learn more why not enrol for the course and/or join the Celbridge Camera Club. Celbridge Camera Club caters for all types of photographers from the absolute beginner to the keen amateur.

The Club now has a membership of approximately 35 people mainly from Celbridge but many from the surrounding towns of Straffan, Maynooth, Leixlip, Lucan.

For further information as regards the Club's activities and the beginners course please don't hesitate to contact either Michael Davitt at 6288904 or Mark Sedgwick at 6273476 after 7.00 p.m.

AUGUST 1990 REPORT

When you read this report one of our major projects of the year will be finsished, namely the yearly clean up in Laraghbryan Cemetery. We thank those who made an effort but largely it was left to the Maynooth Tidy Towns Committee to organise and clean up.

Earlier in the year the Committee made a decision to try and concentrate on certain areas of Maynooth.

MAYNOOTH TIDY TOWNS COMMITTEE

We decided on the following:

1. Involvement

Advertisements taken out in Maynooth Newsletter, No great response.

2. Green opposite Church

White indicators placed on green, together with flower beds.

3. Toilet Block Area

Take two strips of green out, and put in stones and planters.

We have bought 4 planters and these will be filled with trees and flowers. Bins replaced - already vandalised.

We need your help - please help Keep Maynooth Tidy.

CONTROL OF DOGS ACT

Dogs, please inform your owner that he or she is obliged by law (if they say which one, tell them it's the Control of Dogs act) to hold a dog licence, and that they can be fined up to £100 if they don't. That notice that Kildare County Council put in the letter box, and which you regret chewing to pieces, informed your humans that people who have unlicensed dogs have been prosecuted, and have had to pay their licences, in addition to their fines. A licence costs only £5 and can be bought at any Post Office. Dog wardens will be visiting premises throughout the county, in the next few weeks to check up, so please show the Newsletter to your humans, and make sure that you're fully paid up!

VIDEO REVIEW

OVERBOARD Starring: Kurt Russell and Goldie Hawn.

A story about a carpenter trying to make some money to feed his four sons and a very nasty rich lady, played by Kurt Russell and Goldie Hawn.

The carpenter is called in to make presses for Mrs Staton's wardrobe in her private yacht. He makes the presses in the wrong wood and therefore Mrs. Staton refuses to pay him. Actually she throws him and all his tools off the boat and into the water. "Dean" the carpenter wants to get revenge on her and finally does.

This story is very funny and suitable for all the family. It's quite enjoyable especially Goldie Hawn's performance. We'll worth watching.

MAYNOOTH BADMINTON CLUB

The new Badminton season will commence shortly and Maynooth Club has resumed training in preparation for what hopefully will be a very successful year. Despite the fact that Maynooth is a relatively small club in terms of numbers of teams, we have achieved a number of successes including Dublin League and Cup titles, Kildare League titles and recently the newly instigated Tallaght District League. Badminton is one of the biggest participant sports in the country, which means standards are fairly high. This makes Maynooths achievements all the more significant.

At present there are a number of vacancies, so anyone looking for an enjoyable and energetic leisure outlet should consider the game of Badminton. Apart from being a great way to exercise, badminton is great fun and matches played are usually played in a friendly sociable atmosphere, with lots of chat, tea and depending on the venue, even a postmatch pint or two.

In particular we are looking for a number of men players at the moment to make up teams for the Dublin and District League. As teams consist of four men and four women, it helps to have a fifty-fifty percentage of men and women members. However there is a Ladies League to accommodate women players in the event of a shortage of men. Maynooth likes to enter five mixed teams in various standards but consideration would be given to a sixth team if membership was sufficient. However it is possible to play as a non-team member and there is a certain amount of court time given over to nonteam games. Enquiries about membership are always welcome or pop in to the Parish Hall any Monday or Thursday night at 8.00 p.m. and see for yourself. Finally the club wishes to extend congratulatins to long serving member Francis Murphy on the occasion of her marriage to Chris Burke, also a long standing friend of the club. Hope you had a smashing time.

For further information contact Bernie Farrell PRO (6285947), Donal Hurley Chairperson (6286654) or Anne Dalton, Secretary (255584). We'll be delighted to hear from you.

Bernie Farrell, PRO.

PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN MEETING

Over 250 people attended a public meeting in Newbridge last month organised by Kildare Labour party to launch Mary Robinson's presidential campaign in the county. Mrs. Robinson has been nominated by the Labour party to contest the presidential election in November and over the past two months has been attending meetings right across the country putting forward her vision of what the presidency should be about.

The meeting in Newbridge was opened by Kildare Consitituency chairperson John McGinley who welcomed Mrs. Robinson to Kildare and assured her of the fullest support of the Labour Party in Kildare. Briefly addressing the meeting, Emmet Stagg TD, pointed out the significance of the presidential election campaign in promoting the realignment of Irish politics along left - right lines, There would be a clear choice for the electorate between the conservative politics and vested interests of the Fianna Fail/Fine Gael candidates on the one hand, and, on the other, Mary Robinson who was standing as a united Left candidate representing the interests of ordinary working people concerned about emigration, unemployment, poor public services and lack of civil liberties such as divorce.

Outlining her views on the role of the President, Mary Robinson pointed out that unlike the Taoiseach, the President was elected directly by all the people and as such must seek to represent the views of all - particularly those who were powerless in our society. She stressed that as President she would strive to be as accessible as possible to all groups in society and that she would have no interest in taking on the job if she thought it. mearely involved living in isolation in the Phoenix Park. Remarking on the large number of women attending the meeting, she said she felt that as a woman she could bring some special qualities to the role of President and looked forward to the active support of women in the forthcoming campaign. A lively question and answer session followed which saw the candidate field a wide range of questions from the large attendance.

LOCAL PROBLEMS

Deputy Stagg has made the following representations on behalf of Maynooth residents to Kildare Co. Council in the past number of weeks:

- residents in Leinster Cottages have asked that the 'Stop' sign at that location be replaced as soon as possible.

- the Council have undertaken to repaint the box junction in the Square in the near future as soon as resurfacing work in the area is completed.

- at their last meeting Kildare Co. Council agreed to meet the full cost of lighting Maynooth Castle.

- the Co. Council have been requested to see to the ponding of water in an area of Old Greenfield where surface water has been causing a nuisance.

ROYAL CANAL AMENITY GROUP NOTES

FUNDRAISING

We start this month by expressing our sincere gratitude to the people of Maynooth and District for their continued generosity during our recent flagday collection. In this regard we must also thank: the local business community for their support; the management and staff of the local public houses for permission to collect in the various premises; the management and caretaker of Maynooth Shopping Centre for permission to collect there; and our local priests for permitting us to collect after masses. The flagday was successful and on the Chairman's behalf I would like to thank the committee who worked hard to make it a success. While it is not policy to single out committee members, I think that the entire committee would agree that an exception could be made in this case in order to laud and commend the excellent work done by committee member Gerard McGlinchey, during our flagdays, despite being in constant pain from a persistent back injury. Mention must also be made of the support and assistance given to Gerard by his wife Marion and children.

SAFETY FIRST

Now that the "Royal" is reopened as an amenity and for navigation, we hope that you will avail of this amenity which you helped to restore by your support. To those who are using the amenity or will be using the amenity we can not over emphasise the need for safety along the canal and its environs.

Children should be supervised by a responsible adult at all times when in the vicinity of the waterway. In recent times a number of rafts have been launched in the canal in some cases with disasterous results, and in one case a near drowning. Again we emphasise the necessity of having an adult present with all children (big and small). Persons assembling rafts are encouraged and advised to consult the local library's collection of craft books in order to assertain the basic requirements for a serviceable raft. Children in the "Guide" and "Scout" fratemities may be able to get this information from their "handbooks" or by consulting their leaders. Remember a person can drown in as little as 2 inches of water so please exercise care along the canal and make your visit a happy, not a sad one.

CARTON GATES

Work is progressing very satisfactorily at Pike's Bridge (opposite the main gates of Carton). Heavy earth moving equipment has been moved in and the original harbour is starting to appear. Reports coming in, from the Foreman and S.E.S. team, as the clearance continues tend to suggest there will be more work involved than was evident during the initial survey. The Office of Public Works are busy examining various proposals for improving the island to benefit the swan family. Any operation of this nature will have to be effected with minimal disturbance to the swans.

BACKGROUND TO THE ROYAL CANAL AMENITY GROUP

During our recent flagday/collection it came to notice that a number of our newer inhabitants were not familiar with the background to the canal so I will finish this month with a very brief outline of the facts. The Royal canal was instigated as a result of a disagreement at a meeting of the directors of the Grand canal. A dissatisfied director stormed out vowing to build a canal in opposition to the Grand and so the "Royal" was born. The director took with him details of an alternative route which had been surveyed for the Grand Canal and this is the route that was used. The then Duke of Leinster used his power and influence to have the new canal diverted, from its original route which would have taken it through Blanchardstown and in a reasonably straight line through Clonee and Dunboyne and on to Mullingar, along his estate at Carton and through Maynooth. This necessitated the building of a huge aqueduct at Leixlip which cost a fortune at the time, and nearly sank the company. After the government intervention the canal was completed and proved financially successful for many years. The advent of rail however, took its toll and business began to fade on the canal. It enjoyed a brief revival in the ninteen forties during the war. The last commercial barge sailed and canal in 1952 and the canal was officially closed to navigation in 1961. The condition of the Canal went from bad to worse until 1976 when Dr. Ian Bath formed the Royal Canal Amenity Group to restore the canal. In 1984 the Maynooth Branch was formed and work began shortly after that. Since then the local area of the canal has been dredged, the harbour restored, the pathways cleared, walls rebuilt and a heavy duty slipway installed. On May 28th this year the stretch of canal from Blanchardstown to Mullingar was officially reopened to navigation and the inaugural boat rally on this stretch to Mullingar commenced not in Blanchardstown but in your very own town of Maynooth,

ALL IRELAND 300m FOR EMMA McCLUSKEY

The long journey to the RTC Track in Cork proved a highly rewarding one for Emma McCluskey when she had a brilliant win in the All Ireland U/14 300m. This was a just reward for hard training sessions she put in over the past few months which also saw her take silver in the same event at the Leinster Championships beaten by a Louth athlete. In Cork the same Louth athlete could only finish 6th - a clear indication of the All Ireland standard and the improvement in Emma's form between the two events because of her training committment.

The other seven finalists were 1 from Tipp., 1 from Dublin, 1 from Clare, 2 from Louth and 2 from Cork. Emma almost made it to the final of the 600m where she finished just out of the medals in 5th place.

Our junior ladies have also been active and they had to travel to Antrim Foram for their events. Our two contestants Carmel Noonan and Lisa McCluskey can always be depended upon to do well and were once again in the medals finishing 2nd and 3rd respectively in the 3000m. Carmel also competed in the 1500m finishing 5th.

At the Leinster Championships, held in June our athletes put in some fine performances. As already mentioned Emma McCluskey finished 2nd in 300m and was also 3rd in the 600m. Our walkers absolutely excelled themselves and are improving with every outing. Graham Loane took the gold medal in the U/15 and Niall Gillick the silver in the U/14. Carmel Noonan and Lisa McCluskey won gold and silver respectively in the 3000m junior while Hugh Purcell took silver in the high jump. Our other finalists were Paul Flood (7th long jump) (8th highjump), Niall Gillick (7th Javelin) both boys U/14, Brid Ann O'Shea (5th Ball throw U/9), Michelle Gillick (7th Ball throw U/11), Niall Gillick (7th ball throw U/11), Ciara Power (7th 100m U/ 12), Patricia Purcell (6th 100m U/13, 4th 300m U/13), Gillian Power (6th shot, 6th discus U/14), Fiona Redmond (6th 100m U/15, 7th shot U/15), U/13 relay team 6th (Aisling Redmond, Patricia Purcell, Tracey Kearney, Ciara Power). Also competing without making it to the finals were Karl Ennis and Conor Diggins (boys U/9), Sarah Adderley (girls U/11), John O'Shea (boys U/11), Gemma Haran (girls U/13) and Paula O'Shea (girls U/14).

prizes of 2 stereos were won one each by Margaret and Mick GIllick. Rumour has it one was placed in the driveway and the other in the back garden continuously playing "The Old Bod Road". Apparently this helped to get the turf in quicker.

In our report on the Kildare Championships the name of Niall Hanniffy was omited from the list of competitors.

The return of Danny Casey from a long holiday in Australia should be a big boost to our senior team. With four games remaining to play in the League, it is necessary to win three of these games to maintain our position in division III. It is up to all concerned with the team to make that extra effort to win these last games. Next month I will give a progress report on our club development project at Moyglare Road.

SEVEN-A-SIDE

The recent Seven-a-side tournament was an unqualified success with great competition and some excellent performances by many individuals. It is hoped that the club will reap the benefits of one efforts in a playing sense in the way of some of our players being extra sharp for the start of the New Season. A total of fifteen entries competed in the Senior section and six taking part in the under Seventeen section. The compiling of fixture sheets gave the organising committee many headaches with some of the longwinded team titles putting pressure on

New Kids on the Block was a contradiction of its title with few new faces included whilst Mama's Choirboys contained few choristers who would provide an evenings sing-a-long without resorting to the more usual strains of Noel Kearns Rock and Roll repertoire or sampling some Whiskey in the Jar, The members of Stephen Hero's typified the general attitude of teams with their excellent sports- manship and happy approach to their games.

Sportsmanship throughout the tournament was at a very high level but following the excellent behaviour of Jack's Lads in Italy there is no reason to beleive that the same level should not prevail in the local arena. Large crowds were in evidence at all fixtures which were blessed with summer weather which it totally alien to the type of weather in which our games are usually played.

In Group 'A', Mama's Choirboys, who were backed by the Kearns brothers, topped the table with the Joe O'Riordan inspired Kalm 7 a close second. In Group 'B' Top gun topped the section with full points and Lad Manager John Saults in fine form despite his own injury. The Parkheads took second place in this group and were a credit to the occupants of the famous ground which prompted their team title. Being appropriately attired for the finals day was also a tribute to their boundless enthusiasm.

Finals Day on Sunday August 5th, arrived with many an open mind as to where the final honours eventually rest. With the Harbour Field looking a picture due to the efforts of the ground staff ably led by Martin Foy and Michael Dempsey with a motley crew of John Saults, Noel Dempsey, Lenny Murphy and Tom Dempsey.

In the first Semi-Finals Mama's Choirboys finally overcame the parkheads after showing the sign of nerves in the early stages of the game. The second Semi-Final brought together Top gun and Kalm 7. Top Gun took an early lead through Michael Kelly but were eventually overhauled by the Kilbarrack Utd. strengthened, Kalm 7, who ran out winners by 3-1.

The under seventeen final paired The Crusaders against The Unpredictables. The Cursaders were mainly made up of last years under sixteen league team but were made to fight hard for victory over their opponents who were mostly from last seasons under fourteen league team. Following the presentation of Cup and Trophies to the winning Captain David O'Mahony by Chairman Tom Dempsey the pitch was taken over by the most ungainly lot of warriors one could ever hope to muster. Peter Hussey and Philip McDermott brought a new meaning to the terms dazzling footwork, exquisite pasing, midfield supremacy, excellent tackle etc. The entertainment provided during the football interval helped to bring a carnival atmosphere to the afternoons proceedings before the more serious business of deciding the Senior Winners.

The final produced a level of football which was in keeping with most other games. Competitive attitude combined with footballing skills provided excellent flare for the enthusiastic audience. Kalm 7 took control early and never let the initiative slip from their grasp and ran out easy winners. The Winning Cup called the Joseph Murphy Memorial Cup was presented by Mrs. Annie Murphy, widow of the late Joe Murphy to winning Captain Darren Moran. Following the presentation of trophies to the Winning Team and Runners-up, the usual round of Cup filling took place with much gusto.

Our activities then took us to Slims for the celebratory dance which was a most enjoyable function. The large crowd sampled the various contents of the Cup as it made several trips around the dance floor. Some say it circled the floor more often than many of our noted dancers. One cannot let the occasion pass without mentioning the unsporting attitude of a person or persons unknown who may have had "spirit" but certanly lacked it.

The evenings are drawing in, the swallows are gathering for flight on the telegraph wires and the trees in our Main St. have a tinge of gold. All these are portents of only one thing - the immanent onset of the new soccer season, and yet it seems such a short time since the World Cup euphoria of mid summer when 'The Boys in Green' fought their way through to a showdown with the Italians in the Olympic Stadium in Rome on June 30th. Disregarding all considerations of personal inconvenience and expense your intrepid sports reporter set off for the Eternal City determined to bring home to Newsletter readers a first account of most significant sporth history since Kildare

. ... century.

OLE OLE OLE

Well, as some of you may have heard the result of the match and the great personal triumph the whole event represented for our great leader Charles J. Haughey, I won't seek to bore you with the match details. What demands description is the atmosphere, Starting at Dublin airport at 4.30 a.m. on Saturday morning there was a definite air of expectancy. En route to Rome the crew of our Interflug flight were bombarded with repeated choruses of Ole Ole Ole by a crowd of Cork men who had obviously fallen out of some Leeside pub earlier in the night. Our day in Rome was spent in a desultory manner wandering in the heat through the Colloseum and the Vatican. As evening approached the goo-humoured banter between the Irish and Italian fans in the streets intensified though the level of communication rarely extended beyond the Italians shouting 'Schillacci, Schillacci' and the Irish fans responding with 'mcCarthy, McCarthy'.

We would like to thank the following: Maynooth Autos Ltd., for sponsorship of Trophies for under 17 tournament, Caulfields, Maynooth Branch Labour Party and Leinster Arms. All workers who looked after nets, balls and gear. Pitch markers and ball boys. To our tournament referees for their punctual attendance and professional attitude on match

To the family of the late Joe Murphy for their assistance in providing such an excellent memento in his honour. Pre-season training i bw in full swing and early reports are very encouraging with large attendances present at all sessions to date. The season will be in full swing by time of next issue so we look forward to a good opening with some wins to report.

The recent pre-season friendly showed that the rigorous training under Desie Farrell and Vincent McKenna is paying dividends. A defeat by 2-1 away to Postal Utd. without the services of some regular first-teamers still on holidays is an encouraging sign.

SPORTSFILE

IN THE STADIUM

The 15,000 Irish fans had taken up their positions in the stadium a good two hours before kick off and led by a thundering bodhran they sung themselves hoarse even before the teams appeared on the pitch. Kick off approached, the Roman night fell and the stadium because a circle of colour and noise. And then as the National Anthem struck up all around grown Irishmen were in tears - and that was only the Italian anthem. As the match progressed our initial fears that Baresi, Schillacci and Co. would overrun the Irish were quickly dispelled and inspired by the skill and endeavouir of Houghton, Sheedy and McGrath and confident chant - 'You'll Never Beat the Irish' - poured down from the banks of Irish supporters. Schillacci's goal, when it eventually came, momentarily stunned the fans. As a particularly articulate Dub seated beside me expressed it at the time - 'Jaysus, I'm stunned'.

THE SECOND HALF

Half time presented us with a much needed opportunity to gather our thoughts, visit the magnificently appointed loos in the stadium and prepare for the remaining 45 minutes of our Italian odyssey. As the minutes passed and the increasing inevitability of defeat loomed ever larger, the fans found solace in the glorious battling performance of McCarthy, Moran and McGrath and the comradeship on the terraces which had been forged over three sweltering weeks under the Italian sun. Crooked accountants from Dublin 4 sang in unison with tired and emotional teenagers from Coolock and sunburned housewives from Templeogue. Aldridge had a chance to equalise with ten minutes to go but it was not to be.

DEFIANT IRISH

As the final whistle went puzzled Italian fans shuffled off to do whatever Italians do late on Saturday night, leaving behind these crazy Irish, singing defiantly in adversity like a robin on the coldest January day. The dream was over but still we stood around, despite the fact that it was approaching midnight, consoling each other and loath to turn our backs onthe almost deserted stadium. It was only at this point that for many the horrible reality of home began to dawn, Irate wives, employers and bank managers would constitute the welcoming party for some of the fans - not for them the adulation that the players would experience in the crowded streets of Dublin. Our flight home was subdued but the fans couldn't resist blowing kisses to the stern and heavily armed police as we trailed through the airport. The cost blast of a typical Irish summers morning greeted us at Dublin airport but as we made our separate ways home none would forget the once in a lifetime experience that was Italia 90.

A NEW SEASON

And now another season beckons. For the players rock hard football boots are being recovered from garden sheds and the agony of pre-season training has commenced. For the thousands who turn out on muddy fields through the winter there will be no glory except that of taking part. For the fans - and every one in Maynooth seemed to be a fan for the month of June - the heady days of Italia 90 are over but let's hope they turn out in numbers to support their local teams in the coming season.

CHANGING MAYNOOTH

A short walk around the formerly quiet back roads of Maynooth will be enough to convince anyone that our small village is in the middle of another expansionist phase. With new estates springing up in every direction, and sites for sale, the inevitable effect is seen on the roads. Traffic congestion is the order of the day, for most of the days of the week, and the need for the bypass is now desperate.

There are signs however, that the bypass may be closer than we think. The County Council has confirmed that officials are trying to establish ownership of every slice of land along Straffan Road, with a view to issuing compulsory purchase orders by Christmas. The main maps showing who is to be affected will be ready by the end of October. There will be a public enquiry in march 1991, and construction of the link road will probably start in March 1992.

While a number of residents along the Straffan Road are going to be affected to a greater or lesser extent, it is in the interests of all that the bypass start as soon as possible, in order to make life bearable for those using the Main Street as anything other than a stationery car park.

In the meantime, how about placing a garda on semi-permanent point duty at the junction between Main Street and the Castle Street? Or better still, a mini roundabout.

CARTON DEMESNE

Rumours have been proliferating recently about the fate of Carton Demesne. It appears that the Gleneagles Company may be finalising plans to turn this historic amenity into an exclusive leisure park, thus denying access permanently to the average resident of Maynooth. This estate must not be destroyed through inappropriate development, and the only way to do this is through state ownership. The demesne must be preserved intact as a unique example of an eighteenth century landlord creation, and it must be open to all. Maynooth needs a park close by, especially in view of the rapid growth in house building activity seen over the last few years.

Are there any benefactors out there who would spare a few million to benefit not only the people of Maynooth, but also the many hundreds of thousands in the Dublin region?

DIRTY OLD TOWN

Well, we distinguished ourselves again in the Bord Failte Tidy Towns competition. While we received the same overall mark as last year, 109 out of a possible 250, we also came in last among the villages and towns of County Kildare.

This issue of the Newsletter contains some thought provoking reports from the judges of the Bord Failte competition, as well as from the judges of the Community Council Shop Front and Tidy Estate competitions. Each report highlights the problems of litter, and the seeming lack of co-ordinated effort between community, local authority and traders to tackle the major problem areas.

We would hope that these reports will make the more complacent among us sit up, take some notice, and take some responsibility for creating a pleasant environment in which to live. The sterling efforts of the Maynooth Tidy Towns Committee must be commended. However, it requires a concerted effort from all members of the community to achieve lasting improvement. Let us learn from what objective outsiders have to say about our town, and try to achieve some improvement for next year.

Letters to the Editor

THEY'RE BACK

While the swallows may have departed, the month of October sees the return of the students. This event may be dreaded by a number of permanent residents, especially those with young 'children living beside rented houses with enthusiastic student tenants. Yet, the vast majority of students are reasonable people, with no desire to interfere with the peace of mind of their neighbours, and indeed many students spend their time here without ever getting to know the Maynooth which lies beyond the College sphere of influence.

This month the Newsletter makes an attempt to bridge the gap between students and permanent residents. A special feature supplement is included in this issue which has been put together with the assistance of some current as well as chronic students. It is designed to warn/prepare students, particularly new students, for the pleasures and pains of life in Maynooth. It may also be of interest to the oldtimers, many of whom started life as raw undergraduates in the College themselves.

Sales and Service Tel. 01 - 259631 (24 Hours) Dear Editor.

In the previous edition of the Newsletter an article was printed with regard to Punchlines magazine. The article in question, entitled Street Wise, was a gross distortion of the facts. As Area Representative of Punch Publications, I feel compelled to get the story straight in order to clear the reputation of the head of our organisation, Mr. John Molloy. It was stated in your publication that Mr. Molloy roves Maynooth offering young people the opportunity to get-rich-quick. Firstly, I can assure you that Mr. Molloy does not rove, roam, lurk or hide in doorways waiting to pounce on unsuspecting teenagers. Secondly, I and I alone, am responsible for the recruitment of staff as this is one of my duties as Area Representative. As I am a student myself "I" hand-picked a group of reliable fellow students, in order to provide summer jobs in the locality.

Your magazine then relates a rather distorted version of an incident that occured some time ago and in which I was personally involved. The facts of this incident are as follows.

.. A friend of mine, to whom I had given a job, became unable to continue working as a result of extreme heat. Despite what your article states it was not her first day, she was not refused a lift home and certainly not fired. Mr. Molloy offered to bring her to the nearest bus-stop for Maynooth to ensure she got home safely but it would have been impossible for him to bring her to Maynooth as that would have meant abandoning the remainder of the group for a long space of time. At that point three other girls said they wished to go in order to see the first girl home. Mr. Molloy explained that she would get home safely but they demanded to leave. Both Mr. Molloy and I tried to persuade them to get back into the car as it was in their best interest and they could be brought to a bus-stop at lunch. The girls refused to do so and said that they knew exactly where to get a bus and with that, walked away from the car, taking the girl with them. For your information we all like working for Mr. Molloy; even the girl in question said after that "John is a nice boss but we just can't work in this heat . . . " Mr. Molloy is a kind, considerate and generous person and not the fiend you have made him out to be. He came to Maynooth to offer the people of the area a chance to earn good wages. Some of our sellers are earning ninety pounds take-home pay per week. It is scandalous to imply that these young people are being exploited as some of their peers are working much longer hours, in supermarkets etc, to make even half that amount.

I would suggest to you that should wish to write an article about us, in future, that it contain at least some element of fact. As for the author of Street Wise, I congratulate you on having a vivid imagination and can understand why you wish to remain anonymous.

Finally, Mr. Molloy is, at this time, seeking permanent staff as the present team are returning to school shortly. Should anyone wish to avail of a position with us they are more than welcome to telephone me at 6285 268 (between 7 and 8 p.m.) and I will gladly arrange an interview.

Community Council News

We would like to thank everyone who contributed to our flag day. This is a very important source of funding for the Community Council. It costs £5,500 per year to run the council, not a high amount when one considers that the Community Council employs and trains 14 people as well as publishing the Newsletter and giving valuable service to the community. We would therefore ask the community to continue to support future fund raising ventures such as table quizes, race nights etc.

CASTLE LIGHTS

The long awaited flood lighting of the Castle should be in place by mid October. The E.S.B. are expected to start work within the next week. The Castle project has attracted great interest from Bolton St. Technical College. A team has been doing an indept archeological survey over the last few months and will continue with this work over the next few months. Plans for the restoration of the Castle will then be drawn up based on the Bolton Street survey.

THE 'THING'

Demolition of the thing will cost £8,000. (Some people have other ideas that would cost nothing). Some way of coming up with the money will have to be found if we are to rid ourselves of this eyesore in the square.

TOURISM BROCHURE

A Maynooth Tourism Brochure prepared by 2 Community Council Workers has now been sent to Kildare Tourism who are considering printing 5,000 copies at a cost of £1,600. This will hopefully be funded by the Tourism Board and marks the first step to putting Maynooth firmly on the tourist map.

REVAMPING OF COMMUNITY COUNCIL SUB-COMMITTEES. YOUTH AFFAIRS COMMITTEE.

Since this committee cannot cater for all youth activities it has been decided to rename the committee the Community Games Committee.

SOCIAL & RECREATION COMMITTEE

This committee has over the years catered for a vast range of activities. Indeed the score of activities had grown so diverse that it has placed an almost impossible burden on the few hard working active members. It has been decided therefore that this committee be disbanded and that a number of other committees be set up by the executive as the need arises eg. Christmas Committee, St. Patrick's Day Committee, Community Week Committee etc.

TIDY TOWNS COMMITTEE

The Committee must have full time workers, to carry out the high physical tasks necessary to give Maynooth a facelift. The County Council will fund these workers. Their recruitment must be a first priority for the Committee.

TRAVELLERS COMMITTEE

This committee was set up in 1988 when the halting site was opened at the instigation of the County Social Worker. Its brief was to assist with educational needs of the travellers and to initiate liason with the various statutary and non statutary bodies which work with travellers.

The committee, via the Dept. of Education, pays for school transport and contributes 6% towards the cost. An assistant teacher is also employed by the committee under the Community Council Social Employment Scheme. When necessary committee members can and have been contacted through the Community Council Office to help sort out problems individual travellers may be experiencing. The usual procedure is to then contact appropriate bodies or persons on behalf of the travellers in order to ensure that those best able to deal with the problem do so. Other activities include visits to the halting site when necessary.

The committee is very small, composed of three active members. It is therefore not possible to move outside its original brief, (ie seeing to the educational needs of travellers) at present. Moreover, there are in the town other agencies such as the Vincent De Paul, Community Welfare Officer etc. more qualified to deal with specific needs.

SWIMMING POOL FOR MAYNOOTH - THE CURRENT POSITION?

Over the past few months a number of people have been enquiring as to the exact position regarding the provision of a swimming pool for Maynooth. The following is a brief summary of the different proposals and how they have fared:

- (i) A joint proposal from Maynooth College, the Community Council and the three schools in the town for the provision of a sports complex was to include a swimming pool. This project was to receive funding from the Department of Education or, alternatively the National Lottery. Neither were forthcoming and the proposal has been dropped.
- (ii) All householders in Maynooth were circulated with a questionaire in the summer of 1989. This was to determine whether individuals would pay £200-£300 per annum over two years to help fund a swimming pool to be attached to the Post Primary School. The response to the survey was very poor and, again, the proposal was dropped.
- (iii) This proposal sought funding from the National Lottery for a pool attached to the Post Primary School. The project has not been included in the funding for 1990. It is probably very unlikely that Lottery funds will be made available in the foreseeable future.

A figure of over £20,000 was collected in the 1970's for the provision of a swimming pool in Maynooth. This money, held in trust by the Maynooth Development Association, will be made available as soon as the pool project gets off the ground. John McGinley, Chairperson, Maynooth Community Council.

Tidy Towns Competition Report

The Newsletter has received the report of the Bord Failte Tidy Towns Competition Judges, which is published in full here. The number of marks received, 109 is the same as last year, which is the lowest score for villages and towns in County Kildare and the 10th lowest in the country. We have improved slightly in effort, presentation of natural amenities, and presentation of residential areas. We have been let down by lack of tidiness in key areas, and by the abysmal condition of approach roads. Perhaps the most distressing aspect of the judges' report is that instead of seeing some returns for the efforts of the Tidy Towns Committee over the last five years, there has instead been a consistent decline in marks.

PROGRESS REPORT

EFFORT

There is a clear need for a co-ordinated effort between community, local authority and traders to tackle the problem areas listed below. As a marked contrast, very commendable effort is being shown by residential areas.

TIDINESS

Litter is regrettably still the major problem in Maynooth and detracts particularly from the appearance of the Main Street and the toilet block area where it is especially prevalent. The exception in terms of litter was the area outside shops and houses between shopping centre and corner of Main Street, which was almost litter free - well done to the people of that area. Additional litterbins could be provided and others need repair.

PRESENTATION OF BUILDINGS

Generally, presentation of buildings on Main Street is good praiseworthy examples are Country Shop and Restaurant, J. O'Neill, Master Butcher and Caulfields (although the latter could do with a touch of fresh paint). College entrance is tidy, Presentation Convent is well kept, the Bank of Ireland is satisfactory. There are still a number of buildings which could be improved including Allied Irish Banks which is drab, as is Patrick's on the corner of the Main Street. There has been no improvement in the appearance of the toilet block which is very poor - the toilets themselves are dirty and need major improvements. On a positive note, the presentation of the Church was good, the terrace on the main street cornering onto the Dunboyne Road is attractive and a good example has been set by the owners of the grey building and superb gardens opposite St. Mary's Church.

PRESENTATION OF NATURAL AMENITIES

Open space in front of the College entrance is well kept. Canal Harbour is very appealing with attractive stonework along the Canal and also as part of seating structures. Play area outside Health Centre still an eyesore.

APPEARANCE OF APPROACH ROADS

All approach roads need much more attention to grass verges and weeds. Examples include outside GAA Club on Moyglare Road. Livestock Mart on the Dublin Road. Some residents on the Dunboyne Road have already taken the lead by maintaining weed-free footpaths outside their houses.

PRESENTATION OF RESIDENTIAL AREAS

Congratulations to the residents of the several housing developments in Maynooth for the manner in which they have kept their estates litter free, weed-free, with attractive gardens and tidy open spaces. The appearance of almost all estates, including Cluain Aoibhinn (attractive entrance) College Green, Carton Court, and Kingsbry (with the exception of the abandoned container) is good. Manor Court is another praiseworthy example. Private houses on Dunboyne and Moyglare Road were very well kept and even partially completed estates of Moyglare Village and Beaufield looked very attractive.

COMMENT

Maynooth has the potential to be a most attractive and appealing town and the adjudicator would urge that a firm approach be taken by the community leaders to eliminate the litter and other problems. A concerted effort could transform Maynooth's appearance and help the town to derive greater benefits from tourism.

Best Shop Fronts 1990

JUDGES' REPORT

Maynooth is currently experiencing a revolution in terms of commercial development. The Main Street especially is undergoing a transformation, with many residential properites being sold and converted into shops. Many of these changes represent a consolidation of the 'urban' character of the streetscape, but there continues to exist a large number of indifferent, almost squalid, shop fronts with a growing number of 'pastiche' traditional type fronts that must have serious implications for the hardwood forests of the tropics! While most of these new shopfronts are probably better than the 'plastic' types of the sixties and seventies, many are being installed willy-nilly with little regard for the overall proportions of the building. Some of them look like mass produced fronts, 'bought off the shelf' so too speak.

The new developments on the Dublin road represent a coherent group of shops in a well-preserved Victorian terrace, the signage, however could have been co-ordinated a bit more to emphasise the unity of the terrace.

The changes in Greenfield Shopping Centre represent (with the exception of the Foodstore) a highly imaginative transformation to what is now a colourful and tasteful essay in a neighbourhood shopping centre. All should be congratulated on a successful co-operative effort.

While Quinnsworth Shopping Centre will probably never fully overcome the deficiencies of the old building in which its main premises is located, there have been some improvements to its exterior, especially to the rear. Its arcade, however, represents an unacceptably low standard in terms of air quality and general cleanliness. There is an all-pervading odour of cooking oil and chips in the arcade and the concrete slab flooring is generally grimy and quite unsuitable for an indoor shopping arcade in this day and age.

Of the four shop fronts which are listed in the County Development Plan as worthy of preservation (Brady's, Caulfield's, Connolly's (ie CPL Motor Factors) and Reilly's (ie the complex around the Vegetable shop), all continue to maintain a high standard of presentation, though the hanging baskets and the barrels with the plants detract from Brady's.

As noted in past years, the Town Centre continues to suffer from a plethora of unauthorised signposts, many of them attached to the County Council signs. And the crowning glory of the Main Street must be its trees; long may they live.

BEST SHOP FRONTS

First Prize: Caulfield's for consistently maintaining its traditional high standard of sign-painting.

Second Prize: Hula Bou, for maintaining its tasteful frontage and window display.

Third Prize: Maynooth Jewellers, for imaginatively improving its shop front to brighten-up this end of the street.

Maynooth Park - one of the tidier areas in the Tidy Estate Competition

Tidy Estates

JUDGES' REPORT

This year's competition was characterised by two very encouraging trends: the first was a very dramatic improvement in some of the areas which scored lowest last year, and the second was the retention of high standards and sustained community effort on the part of others. However, despite these positive features, the residential parts of Maynooth still lack any sense of character or cohesion which could only be achieved by community effort on a scale which transcends that of the individual estate.

INDIVIDUAL ESTATES MOYGLARE VILLAGE

This estate has improved considerably as it has become more established. The principal open space to the left of the entrance is well maintained, and is helped by the retention of the mature tree. The grass verge in this area however needs more attention, as does the space to the right of the entrance. While some planting has been carried out to good effect on the open space, some of the verges are without any trees which is something which should be seen to in the near future to help the area to mature more quickly.

Driving back towards the village from Moyglare one is struck by the very poor state of the road and the total lack of cohesion along this stretch with lengths of footpath going nowhere and lines of walls coming to an abrupt end. Until these problems are tackled, Moyglare Village will not look its best.

LEINSTER COTTAGES

This area comprises very attractive terraces of cottages which has maintained its high standards as far as the individual houses are concerned. However the park is still in a sorry state of neglect, while the roadway at the entrance to the park is very untidy with a profusion of weeds growing through the surface. The same problem is very much in evidence across the road along by the rear of the main street premises and in the side alleys.

Caulfield's Pub, which won the Best Shop Front, first prize.

This was probably the most untidy estate visited, with no evidence of any effort to clean up the estate or maintain the public areas.

The apparent lack of any commitment by the local authority to the Old Greenfield area as a whole must leave very little incentive for the local community to make any effort and at the very least makes their task a much harder one than that of any of the other housing estates visited.

COLLEGE GREEN

The open space at the entrance is well maintained creating a good impression. Individual houses are for the most part quite good but kerbsides are poor and many of the trees are in need of attention. Further effort is also required on the open space to the rear of the estate. With some additional community effort this estate could be much improved.

CLUAN AOIBHINN

Once again the overall impression is one of the sustained community effort. The entrance to the estate is most impressive with extensive flowers and shrubs and a very attractive nameplate. Most of the houses were well kept, and despite the existence of the inevitable few which have failed to make an effort, the overall effect is such that their impact is much less noticeable than elsewhere.

BEAUFIELD

While Beaufield showed some improvement over last year much more needs to be done. The houses as one would expect are well maintained and some of the front gardens are very impressive but others require further more effort. The nameplate is overgrown - some planting around it would make such a difference. The green space has been well maintained but the kerbs and verges could be better. Very possibly greater improvement will be in evidence when building work is completed.

PARSON STREET

This is a very pleasant cohesive unit of well maintained terraced houses. While there are a number of weeds at the road edge the surface in this area is very poor thus making kerb maintenance difficult.

PARSON LODGE

This is a small group of recently constructed houses off Parson Street. While it is still unfinished, some detracting features are in evidence: a very poorly surfaced open space with unsuitable wall planting, and some dead trees which should be replaced.

Tuesday 11th September last marked a further milestone in St. Mary's Band with the meeting in connection with the new music classes. For obvious reasons, this is an event which occurs only every three or four years and as the 1986 class are now fully fledged members of the Band we can now devote our time and resources to the next group of boys and girls who have waited patiently for the new classes.

We were extremely happy with the number of parents and children who attended the first night and we hope that their enthusiasm will continue through the early and most difficult stages of the learning process. Rome was not built in a day but with the right mixture of patience and ability it won't be too long before these budding musicians join the ranks of boys and girls who are testimony to what these qualities can produce.

The other big event last month was our flag week-end and I am happy to report that it has been the most successful for years. A combination of fine weather, the new one pound coin and the utter goodwill of the people helped to smooth the wrinkles which have been a feature of the Treasurer's brow for the past few months and needless to say the old bank manager now looks an awful lot happier as well. Seriously though, it takes a great deal of money to cover the running costs of the Band each year and we are indeed most grateful for all the help given by the people of Maynooth. There are many willing labourers on the Band Committee but without the where with all to do it all our task would be all the more difficult and perhaps we would not have the strong tradition of a band in Maynooth.

For our Flag week-end your contributions yielded no return but on Friday 9th November we shall be giving you a chance to get something for your money when we organise a race night in the Leinster Arms on Friday October. In addition to having a flutter on your fancy you can if you wish sponsor a horse, a jockey or even a race. If you want to sponsor any of these please contact our secretary Elaine Bean at 628 5634 before 17th October. Once again may we thank you for your wonderful support for our flag week-end and indeed your continued support throughout the years.

See you all next month.

S.V.P. NEWS The Society of St. Vincent De Paul

The Conference recently arranged a one week holiday for 16 Senior Citizens to Kerduffstown; this is always a most worthwhile and enjoyable experience. Also this Summer our Conference, for the first time, organised a Sunshine Home Holiday for a number of local children all of whom enjoyed themselves immensely; we intend to make this an annual event and hopefully, to increase the members next year.

As part of our recently developed Clothing Store Enterprise, we have so far this year held one special fund raising Clothes Sale which generated a great response and realized £158 for our funds. We hope to have a Clothes Sale before Christmas. Many thanks to all those who came and especially to the volenteers who gave so generously of their time.

Anybody wishing to contact the Conference may do so by telephoning 384164 or by dropping a note either in the S.V.P. Box in St, Mary's Church or through the letter box of our Clothing Store (Old Telecom Building) in Pound Street.

What's Happening

FOLK GROUP

The Folk Group has been in existence since 1979. Since then we have had many ups and downs but the last year seems to have been particularly difficult and has tested each member's commitment.

Our main purpose is to lead the congregation in singing the Mass rather than performing at Mass and we, therefore, encourage everyone to join in the singing. Unfortunately, due to the lack of resources we cannot provide booklets, consequently we try not to alter the parts of the Mass which we sing. If anyone is interested in obtaining the words of particular hymns please come and see us after Mass.

As we recommence after the summer holidays we find many of our regular members have moved on for a variety of reasons i.e. career or educational commitments leaving our numbers quite depleted. As we feel strongly about continung we have an urgent need for new members. If the numbers do not increase we feel it would be difficult if not impossible to continue for another year. We do appreciate the many compliments paid to us throughout the years by members of the congregation, however, in view of the size of the parish we feel it should be possible to have a thriving Folk Group in Maynooth. We now ask you to seriously consider joining the Folk Group. You could contact us after 9.45 a.m. Mass or preferably come to the girl's Primary School at 8.00p.m. on Wednesdays.

We are looking forward to meeting new members over the next couple of weeks.

OLD PEOPLE'S COMMITTEE

The morning sessions have resumed after the summer break. We meet on Tuesday and Thursday mornings, from 10.30a.m. - 12.30p.m., in the ICA Hall. Our next party will take place in the Post Primary School on Sunday, 21st October. It will be preceded by Mass starting at 3.30p.m. Everyone over retirement age is very welcome to come along.

We are busy preparng for our major fund raising event - The Sale of Work which will take place on November 18th in the Parish hall. During the week before the sale we shall be collecting from door to door. We know that, with your usual generosity, most of you are very happy to give for the elderly but may not be sure what is needed. We are extremely grateful to be given bottles for the bottle stall, gifts for the 'giant wheel of fortune' and also items for the following stalls:

White Elephant: almost anything saleable including good clothes (only clean ones please)

Produce: groceries, cakes, jams, sweets etc.

Books

Handcrafts: perhaps you have time to make something while you watch T.V.

Christmas Stall: - Decorations, toys etc.

Plants: - indoor or for the garden.

We are happy to receive donations which will be well used. The draw for our raffle will take place at the Sale of Work; the 1st prize as usual will be a monster Christmas hamper. Tickets will be on sale at the Shopping Centre during the weekends of November 8th - 10th and November 15th - 17th.

Congratulations to Mr & Mrs J. Murphy of Leinster Cottages who celebrated their 80th birthday and their Golden Wedding Anniversary in August and to Mr & Mrs Leonard of Kilcock Road who also celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary during the summer. Our sympathy to the family and friends of Michael O'Rafferty who died recently.

I.C.A. NOTES

All activities resumed in September after the summer break. The guild meeting was held on September 6th. Mrs. Madeline Synes presided. Sympathy to the following who were recently bereaved; Mrs Margaret Kirwan, Mrs Helen Doyle, Mrs Nanny Kenny, Mrs Imelda Desmond and the family of Mrs Nan McManus, Naas, former Federation President.

The competition was won by Mrs Bernadette Duffy. The October competition is "My Favourite Postcard".

A very interesting talk was given by the helpful ladies from "Slender World".

Congratulations to our President and her husband Michael who celebrated their Silver Wedding Anniversary on August 2nd. The Hall, unfortunately, continues to be a target for mindless vandalism. Broken windows are a regular occurrence. The expense of replacing these windows is a continuing burden on our members.

Crafts continue on Monday nights at 8 p.m. Badminton, Tuesdays and Thursdays in the Parish Hall. The next guild meeting is on October 4th at 8 p.m. New members always welcome.

THE ISLAND

We are pleased to announce that after numerous examinations and surveys a plan has been devised to refurbish the island by OPW engineers with little or no disruption to our swans. Full details are not available at the time of going to print but I understand that the level of the island will be raised and sealed with "Puddle"; 'Puddle' is a form of natural clay which becomes putty or plasticine - like on contact with water thus preventing any seepage and so effectively sealing the area from water. The "Puddle" will in all probability be transported to the island by boat from the partially refurbished harbour at Carton Estate, Pike's Bridge. We thank John McKeon and his associates in the OPW Engineering Division who put in a lot of work to arrive at the plan which would cause only minimum disruption to the environment.

PATHS

Representations have been made to committee members concerning the paths along the canal. The committee are aware that the path between Mullen Bridge (Straffan Road) and Pike's Bridge (Carton) is overgrown again in places. This and other paths will be cleared again in the near future but this work will be carried out in consultation with the environmental division of the OPW who are anxious to ensure that flora, fauna, and wildlife will not suffer as a result of the cleanup.

THE CANAL IN THE FUTURE (COMPETITION)

Do you have any ideas for the Canal in the future? If so why not write an article on your ideas. There are two headings which you can write under: (a) Tourism; Recreational and Environmental Aspects of the Canal. (b) Canal Holidays by Rail and Boat. Articles should be approx 500 words and an independent panel will adjudicate and select the winning article which will be submitted to the Newsletter for publishing. The writer of the winning article will receive a substantial prize (details of which are not available at the time of going to press). Entries to Gerry FitzPatrick, 21 Cluain Aoibhinn.

FASHION EXTRAVAGANZA

Once again its fashion time and the annual Royal Canal Fashion Extravaganza takes place in the newly refurbished Setanta House Hotel on Friday 30th November, commencing at 8.30 sharp. This year the fashion show will feature the exclusive range of "Libra Design" fashions together with the new autumn collection from "Family Album" now a household name in Ireland. "Family Album" are providing a prize for the "Best Dressed Lady" as well as offering special reductions on all orders placed on the night.

This year the Fashion Show will incorporate the "Miss Royal Canal Contest, Maynooth 1990 - 1991." The winner will receive a number of prizes which include an evening of beauty at the Beauty Salon, a weekend holiday break, having a portrait painted by well known Mayo artist F.J. O'Connell and many others of which the final details have to be completed (watch out for the next Newsletter). Those wishing to participate should complete an application form at the end of this article and send it, with a recent photo (which will be returned) to: Eileen FitzPatrick, secretary, RCAG, 21, Cluain Aoibhinn. Maynooth, Co. Kildare. Each entrant will be expected to obtain a nominal £20 sponsorship on a sponsorship card which will be provided.

After the fashion show there will be dancing until 1 a.m. This promises to be an excellent night's entertainment and it is envisaged that a bar extension will be in operation.

CARTON HARBOUR

Work is now well underway at Carton Harbour and this is clearly evident from the Dublin Road. The Harbour area is now fully visible and those who drive past every day should at some stage stop and view the area. Foreman Philip McDermott and his staff will be delighted to show you around and outline the plans for the area.

DESPICABLE INCIDENTS OF VANDALISM

Our community was recently afflicted by two awful, appalling incidents of malicious vandalism. New motor vehicles on display at Maynooth Autos, Straffan Road were the first victims of these cowardly late night attacks and extensive damage was caused. A couple of weeks subsequent to this attack a number of Statues at the entrance to St. Mary's Catholic Church, were viciously set upon and seriously damaged.

We have referred to this subject before in previous editions but regretfully we must retun to it again and comment on this deviant form of misbehaviour.

Vandalism: It's exactly what it means: Wanton damage and destruction to property with no particular aim but to commit destruction. Those miscreants who carry out these deeds often shield their conscience behind a veiled excuse that they had consumed alcohol. We are satisfied that the people who executed these acts of mischief may have drink taken but they were not drunk; they were sly, cowardly, and sneaky and moved on their targets in the late of night when most of us are asleep in our beds. Such patterns of serious sociological misbehaviour are indeed worrying.

The Gardai through this column wish to ask you the citizen what you can do to stop this type of misconduct:

(1) As a parent you can exercise vigilence by talking to your children about how to avoid acts of Vandalism and in doing so generate a spirit of moral responsibility in our young people; make sure you know where your children are and who they are with. (Children include teenagers up to 18/19 years of age residing in your home and still under your guidance).

(2) Regarding the recent incidents of Vandalism: If you have any information, pass it to your local Gardai - be assured of our confidentiality - any knowledge may be channelled (if it's your wish) anonymously, but it will be acted on discreetly and speedily.

To those who carried out these acts I hope they read this article; it may prick their cowardly conscience even to the point of considering making restitution; we can assure them that the Garda files will remain open until our enquiries track down the culprits; certain useful information has already come to hand and a dossier of details is being put together which may lead to certain individuals being interviewed.

STEALING OF MOTOR VEHICLES BE VIGILENT - APPLY A SAFETY DEVICE AND A SECURE LOCK

In recent months several motor cars/vans have been stolen from the Maynooth Area. Car parks of local Licensed premises and the Square have been the vulnerable spots. Times of risk are 9p.m. to 12 midnight.

SLIGHT INCREASE IN ADMISSIONS TO PRIMARY SCHOOLS

Although the new infants' classes in the Presentation Convent took in the same amount of pupils as last year, there was an overall increase in pupil admissions throughout the school. This was due to the increase in families moving into the area. Mr. Pierce Connell, the principal of the Boys' National School, stated that there was no great increase in pupil numbers in the boys' school but that a number of families, whose new houses have not yet been completed, will be enrolling pupils in the future.

In all there are 890 primary school pupils attending Maynooth's two schools. 430 of these are in the boys' school and 460 attend the convent. There are two special classes in the Presentation Convent (each with 12 children) which cater for slow learners and travellers' children. Both have been extremely successful to date.

Maynooth has witnessed a significant rise in the numbers of playschools in operation over the last two years which meet the huge demand for places. The Community Council keeps a list of playschools in the area in order the facilitate the many enquiries received regarding same. If you run a group and have not registered it with the Community Council you may find it helpful to ring the office with details (Tel. (01) 628 5922). This year the numbers enrolling in the playschools has increased dramatically. Some playgroups, such as Kid's Kottage, also cater for, after school children.

WATCH WITH WENDY VIDEO REVIEW

A DRY WHITE SEASON

This film, starring Donald Sutherland is based in South Africa, and focuses on the growing awareness by one white Afrikaaner school teacher of the brutal reality of the apartheid regime. Donald Sutherland, playing Ben du Toit, feels that there is nothing to be done when his black gardener, Gordon comes to him with his son Jonathan, who has been viciously beaten by the police. Later, Jonathan is taken into custody, and dies in mysterious circumstances.

His father tries to find out what has happened, and he too, is taken into custody, is brutally tortured, and dies at the hands of the police. Finally, Ben feels he must take action. His wife, played by Janet Suzman, refuses to become involved. She is not happy with the methods used to subdue the blacks, but like many white South Africans who fear the loss of their privileges, she feels that the black people will take revenge on the whites if any leeway is given to them.

Ben is prepared to risk all that has seemed so precious to him, his wife, daughter, job and home, to bring the perpetrators of Godron's death to justice. However, as Marlon Brando (playing a relatively brief cameo role as a lawyer) tells him, justice and the law are not even on speaking terms in South Africa. The inquest into Gordon's death is an empty charade, with a foregone conclusion.

With the co-operation of black activists, and sympathetic whites, the true story of Gordon's death comes out but only at a terrible cost to all concerned. The only slight ray of hope in this moving film comes from Ben's young son, who is the only one of his family to understand that injustice cannot be allowed to continue through the privileged race standing by, accepting the privileges, but accepting no collective responsibility. this is an excellent if harrowing film with moving performances this is an excellent if harrowing film with moving performances from Sutherland and Suzman. Despite the violence underlying the plot, this is treated in a relatively muted fashion.

Verdict: 9 out of 10.

THEATRE REVIEW

WASTERS by Paul Mercier, Passion Machine, St. Andrew's Lane Theatre.

Well, local critic, Mary O'Donnell, writing in the Sunday Tribune was relatively cool towards this production, and was promptly told off by playwright, Paul Mercier for her trouble. This critic is afraid of provoking a similar response, so let's hope the Maynooth Newsletter doesn't circulate as far as Passion Machine's head office.

'Wasters' was staged by Passion Machine in the relatively new St. Andrew's Lane Theatre (just turn left by the Pen Shop on Dame Street, and there it is). Because of reducing subsidies, this company can no longer afford to put its productions on in the SFX theatre, which would have been much more suited to this type of play. The AL Theatre is cramped, with the first row sited about two feet away from the tiny stage. This critic found her view of the stage totally obstructed for most of the time, due to the layout of seating, therefore some of this play was received in audio only. In fact, most of the play could have been staged successfully on radio, as action was not really essential to the development of the relatively slight plot.

The play focuses on six young friends who meet on waste ground to celebrate the return of one of their members from England, after two years. They try to recreate the old camaraderie and relationships, indulging in playacting and horseplay. But, inevitably things have changed, and they have moved on. The returned emigrant finds it hard to fit in, and suffers the inevitable disillusion experienced in these situations. He is unsettled and unhappy in the new life, yet he can no longer fit in with the old.

This is familiar territory with Irish playwrights - the problems of emigration. However, in terms of plot, the play lacks a point. There is no real crisis, and no real resolution. Having established who the characters were, what their former relationships consisted of, and that trying to revive these was only playing charades, the play could have stopped anywhere.

Yet, the play succeeded in entertianing, due to the energetic playing of the cast, most of whom are unknown, unless you have been to other Passion Machine productions. It's a weak play full of 'strong language', serving to underline the basic inarticulacy of the characters.

EATING OUT with JULIE KNIFE AND FORK

Breakfast at Kehoe's is prominently advertised on the pathway on Main Street Maynooth, perhaps dangerously so if you happen to be a blind person trying to negotiate around the assemblage of street furniture. Kehoe's I might add, is not the only business responsible for this eruption of sandwich boards. It is really brunch time, 12.37p.m., to be precise when I entered Kehoe's Delicatessen in search of breakfast. However, the waitress kindly agreed to prepare one for me, as business was relatively quiet. I took my seat at one of the five small tables crammed into a tiny claustrophobic space at the back of the shop - howabout some mirrors to create an illusion of space, and perhaps some better ventilation, in addition to the door opening into the kitchen? The tables are so close together that I was privileged to share in the trials and tribulations of my neighbouring diners' private lives, and also to hear their ecstatic droolings over enormous slices of carrot cake, or lasagne and salad.

My breakfast started well with a glass of pure orange juice (freshly squeezed). This was followed by a large mug of good coffee, a choice of brown bread or toast, and a plate brimming with harty breakfast fare, two slices of bacon (rind trimmed off), two tasty sausages, fried egg (would have preferred it 'over easy' rather than sunny side up), one piece each of black and white pudding (delicious), and a somewhat overcooked tomato. Marmalade was not offered.

Verdict, delicious. Price £3.95, which counts as excellent value. Kehoe's are open from 11.00a.m. to 2p.m. on a Sunday. This could become the in-venue for Sunday brunch.

COMMUNITY INFORMATION CENTRE NOTES

Q. We have three school-going children and will find it impossible to pay for school books now that my husband is unemployed. Is there any scheme available that would help us?

A. There is a scheme of grants towards the cost of providing text books for necessitous pupils in Primary and Secondary Schools. Under these schemes the school principal receives a small grant for each nesessitous pupil. The amount per pupil is so small that the principal may operate a book loan scheme rather than a scheme of grants to individual pupils. In other cases, a partlending and part-grant scheme may be operated.

A necessitous pupil may be defined as a child from a home where genuine hardship exists because of unemployment or illness of the parent, a large family with inadequate means, a single parent family or other circumstances that would cause a similar degree of financial hardship.

Application should be made to the school principal.

BOB'S KITCHEN

This month see's a new development in this column. We will be asking various chefs and restauranterus in the area to submit their favourite recipe each month. John Bennett, proprietor of the Country Shop Restaurant on Mill Street, has sent us in his recipe for wholemeal Stuffed Trout this month. The Country Shop Restaurant has been open 3 nights per week for candelit evening dining (Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 7p.m. to 10.30p.m.) and is both relatively inexpensive and of exceptionally high standard. If the following recipe is anything to judge by, the quality of the food should indeed prove delightful.

WHOLEMEAL STUFFED TROUT

4 Trout cleaned; each weighing 9-11ozs.

3ozs margarine

4ozs streaky bacon rashers, rinds removed and finely chopped.

1 small onion finely chopped.

3ozs wholemeal breadcrumbs.

Grated zest and juice of 1/2 lemon.

11/2 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley.

1 teaspoon dried thyme.

1 teaspoon dired marjoram.

loz wholemeal flour.

Salt and freshly ground black pepper.

Wash the trout inside and out and remove all the blood from along side the back bone.

Melt 1oz of margarine in a pan, add the onion and bacon and fry over moderate heat for 5 mins.

Remove the pan from the heat and add in the breadcrumbs, lemon juice and about $\frac{2}{3}$ of the herbs.

Season with salt and pepper.

Divide the stuffing into 4 portions and stuff each fish.

On a large flat plate mix together the flour, lemon zest and remaining herbs.

Roll the trout gently in this mixture and coat evenly.

Lay the trout on a baking try and dot them with the remaining butter.

Place them in a pre-heated hot oven for 10-15 mins. until cooked.

MS. MAISIE KEANE

One of Maynooth's most senior citizens is alive and well and was pleased to talk to the Newsletter about her life and "her Maynooth" as she remembers it. Ms. Maisie Keane celebrates her 88th birthday on the 13th day of October. Born in 1902 in Black Lion, Maisie has lived all these years in the village. Her father was a farmer and having only three children (Maisie being the eldest), he and his wife had as lodgers "two fine gentlemen". They were a Captain and a Lieutenant of the British Army, she explained, commissioned to supervise the flax crop on the Moyglare Road, destined for the linen industry in Belfast. The crop was manned by soldiers ready to leave the army and in lieu of labour they were promised farms in Africa - although what happened there, Maisie is not so sure!

Smiling to herself, Maisie told me of how a certain 'pig-jobber' who was notorious for wearing a red kerchief around his neck in place of a tie was mistaken for a Landowner. Sir Walter Fitzgerald arrived into Maynooth train-station unexpectedly and there being no transport awaiting him, he sent a young boy to fetch Fulham's horse-drawn side-car. On his return Lord Walter asked the boy if he knew who he was. "Pig-jobber, Sir" says he. With that the Lord was well amused and gave the boy a half sovereign.

Maisie remembers too the reputation of the absent owner of the Carton Demesne - the duke of Leinster lived in England and once rode his horse up the stairs of a hotel for a bet. His absence left the younger Duke in Carton with his guardian Lord Frederick Fitzgerald and his sister, Lady Nesta.

With fondness Maisie particularly recalls those nights when the pond in Carton was declared 'bearing'. Some young merrimakers were quick to organise waltzing on the ice. The gardener whose house stood near the pond supplied a big-horned gramophone and 'The Blue Danube' echoed through the woods.

Of course there weren't many cars in those days, she says, but her uncle had a Dodge and Dawson's had the agency for Ford and Morris vehicles.

"One day as I waited for a bus into the city (shortly after the service began to operate an elderly man in his chauffeur driven Rolls Royce drove up and asked if I'd take a lift into Dublin. Well, being assured of his good intention, I got in and we began to talk of employment in Maynooth. I told him that apart from Dawson's and farms hiring one or two men, there really wasn't much opportunity." "It won't be long before you've factories all around you' said he and sure enough not long afterwards, the first factory making textiles was set up in Leixlip.

Having gone to school in the Presentation Convent, Maisie's first job was as office clerk in the very substantially sized and stocked 'Dawsons' department store on Main Street. The business then run by Mr Dawson himself was a thriving one selling everything as it claimed from 'a needle to an anchor" and buying in from Todd's of Henry Street (where Penney's is now) and from wholesalers in Germany especially for lady's clothing. Dawson's supplied the village with its needs, and Maisie remembers one customer, the doctor's wife, Mrs. Moore, who was often seen to the amusement of all peddling her tricycle as the only means of transport she felt sufficiently secure upon. There was no T.V. or radio then either and card playing was

There was no T.V. or radio then either and card playing was very popular as was dancing in the town hall then located in the Square (in great contrast to the present "thing"). Unfortunately the hall was burned down during the Rebellion and Maisie isn't sure if the Black and Tans or the I.R.B. were the culprits. But in the schools, dancing classes continued and Maisie remembers with affection the Master who came from Dublin, Mr. Degville who taught Ball-room steps. On one occasion, when the nuns stepped out for dinner, the girls prevailed upon the poor man to teach them rather a waltz or fox trot, jazz being all the rage. He therefore took a partner and two other girls imitated the steps. However at that moment, the Reverend Mother reappeared and exclaimed "Oh my goodness, the persons are touching". That was the sorry end of Mr. Degville.

There was other entertainment too - a mobile picture-house and the local drama society of which Maisie was a member. Among the productions she recalls were "Professor Tim" and "Many Young Men of Twenty". For the audience at intervals, Maisie's mother played piano.

I asked about the college. "No females were allowed within those walls then". She says they even employed a chef in the kitchens. "As far as I can remember, there were 65 ordinations every June and having its own farm in Kilcock, the college cultivated much of its own crops and also kept cattle and fowl. Listening to a radio programme recently, Maisie heard it said that the 15 men who marched out during the 1916 rebellion were first blessed at college gates. "Well, that's not true" she says. "The college was then heavily subsidised by the British Government who were not prepared to jeopardise such favour". Among those marching from Maynooth was Mr. Donal (Dan) Buckley who, she thinks, was promoted to Governor General on Independence. Mr. Buckley is the great grand father of the present Mr. Buckley of Main Street.

After eleven years with Dawson's, Maisie moved on and took a position with Kavanagh's who then as well as now operated the mill. "The hours were less demanding and allowed me take better care of my aging mother", she says. Maisie's sister who was invalided died at the young age of 38 and her brother married and moved away to Dublin. So the ladies lived in their own house in Mill Street where we now have The Country Shop and a decade or so later, Maisie got the job of running the Labour Exchange from her home, catering to the village and surrounding areas. At that time, town dwellers signed every day and because of the increase in factories, women too had claims. Maisie managed the office for 27 years and during that period, she is happy to relate, she and a friend took a Mediterranean cruise holiday on a ship called "The Uganda". Their first port of call was Gibraltar. "We met an Irish girl there who spoke to us because my friend resembled a nun who had taught her in school in Ireland. Anyway she told us not to go up the Rock because there were monkeys living there that the soldiers were training and they'd surely grab your handbag and throw it into the sea; so we didn't".

Afterwards the cruiser was turned into a warship and Maisie's travels took the form of annual trips to visit her cousin in London. She did this until recently.

I asked Maisie if she gets out much now. "No, the street is impossible to cross and I'm nervous of falling. At my age a broken hip just wouldn't be on".

Ms. Keane is a very gracious lady, full of good humour and a lively interest in current affairs for which she finds the radio invaluable. I am very priveleged to be able to record some of her memories and invite readers to comment on these or on their own recollections. Thank you Maisie.

taste in the mouths of those who live on Straffan Way. In the evenings when gathered on the green on Straffan Way, they were noisy, unpleasant to a number of people and they left behind lots of rubbish each evening. While they are welcome to come to our Estate and many of you open your homes and even hearts to them - it is reasonable to expect that the Estate in general and green on Straffan way, in particular, should not be abused and dirtied and left for the residents to clean up each day. The Association has decided to take whatever reasonable measures are necessary to ensure that this situation does not spoil any future summers.

MOWERS

The vexed question pops up its ugly head once more as the mower used on Laurence Avenue seems to be on the verge of a terminal breakdown. Matt Callaghan will inspect same and give his prognosis shortly.

BUS FARES ON BARTON'S BUSES

It has come to our attention that Barton Transport has decided upon a new method of payment of fares on the school bus. While the difficulties faced by the company are undeniable, a month would seem too long to expect a young child to keep a ticket. And payment for more than one child in advance is certain to put more than a little strain on many purses. Perhaps some compromise could be arranged and the Association would be willing to co-operate in any way possible to sort out this problem. Let it be said in fairness to Barton Transport-over the years they have provided an excellent and safe service which has been abused by some people.

MAYNOOTH TIDY TOWNS COMMITTEE REPORT - OCTOBER 1990

Else where in the Newsletter you can read the breakdown of the judges' remarks on both the Bord Failte Maynooth Tidy Towns report and our own Best Shop Front and Best Area Awards. From the outset can I express on behalf of Maynooth Tidy Towns Committee, thanks to those few people who helped. But for these people, Maynooth marks would be worse. Earlier in the year we published the criteria on which towns are judged. The future of Maynooth in this competition is in your hands:-Keep the litter in your pockets until you find a bin and put it in there.

What can be done? Do you really care about the way our town is being spoken about, the worst town in Kildare? If you do make a commitment to help - don't leave it to someone else. From March '91 the campaign starts. Give us (no give your Community) 2 hours a week. Before that we will organise a public meeting in October; watch out for posters.

BEST AREA/ESTATE COMPETITION

To quote from our judges: "This year's competition was characterised by two very encouraging trends: the first was a very dramatic improvement in some of the areas which scored lowest last year, and the second was the retention of high standards and sustained community effort on the part of others." Our residential areas scored 2 extra points - well done all. Congratulations to our winners. All who took part are winners too, because Maynooth will be the winner in the end. Look out for our prize giving ceremony in October.

BEST SHOP FRONTS - BEST AREA COMPETITION

My first comments are to our judges, to thank them for their very comprehensive and helpful report. These judges are people who saw Maynooth develop and grow - and over the years resident associations and businesses have benefitted by their comments.

So please read carefully the report and let it help your area of concern to improve.

Richard Farrell,

Tidy Towns Committee.

GREYSTONES COMMISSIONERS VISIT LEIXLIP

Leixlip was host today to a distinguished group of visitors from County Wicklow.

Ireland's newest local authority, Leixlip Town Commissioners, in an effort to build on links forged last year when they visited Greystones, invited the Greystones Town Commissioners to spend the day in Leixlip.

The two towns have much in common, both having experienced a period of rapid growth and the Commissioners had much to learn from each other.

The Leixlip Commissioners were proud to show the visitors their offices at Newtown House where the new town flag was raised for the first time, the Intel plant and the Amenities Centre where they had lunch.

The tour then proceeded to Castletown House stopping off at the Wonderful Barn and returned to Leixlip Castle and St. Mary's Church.

The day concluded with dinner in the Springfield Hotel where the visiting dignitaries were presented with a framed copy of the Leixlip coat-of-arms and autographed copies of "A History of Leixlip".

The Greystones Commissioners were accompanied by wicklow County manager, Mr. Blaise Treacy and Kildare County manager Mr. Gerry Ward also attended. The Leixlip Commissioners were pleased also to invite Leixlip man and newly elected Chairman of Kildare County Council Mr. Jim Gallagher to the dinner.

SEX, LIES, BOOZE AND FRESHERS

The Newsletter thought it might be useful to get some views from college students on this first year in Maynooth. The following observations were supplied on the back of an envelope by four first year students, taking time off for studying for repeats. This may explain some, perhaps not all, of the following. Freshers are first year students. First year students repeating exams are not refreshers!

WE'RE BACK

We're back! We're young, we're wild, we're obnoxious. Bet all you locals (or "locals" as we students call you) are sick of us. It's a hard life, the pain, the study, the cold, damp-ridden flats, the banana sandwiches, the booze, the fags, the babes!.

FLATS AND CLERICS

So, a big howdy-doody to you young students. This is going to be the strangest year of your life. You'll arrive scared, alone, homesick. Before you even reach the slopes of academia, you'll have to find a flat. Mine was rotten; I was incarcerated with a couple of holy josphines who were only at Maynooth because their Mammies thought it was "safe", i.e., full of student priests (all called Malachy or Dermot), dudes so cooool that they always wear pockmacs and sandals. You'll see 'em soon.

SEX, LIES AND MAYNOOTH

I don't like the Thing in the Square (although it's good for chucking your guts up occasionally in). We have a nice library. We have a tall steeple. Don't go near the pool. It is cold and unhygenic. If you could care less, we have a ghost room. Sleeping bags available at the door. I found out that Maynooth is such a historic town. Try climbing the castle at 2.30a.m. when you're drunk. You can feel the history. Watch out for slithery things.

The Royal Canal has swans. They really dig getting empty cider bottles and beer cans thrown at them. It enhances the environment, and kills the ducks (this is a classic example of the use of irony to deliver a heavy message, man). They (the swans) enjoy the odd banana sandwich.

Maynooth has some of the best potholes in Ireland. There's a beauty on the Main Street. The purpose these holes serve is to enhance local business - the bike shop does a nice line in wheel buckle fixing.

SEX, LIES, RELIGION AND EXAMS

Like, there are so many characters in the town. You'll meet them. They will put the fear of god in you. Ah, religion - best to forget this; it doesn't help you pass your oul' exams. I met someone who went to a lecture once. She (her name was Josephine, or was it Orla?) told me it was fierce informative and well worth going to. Some time, Maybe. But seriously, folks, you got to put the effort in to get something out of your precious time at university.

SEX, LIES AND BANANA SANDWICHES

The main problem with new students is that they act loudly, because they're scared. They've got loads of money in their pockets and drinklink machines, and they give themselves that big confidence booster, alcohol. Many's the fresher I know who blew their whole grant in a month, on sex and rock and roll. This is dumb. This means that they have to live on banana sandwiches all year. Have you ever seen someone on a permanent diet of bananas, booze and fags? It's sad, it's pathetic, it's life. There is no problem with drugs in Maynooth. You can get them anywhere! (Joke, Peadar!). These are bad news, man. Take it from me, I've tried everything. And there it ends

EATABOUTS

Just a few years ago there were only four restaurants and cafes in Maynooth. There are now seven in the town, excluding the College canteen and the Student's Union. It may take some time for you to locate all of them and try them out, especially if this is your first year in Maynooth. We have therefore taken it upon ourselves to give a brief introduction to the whereabouts, type of service, food and the value of Maynooth's various and flourishing restaurants.

THE COUNTRY SHOP RESTAURANT

Situated on Mill Street, just before Kavanagh's Mills on the Galway road and in the basement of the 'County Shop' craft and gift shop this is a spacious and pleasantly decorated restaurant specialising in home made meals and luscius gateaux. It is a very popular spot with College staff and students and has a busy lunchtime trade. Meals include home-made pizzas, quiches, lasagnes and specialities of the day with a wide variety of interesting salads. A full meal costs in the region of £3 to £4 but you can fill your plate with salads, delicious brown bread and cheese and have a mug of coffee for less than £2. If you wish to avoid the lunchtime rush pop down after three o'clock when there are often special offers available - check if these are still to be had. For late night candlelit dining, the Country Shop opens on from 7 - 10.30 p.m. from Thursday to Saturday.

THE LEINSTER ARMS RESTAURANT

This has of late become an extremely popular lunchtime venue which has the advantage of space (the bar and lounge facilitiate diners from the restaurant). A lot of the office workers in the town frequent this venue where full meals come roughly to about £3 to £4. On offer are varied choices in vegetables, turkey and stuffing, ham and filled rolls along with a selection of salads. The meals are by and large more traditional than in other venues. A filled roll with chips and coffee comes to approx. £2.50. The Leinster Arms also caters for candlelit meals, every night until 10p.m.

Both the Leinster Arms and the Country Shop cater for vegetarians, salads are plentiful and the former provides meat free rolls. The Country Shop provides some main courses which are meat free, but so far the Leinster Arms has not. Check to see if the same is true for evening meals.

THE COFFEE KITCHEN

This restaurant is ideally situated to facilitate shoppers in the Maynooth Shopping Centre and offers a reasonably extensive lunch which makes it a popular venue. Everything is home made and a full meal costs in the region of £4. Soup and a roll or salads and vegetables will set you back £2 or so. They also offer Lean Cuisine dishes and a choice of home made gateaux. The premises is small in comparison to the L.A. or the Country Shop but is perfect for a snack and coffee while shopping.

EATABOUTS CONTINUED

KEHOE'S DELICATESSAN

There is a review of this small but exceptional deli elsewhere in the issue. It is situated beside the Roost on the Main Street. Suffice it to say that the most exquisite carrot cake in the universe is regularly produced by this establishment.

THE ELITE

Also on Main Street, beside Caulfield's pub, this cafe specialises in home bakery, coffee and filled rolls. It used to be enormously popular with clerical students for some reason but has now become a more secularised establishment which is packed during lunchtime, early morning and late afternoon. It is a pleasant cafe with friendly staff but, like Kehoe's, somewhat too small for comfort at times. It is probably the cheapest cafe in Maynooth were a roll and coffee costs about £1.40. Unfortunately there are no meals on offer unlike Kehoe's but you can watch all the 'excitement' on Main Street while enjoying your coffee and cake.

STEPHEN HERO'S

This is the newest cafe to open in Maynooth and will be a new venue for all students absent since May. It combines music, snacks and sandwiches, wine and outdoor seating in a friendly and basic format (no nonsense furniture and message boards). Stephen Hero's specialises in gigantic sandwiches which cost around £1.25 and they stay open until 7 p.m. seven days per week. They hope to open until 10p.m., serving wine and proving an alternative late evening meeting place for students and local residents. Eventually there will be an upstairs section and perhaps a larger outdoor area in the back for those long, exam-filled summers.

PATRICK'S RESTAURANT

Patrick's has been open for about five years now and caters for a wide range of clients - they have a special student menu and also do vegetarian main courses. The decor is functional and the premesis relatively spacious. It is most popular during term time when evening meals attract late workers and students. A full course meal comes to about £4 but filled rolls and soup is relatively inexpensive. The atmosphere is easygoing and familiar and the restaurant remains open until 9p.m.

Apart from the restaurants and cafes, you can get delicious filled rolls for £1 in Nuzstop - a very popular source of food at lunchtime where the service is prompt and very friendly. The other three pubs in the town also offer sandwiches and coffee. There are three chippers in Maynooth: Fusciardi's and beside it on Main Street, the New World takeaway. In Greenfield Shopping Centre you will find El Dorado which also sells cigarettes and chocolates.

A STUDENT GUIDE TO

We're not exactly spoiled for choice in Maynooth in terms of watering holes. On the sort of 'pubs per population' ratio prevailing in places like Ballinamore (Co. Leitrim) or Swinford (Co. Mayo), Maynooth, with a population of over four thousand we are due at least 25 pubs - but instead we have only four. And yet, apart from at weekends, none will be bursting at the seams.

Students, excepted, it seems Maynooth's residents' just aren't great drinkers. Some would say that those who do drink in Maynooth try their best to make up for those who don't!

DIVERSITY

Despite the fact that we've only got four pubs they've all got something different to offer. Each has its own typical clientele, its own 'je ne sais quoi' - for any Science students reading, that was French. So let's look at each pub in turn and see what they've got to offer.

THE ROOST

The Roost is really thre pubs in one - a public bar, a lounge and a cocktail lounge. All human life is here. The bar is a typical wood - mirrors and brass refurbishment job which is normally well populated by students after the libraries close. Come to think of it - it's often well populated with students well before the libraries close. The Roost serves a good pint and the bar is a very pleasant haven on a winter's afternoon when an open fire casts a cheery glare on proceedings.

Turning to the cocktail lounge, this is an option if the bar is packed but overall could hardly be described as a drinker's haven.

If you really want seclusion you can always hide away up on the balcony.

The newly refurbished lounge in the Roost is a legend in its own lifetime (see Irish Times, Saturday August 18th). Decked out with marble and stained glass it now constitutes a compulsory field trip for all students taking First year Classical Civilization. As a pub - words fail me. We recommend a visit.

THE LEINSTER ARMS

A long established, and again, recently refurbished pub and restaurant. The LA is seldom quiet with a steady business right throughout the day. At night the clientele is relatively young with a mixture of students and locals. Weekly live music sessions mean a packed house which can cause serious delays in getting served. Despite (because of?) the smoky atmosphere, the crowds and the din one gets the impression that the LA is where it's at.

BRADY'S

A traditional, small town pub frequented largely by Maynooth natives and a steady passing trade. Serves a very good pint and the toasted cheese sandwiches aren't bad either. There isn't an awful lot of room in Brady's and students are thin on the ground but don't let that put you off. In terms of pretension Brady's is at the other end of the Richter scale relative to the Greek lounge in the Roost. But as they say variety is the spice of life.

CAULFIELD'S

The public bar in Caulfield's has a regular and almost exclusively 'Maynooth natives' clientele. Service is fast, efficient and friendly and provided you don't stand blocking the television the punters won't take a bite out of you. Caulfield's lounge has a fair sprinkling of student drinkers and the odd College lecturer (some say they're all odd) has been spotted completely legless enjoying a quiet pint. Like the other pubs Caulfield's can get fairly packed on Saturday and Sunday nights so be warned and book you're seat by 9 o'clock.

Student Section * Student Section * Student Section * Student Section

And finally, a very disappointing feature of all Maynooth's pubs they all close at 11p.m. (Winter Time) and stay firmly closed until 10.30 the following morning.

THE MYSTERIOUS WORLD OF SIXPACKS AND REVELRY

The word of a party gets propelled around the pub and furious enquiries are made at a quarter to twelve as to the whereabouts of the destination. Soon caravans of students beat the trail to the housing estate in question and identify the open door from which emerges the sound of Talking Heads and laughter. All seems normal till one ventures within.

A perplexed host/ess is busily calculating the enormity of the situation and moving in fright to close the door. S/he is hauled into the sitting room en route and made locate a bottle opener. In the course of this service s/he sees ash dropping politely onto the carpet and races to secure an ashtry. S/he usually just grabs the coal bucket in desperation and plunges it through the masses, crashing it with a glare in front of the ashdropper. Just then some authentic guests arrive and demand the undivided welcome of the host/ess who ushers them to the crowded kitchen, whereupon s/he is again grabbed and asked about bottle openers. Hearing the sound of of an overturned coal bucket amidst the thump of Talking Heads and the bellows of "We're here', We found it!" from the front door s/he chooses to postpone dealing with the latter and rushes to investigate the former. A drunken pass is made upon him/her in the corridor which has the single advantage of acquiring the absolute and undivided attention of the host/ess so that all other problems rapidly shrink in significance. The nomal proceedure here is to smile and attempt laughter, to sever the offending body from one's own and to lure the offender towards the nearest supply of alcohol in the fond hope of tempting him/her with a more irresistable attraction than one's self. It is a delicate operation as the use of common sense and/or reason hasn't the faintest chance of succeeding so all is concentrated on the power of strategy. Meanwhile the mild crash of a bottle against the fireplace is heard accompanied by the cry of "Well there was no bottle opener, was there!" and the final dregs of the night crawl through the front door and settle upon the stairs. The host/ess at this stage just slides to the floor to wait for The Visitation of The Neighbours.

Two Hours Later

By some unaccountable miracle the vast majority of the partygoers has disappeared and a more subdued atmosphere has set in. The host/ess is engaged in the traditional deep-and-meaningful conversation around the sofa while various other clusters haunt the darker corners and the stairs. The music has all but died to an occasional thump and cough and the dreaded Visitation has come and gone. Odd noises come from upstairs but propriety prevents investigation. And then it happens. Somebody called Joe produces a guitar. Clusters amalgamate and spread to the floor around Joe. The Deep-and-Meaningful Conversationalists condescend to suspend debate for the duration of 'American Pie' but cannot last beyond the seventeenth verse so they 'pop out to the kitchen for a drink of water'. A look of unanimated bliss settles upon the devoted faces of the audience and the sing song is securely on its way. At this point in the night the Love/Lust Element comes into its own. It is usually heppening in the darker corners or upon the unlit stairs.

Life stories and deeds of prowess are being related to the appropriate sounds of giggling and/or consolation. At any rate, all verbal sounds cease at about half past three and body language emerges with all the subtelty of a hammer. Couples slowly sail out the door, to the accompaniment of symphony orchestras and wisps of clouds. The sing song is disintegrating (having gone through the twelve standard songs twice) and people are beginning to feel tired. The house is almost empty by now. However, one strange and unaccountable phenomenon needs remarking upon. Still embroiled in hefty debate in the kitchen are the Deep-and Meaningful Conversationalists, who have remained oblivious to the party in general and who have fuelled themselves with animated discussion for the past four to five hours. The host/ess has quite simply had enough and politely suggests that they leave.

A vow of 'Never Again' escapes from the host/ess as head finally plummets to pillow, tired and very sober, and vaguely wondering if it would be too soon to have another one on Sunday.

CLOTHES IMPRESSIONS OF THE THIRD LEVEL KIND

The most important issue facing students after they have got the points to get into College, is what are they going to wear on that all important first day. No one wants to be remembered as the nerd in farah slacks, hand-knitted Aran jumper, sandals, brown nylon socks, Beatles haircut, matching tie and pocket handkerchief emanating from new navy blue blazer with brass buttons who fell down the steps during the first Sociology lecutre in the Aula Maxima . . . do they?

The first thing to remember is that some people have style by instinct, some people develop style by imitating others, but there are some people, lots of whom end up in Maynooth, who think style is something you climb over to get into the next field. They are the ones who notice trends only when they have been abandoned by everyone else - the ones who wear platform shoes and flares, when all around are into deepest black.

Black is the safest colour to wear in all circumstances. It does not show the dirt; there is no other shade of black with which it can clash; it looks serious and meaningful; it diminishes large rear ends; it cannot be seen in the dark when you are sneaking over the garden wall into the digs; no one will notice that you have worn the same sweater/jeans/skirt/coat since terms began; you will not have to buy special clothing should a loved one pass on.

Black can be accessorised successfully with almost anything. Those seeking the vampire look can use copious quantities of eyeliner, and purple nail varnish. Loose necklines are quite flattering, and thongs are in the in thing. Remember those tempted to wear black lycra bottom hugging minis - don't. It doesn't work in the middle of winter. However, should you wish to use a dog as an accessory, this too must come in no other colour but black.

Where do you go to purchse style? Well Maynooth is not the place for student chic, although Billie's and possibly Naeem's may be worth a look. A trip to Hula Bou or Alan Frazer may prepare you for life after Maynooth but their street cred potential as regards student taste and pocket is limited. The only way to find out where to buy is to ask an experienced stylist in second or third year. Pretend you are doing a survey for sociology - you can get away with anything if you have a questionnaire in your hand. They will be flattered by your approach.

There are just a few rules to follow. Do not under any cirumstances wear the grey flannel slacks you wore in sixth year in school. People will notice. Throw away that school blazer and gaberdine coat. People are not blind. When it comes to the grad ball don't attempt to recycle the debs dress you wore in fifth year. People will not be fooled. Do not wear string vests, nylon shirts, long johns, navy blue interlock knickers with double gusset, plastic macs, wellington boots, mittens, hairbands, nylon socks, flesh coloured tights, black stockings, anything knitted by your mother, Laura Ashley frocks, stiletto heels, slip on shoes, baby doll nighties.

Try to wear what the majority of others are wearing, if you don't want to be remembered. If you do, choose a style which makes people think you're avant garde, not up from the yard!

TENNANTS' RIGHTS

The following information has been taken from 'House Choices: Renting Privately' a publication from Threshold whose address is given at the bottom.

THE DEPOSIT

Most landlords require tenants to pay deposits. If you have a written agreement, make sure the terms for the return of the deposit are clearly spelled out. If the agreement isn't written, make sure you get a receipt for your deposit.

Your deposit can be withheld in whole or in part if you fail to give proper notice, if you leave unpaid bills, or if you damage the property in any way above normal wear and tear. Subject to the terms of the agreement, a landlord is not entitled to withhold any of your deposit for re-advertising expenses.

When you move in, it is advisable to make an inventory of the contents of the flat and their condition, and have it signed by the landlord. This will make it easier to resolve any disputes over damages.

ELECTRICITY

If electricity or heating is included in the rent, it should be made clear in the tenancy agreement what exactly you are entitled to. Make sure that all services are connected, and working, if not, find out why, and who is responsible for reconnections.

The landlord has no right to disconnect the power supply. Gas and electricity coin meters are set at a standard rate. If you suspect the setting is too high, you can check it by contacting the meter departments of the ESB or Gas Co. Where there are local authority charges, e.g. for water or rubbish collection, they may be levied on the occupier, i.e. you, the tenant, rather than on the landlord. Check it out with your local council.

INSURANCE

It is the responsibility of the tenant to insure the contents of his/ her flat. As insurance for the contents of rented accommodation is quite expensive, you may be able to make arrangments with the landlord to be covered under his own insurance policy. However, this is only possible where the landlord is resident.

REPAIRS

When making the tenancy agreement, agree on what changes and decorating the landlord will allow, and establish what repairs he will be responsible for. If any repairs are needed, it is best to try to get the landlord to do them before you move in. If he consistently refuses to carry out major repairs such as a leaking roof, it may be necessary to contact the Health Inspector at your local health board, if the situations poses a health risk. In the case of dangerous buildings, you can contact your local county council, or the Corporation.

If he won't carry out minor repairs, you can offer, preferably in writing, to do them, and deduct your expenses from the rent. If you do this, make sure that you keep receipts for your costs, and that the cost was agreed with the landlord before hand.

If, however, you withhold rent for repairs, and haven't agreed this in advance, you could be putting yourself in the wrong, and putting your tenancy at risk. If the landlord is seeking a rent increase, this is a good time to ask for repairs to be done.

HARASSMENT

As a tenant, you are entitled to quiet and peaceful enjoyment of your home. Unless the landlord has reserved the right to enter the flat as part of the original agreement, then he is not entitled to enter it except with your permission, or to do essential repairs. You are entitled to have friends stay (overnight) unless the tenancy agreement states otherwise.

NOTICE TO QUIT

The minimum notice required by either party is determined by how your rent is calculated, rather than how it is paid, if these are different.

If your rent is calculated weekly, you must give at least a week's notice, and if it is monthly, a month's notice, from the rent day. If you are a weekly tenant, you are only entitled to a week's notice to quit. Similarly, as a monthly tenant, you are entitled to a month's notice from the rent day.

Notice to quit doesn't have to be in writing, unless this was stated in the original agreement. Once the landlord gives notice, he should stop collecting the rent. However, this doesn't mean that you have the place rent-free until he takes possession. He will be entitled to claim the money later, so the money due should be kept in a separate bank or Post Office account.

If you stay on after notice to quit has expired, the landlord can seek a court order to evict you. If the case does go to court, you may become liable for legal costs, especially if you have broken terms of the agreement e.g. by failing to pay rent, or being a nuisance. If the landlord evicts you without a court order, i.e. removing your belongings and locking you out, he is acting illegally. If this happens, you should contact THRESHOLD immediately. You should not try to break back in as this can be a criminal offence.

WELFARE ENTITLEMENTS

If you are living on social welfare, you may qualify for help with your rent. Contact the Community Welfare Officer at your local health centre.

You don't qualify for a rent supplement as a student, or if you're working full-time.

The amount of your rent supplement is calculated to leave you with an "after-rent" income equal to the basic Supplementary Welfare Allowance rate, minus £3.20.

To get your rent supplement, you will be expected to produce receipts from your landlord for the rent.

You are not automatically entitled to a rent supplement. The Welfare Officer can refuse you, if, for example he thinks your flat is too large or too expensive for your needs. He may ask you to apply for housing to your local authority as a condition of giving the supplement.

COLLEGE NOTES WELCOME

This column extends a warm welcome to all new students entering the College this year, and wishes them well in their studies. We also welcome an unusually large complement of new staff members; some of these are replacing people who have left the College's service, but most represent an addition to existing staff numbers. This is the first time in many years that there has been a significant increase in staffing levels, and will go some way towards alleviating the pressure that has been building up in recent years from rapidly expanding student numbers. To those concerned we extend the wish that their stay in Maynooth will be a happy and rewarding one.

LECTURES IN THE AULA

The growing student numbers of recent years have also been placing increasing stress on physical facilities in the College, The inevitable situation has now been reached that some first year classes have become too big for the existing classhall accommodation. As a result, in the coming year the Aula Maxima (the College's theatre) is to be pressed into service as a lecture theatre for some classes. Some are of the opinion that the Aula is the most suitable place in any case for some of the more histrionic of the lecturing staff! Others have been wondeirng if lectures - or sleeping students - will be put literally under the spotlight, or whether opera glasses will be issued to those occupying the upstairs balcony. Rumours that the Aula will not longer be available for plays or films as a result of the new use are apparently without foundation, but the Aula Committee seems faced with the prospect of constant changes in the seating in the auditorium until alternative accommodation for lectures is provided.

BUILDING WORK

It seems likely that much of the campus will be a building site for some time to come. Already, rapid progress is being made on the new accommodation blocks adjacent to the existing hostels on the Moyglare Road, and these should be ready for occupation in the coming year. In addition, the Student Union is carrying out alterations to their building. The existing Union offices are to be incorporated into the entertianment facilities, thereby providing additional capacity for Union functions. The office functions are to be accommodated instead in an adjacent prefabricated building.

Meanwhile, the coming year should see work begin on a new special purpose restaurant facility, hopefully including the long-awaited sports hall. Work should also commence on the first phase of the new Science Building, financed largely by EC money. So perhaps many students who otherwise would have had to go abroad to work "on the buildings" for the summer will be able to do so in the pleasant surroundings of Maynooth instead.

WORKERS' PARTY NOTES NATIONAL COLLECTION

By the time these notes appear, the Workers' party annual doorto-door collection will be in full swing in Maynooth, and will continue into early October. We thank all those who have already contributed, and urge those who have not yet been approached to help us out as best they can. The Workers' Party is the only one of the major political parties which receives no support from the business sector, and hence is particularly dependent on the generosity of the ordinary public.

LEINSTER REGIONAL CONFERENCE

A very successful conference for party members in the Leinster Region (outside Dublin) was held in Naas on September 15 last. A number of workshops on issues such as the Economy and the Environment were held and gave rise to lively discussion. Addressing the conference, Commissioner Catherine Murphy, the party's representative in the North Kildare area, drew attention to the current controversy surrounding the Scoil Mhochua primary school in Celbridge. The Archbishop of Dublin has recently requested the Minister for Education to disband the school's Board of management because of a dispute with the local parish priest, who is also the school manager, over enrollment policy.

While Ireland is passed off as a democratic society, in fact the Irish people in reality have very little democratic control over most aspects of their everyday lives, Catherine Murphy told the conference. They have little input into local planning, have little say in their places of work, and have virtually no control over social facilities such as hospitals and schools, even though they pay for almost the entire cost of these facilities. The time has now come, said Catherine Murphy, to question the practice whereby local parish priests automatically become managers of our primary schools, and can exert sway over token boards of management. Schools at all levels should be brought under democratic local control, and made answerable to the express needs of local communities, she concluded.

THE LARRY GOODMAN FIASCO

The collapse of Larry Goodman's beef empire may not appear to have any direct relevance to the average citizen of Maynooth. However, it is symptomatic of a general malaise in the way the Irish economy is run, which in turn leads in no small way to the chronic problems of unemployment and emigration which affect us all. This malaise arises from an inability to get the most out of the country's natural resources in terms of wealth and job creation.

Agriculture remains Ireland's biggest single industry, and its biggest component is the beef sector which Goodman dominated. Most of Goodman's wealth was derived from selling excess Irish beef in commodity form to Middle Eastern markets. These sales were heavily subsidised by the taxpayer. The Irish beef industry has never managed to successfully develop to any great extent consumer markets within Europe for branded value-added products. These are the kinds of stable and lucrative markets which can provide thousands of extra jobs within Ireland, both directly and indirectly. Instead, the Irish farming sector has been happy to sell sides of beef into the EC's intervention system, from which Goodman proceeded to sell them on to what proved to be extremely unstable markets.

A couple of grandiose schemes (one emanating from Goodman himself) were announced in recent years to develop the processing side of the industry, but never materialised. It is high time for the government to get to grips with the deficiencies of the agricultural sector and sort them out with decisive action. For too long, Irish politicians have been simply afraid to tackle the vested interests which control Irish farming. Irish agriculture is too valuable a national resource to be allowed to continue the short-sighted and opportunistic practices which characterise the industry.

THE IRISH PEOPLE

The Workers' Party newspaper, The Irish People, is now being published on a monthly basis, as against the previous weekly format. The paper is now twice the previous size, and contains more in-depth articles on various aspects of Irish society. Costing only 20p, it represents excellent value for those interested in the injustices which they can see all around them, and in possible ways of tackling these injustices. If you would like to subscribe to the paper, or to find out more about the Workers' Party, call 6285241.

LABOUR PARTY NOTES BOREEN CLEARANCE AND RESURFACING

Emmet Stagg, T.D., has again made representations to Kildare County Council regarding the removal of rubbish from the Boreen. The County Council have stated that this will be done as soon as transport becomes available.

No financial provision has been made for resurfacing the roadway this year. Deputy Stagg will press to have provision made for this project in next years' estimates.

'MARY ROBINSON FOR PRESIDENT' COMMITTEE

A Committee is being formed in Maynooth to campaign locally for the election of Mary Robinson as President of Ireland. This is a broadly based group open to all who identify with Mary Robinson's aim to make the Presidency an active position serving the welfare of the people in a creative way. It is hoped particularly to enlist the support of those who have been impressed by Mary Robinson's record of fighting for human rights, and especially to advance the position of women in Irish society.

An open meeting of the Committee will be held in the Meeting Room at the rear of Caulfield's Lounge on Wednesday October 10th at 8.30p.m. All those who wish to contribute to Mary Robinson's Campaign in anyway are invited to attend.

MAYNOOTH BRANCH: MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE GROUP BI RMINGHAM SIX

We rejoiced with the families, friends and support groups of learning that the six have been granted leave to appeal again and hope it may be decided that there is no case to appeal, which will result in their speedy return to their homes.

BRIAN KEENAN

Welcome home Brian. Like the latter group you spent years as a hostage and we hope John and Terry and all other hostages will be released soon.

MARTIN FORAN

This case is now causing concern as Martin claims he was framed. The latter is being held in Frankland Prison, a non political prisoner, and hails from Co. Limerick.

Rosemary, one of our group, has given us some leaflets relating to the case and the evidence does seem conflicting.

Martin is in poor health and according to a copy of his Medical notes, is not getting the medication he needs.

H. Dunne,

Honorary Secretary.

EYE HEAR

Eye Hear was intersted to read of the clauses inserted in the deeds of new houses being built in a Booterstown housing estate. House buyers are required under these conditions not to keep dangerous dogs, not to keep pigeons, not to put alarms or siren boxes on the fronts of the houses, not to put up posters, not to build additional walls, gates, pillars, or garden sheds, and not to keep commercial vehicles in front driveways.

Eye Hear can think of a few more clauses which might have been included in the deeds of Maynooth houses - for example, not to murder the Fields of Athenry while taking showers, no more than two children under the age of ten in any one house, letterboxes to be placed at waist height in front doors to facilitate leafletters, positively no aluminium sliding porch doors.

TRUST IN THE LIFFEY TRUST

Eye Hear they're at it again. Beware the young people who come up to you with a badly produced magazine asking you to part with a silver deer, "to help provide local employment". First of all, there is no Maynooth content in this rag, and second of all, interrogate the unfortunate seller to find out precisely what local employment is being generated, beyond the few bob that he or she is getting from sales. Mention the Liffey Trust to them, and don't give a penny.

1916 AND ALL THAT

Reports have been filtering out since December that the Maynooth 1916 Committee found a nice present in their Christmas stocking last year. Eye Hear suggestions that a savings bond generated the nice sum of £10,000 for our heroes' representatives. A modest suggestion as to how this might be spent -how about demolishing the Thing in the Square, and replacing it with a suitable memorial to our past? Over to you comrades!

SHIFTING ALLEGIANCES

Eye Hear has noted a trend towards the creation of a new geography in North Kildare. Iarnrod Eireann has decided to draw our attention to the recent peaceful partition of our sister town, Leixlip, which has now virtually ceased to exist on train timetables. The twin towns of Confey and Louisa Bridge have now emerged in it's place. In Maynooth, on the other hand, it appears that there is a trend towards germanisation, with the creation of the new suburb of Larp which was beaten in the finals fo the Inter-estates 7-A-Side in July. It will be interesting to see how long this amalgam of Laurence Avenue/Railpark will last.

Eye Hear

MR. SHEEN

The Order of the Golden J-cloth is hereby awarded to Mr Jimmy Sheen himself, who was observed washing that grungy cylindrical object beside the pedestrian crossing in Main Street one day in September. Who would have believed that from under such grime would emerge one bright green post box?

GONE UNDER

Eye Hear sends envious good wishes to two editorial board members who have gone under for extended holidays. We will be expecting reports from our Sydney correspondents, Suzanne Redmond and Mary Grennell.

WAS O'REILLY'S GRANNY FROM MAYNOOTH?

Eye Hear is convinced that the recent revelation that the renovations to the parish church in Leixlip is being funded by Albert Gubay, whose mother came from Leixlip, has stimulated a number of organisations in Maynooth to consult the local registries and gravestones to see who we can target for similar largesse. If we prove that Tony O'Reilly's granny came from Pound Street, would he drop us the six million required to do up the Castle? And if Larry Goodman's great grandfather was born in Leinster Cottages, would he be able to persuade Mr. Hussein to pass over some of those dollars he owes him to the Carton Committee?

LIGHTENING STRIKES MAYNOOTH

Eye Hear would like to pay tribute to the hard working ESB crews who laboured into the early hours on 24th August to restore power to Maynooth. Severe electrical storms focussed on Maynooth on that Friday, accompanied by cloudbursts. A direct hit on some pylons rendered the town powerless for some hours. Most power was restored by 7p.m., but some estates were not so fortunate. Three crews working for some three hours, were required to replace the blackened remains of the cables bringing electricity to Railpark, and this activity was repeated all over Maynooth. Thanks to all concerned.

IT'S A CAT'S LIFE

Local samaritan Proinnsias Breathnach has been writing into the papers again. This time to point out that while humans have to travel anything up to fifty miles, or more, to get x-rays in hospitals, our wounded animal brothers and sisters are much better looked after in Maynooth. An injured cat picked up from the road by Proinnsias was looked after within half an hour by local vet, Bill MacDonald in his modest surgery on the Kilcock Road. The moggie received x-rays, medication, counselling on road crossing techniques, and tender loving care overnight. What Proinnsias did not tell the nation was that the ungrateful tabby escaped from the cardboard box used to convey him/her from the vet's, and hasn't been seen since.

Make an arrangement from very short stemmed flowers by tucking them in between a layer of pebbles placed in the water. Washed seashore pebbles are ideal and worth keeping in your flower arranging kit.

Skin a peach easily by popping it into a pan of boiling water and counting to 15 before removing it and peeling it. Use a potato peeler on hard peaches.

Keep small children quiet on car trips by providing a bundle of pipe cleaners which they can twist into amusing shapes. Metal puzzles and small fiddly toys are invaluable for keeping youngsters entertained.

Soak a tomato stain on washable material in luke-warm water containing a little ammonia. Treat a mayonnaise stain with glycerine or a dry-cleaning solvent, then wash in luke-warm water with a few drops of ammonia.

To remove tannin stains from inside an aluminium teapot, put in two teaspoonfuls of washing soda and fill up with boiling water. Leave overnight and rinse well next day.

Soak ink stains on coloured washable material in milk (sour if possible) or in a 50:50 solution of white wine, vinegar and water. Rub ink stains on white material with a cut lemon, sprinkle with sale and leave for an hour.

Remove the smell of fish or onions from crockery and cutlery by adding a little vinegar to the washing-up water. To remove smell from a pan, fill it with water and some vinegar and simmer for a few minutes. Rinse pan in cold water.

Soak a fresh blood stain on washable material in well-salted water for two hours, then launder.

Immerse a dried blood stain in cold water containing a little ammonia for a few hours, rinse and launder.

SOCCER 7-A-SIDE - EMMET STAGG CUP

The Emmet Stagg Inter Stud-Farm 7-A-Side soccer knockout competition this year attracted the following teams:- Darrastown, Corbally, Woodpark, Kilmacredock, Derrinstown and Simminstown/Grangewilliam.

After very exciting first round matches, the semi finals were contested between Darrastown v Woodpark and Derrinstown v Simmonstown/Grangewilliam

The first match was won by Woodpark 2-1 during a thunderstorm while the rain eased off for a very exciting win for Simmonstown/Grangewilliam over the 1/3 favourites Derrinstown, in the second match. A very entertaining final was held on Sunday 26th August in the Harbour Field. Woodpark won the match by the odd goal in three.

We would like to thank the referee Lennie Murphy for his attendance throughout the competition. We would also like to thank John and Eithne Carey for a good night afterwards in Caulfield's.

Finally we would like to thank all the teams for participating and we look forward to seeing them next year again.

John McGinley presented the Cup to the Captain of the winning Woodpark Stud team, Christy Watters.

One of Ireland's top jockeys Niall Byrne being presented with his winner's trophy by John McGinley.

Sports File

One of the most enjoyable things about sport is that virtually anyone can be an expert. In Maynooth we are fortunate to be blessed with our fair share of soccer, gaelic football, hurling, golf and horse racing experts who give freely of their opinions from their favourite bar stools. Anyone who has frequented Brady's or Caulfield's on a Saturday afternoon will have heard valuable advice shouted to Christy Roche or Willie Carson as they try to steer their mounts clear of trouble entering the last furlong. Of course if the jockeys are careless enough to ignore this advice and the punters £1 each way bet is lost, the wrath of the expert is let loose and the parentage, not only of the horse, but of the jockey, trainer and commentator is called into question.

EXPERT OPINION

It is characteristic of sports experts that they put forward their views in a trenchant manner. It is not a question of John Aldridge having a poor scoring record as a striker for Irelandit's more a case of his being 'a total waster'. Similarly, in reference to the Kildare football team, the expert opinion has been unflattering, verging on the abusive. Those of us who travelled all the way to Aughrim last June to see Kildare start their All-Ireland campaign against Wicklow saw expert opinion swing from wild optimism in the early stages of the game to undisguised despair as Kildare faltered in the second half. During the journey home to Maynooth my travelling companion solemnly swore never to waste a Sunday travelling to watch Kildare again.

A TERRIBLE BEAUTY

But in the last few weeks, of course, all's changed, changed utterly; a terrible beauty is born and Mick O'Dwyer has been appointed manager of the Kildare team. As a result of this an amazing thing has happened - Kildare have talked themselves into next years' All-Ireland Final. Normally, of course, teams would be expected to win four or five matches to get to Croke Park on the third Sunday in September but this convention appears to have been suspended in Kildare's case, such is Mick O'Dwyer's reputation. A Leinster Final appearance against an obviously ageing Meath team will be followed by the formality of beating the Connacht champions in August. And that leaves a Kildare - Cork final to savour next September, at least that's the experts' opinion.

DRY RUN

Your Newsletter correspondent decided to cover this years' all Ireland final as a dry run for next year when Maynooth will be totally caught up in the fervour and excitment of Kildare's first All Ireland appearance for generations. The first difficulty fans will encounter is how to get a ticket for the match. Defying logic, the GAA distribute thousands of tickets to people who don't really want them - in fact some of them probably wouldn't be caught dead in Croke Park. On the other hand, there are thousands of fans who have followed their county team through thick and thin (mostly thin in Kildare's case) who would beg, borrow or steal to get their hands on a ticket. What happens is that the first group (with tickets) are pestered by the second group (without tickets). Suffice to say that all you Kildare fans intending to attend next years' All Ireland should immediately start cultivating contacts with those you suspect of belonging to the first group.

The other prime requirement for All Ireland Day is a hearty breakfast. Based on personal experience I would recommend a traditional Irish fry with plenty of black pudding and strong tea. Ideally this should be taken about 11 o'clock as soon as all the match previews in the Sunday papers have been read.

It is important to savour the atmosphere before the match so plan to leave Maynooth by 11.30. There are differing opinions as to whether it is advisable to soak up the pre-match atmosphere (and a few pints) in one of Drumcondra Road's excellent pubs, or alternatively, to head directly to Croke Park. On balance, it is probably better not to consume too much liquid before the match or you'll find yourself spending an inordinate part of the afternoon struggling through the crowd to visit Croke Park's less than salubrious toilets.

Once inside Croke Park your enjoyment of the match may be partly determined by the type of spectator who ends up in your immediate environs. At this year's match I was surrounded mostly by polite neatrals with the one exception of an elderly and somewhat drunken Corkman who broke into a chorus of 'Oooh - ah Paul McGrath' every few minutes. This, however, is certainly preferable to having to listen to the type of expert who haunts Croke Park and insists on telling you that football is gone to hell in the last thirty years and none of today's teams are a patch on the great Kerry team of the nineteen thirties.

THE MAIN EVENT

The Cork - Meath final was a tense affair which never lost the full attention of the 65,000 people present. Cork were the superior team throughout but Meath's indominatable spirit kept them in the match to the finish and suggested that at any point they could sneak a few scores to win. But their demise probably marks the end of an era in Meath football and expert opinion in Drumcondra's pubs after the match suggested a period of Cork dominance in the early 1990s. One point was that Shay Fahy would be named 'man of the match' on 'The Sunday Game'. Viewing this programme is certainly part of the ritual of All Ireland Day but by 9.30 many of the fans may be somewhat too 'tired and emotional' to appreciate some of the more subtle tactical points made by such experts as Enda Colleran. For the fans it has been a long day and, whether winners or losers, a special day when you can don your colours and cheer your team in Croke Park in an All Ireland final. Next year's Cork - Kildare final beckons!

MAYNOOTH SUMMER PROJECT

At the A.G.M. on the 12th September, the following Officer Board were elected:

Chairperson: Des Walsh, Vice Chairperson: Paul Shannon, Treasurer: Catherine Mulready, Secretary: Mary Horn, Minute Secretary: Mary McMahon, P.R.O.: Norah McDermott

The outgoing Chairperson Madeline Stynes did not seek reelection. She thanked all those who made the 1990 project so successful and her only regret was that there was no annual camp. She hoped that that problem would be solved in 1991 and wished the incoming committee every success.

The committee members are Josie Moore, Joan Shannon, Margaret Loane, Delma Walsh, Ann Brady, Margaret Kirwin, Margaret Gannon, Ann King, Bernie O'Shea, Rosemary Hanley, Bernie Gannon, Mary Flynn and Madeline Stynes, so with a line up like that we are assured of a very good project in 1991. Work and planning of same will start now in order to have a full programme for July '91 and hopefully our annual camp.

Maynooth Tae Kwon-Do School is proud to announce the confirmation of a grading examination of promotion, for its members, on September 29th at 10.20a.m. The examination will be given by 6th Dans, Mr. Robert Howard and Mr. Anthony Phelan. The grading examination will be for the majority of the school's members from the very beginners up to senior grades, who are approaching the black belt level.

This examination is open to the public (with the exception of very small children) and will preced beginners classes for adults which are hoped to start in October. This new class is particularly aimed at all adults, men and women, who wish to take up self defence in conjunction with a good deal of keep fit. Former members are also encouraged to return as the grades they had attained in the past still hold.

The Maynooth Tae Kwon-Do School is a member of the Republic of Ireland Tae Kwon-Do Association, who recently took the gold medal in Montreal, Canada for the destruction section. This was a tremendous victory for the association. Some day, Maynooth may very well be represented on the Irish International team, as the quality is there, it's just a matter time. In this competition, a young girl from Ballyfermot, won the bronze in the Free Sparring Division. Elaine O'Toole is 19 years of age and is a fine example of what the association is capable of producing.

Who knows ... very soon, maybe Maynooth will be producing its own World Champions in Tae Kwon-Do.

MAYNOOTH COMMUNITY GAMES

We would like to congratulate our eight contestants who represented Kildare in Mosney at the National Finals. Congratulations to all of them on reaching their semi-finals and finals. Our thanks to all the parents who travelled to Mosney to cheer on teh competitors and to Jim Fleming for travelling to see the squad and encouraging them all the way to the semi-final. The contestants for the week-end were Josephine Fay and Paula O'Shea, Gymnastics, Michelle Cunningham, Art, Susan Dillon, Elaine Fleming, Anna Flood and Lorraine Farrel - Swimming Squad, Susan Dillon, individual, who taook a very commendable 5th place in U/12 Freestyle and Jane Edmonds 4th place, and certificate winner in U/16 Butterfly. The competitors conduct in Mosney was excellent and they were a credit to Maynooth. Another year has ended for Maynooth Community games. That completes our 12th year in Community Games. For those twelve years I've held a position on the Committee and have done secretary for the past five years. It has now come to the time when I must bow out of Maynooth Community Games as I have moved to the town of Leixlip, and therefore outside the boundaries of Maynooth Community Games. I enjoyed those years helping with the running of the games, but I am now appealing to the people of Maynooth to come forward to the A.G.M. with the intention of working for the children of Maynooth in Community Games. I will always be available to help any committee member in the future. We must ensure that the children of Maynooth do not miss out on all the disciplines Community Games have to offer. We should now also be thinking of all the team managers that will be needed for the new season e.g. Volleyball, Handball, Rounders, Pitch & Putt, Football boys & girls, Soccer boys & girls, Variety boys & girls, Basketball, Badminton, Tennis, Draughts, Chess, Table Tennis and individual events in Swimming, Gymnastics, Art and Athletics. I would like to thank everyone who made Community Games happen in Maynooth for 12 years.

Norah McDermott.

MAYNOOTH TOWN A.F.C.

The new season is now in full swing and early indications show that the strenuous training schedule will stand our players in full stead for the coming matches. We will be availing of the training facilities at St. Patrick's College at time of issue and we would like to express our gratitude to Monsignor Michael Ledwith (President) and the College Authorities for the provision of those facilities. Over the past number of seasons training has had escellent attendances and has showed an increase of 100% on completion of annual holidays.

PREMIER DIVISION

Maynooth Town 3 Millbrook Celtic 5

Maynooth twice lost a two goal in a game where a number of defensive errors was our undoing. Des Farrell showed his usual sharpness of defensive in front of goal and scored twice. Joe O'Riordan scored our other goal and gave competent display belying his youthfulness in this tough division.

La Touche Utd. 5 Maynooth Town 3

We were once again on the wrong end of a 5-3 scoreline but unlike our previous game we were unable to forge in front at any stage. Below par performances by some players in key positions was a major factor in this defeat. It is rather disheartening to be scoring at a regular rate but not showing anything for our efforts. However, with an anticipated strengthening in defence we should soon show rewards. Scorers for Maynooth were Tony Kearns 2 and Gerry Treacy 1.

LEINSTER JUNIOR CUP 1ST ROUND

Maynooth Town 2 Newbridge Town 1

We could hardly have drawn tougher opponents for our opening game- both sides showed great respect for each other in the opening minutes with just a few scoring chances being created. In the 15th minute however Maynooth were awarded a free kick thirty yeards out. Noel Kearns thundered a powerful shot against the crossbar and his brother Tony was on hand to score from the rebound. Maynooth got on top at this point but were pulled back level in the 36th minute when an awkard bounce of the ball deceived defence John Geoghegan and the Newbridge forward was on hand to benefit from the effort. Maynooth lost their concentration at this stage and suffered thier worst patch of the game approaching half time. On the resumption Newbridge again dominated for the opening ten minutes but were unable to pierce a rock solid defence which had tightened up greatly following our earlier games. A tactical change by Manager Vinny McKenna soon changed the course of the game. John Geoghegan was switched to midfield with the introduction of old war-horse Paul McCourt at left back. With Maynooth again dominating mid-field scoring chances were again being created. Following continued Maynooth pressure, Fergal Barton floated over a corner with 15 minutes to go and centre-half Derek Murray took time off from his defensive duties to lead powerfully to the roof of the net. Exchange were even for the remainder of the game and we now look forward to the second round draw.

DIVISION 3 PRIVATE GROUNDS

Maynooth Town 1 Stores Celtic 2

A draw would have been a fair result in this game. The concession of two early goals did not show any effect on the confidence of the home side. Michael Kelly repeated the benefit of his sterling efforts by scoring Maynooth's goal. Excellent goalkeeping by the opposition keeper deprived us of a deserved share of the points. Michael Kelly, Joe Conway and Joe O'Riordan showed up well for Maynooth.

SCHOOLBOYS' SOCCER

Dublin & District Schoolboys' League U/15 Section

One win and two defeats in this section still gives hope for a respectable position when the season ends. Consistent performances by Padraig Flood, Stephen King and their teammates should ensure a promising winter campaign.

U/12 Section

Victories in our first three games has set us up for a very forward showing in this Division. Leading scorer Eamon Gallagher ably assisted by promising midfielder Eoin Guha have maintained their early season form and with Darren Naughton continuing to score spectacular goals, a high placing is a very strong possibility.

G.A.A. NOTES

Our U/12 hurlers had a great run in the North Kildare League and after beating Leixlip in the semi-final we were just beaten by Ardclough in the final.

Juvenile hurling and football seems to be thriving in Maynooth at present but the same cannot be said about an adult team.

More about this in the next issue of the Newsletter by which time we will know if our senior team is demoted to division III or not.

NEW PAVILLION

Work on our new sports pavillion has been going on at a steady pace all summer and has now reached the stage where the main building is complete, doors and windows are installed, outside plastering is finished.

It might be a bit premature to talk about the official opening at this stage but unless something unforeseen happens this can not be too far away.

The Tom Flood Cup Tournament is going ahead at the moment and the best crowd seen at Maynooth grounds for sometime were treated to a great game between Rathcoffey and Ballyteague. Rathcoffey won by a narrow margin. The date for the final will be published in the Leinster Leader.

LEIXLIP AMENITIES GROUP: NORTH KILDARE'S WORLD OF SPORT!

The year 1992 may well be of significance to our financial community, but to the sporting community of Leilxip 1991 is far more important. In that year, the well known and much respected Leixlip Amenities Centre celebrates its 10th anniversary.

The occasion will not be unacknowledged as the build up continues to add further sports and leisure activities to an already comprehensive list.

This season sees the introduction of Subbuteo, indoor bowls, teenage aerobics, judo and improved gym and sauna times. Centre manager John Kenny said: "We're always looking to cater for new tastes and are most approachable - indeed, we thrive on new challenges and suggestions."

The centre is home to many prominent clubs, Leixlip United F.C., with one of the largest schoolboy and schoolgirl sections in the country, have based themselves within the grounds and have improved pitch facilities considerably.

The local Athletics club train on a track behind the centre. Within its walls, badminton and basketball clubs avail of the facilities.

Add to that those who participate in aerobics, archery, yoga, martial arts, volleyball, hockey, not to mention the tennis courts outside, and you will see the extent of the facilities offered. Naturally, dressing and shower facilities are superb, while the gym boats the latest technology to satisfy those seeking trimmer figures or larger muscles!

The Centre even caters for those who perfer to sweat it out without moving - in it's Tylo sauna! John added: "The equipment is sourced carefully that it can be used by as many members as possible, regardless of ability".

And, in case any North Kildare people feel participation is restricted to Leixlip residents, the manager commented: "The Centre already has members from Lucan through Kilcock, from Clondalkin through Celbridge. All are welcome". However, membership is not necessary to attend most activities.

With family membership set at a most reasonable £15, and single and student membership also available, Leixlip Amenities Centre looks set to attract even more members to ensure it remains North Kildare's "World of Sport".

Membership enquiries to John Kenny on 01 - 624 3050.

Maynooth Community Council has been in existence since 1984 and was established by democratic election in June of that year. Elections are held every three years, the most recent being in March of this year. The Council is administered by an Executive committee which currently consists of six people: Chairperson (John Mc Ginley), Vice-Chairperson (Muireann Ni Bhrolcháin), Secretary (Peter Hussey), P.R.O. (Margaret Clince) and Joint Treasurers (Dominic Nyland and Matt Kirwin). All facets of Maynooth life are represented on the Council, with representatives elected from all the housing estates in the built-up area and from the outlying areas and three representatives from the College (one from the staff and two from the Students' Union). It acts as an umbrella body for all organisations in the town and it is the official voice of Maynooth.

According to its Constitution, its aims are four-fold:

- * To promote the well being of the community
- * To secure the facilities which the Council considers lacking in the area
- * To assist the local authority in exercising its office in Maynooth
- * To provide, or help to provide, employment in the Maynooth area The activities of the Council include:
- * Liaising with Kildare County Council on a range of issues, including planning and development, the construction of the bypass and link roads, the development of the halting site, lighting and provision of services, maintenance of areas such as cemetries, public parks and avenues, streets and roads and the promotion of general environmental concerns.
- * The application for Town Commission status for Maynooth.
- * Representing the public to the relevant authorities on local issues such as the playground, the Harbour Field, the Geraldine Hall, the Castle, An Post, Bus Atha Cliath, Iarnrod Eireann, Cable 7.V., the local Gardai etc.
- * Assisting in the establishment of Residents' Associations, Neighbourhood Watch schemes and Community Information Centre.
- * Organising a wide range of activities to foster tourism and to provide social entertainment for the residents of Maynooth. These ventures include the Tidy Estates Competition, Best Shop Front Competition, the St Patrick's Day Parade (the largest in Kildare), the Community Festival, concerts (both variety and rock), dances, discos, table quizzes fun events (such as treasure hunts, lotteries race nights etc), opening Carton House to the public, organising the Community Games, working with various bodies to have the Public Toilet Block removed and continously trying to press for the provision of a Sports Complex or Amenities Centre for Maynooth.

The Council currently has four permanent sub-committees (Community Games, Tidy Towns, Travellers Committee and the Editorial Board of The Maynooth Newsletter). Other sub-committees are established as the need arises (Communications Committee to oversee publications such as The Maynooth Information Directory; Festival Committee, St Patrick's Day Parade Committee etc).

The Community Council employs upwards of 14 people on FAS schemes, utilising both the Social Employment Scheme (for those over 25 years of age) and the Teamwork Scheme (for people aged between 18 and 25). Apart from assisting the sub-committees these workers also produce all Community Council publications including The Maynooth Newsletter, organise social and recreational events, provide secretarial services for the public and deal with the huge amount of daily queries to the office (ranging from information on accomodation to referral to relevant services and organisations in the locality). In the past they have organised art and drama classes for young children, produced small exhibitions and the annual Christmas show. the projects in which they are currently engaged is the compilation of a tourist brochure for Maynooth. Approximately 80% of the workers attain permanent employment during their term with the schemes or shortly after leaving them. The office has become central to Maynooth life and an essential service to the community in the region.

Some of the current issues which the Community Council is dealing with are the application for a grant from Board Failte under the Theme Town proposals; encouraging Kildare County Council to adopt a Community Youth Training Programme in the town (which would provide employment for more of Maynooth's young adults) and pressing for the construction of a fountain and land stand in place of the Toilet Block.

There are still a number of seats vacant on the present Community Council and any resident of Maynooth aged 18 or over is welcome to apply for co-option. Nothing will change in Maynooth unless the people of the town become actively involved in orchestrating development. By far the most effective means of doing this is to support your Community Council. Make use of it.

A PRESIDENT FOR ALL THE PEOPLE

November will provide a unique experience for voters aged under 35, who will be voting in their first presidential election. While enthusiasm for this expensive ritual of electing a political vacuum is noticeably lacking in many parts of the country, still, all voters are encouraged to go out and vote on the day. Who knows, it might make a difference.

EDUCATION FOR ALL THE PEOPLE?

Some readers may have been following the saga in our sister town of Celbridge, where the Archbishop has stepped in to dismiss the Board of Management of Scoil Mochua. The basis for this action lies in the Board's resistance to an order by the Archbishop that only children from a defined area would be enrolled in the school, and that brothers and sisters of children already in the school but who lived outside this area would have to go elsewhere. This decision appears to lack a sense of reality, as brothers and sisters would have to go to different schools causing considerable problems for parents who have to organise transport, and collection of children from school. There were other ways of solving the acknowledged problem of overcrowding which would not have led to protest meetings and pickets and considerable bitterness. A more democratic approach might have been tried, rather than this autocratic dictatorial approach.

The outcome is a questioning of the appropriateness of management structures in our primary schools, and this may not be a bad thing, if it leads to legislation which will enshrine the rights of parents to decide how and where their children may be taught in schools which are funded by their taxes, whether paid through revenue, or directly as voluntary contributions.

HALLOWE'EN

Finally, a word of caution to parents and children about the dangers of bonfires at Hallowe'en. The fire brigade is usually inundated with calls at this time, so take good care to ensure that things don't get out of hand. Don't leave children unattended. And lock up your dogs and cats, as the bangers and fireworks scare the living daylights out of them!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor,

It was with delight that I picked up a copy of October's edition of the Newsletter and saw the striking changes.

Apart from the new format it was great to see changes in content. The 'Student Section' in particular is long overdue.

I have to compliment the writer or writers of most of the new articles in the magazine - not only were they informative but they were also by and large hilarious.

The article on Maisie Keane also bodes well for the return of the 'Munitir Mha Nuaid' section.

Yours, Fidelma Cullen, Greenfield Drive.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor.

Many congratulations on your 'new look' Newsletter. The change is indeed welcome and greatly appreciated. Keep up the good work.

Yours sincerely, Martin O'Neill, Carton Court.

Dear Editor,

I would like to take a moment of your time in order to pass on my sincere thanks to all those who were involved in the preparation and organisation of the Treasure Hunt last weekend.

Along with two other couples, I took part in the event and we all had a very enjoyable four or five hours of entertainment. We travelled around the environs of Maynooth and found that locations previously thought to be unconnected, led to one another through high-ways and by-ways.

I can say for certain that I had never noticed that there were fairy lights around the square in Kilcock before, I never knew that there was a nursing home so close to Maynooth. I can now tell you how many tennis courts are available in the North Kildare Club and found that, for once, some litter lout's trade mark actually served a useful purpose by providing the reference for another clue.

The tension ran high as our patient driver, Joe Kelly, was, by turns, told to "Hurry Up" and then "Don't drive so fast" and then the back seat drivers gave varying instructions on direction. Stephen Kennedy thought through the clues carefully and was also told to "Hurry Up" as we ladies knew best (his persistence did pay off a couple of times). Carmel Kelly found out where Graves came from and Grace Kennedy was very quick on the up-take, especially when we tried to sort out the 'Treasures' at the end. We tried to avoid the wine car with the Misses Bean and Oliver but like the bad pennies, they turned up every where we went. They offered seemingly 'helpful' advice generously to us mature entrants. fortunately we relied on our own wisdom and found our way round quite satisfactorily. It is funny how often we were told we did not need to go where they had just been!! Maybe we had a different set of clues, what do you think? We must know every foot of the Round Tower site at Tagadoe but we still took ages to find the "3 white 20s". We casually tried to look inconspicuous as we checked out clues, when the next competitors arrived at the same spot. And still we did not manage to win.

There was only one black spot on the day and that was the cheats in the red car who, we were informed, removed the speed limit sign from the Nursing Home. It is a pity when four young men can make the effort to take part in an event of this kind and then seem to fail to find the right spirit. However it was themselves they let down, let's hope they learn from it.

I look forward to the next event and this time I will be keeping my eyes open for weeks before hand. Again thanks to the workers.

Carmel Hogan.

Dear Editor.

I would be very grateful if you would kindly publish a few words to express my gratitude to my many friends in Maynooth. My friends honoured me by inviting me to a very enjoyable social occasion held at The Springfield Hotel on October 2nd. The function was held to celebrate my Silver Jubilee of Ordination. During the social Very Rev. Father Supple PP presented me with a wallet of notes, amounting to £500, on behalf of my friends.

My dear friends, thank you very much. I cannot express my deep appreciation of your kindness and how much I treasure your great generosity and thoughtfulness.

I know many people contributed in making this a special occasion, including many of my old school-mates of 1947. But I would like to make special mention to Paddy Nolan, who was the prime mover in the whole affair. He was helped by Kevin Murphy, Owen Byrne, Gerry MacTiernan and many others. I am a proud man today with so many good friends. You will always be in my heart and in my prayers. May God reward you all and, God willing, we'll celebrate again after another 25 years.

Most gratefully yours, Fr. John Nevin MHM

ROYAL CANAL AMENITY GROUP NOTES

FASHION SHOW

Preparations are almost complete for our annual fashion show which this year incorporates the selection of "Miss Royal Canal 1990 - 1991". The venue for the show is the newly refurbished function centre at the Setanta House Hotel in Celbridge. Fashions on display will include: articles from the exclusive Libra Design Range, articles from the fabulous Family Album Range and bridal wear from the exquisite Roses and Wine Collection.

Proceedings commence at 8.30 p.m. and intending patrons are reminded that since the selection of Miss Royal Canal will preceed the fashion show, punctuality is advisable. The committee are pleased to announce that the host and compere for the evening will be none other than "The Elder lemon" himself, Mr Christy Walsh - that versatile broadcaster and presenter, by kind permission of CKR Radio. Fashion commentaries will be courtesy of the charming and redoubtable Joan Howard-Williams who has assisted us for the past five years. Family Album will sponsor a lovely prize for the best dressed lady and I am advised that there will be a selection of nice prizes for the raffle. Look out for some other surprises as well. There is also a prize for the best dressed gent. As stated in the last Newsletter there will be dancing after the fashion show until 1 a.m. so a good night's entertainment is assured. Out going "Miss Royal Canal", Miss Paula Buckley will be on hand to present the sash to the winner of this year's competition. Tickets for the show are very reasonable at £3 a head and there are group rates available, details of which may be obtained from any member of the committee. The committee are: Matt Kennedy, Chairman (Maynooth Park), Philip McDermott (Leixlip), Declan O'Connor, Ann Cotter and Gerard McGlinchey (all of Greenfield Drive), Hugh Sullivan (Kingsbry) and Eileen Fitzpatrick (Cluain Aoibhinn).

PIKES BRIDGE

The inclement weather of the last few weeks could not in any circumstances be considered as conductive to restoration work but such is the dedication and enthusiasm of the SES workers that they worked through most of it only stopping when forced to due to torrential down pours. The fruits of their labour is clearly evident to anyone passing the bridge, since the area has been much enhanced even in the short space of time that the team have been there.

MISS PAULA BUCKLEY

The Chairman and committee would like to extend sincere thanks to outgoing "Miss Royal Canal" Miss Paula Buckley, for staunch and loyal service during the year of her reign. Paula's work with the group in the area of Public Relations was much appreciated. We wish her well in the future.

LITTER

The harbour and its environs are now in regular use by many people and while the committee are pleased to see this wonderful amenity being used we would appeal to all those using it to take cognisance of the amenity, the environment and the community by keeping it litter free.

PATHS

As promised in October's Newsletter cleaning of paths has already commenced and people will again be able to walk along the banks with ease.

MAYNOOTH CASTLE RESTORATION COMMITTEE

At last a very small step in restoring Maynooth Castle's identity has come to pass. At the time of going to press the wiring for the floodlights is complete and connection is expected shortly. We have been assured that we shall have light for Hallowe'en. This is all due to the Castle Committee who acquired a letter of intent from the Hon. David Nall-Cain as present owner, and to the Office of Public Works, the prospective owners. The National Monuments section of the O.P.W. somehow found the money for payment of the installation of the floodlighting and Kildare County Council very kindly acceeded to our request to take the responsibility for the running cost.

All this did not happen of its own accord so many thanks are due to the committee for their time and dedication. Gratitude is particularly due to our hardworking and tenacious administrator, Mr Gerard Howard-Williams for not taking 'no' for an answer. He has worked untiringly behind the scenes, coordinating, badgering and ironing out all the problems, little and large.

This tiny step behind us we now have to concentrate on the main restoration project. FAS have approved the committee to take on a Social Employment Scheme. This scheme will be to research and co-ordinate all aspects of a project which the Office of Public Works requires before restoring Maynooth Castle. This project is to present a continuing use of a restored castle. We must make use of this fantastic asset and put the legacy of the past to work for the future of our town.

Mrs J. Howard-Williams - Secretary
Mr. M. Stapleton - Treasurer
Mr. E. McCann - P.R.O.

This committee is truely representative of Maynooth town but if there is an organisation or individual who feels they and their views are not represented then the secretary would like to hear from them. Her address is Carton, Maynooth.

During the coming weeks the activity around the castle will be caused by the Survey. Through our architect Mr. D. Stewart, lecturer in Architecture, third year students from the schools of Architecture & Surveying, College of Technology, Bolton Street, will be carrying out a survey, including an aerial survey. We know this is going to be of enormous value to the castle and again is a step to the establishment of a vistior's reception centre. There is a long, hard road ahead but with such a dedicated committee I'm sure it will achieve its aim - i.e. the restoration of Maynooth Castle.

Secretary.

BAND BULLETIN

The new music classes have been a tremendous success with all the students and their parents showing lots of interest and ability. We hope that their enthusiasm will see them right through the early and most difficult months when the going seems tough. Don't worry though if you can see this period out the rest will be well worth while, ask any member of our Senior Band. Although this is the 'Closed Season' as far as engagements are concerned, we led a Scouts parade to a special Mass in Kilcock last month and on Saturday 3rd November we travel to Leixlip for a parade and short recital in the Main Street. On Sunday 4th November at 11 o'clock we turn out for our most important engagement of the year - our Annual Mass for important engagement of the year - our Annual Mass for Deceased Members. We hope to be joined by relatives and friends of all deceased members for this very special occasion. Fund raising is an ongoing feature of our recent Bulletins, at least until our new uniforms appear on the streets, and the next episode takes place in the Leinster Arms on Friday 9th November where we are organising a night of fun with a Race Night and dancing to a live band. Racing begins at 9 o'clock sharp and the dancing at 11.30 p.m. There is a Bar Extension and tickets are only £3. We hope to see all our friends and supporters there for what will be a most enjoyable evening.

See you with all the news on this and other topics next month.

LYREEN RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION

Our news this month is all about SIGNS. Our new neighbourhood watch signs have now been received and locations are at present being agreed and we should see the distinctive blue and silver signs on display within a matter of weeks.

The most important signs as far as we are concerned are the NO ENTRY signs to be erected at both ends of the long lane between Mill Street and the Dunboyne Road. The County Traffic Committee have at last given the green light for the erection of these signs which will end many years of frustration for our Residents. During this period they have lived with the continuous threat from drivers of vehicles of all shapes and sizes who have used this lane as a race track to avoid traffic build-ups on the Main Street, without any regard for those using the lanes leading on to the long lane. In recent years, with the increase in numbers travelling to and from the city at weekends, the problem has grown out of all proportion. We are pleased that both the Gardai and the County Council have at last acknowledged that there has been a danger and we hope the new signs will be erected without delay. Let's hope that the next Newsletter notes will be reporting on the success of the New System.

KINGSBRY RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION

A lot has been happening over the last few months. Firstly there was the children's sports and bar-be-que day on the 14th of July. This was a fun day for the children with all kinds of races followed by a bar-be-que and a prize-giving ceremony. Later that evening the adults bar-be-que took place with bright coloured lights, live music and good food, cooked on the open fire. This, as usual, was a great opportunity to socialise with all your neighbours and have a good night of fun.

On the 18th of August the annual Golf Outing took place. After setting off early and treking around an 18 hole golf course the refreshments provided by Donovan's were more than welcome. The competition was stiff and the outcome of the day was Mr Matt Doran, first place. Second prize was won by Mr Dermot Coonan and the third by Mr Eddie Cunningham. The visitors prize was won by Mr Noel Byrne. But we have to say well done to all who took part and played so well. Unfortunately there were no female competitors but who knows perhaps next year they'll give the men a run for their money.

The prizes for the golf were presented to the winners on the 25th August at the Annual Dinner Dance, which was held in Ned Slevin's in Dunboyne. As usual Mrs. Slevin excelled herself in preparing an absolutely marvellous meal. Many thanks to both Mrs. Slevin and all her staff, who made everyone feel relaxed and comfortable during the night. There were spot prizes galore to be won thanks to the generosity of the local business as listed below.

TIDY ESTATE COMPETITION

In September we received the welcome news that Kingsbry won the Tidy Estates Competition. We were especially delighted with this placing as last year we were voted as the worst estate in Maynooth. At the end of May last, the Residents' association organized a 'Clean Up' day. The response was such a positive one that a tremendous amount was achieved on that day. Also (Mr. Doolin) our contract grass cutter has done a wonderful job on the greens this year. He has met with all our expectations and surpassed them. I think you will all agree that he deserves a commendation for talking such pride and care with his work. Also the Residents' Association members with the help of Mr. Mick Martin got to grips with the entrance stone and planted shrubs and plants around it which further enhanced the entrance to the estate. All these factors combined to improve the appearance of the estate sufficiently enough to raise our placing in the Tidy Estates competition from last to first. So well done to everyone concerned, without your help we could not have done it. Later in the month there will be a presentation to the Chairman of the Residents' Association, news of which will be forthcoming.

Resident's Associations Notes

Winner of Tidy Estate - Kingsbry Maynooth

Second - Cluain Aoibhinn Maynooth.

VANDALISM

In order to further enhance the estate the committee have planted new trees at various points throughout the estate. But it seems as if we are fighting a losing battle as the 'tree wreckers' are about once again. Several trees throughout the estate have been broken recently. What possible satisfaction can be attained from breaking these trees is totally beyond the understanding of most people but none-the-less the trees are still being vandalised. The Residents' Association would like to ask all residents to be more vigilant if they see someone tampering with trees, as at the end of the day it is us, the residents, who have to pay to have them replaced. Finally we would just like to say to the 'tree wreckers' themselves "PLEASE LEAVE OUR TREES ALONE".

Lastly, there will be a Fun Night Out in the form of a pub quiz early in November and we anticipate a good attendance on the night. Further notice will be sent through your door at a later date. The list of sponsors for the spot prizes for the Dinner Dance are as follows:

GREENFIELD ESTATE RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION

We are in the Season of 'Mists and Mellow Fruitfulness' again, but it is hoped, not of SMOG. Do what you can for YOUR environment this year from the beginning. It is also time for a general tidy-up of the Estates and your own gardens. The trees need some pruning and general maintenance and stakes may need to be firmed up and a check made that the tie is not biting into the flesh of the tree. It all takes time but many hands make light work!

Presumably everyone knows by now that Greenfield Estate was third in the Tidy Estates competition. We should aim to go up one place next year, at least. In the meantime, congratulations to the winners of first and second place - but look to your laurels, we will not be staying at third!!

Speaking of trees - it is terrible that the children and even young adults in the Estate have so little respect for trees. They are to be seen swinging on their lower branches until they tear off and the biggest black mark goes against the children - mostly young teens of GREENFIELD DRIVE - who have managed to completely kill one tree on the Green, by stripping it of bark. Some people suggest that they did not understand what they were doing, but their parents always claim high levels of intelligence for them. I wonder what excuse they would give for this vandalism on their own doorsteps.

Having criticised some young people, it is very nice to be able to give praise to others. There are two young gentlemen who should be considered honorary members of the Committee. They bring round the agendas, deliver newsletters, help out with the tidy-ups, give a hand with the fence on Laurence Avenue. In fact they turn up just about everywhere there is work to be done. They are Alan Quinn of Straffan Way and Damien Farrell of Greenfield Drive. Thank you lads! All you members of the Boy Scouts could do worse than to take these two lads as a practical example of behaviour.

And another vote of thanks is in order this month - firstly to the new Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Farrell, and secondly to all of you who have paid your subs. It was a record collection and is greatly appreciated by your hardworking Committee. Thanks.

Residents' Associations Notes

By the way, if you have paid your subscription and have not received a receipt, please contact your Committee member who will arrange one for you.

The fence on Laurence Avenue is making progress and work will be going on again this week-end and probably next week-end also.

The Committee confirmed the Association's support for the ACRA campaign against Toll Roads in the Kildare area and pledged to help in any way possible. Two members of the Committee attend the area ACRA meeting in Celbridge, one of whom, Michael Quinn, presently serves as Secretary for the local branch. The Committee agreed to support his continuing in that role. The Supper Dance is again on the horizon. The reservation has to be made within the next month.

CARTON COURT RESIDENTS' ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Committee was held in September. We are awaiting the date of commencement of the Neighbourhood Watch Scheme. A meeting with the Gardai has to be arranged for our matters to be formalized. At long last "the wall" has been re-built again. This work was carried out by the residents and a very fine job has been done. No doubt it will keep the draught off the road.

The A.G.M. will be held in this month and a full turn out is expected. A date will be arranged.

ACRA

A PRESIDENTIAL CONTEST! - BUT WHERE'S THE REFERENDUM TO ABOLISH GROUND RENTS?

Last Spring the Minister for Justice indicated that a Referendum on the issue of ground rents may be held at the same time as the Presidential Elections. ACRA welcomed this opportunity to finally rid the country of the feudal practise which requires households, whose houses were built prior to 1978, to pay in perpetuity a "black" rent for which no goods or services are provided.

However, despite a country wide campaign by ACRA to insure that the Referendum be held, we were most disappointed that the Minister announced that due to the long summer recess the Dail did not have sufficient time to approve the holding of a Referendum. This 'excuse' rang very hollow when we witnessed the speed with which legislation was enacted to enable the Goodman organisation to be saved from liquidation. Where there's a will there's a way.

The ending of ground rents now would have been most timely in view of two new disturbing trends. The first trend being the tactic of some ground Landlords to threaten householders in the Dublin area with re-possession of their dwelling despite a provision of the 1978 Landlord and Tenant Act which effectively states that no person can be evicted for non-payment of ground rent.

The second trend is the sell-out by some big Irish ground Landlords, namely Belton Housing, Irish Life and McInerney Properties to British ground Landlords who specialise in collections in England. Indeed we still have the national scandal whereby the State pays to English Landlords ground rents on 365 properites including the G.P.O. and Arbour Hill, where our 1916 leaders are buried.

Political Notes

In view of all of these facts ACRA calls upon householders in Kildare to request from canvassers for Fianna Fail's candidate a full and proper explanation as to why the Minister for Justice did not provide us with the opportunity to consign the ground rents to the dustbin of history.

Michael Quinn, Secretary.

LABOUR PARTY NOTES

MARY ROBINSON PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

Recent opinion polls which suggest that Mary Robinson has a real chance of winning the forthcoming Presidential election have given an added spur to our campaign in Maynooth. Members have been out canvassing over the past two weeks and the Labour Party are quite confident that if people come out and vote our candidate can win a majority of the votes in the Maynooth area. The response on the doorstep has been very positive to Mrs. Robinson particularly among women voters and there is a growing consensus that the electorate want a different kind of presidency after over fifty years of conservative, male politicians retiring to the Park.

By coming out and voting for Mary Robinson on November 7th you will be affirming your support for progressive politics and rejecting the tired 'no problem' cliches of the conservative parties.

LYREEN RESIDENTS

Maynooth's Labour candidate in the forthcoming local elections John McGinley, has recently been in contact with Lyreen Residents Association as follows:

"I have been informed by Deputy Emmet Stagg that the recent Co. Council meeting agreed to the proposal, put forward by the local Labour Branch on behalf of the Residents' Association, that will prevent traffic entering your area from the Dunboyne Road or from Mill Street. Access will be available from the lanes leading from Main Street and the Gardai have agreed to keep these clear of parked vehicles".

John and the Branch are glad to be of service in this matter.

Political Notes

STRAFFAN WAY

Following representations from residents in the area, Deputy Stagg has been in contact with the Co. Council regarding the provision of a screening wall between Straffan Way Green and the new motorway.

STREET LIGHT FOR DOCTOR'S LANE

With the onset of the dark evenings residents are again becoming aware of the poor public lighting which is provided in many parts of the town. Deputy Stagg has recently made representations in this regard to the Co. Council with reference to Doctor's Lane which is particularly badly served and has asked that an additional street light be provided in the area.

O'NEILL PARK PARKING PROBLEM

Following representations by John McGinley to the Co. Council in connection with the parking of trucks and cars around the entrance to O'Neill Park, the residents have now been provided with bollards for erection around the entrance and we trust this will eliminate the traffic hazard that was occuring there.

MOYGLARE ROAD IMPROVEMENTS

Residents attempting to negotiate the Moyglare Road are well aware of the very poor condition of the road. John McGinley has recently written to the Co. Council seeking a timetable for the completion of work on the road which is in bad need of repair before the onset of winter.

WORKERS' PARTY NOTES

ANNUAL COLLECTION

This year's local annual door-to-door collection was a resounding success, with receipts almost double last year's. We thank all those who contributed. Your contributions, however small, are vital to a party which depends entirely on the financial support of the general public, in the absence of the business donations which are the main lifeline of the bigger political parties, and which clearly reflect where the real interests of these parties lie.

MARY ROBINSON CAMPAIGN

By the time these notes appear, the Presidential election campaign will be in full swing in Maynooth. The Workers' Party has given its full support to Mary Robinson's candidature, in view of her outstanding record in defending the rights of the disadvantaged and of minority groups, and her outspoken position on the need for progressive social changes. Opinion polls have shown that her campaign has appealed to a wide section of the Irish public, and that ultimate victory is now on the cards. In Maynooth, the Workers' party has involved itself with the local Robinson Campaign Committee established at a packed public meeting on October 10 last, and is confident that the people of Maynooth will maintain the admirable progressive voting record which they have established for themselves over the last decade.

INDUSTRIAL POLICY

The Workers' Party held a special consultative conference on October 6 in Dublin to debate a Discussion Document on Industrial Policy prepared by the party's Economic Affairs

Political Notes

Committee. The document stresses the vital role of manufacturing industry in generating the wealth to expand the job-creating potential of the Irish economy. Existing policies are seriously defective in that, while industrial output is actually growing rapidly, much of the potential spin-off is lost to the country through imported goods and services and exports of profits. This is largely due to an overdependence on foreign firms.

The discussion document argues that industrial policy should place the emphasis on developing native Irish industry which can capture export markets. Because of the weak nature of native Irish enterprise, the state must take the leading role in creating a support structure capable of building up a limited number of sectors with export potential. A National Industrial Council is proposed, bringing together government, trade unions and private business in a single forum to reach a consensus on what needs to be done, and to obtain support throughout the community for achieving these aims. This Council would in turn agree on a National Industrial Plan, to be implemented with the assistance of a streamlined state agency which would replace the fourteen or so existing different state agencies which have a role in economic development.

Attended by some eighty delegates from around the country, the Dublin conference was a great success. Working through the medium of a set of discussion groups, the conference threw up a wide variety of ideas and concerns, which have been reported back to the Economic Affairs Committee. These will now be taken into account in a revised document, to be presented to next year's Ard Fheis for adoption as party policy.

FIANNA FAIL NOTES

Returning after the Summer break, it was gratifying to see the return of old members together with a refreshing influx of new blood to the Cumann.

AGM

This was held on 13 September last. There was a most pleasing turnout of members and prospective members and the committee elections were all well-contested. The new committee, under the continuing calm and committed chairmanship of Michael Caden, is finalising its programme for the coming year and it will be the principal topic for discussion at the next monthly meeting.

GARDA STATIONS

Our local representatives have been keeping their minds on important local issues over the Summer months and unfortunately local crime is a fact of life with which we must now contend. Deputy Sean Power continues to keep his colleague, the Minister for Justice, informed of local needs, in particular the problems created by the lack of a permanent Garda presence in the towns of Leixlip and Celbridge with our own station being open only in restricted hours during the day. Deputy Power will report back to the Cumann on developments very soon.

GOOD NEWS

It was good to hear also that North Kildare's branch of the Irish Wheelchair Association received a grant of £10,000 from the Minister for Social Welfare under a new Social Services scheme for Voluntary Organisations. The money is to provide the Branch with a new Mini-Bus.

NEW ROADS

The suppliers of shock-absorbers may not be pleased but motorists will be glad to reflect that their years of trial are drawing to a close. Dare we say it but it is likely that work on the Leixlip-Maynooth-Kilcock by-pass will start in 1991 and is expected to be finished within three to four years thereafter.

PRESIDENCY

For those who missed it, the Tanaiste and Fianna Fail candidate, Brian Lenihan, T.D., was in town last Friday, 12, October. His campaign bus arrived here after leaving Cashel that morning and taking in a number of stops on the way, including Athy, Naas and Clane. What impressed local observers was the vigour and enthusiasm for the canvass which he displayed at the end of a gruelling tour of the country and despite the stream of speculation about his state of health. Indeed, many of his younger tour-party seemed to be sagging at the knees praying for baths and bed while the Tanaiste himself revelled in his whirlwind tour of shops, pubs and populace in the Main Street. Then it was off for more of the same in Leixlip and Celbridge before making for Dublin.

MARY ROBINSON FOR PRESIDENT COMMITTEE

At a very well attended open meeting on 10th October the following Committee was elected to promote the candidature of Mary Robinson for President:

Chairperson: Mary Cullen
Director of Elections: John McGinley
Committee Members: Fran Walsh, Peter Connell, Pat Moynan, Fiachra O Ceilleachair.

The committee will be can vassing house to house in a 3 week campaign. Particular attention will be given to the College. (It was Mary Robinson who sought the rights for 18 year olds to vote in 1973).

Any members of the public who would like to help on Election Day are most welcome. If you can provide transport on the day please contact John McGinley.

MAYNOOTH BRANCH MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE GROUP

Martin Foran is a non political prisoner in Frankland Jaif, Durham. He says he has been framed twice by the notorious West Midlands Serious Crime Squad, the force responsible for the conviction of the Birmingham Six. Like the Birmingham Six he was convicted on the basis of an uncorroborated "confession" made while in police custody.

Martin has always claimed he is innocent and in 1980 he went on hunger strike. As a result he developed a serious medical problem and his life is now in danger. He is suffering with a very poorly performed collostomy operation. A nurse who examined him describes the way the operation was bungled as "Criminal Negligence". He has also developed cancer in his right eye and suffered a heart attack last year.

We the ordinary people of Maynooth can help by:-

- 1. Writing to Gerry Collins, Minister for Foreign Affairs.
- Signing the petition available for the Martin Foran Support Group, Box 2794, Dublin 4.
- Coming to the protest at the British Embassy, Tues. Oct. 23rd from 1 p.m. - 2 p.m.
- Coming to a public meeting A.T.G.W.U. Hall Middle Abbey Street, (Chaired by Mary Cullen) Oct. 24th 8 p.m.

Lastly write to:

Martin Foran, H.M.P. Frankland, Brusside, Durham DHI YD, England.

On Mon. 15th Pat Kenny's programme highlighted the case so we hope it will soon come to a successful finish.

EYE HEAR

ELEVEN YEARS ON...

A copy of the November 1979 issue of the Newsletter has recently fallen into the hands of Eye Hear. Readers may be interested to know what the main concerns of those far off days were.

It seems we were still talking about the visit of Pope John Paul II to the College, and expecting a subsequent wave of spirituality to wash over us. A welcome was extended to the Reverend J.F. Hammond, now moved to other parishes. The political parties were gently requested to remove local election posters. The highlight of the October meeting of the ICA was the visit of Mrs Camilla Hannon. The doubting Thomases of Maynooth had the temerity to cast doubt on the possibility of erecting the footbridge on the Straffan Road. Little did they think that the blue metal structure would ever provide a convenient location for the multi lingual graffitti which now grace its graceful contours.

Condolences were offered to Bernard Durkan on the death of his father. Joe Buckley was looking for a male shop assistant aged over 16 years - Sylvia Meehan of the Employment Equality Agency might like to see Joe to talk about the Employment Equality Act!

BernardDurkan told the Newsletter that the County Council intended to include the construction of a footpath at the Square along Brady's in the other works list for 1980. We're still waiting for that one. Bernard also submitted a motion to the County Council about the possibility of providing a swimming pool in Maynooth - seems like it will be easier to set about draining the Shannon. Interestingly, local labour T.D., Emmet Stagg was not mentioned.

There was an enthusiastic review of the History of Maynooth by Mary Cullen and Vincent Duffe - Mary is still in Maynooth to give us an update on the last ten years. Vincent is guarding the peace in other regions.

A meeting of the Geraldine Beekeepers Association was held on 8th November - did this group come to a sticky end?

The County Council was taking legal action against the builders of Cluain Aoibhinn to compel them to complete the estate - until the work was done (at a cost of £6,500) the County Council would not take over the estate).

Eithne Bean was awarded a £600 scholarship to Maynooth College - and acquitted herself very well in later years.

The perennial sore point of the Tidy Town's Judges Report noted that telephone kiosks were poorly presented, and that advertising was excessive, ostentatious, and out of character. The traditional style of shop fronts was to be admired and encouraged - with Coonan's and Caulfield's being singled out for praise. Readers will remember that Caulfield's is keeping up the good work, with its most recent Best Shopfront Award for 1990. At least the marks obtained have gone up from 104 to 109, so there is some improvement.

Birthday greetings were extended to Mrs Brigid Saults, on 1st November, and the same are extended again, for this year.

Finally as a sign of the times, and how some things change, and some things stay the same, here is a list of advertisers - work out how many are still around. Eye Hear thinks that eleven out of this list may be still in business, but as always is open to correction:

MISOGYNY

Hard luck to Maynooth graduate Michael Harding, whose play the Misogynist in the Abbey during the Dublin Theatre Festival attracted scathing reviews. A misogynist is a man who hates women. Maybe a mishardingist is a person who can't understand Harding plays.

COMMERCIAL DEVELOPMENTS

While Street Talking is taking a rest for the moment, Eye Hear is free to comment on recent commercial developments in Maynooth. The new Centra Supermarket which opened on 12th October certainly poses some challenges to the long established businesses on Main Street. These businesses have already survived the first Main Street Supermarket, O'Brien's located where marble floors now rule the Roost, and which moved out to better things on the Dublin Road and is now Quinnsworth. The new shop is bright, clean, and well stocked, and will certainly appeal to the many hundreds of students on the basis of convenience. Let's hope that the recent expansion in the Maynooth population will expand business overall, so that there is enough space for all to continue trading.

PETROL STATIONS

Recent developments in the Gulf States have had a direct impact on the petrol pumps, with prices leaping. Has anyone any explanation for the fact that Maynooth has equal numbers of public houses and petrol suppliers? Now that prices are high, and no free glasses or stamps are handed out to compensate, how do we choose which supplier to patronise? Eye Hear has noticed that the station in the Shopping Centre has provided add-on services in the form of windscreen washing while you wait - a very welcome service indeed. At least the human touch is still paramount in local service stations - but it's only a matter of time before the faceless forecourt is on hand, and motorists can fill their own tanks, and wash their own windows themselves.

MAYNOOTH CITIZENS INFORMATION CENTRE

Frances Daly, organiser of Maynooth Citizens Information Centre, and Norah McDermott, Deputy Organiser, attended a week-end seminar at Gort Mhuire, Ballinteer. The seminar looked at the vital roll of organisers and volunteers who man the many centres around the country. These centres are of vital importance to the general public, for information on matters of rights, social welfare, taxes, housing, etc. The seminar was organised by National Social Services Board who are in constant contact with the centres and update all their information. In Kildare there are four of these centres, Maynooth, Athy, Naas and Newbridge. There could indeed be a lot more if the volunteers were there and it is a service that is badly needed in the present time. Further information on Centres can be had from 628 5477 during opening hours.

Q. Can you tell me the age limit for child dependants under the Social Welfare System?

A. The age limit for child dependants is 18 years. Even if the child is working or claiming a Social Welfare payment in their own right the parents can claim the increase for them up to age 18. If the child continues in full-time education they may remain qualified up to age 20 or 21 but only in respect of certain payments.

In the case of any of the specific payments for lone parents they remain qualified up to age 21 if in fulltime education.

They remain qualified up to age 20 if in full-time education with the following payments:

Long-term Unemployment Assistance, Pre-Retirement Allowance, Invalidity Pension, Retirement/Old Age pension, Disablement pension. So, it is only in the case of what are regarded as short-term payments e.g. Disability Benefit, Unemployment Benefit and short-term Unemployment Assistance that the age limit remains at 18 irrespective of whether or not the child is in full-time education.

The payment for the child stops at the end of the school year and is resumed when the child is certified as having returned to school/college in the Autumn. In this event the arrears are paid back for the Summer period. The fact that the child worked or claimed Unemployment Assistance during the holidays does not affect the payment of the arrears.

TREASURE HUNT A HUGE SUCCESS

The Community Council's second treasure hunt on September 30th maintained its fine and noble tradition of totally confusing all participants and successfully jeopardising the navigational skills of dozens of Maynoothians. Bamboozlement ruled the day. The number of teams in the event doubled since our first hunt in the summer, with individuals and families coming from as far away as Johnstown Bridge and Straffan to take part. The route took our gallant hunters out to Kilcock, over to Celbridge and back to Maynooth - from 3p.m. to 7p.m.

Four teams tied on final scores whereupon the organisers (Peter Hussey and Carolann Reaper) evolved a mindless quiz to determine the winners later that night in Caulfield's. The survivors were eventually identified as Agatha Cunningham and family (i.e. Breda, John and daughters) who gained £50 for their efforts.

Meanwhile Peter and Carolann were poisoned in the parlour by Captain Peacock and cronies. The next hunt will take place in the drawing room for the goblet.

PROTECTION AND SECURITY OF THE ELDERLY

Recent years have seen a serious decline in respect for the aged and they have become increasingly the target for attack; with advancing years, slowing physical reflexes and their natural trusting nature they are very vulnerable to exploitation by conmen and Criminal opportunists. Hallowe'en Hallowe'en

FOR ALL YOUR HALLOWE'EN GOODS APPLES • NUTS • BANANAS

Hereunder are some security suggestions which if applied sensibly and practically will assist in keeping your homes and areas safer and more peaceful to reside in:

- 1. Front and rear doors should be fitted with good quality 5 lever mortice locks; safety catches should be fitted to all windows.
- 2. Never leave doors unlocked; rear doors and windows should always be closed when speaking to strangers at the front door.
- 3. Fit a strong door chain to both the front and rear door. A chain will allow you open the door a few inches before admitting a caller.
- 4. Door viewers are very useful for seeing callers before the door is open.
- 5. Be careful with your door keys; never hide them outside the house in what might appear a safe place.
- Keys should always be turned in locks even when in the house; if you lose a key the lock should be changed immediately.
- 7. Never give any personal information about yourself or your neighbour to any strangers who may call or telephone enquiring.
- 8. You should make special observations of strangers who call to your house and arouse your suspicion; note a full description of them; the Reg. No. and make of their car; pass this information to your Neighbourhood Watch co-ordinator or the Gardai.
- Persons claiming to be Inspectors or any kind of Officials should be asked to produce identification and be fully satisfied before you admit them to your home; if in doubt refuse entry and contact the Gardai.
- 10. If a forced entry is in progress take immediate steps to summon help; use the telephone if available and if necessary shout/scream to alert passers by.
- 11. If you do not have a telephone you should make arrangements for a system of signals to a neighbour indicating when you need assistance.
- 12. Good lighting inside and outside your home greatly assists in stopping intrusion to your home; time swiches can be used to provide cut-off with great effect.
- 13. Keep the minimum amount of money and valuables in your home; never leave such items exposed to public view; surplus cash/valuables can be deposited for safe keeping in Banks or other Financial Institutions.
- 14. It is advisable to keep a list of Serial No's/markings of all valuables in your home.
- 15. Keep important telephone numbers in a conspicious location near your telephone i.e.: Doctor, Priest, good neighbour and the priority Garda phone numbers as follows: Maynooth Station 628 6234; Naas This phone number gives direct contact to the Maynooth Garda Patrol Car 045 (97333); and of course in emergency diall 999 and ask for the Gardai. A telephone extension to your bedroom will assist without fuss in raising an alarm; keep the phone number of a reliable neighbour whom you can contact at short notice.

HALLOWE'EN

This is a period of joy and fun; it's the first break for adults after the Summer and prior to the Christmas festivities; let's all enjoy it without causing disruption.

Play your part to make it a pleasant but safe time, trouble free; Children and young people: Have your fun but avoid incidents of vandalism and rowdyism.

Garda Talk Continued

Parents: Exercise control over your children's activities during the Hallowe'en period. Know where children and young people up to 18 years of age in your household who live with you are, and supervise any bonfire occasions etc. in your locality. We appeal for your support and thank you.

GARDA STATION RENOVATIONS

Renovation work has commenced at the Garda Station; when completed it is hoped to have appropriate accommodation to provide an improved and more socially orientated service to the community. Be patient with us over the next few months while the improvements are being carried out.

Thank You.

Your Local Gardai.

REVIEW

WILD AT HEART at the Screen in College Street

David Lynch's latest cinematic work, Wild at Heart, is undeniably a highly accomplished stylish addition to his oeuvre. However in comparison to his earlier work most notably his magnum opus, Blue Velvet, it pales in significance. Having garnered the Grand Prix award in Cannes this year, Wild at Heart has opened to high critical acclaim. Such praise is justified in terms of the film's brilliant editing and photography yet the comic-book characters that pop menacingly in and out of the narrative emphasise more an exercise in style than in substance.

This style is punctuated in scintillating fashion by a powerful Angelo Badamenti score which backgrounds the anarchic odyssey of the central protagonists and lovers. Sailor Ripley (believe it or not) played by a suitably naive Nicholas Cage, and Lula Pace (Laura Dern). It is undoubtedly a 'violent movie', as described by Lynch himself, a claim immediately and graphically illustrated by the disturbing opening sequence. This violence alternates with a pervasive black comic touch to produce a cocktail of incendiary cinema that suggests a director with his tongue firmly in cheek,

The fugitive lovers ostensibly on the run from the grotesquely parodic figure of Lula's mother Marietta (Diane Ladd), encounter a menagerie of assorted oddballs on the trek to Big Tuna via New Orleans including the sinister figure of William Dafoe and the beleaguered character of Harry Dean Staunton. The narritive is gaggedly unpredictable emulating these slightly off the beam characters. It is this stimulating frisson of volatile cinema that demands that Wild at Heart be seen. However, it is the superb mini-series 'Twin Peaks' (currently showing on RTE and BBC) that firmly establishes Lynch as the king of American cinema.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Never peg shirts and blouses on the line from the bottom. The strain on the top part is too much and will wear out the bottom. Always peg at the shoulder.

On no account soak vegetables in cold water before cooking. It will only make them lose their mineral salts.

Prevent liquid running up the arm from a brush when whitewashing or painting by putting the brush handle through a square piece of cardboard.

Quite often scorch marks can be removed by washing in warm water and soap. Little more can be done, as it is the material which is damaged, white material can be bleached with peroxide.

Remember that cream or liquid rouge should be applied before powder. The dryer varieties should be put on afterwards. Rice water is better than starch for starching delicate lingerie. Silver washed in hot soapy water and then polished well with a leather will be bright and free from scratches.

Household Hints Continued

Stiff paint brushes will become pliable again if soaked, bristle deep, in vinegar heated almost to boiling point.

Stiffening organdie is best done by adding a little borax to the rinsing water.

To keep beds fresh and aired, the underblanket should be shaken and then put on the line in the fresh air and sunshine once each week.

Use a larger needle than necessary for working a jumper when casting on. You will find it is much easier to knit into the back of the stitch.

Umbrellas that have become shabby can be renovated by brushing with a solution of ammonia and warm water.

Very often a little cold milk added to milk when it is boiling will prevent a skin from forming.

When cooking cauliflowers, two lumps of sugar in the water will keep it white.

Excellent results can be obtained when jam making, if only small quantities are made at a time instead of one large boiling. You should treat fruit nets, canvas, chairs, hammocks and ropes with Cuprinol in order to prevent them rotting through exposure to rain and sun.

A WALK ALONG THE CANAL

One fine sunny Friday morning in September I donned the track suit and off I went, to walk from Mullen Bridge to Pikes Bridge. The first impression was the litter at the beginning of the walk and the second was the thistles I was facing. After the first 10 yards the thistles were not as bad as I thought and the Chaffinches were busy collecting the seedheads from them as were the Hedge Sparrows. The bright red berries of the Dog Rose reminded me of when I was young and collected them for the school funds to sell to Delrosa for Rosehip syrup. The Haws of the Hawthorn bushes and the Blackberry were also out in force. Someone else had also decided to do the walk and take a picnic with them, unfortunately they left the sandwich carton and mineral can, shame on you.

The dainty blue "Small Scabious" was supporting a big fat Bumble Bee, while in the canal the Yellow Waterlily lay basking in the sun. How nice to see the swans go by with there ugly duckling, but not for much longer, he/she is growing up fast. The "Scarlet Pimpernel" was wide open which meant the day was going to stay fine and sunny. In parts of my walk the ground was very compact and hard which meant very little growth but with a little rain the grass seeds and flowers will settle in and cover the balk patches. The Heron flew up and gave me a fright as I was only six foot away from him and had not noticed this patient fisher. The tiny blue Moths bobbed around from the Ragwort to the Narrow-leaved Vetch to the Red Clover. There are lots Elder-Berries for the birds to enjoy and plenty of seeds of all varieties, for the field mice and Voles. The leaves of the beech trees were turning bronze as the beech nuts were falling and the ivy that climbs up so many of the trees had large berries that pidgeons and crows seem to enjoy. In parts of the canal there are spaces where the young budding fisherman can sit with ease and you can see the Roach go swimming by, with lots of little Pinkeens.

It took me three quarters of an hour to get to Pikes Bridge but what an enjoyable way to spend some time.

COLLEGE NOTES

CRAMMING THEM IN

Ordinarily, for most students the term "cramming" refers to the intensive studying done in preparation for examinations. This year, however, the term has taken on a new meaning, as a sharp increase in student numbers has put physical pressure on space all over the campus and beyond. First Year numbers are up by over twenty per cent. In addition, there are reports that the numbers repeating are up on previous years. The total number of full-time students in the college is now in the region of 2,700. the increased numbers are in evidence everywhere. Packed lecture halls are the order of the day. As previously reported here, the Aula Maxima has been pressed into teaching service, and even then is having problems coping with some of the demands being placed upon it. The problem of feeding the student hordes was already beyond the capacity of the Arts Canteen before this year's further surge in numbers. The Students' Union, with its additional space and expanded catering service, has benefitted greatly from the spillover, and is reported to be doing a roaring trade, as are the various eating places in the town.

There is a particularly acute problem with accommodation this year, which hasn't been helped by the carry-over from last year's First Year, which itself was much larger than before. Very little new accommodation has become available, while the advent of the Intel company is already having a significant impact on the housing market in the area. While all new First Years have been catered for, there are still problems for later years, especially for students returning late from working overseas during the summer. Hopefully this will prove to be a temporary problem, as the College's own new apartment development, with places for 240 students, is scheduled for completion in March 1991. Meanwhile, as the Residence Officer's office works flat out to solve the immediate crisis, legendary rumours continue to abound about unfortunates sleeping under bridges, in haybarns, shoe boxes, etc.

As previously reported in this column, a new canteen facility is due for construction shortly, and many are hoping that the vacated space in the Arts Building will be converted into a major new lecture theatre. It is also expected that there will be a fresh move to reduce the number of subjects which First Year students have to do from four to three. This would have the effect of reducing the average numbers doing each subject, which would help to relieve the pressure on space. This, however, is likely to be only a temporary expedient, as student numbers entering third level are projected to keeping rising until the end of the decade.

A WORD IN YOUR EAR

What would Maynooth be without the Students? It's remarkable how that particular question keeps popping up whenever students have a good chat. Many locals would appear to believe that we students are privileged. Us, privileged? Believe me it is fairly difficult being a student in Maynooth College. It's about three years now since I discovered that I was going to Maynooth. I was privileged to go to Maynooth because no place else would take me. I actually wanted to come here however, not a common desire amongst Irish students. I remember at my first ever lecture that some lecturer asked for a show of hands to indicate those who had Maynooth down as first choice on their C.A.O. form. Very few put up their hands. Perhaps this trend has changed slightly in the last two years, but back then it was, apparently no surprise. Having spent a year or two in Maynooth most students tend to realise that they're better off here anyway. Therefore, the fact that they didn't want to come here in the first place becomes irrelevant. Getting into Maynooth is one thing" getting out is another.

Of course many students are privileged in the economic sense. They are the ones who never miss a social occasion, doss the whole year, fail exams and yet are back again the following year because their family can afford it. Then there's some who are unlucky in that respect. Miserable is the lot of the students who wait and wait for their grant cheque, enduring hardship until it finally materialises in the end. The first thing I noticed when I signed up for my first payment was the others who were receiving it. Some of them were farmers who had far more money than I'd ever have. That said, I was hardly going to hand it back in protest. Not all student money is spent in the Roost either, or the Union for that matter. Accommodation and food claims an awful lot from a student, and if such services are inadequate then you wonder whether you're privileged to be paying for such services. There is a way out. You could, if you were male, join the clerics; free education, free accommodation, free food and what more do you want? In time I've seen that there's more to being a cleric than playing internal soccer leagues, singing in the song contest, going to the films in the Aula and turning up to vote whenever there's an important S.U. referendum. A lot of students seem to have a lot of admiration for these boys. Then there's the cleric lovers. They're the innocent country girls who 'hang out' with these boys because they don't see them as sexual threats. Come January and February, the depressing times of the year, there are many boys who decide it's not for them. It must be tough. It's also tough for the rest of us students. Constantly one has to explain to people that no, you're not studying for the priesthood - or life as a nun even. Maynooth still only means one thing to a lot of people. The locals know differently, God bless them, for they have the privilege of putting up with us.

If we are privileged to get beyond first year, we often see things in a different light. In recent times the hatchet job at the end of first-year claims many souls, some deserving, some not. All too often older students forget they ever were in first year. We must remember that formative period when everything seemed so different. Those were the days when you scrambled to a nine o'clock lecture having had only a few hours sleep and nursing a hangover. Those often were the days when you didn't have your own house. Instead you had to go softly, softly at three in the morning so you wouldn't wake the family. Those were the days when everyone running the Union seemed like older wiser adults. Now it's the other way around I suppose. For me those were the days when you didn't know whether you'd be around next year. We've come a long way. It's amazing how little students know about Maynooth town. Over the years there have been the run-ins with the neighbours and whatever, but still we students live the life of an alienated minority. We are certainly not the privileged ones. Imagine living in Cluain Aoibhinn and having to face the hell of a walk into the village to get to a phone. It probably registers 999 calls only when you reach it! Then those of us who are commuters, how many times have we stood in the rain waiting for the bus? Locals are still afraid of students. Contrary to many myths, not all students are strange, drugged-out troublemakers. We may be perceived as being slightly immoral, but that's something Maynooth will have to come to terms with. That goes for inside the gates as well. It's amazing how the neighbours actually watch out to see how many members of the opposite sex go into the house next door. Some neighbours are sound people, like a lot of locals. No doubt some students might damage our name but the rest of us aren't that bad. Take a look at the houses we live in - are we privileged? The long grass in the front garden, the bare rooms and the second rate furniture - home sweet home. I forgot to mention the television licence man, feared by all students. Of course there's always the possibility of the landlords calling at the door and the ensuing scramble. Would it be fair comment to say that most of them don't care what goes on inside the door as long as you've got their money?

Down the country they tell us it's great to be in Maynooth. Well yeah it is sometines, I suppose, but many students don't agree. Many of us pass through this community without ever having taken part in it, and we didn't care. Maynooth community includes us too, we all suffer the same problems. Our houses get burgled too, we have to walk the dangerous roads and we too have to wonder what the thing is in the town square.

To return to the original question, what would Maynooth be without the students? My answer is that is would be far worse off. As it is Maynooth community is not complete without us. We're here, we've got our problems, but who doesn't?

LAZIN' ON A SUNDAY AFTERNOON, WITH ABSOLUTELY NOTHIN' TO DO.

Try as one might, it is difficult to suggest a solution to the perennial student dilemma of what to do in Maynooth on Sunday except to propose that one remains between the sheets until 'Glenroe".

The Aula Maxima committee show films every Sunday evening at eight o'clock but unless one is immune to the effects of close encounters with viewers of the yahooin' gobdaw persuasion it can be a frustrating and tiresome experience. Basically, nothing much happens in Maynooth on Sundays. However, there are four restaurants open: Kehoe's (from 11a.m. to 2 p.m.), the L.A. (10 a.m. to 2 p.m.), Patrick's (10 a.m. to 9ish) and Stephen Hero's (11 a.m. to 10 p.m.). Grab your Sunday papers and make tracks to one or all of these for the morning. Alternatively, there is usually an interesting assembly of after mass drinkers in the pubs from 12.30 p.m. to 2 p.m.

At 2 p.m. however, people point themselves towards roast potatoes and beef and leave the town practically deserted. Unless there is some special event taking place in the afternoon, nobody appears out until the late evening for a drink. The Community Council run occasional events such as treasure hunts (see elsewhere in this issue) and there are occasionally tournament matches run by the soccer club in the Harbour field. When nothing seems to be happening take the opportunity to wander around the outskirts of the town. Walks out the Moyglare and Celbridge-Straffan link roads can be particularly pleasant as can strolls along the canalbank. The latter has been renovated in recent years by the Royal Canal Amenity Group and extends for a considerable number of miles in either direction from Maynooth. If the County Council bothered about Carton Avenue at the top of the town this mile long walk would be an ideal attraction on a Sunday afternoon.

Dublin of course is only fifteen miles away and accessible by bus and train. You could make it in one time for the early afternoon showings in the cinemas (most of which begin at 3.15 p.m.) and cost less than £3. However there are no cinemas open after this until 8 o'clock. The theatres are unfortunately closed on Sundays. What's new?

When it comes down to it, your best bet for Sunday entertainment in Maynooth is to make as many friends as it is humanly possible to do so and spend the day visiting them. Failing that you could hire a video recorder from either Ultra Vision in the Maynooth Shopping Centre or The Movie Store on Mill Street and spend up to £2 per video (from the latter and from Xtra Vision in Greenfield's shopping Centre) on cold winter's evenings. Finally, if all else fails and you have exhausted every conceivable possibility, you could study.

LECTURERS ARE HUMAN TOO!

University teachers in Maynooth - as elsewhere - are a very variable and individualistic lot, thus rendering it difficult to make any general statement about them. They vary in the quality of their teaching and academic work, in their interest and commitment to their subject, in the relative importance attached to teaching and research, in their availability and helpfulness to students and in their humour and personal disposition.

Whereas the secondary school system, with its inspectors and set curricula, imposes a great deal of uniformity, the freedom afforded the university teacher allows him/her to indulge her/ his personal proclivities and idiosyncrasies. There is a certain degree of control over courses due to convention and tradition, and depending on the assertiveness of individual heads of departments, but for the most part, the individual university teacher devises his/her own courses and assesses the students' work here/himself. In doing so it may be noted that some teachers may forget that the student has to study other courses as well. Thus, impossibly lengthy reading lists, and perhaps unjustifiable courses of study are sometimes prescribed, leaving it up to the students' individual (or group) judgement to decide which reading and which section of the course, should get priority. Sometimes such a decision is easy to make, as when a prescribed textbook is followed closely. In other cases, lecture material may be drawn from a wide variety of sources, making it particularly difficult for the student to cover the relevant reading material. Confustion is sometimes caused where texts are prescribed and then virtually ignored in the actual lectures: this may be further complicated in the odd case where examination questions are set on material contained in the reading list, but not dealt with directly in lectures. As against this, there is the 'cushy' situation where an entire lecture or perhaps several lectures consist of a single summary of a single chapter or article. However, even here one needs to be on one's guard: I remember one univeristy teacher who followed this practice, but who always left a section of the relevant article out and then set a question incorporating the omitted section (just to make sure one had bothered to read the article). This raised some interesting questions concerning the teacher's attitude to the student. Some teachers seem to regard university education as a game of 'catch the student out". This promotes an air of disaccord in the teacher-student relationship. To a certain extent this attitude on the part of the teacher may be due to an only-to-frequently-well-founded belief that the object of the student is to obtain a degree (and therefore hopefully, a meal ticket) with the maximum of cunning and minimum of effort. It seems reasonable to suggest that, in order to obtain a degree in a particular subject, one should possess a broad range of competence in that subject. Too many students, it would appear, attempt to substitute a talent for question forecasting for such competence, and then feel aggrieved when this talent turns out to be ill-founded.

On the other hand, many teachers (hopefully the majority) are genuinely interested in imparting "knowledge" to their students, particularly those who are passionately devoted to their subject matter. It does not necessarily follow, of course, that simply because the teacher is interested in a particular subject, the student should automatically follow suit. At the same time, the teacher does find it rewarding when his/her enthusiasm is echoed by the student. Unfortunately, the number of students who do display a genuine interest in acquiring knowledge for its own sake is depressingly low. It might be that this situation would improve if course content was perceived to be more "relevant" to the students' needs. This raises some interesting questions about what determines course content. This is more likely to reflect the teacher's interests rather than the student's needs and one would not normally expect the two to conicide. For example, a majority of Maynooth graduates still enter the teaching profession, and many of those might welcome courses geared specifically towards the requirements of this profession. On the other hand, the great majority of the teachers at Maynooth would undoubtedly reject the idea of virtually turning the College into a teacher training centre, and would argue instead that the traditional function of a university is to provide a broad, liberal centre of learning. In theory, there is certainly something in this argument, although, whether this aspiration is actually realised in practice, and whether alternative functions for a university are preferable are debatable points. What is certain is that the final determination of how the university functions is a very one sided affair, with students having virtually no say in the matter.

Another interesting question concerns the traditional division of students into "honours" and "pass' categories. This system, although common in the "British" university system, is by no means universal. It may be that the function of selecting an elite group of student is to groom at least some of them to be the university teachers of tomorrow. It may be that for some teachers the honours students are all that matter: the all-too often silent majority of general students are suffering because their numbers are needed in order to keep the institution ticking over. In this respect it is worth bearing in mind that, almost invariably, the university teacher was once an honours student her/himself. An interesting question worth asking concerning any department is: Is the departmental programme built around the general course, with honours courses added on, or is it built around the honours students, with the "generals" (in fact they are the privates) thrown any old stuff depending on which teacher has an hour to fill here and there?

the question of assessment is obviously a topic close to the average studen't heart. Maynooth is again very traditional in placing heavy emphasis on the end-of-year examination in this respect. This system frequently places the emphasis more on temperament, organisational ability and luck, than on intellectual ability. On the other hand, a system relying heavily on continuous assessment places constant pressure on the student, making it difficult for him/her to engage in the extra-curricular activities which happily are still an important feature of univeristy life (although there may be signs that the proportion engaging in such activities is declining). Continuous assessment also facilitiates cheating: many universities have a thriving industry devoted to the production of sale of essays for students who could hardly write their names in examinations. A mix between examination and continuous assessment, therefore, seems to be desirable, although what the precise balance should be is difficult to say. In Maynooth, a maximum of around 35 per cent is generally allowed for continuous assessment, but even this relatively low figure is rarely approached by many departments. Many teachers feel a degree of affiliation to a system which they came through themselves, while the fact that continuous assessment generally means more work may also be a significant factor in the context.

The original purpose of this essay was to give the students an idea of what is expected of them by their teachers. Hopefully it will now be apparent that it is impossible to generalise in this respect. Some teachers are happy with regurgitation of lecture material; others are not; some may be in a good humour; some may not; some may be prepared to give the benefit of the doubt where a point is not clearly made; some may not; some are prepared to accept answers presented in point form; some require a coherently written essay; some are meticulous about grammar and composition; some are not. With regard to the latter, this writer has detected a decline in recent years in the 9am-10pm Mon-Sat 1lam-10pm Sun. standard of English among students, who are increasingly careless about grammar, punctuation and syntax. The rules relating to these were originally devised to make the meaning of the language clear; abuse of these rules can lead to ambiguity and confusion. The examiner who has to go back over a passage to decipher its meaning is not improving in humour, while the continuity of the presentation is disrupted. Where the meaning is not clear the benefit of the doubt need not always be forthcoming.

Some final points arising from experience over the years: when you have finished an essay, read over it again before handing it in. A surprising number of students fail to do this. The point is not simply to detect errors (which tend to be frequent) but to assess the coherence of the work as a whole. Too many students are happy enough to stitch together pieces from diverse sources almost at random: the teacher is rarely happy with the result. As regards essays, a further sore point is the use of references. Students read books and journals, yet never seem to learn how to use reference material. Of course, much worse than poor use of references is the complete non-use of references. Too many students are content to transcribe lengthy chunks of material from books without acknowledging their sources. As a result the material is presented as if it was the student's own: this rarely goes undetected, not simply because teachers may be familiar with the passage in question, but more likely because the sudden change in writing styles is obvious. Teachers are not simply being unduly finicky in this respect: they wish to see whether the student undersands what is being written about, and an ability to paraphrase accurately is a good indication of this. Finally, in relation to examinations, the one piece of advice which is hammered time and time again is this: answer the question asked. Too often, the student who has banked heavily on a particular topic coming up is so overjoyed to see the keyword indicating that topic appearing in a question that she/he immediately outpours all he/she knows about the subject, whereas the actual question will undoubtedly have specific requirements which either remain ignored, or appear only fleetingly in the answer offered. So read the question carefully before attempting an answer. And do not be too hopeful if you write a lot, but fail to answer the question, that the teacher will take pity on the grounds that the question was misinterpreted. The experienced teacher will know darn well that in most cases the student has simply prepared the wrong question and is determined to answer the anticipated rather than the actual question at all costs.

MAYNOOTH G.A.A. NOTES

Our senior football team finished the season on a losing note, when we were beaten by Carragh in the final game. This should mean demotion to division four next season but I understand that division four is to be discontinued and all teams accommodated in three divisions. This would seem to be a better arrangement. We wish Mick Nevin the best of luck on his inclusion on the Kildare Senior football panel. Pascal Ennis is not included on the present panel but no doubt his time will come.

TOM FLOOD CUP

The biggest crowd at our Moyglare Road grounds for many years witness a great game between Rathcoffey and Ardclough in the final of the Tom Flood Cup. Rathcoffey won on a score of 3 - 9 to 2 - 9 but credit is due to both teams for a display of Junior Football at it's very best. We thank referee N. Sutton who handled the game expertly, having refereed the U/14 match earlier in the afternoon.

Mrs. Flood, looking elegant in the brilliant sun shine presented the cup to the winning captain and after that both teams were entertained in the Roost lounge where they received their trophies. We wish to thank the manager of the Roost for his contribution and to all his staff for the excellent service. Also we wish to thank Diggins and Conway Construction and Sean Power for their contributions.

And of course Tommy Fay as always ensured that all arrangements ran smoothly.

Our senior team is playing in the Ardclough tournament on October 28th and it is now up to all the players to train and rally around the team trainers and management so as to end the season on a winning note.

UNDER 14 TOURNAMENT

The final of under 14 Tournament for the Peter Delaney Cup was played on Sunday 14th October 1990, between Maynooth and Kilcloon. This was a very entertaining game between two evenly matched teams. Maynooth played with the breeze advantage in the final half and found it difficult to get scores against a very determined Kilcoon defence. Maynooth led by three points at half time. In the second half Maynooth playing against the breeze had to withstand very strong pressure from Kilcloon but showed great character and went on to win by Maynooth 5-2, Kilcloon 1-7. This was a great team effort from Maynooth and it would be difficult to single out any players. Pat Delaney presented the Peter Delaney Cup to U/14 Captain H. Nevin.

The Maynooth team was:

P. Flood, P. Leacy, P. Grant, S. Noonan, J. Higgins, E. Hassett, M. Greene, O. Nevin, T. Farrell, C. Ryan, H. Nevin, N. Gillick, M. Nugent, J. Lawlor, P. Burke, P. Farrell, D. Mooney, A. Gaffney, D. Farrell, S. Griffin, J. Greene, T. Fay, D. Murtagh, D. Nevin.

LEINSTER JUNIOR CUP Maynooth Town 2 Newbridge Town 1

Maynooth just about deserved to advance to the second round following a fighting display against our fellow Kildare rivals. With the team beginning to show signs of improvement from earlier season games it is hoped this improvement will be maintained long enough to mount a serious league camapign.

LEINSTER JUNIOR LEAGUE PREMIER DIVISION

Drumfinn Celtic 2 Maynooth Town 2

The concession of an early penalty to our Ballyfermot rivals was a cruel blow to our hopes of a good showing in this league game. Further misfortune was to be our lot 5 minutes into the second half when a defensive error just outside our penalty area allowed the Drumfinn centre-forward a clear route to goal and he made no mistake. Maynooth took this setback seriously and came more into the game. Sean Moore reduced the deficit midway through the half with a wonderful solo goal. With ten minutes remaining Tony Kearns sent over a perfect cross for Gerry Treacy to head a deserved equaliser.

F.A.I. JUNIOR CUP

Maynooth Town 1 Town Celtic 3

An excellent Town Celtic team from Wexford deserved to win this game by virtue of their greater midfield supremacy. Maynooth opened the scoring through Dessie Farrell but were pulled back to equality before half time. An early second half goal for Celtic left Maynooth with an uphill task and our hopes were finally dashed 5 minutes from the end when Celtic converted a penalty.

LEINSTER JUNIOR LEAGUE 2nd TEAM Maynooth 1 St. Vincents 4

Maynooth had a chance of sharing the points up to half time when we trailed 1-2. The greater physical strength of the visitors told in the second half when they scored twice with reply. Joe O'Riordan scored Maynooth's goal and was unlucky not to add to his total. Mick Murphy also played well for Maynooth.

Maynooth 1 St. Matthews Boys 2

Maynooth made the visitors fight hard for their two points and with a little more sharpness in front of goal could have had better reward.

DUBLIN & DISTRICT SCHOOLBOYS LEAGUE

Our U/12 team continue to blaze along in Cups and League. One defeat in seven games is a fine achievement for those boys considering that it is their first season in competitive football. Trainers Mick Murphy and Mick Kelly have this team in tip top shape and could well vie for honours at the close of season. Eamonn Gallagher continues to score in every game almost and is our top scorer. Pierse Ryan is now finding his form and has got himself on the score sheet of late. Darren Naughton is now our "jack of all trades" and pops up everywhere to lend a foot where needed. Niall Naughton in goal is doing a Packie Bonner and keeping his defence on their toes with his vociferous contribution and excellent goalkeeping. Patrick Carroll, Declan Buckley, David Coughlan help to make up a very strong defence.

A strong midfield including Eoin Guha and Stephen Brennan provide plenty of scoring opportunities for the forward line which thrives on the pinpoint crosses of Martin Byrne.

The club extends sympathy to Joey Edwards on the death of his father Brendan R.I.P.

We would like to thank Noel Brady Clock House and Denis Enright Broker for their sponsorship in the setting up of our Members Lotto Draw jackpot. We are indebted also to Maynooth I.C.A. for use of hall to provide tea and sandwiches to our Cup Conquerers town Celtic before their long journey home to Wexford. To Lily and Kathleen for doing the catering and our washer-up "Kitty". Noel Brady Clock House helped defray our costs by providing an ample supply of sandwich fillers.

We are very proud of the fact that one of our members Dessie Farrell was recently selected for the Leinster Junior League Representative trials. The eventual outcome was his selection to represent the League in a friendly game against Dundalk. A 4-2 win for Dundalk underlined the present high standard of our League and Dessie played a major part by scoring both goals for the Junior League. He has now set a standard for others to follow and we may soon add to our tally of players who have represented the club at Representative level.

We would like to thank Joe Wall Cardinal Press for his recent sponsorship of tickets.

MAYNOOTH BOW OUT TO DETERMINED FOXHILL

Maynooth Town 2 Foxhill (Athy) 3

Despite scoring as early as the 3rd minute, controlling the game for long periods and, at times, playing some neat football, Maynooth Town still contrived to lose this entertaining 2nd round Leinster Junior Cup match.

Furious assaults on the Foxhill goals in the last five minutes eventually produced Maynooth's second goal in the 91st minute but by then it was too late and a determined Foxhill outfit had gained a surprise, if well merited victory.

The game had opened on a very bright note for Maynooth when full back John Geogheghan overlapped down the left, found Gerry Tracey inside, who in turn set up Dessie Farrell just inside the box. Farrell's right footed shot beat the Foxhill keeper and found the far corner of the net.

Inspirted by this great start Maynooth pushed forward, playing very neat football in midfield and creating a lot of space down the left wing where Geogheghan, Tracey and Moore combined to good effect. Despite their total dominance in the first 15 minutes, however, Maynooth failed to create a further chance in this period, and after 18 minutes Foxhill gave notice of their intentions by hitting the Maynooth post and Derek Murray was forced to clear the ball off the line. Three minutes later Maynooth keeper Mick McGarry turned a 20 yard shot around the post. It was now mid-way through the first half and 'The Town' were allowing their grip on the match to slip. A 20 yard shot by Dessie Farrell after 27 minutes produced an excellent save from the Foxhill keeper but this was to be Maynooth's last shot in anger for the rest of the first half as they were pushed back by a battling Foxhill midfield.

Just on the half hour a poor kickout by Mick McGarry only succeeded in finding Foxhill's no. 10 whose mishot shot was finished off by the visitor's left winger. Two minutes later a sweeping Foxhill move out of defence saw the ball crossed from the left and headed home by the Foxhill centre half with the Maynooth central defence badly caught out.

Sports News

The tables had now been completely turned on 'The Town' and in the ten minutes leading up to half time their concentration and teamwork fell apart. Their frustration at letting the match slip from their grasp was also neglected in two bookings - Derek Murray and Joe Edwards - for heavy tackles.

Half time saw the introduction of Paul McCourt for Gerry Tracey but just four minutes into the second half the Maynooth defence was again exposed and the ball was crossed dangerously from the left. A scramble ensued at the far post and with the ball ending up in the Maynooth net the home team were left with a mountain to climb. Heads visibly dropped at this stage and it was not until a good shot by Dessie Farrell on the hour that Maynooth began to show signs of life. Almost immediately a free kick on the edge of the Foxhill box was cracked off the post and two minutes later Tony Kearns worked himself into a good shooting position only to blast it high and wide.

This proved probably the crucial period in the whole match as Foxhill were pinned back in their own half. Substitute Fergal Barton, together with Gerry Thompson, Farrell and Edwards won a plentiful supply of the ball around midfield but the quality of the final pass seldom troubled a well organised Foxhill defence. A tremendous shot by Barton produced the save of the match from the Foxhill keeper and although Maynooth increased the pressure in the final ten minutes most of the attacks faltered due to a series of poor crosses. The much sought for goal finally come in the 91st minute when a free kick by Dessie Farrell on the edge of the box broke to Tony Kearns who scored from close range. Shortly afterwards the final whistle blew and one was left with the certain knowledge that if only Maynooth's 2nd goal had come half an hour earlier this cup tie might have been saved.

As it was thought justice was probably done and Foxhill's battling performance against their more illustrious opponents certainly delighted their band of travelling supporters.

For Maynooth Town, their Junior cup campaign ended in bitter disappointment and the players will know better than anyone that they had the talent to win this match. The failure to capitalise on Farrell's early goal and the subsequent inability to convert sustained second half pressure into a badly needed second goal, in outline, represents a summary of why the match was lost. Foxhill's sweeper certainly booked an accomplished player but that may be partly because the Maynooth attack failed to put him under real pressure. On the positive side Derek Murray was always solid in his defensive duties and Dessie Farrell battled manfully in midfield even when the tide was flowing against him.

TAE KWON DO

Maynooth youths brought honour to their town as they swept the board at the Tae Kwon Do all Ireland Finals recently. It was obvious from the full car park that Maynooth Parish Hall was filled to capacity on Saturday 29th. Saturday was a special day for those involved in the organisation as it was a time for upgrading or perhaps down-grading of the students individually. To coinside with this was the presentation of the trophy to the organisation for winning the overall team award in the all Ireland Tae Kwon Do Championships recently. Mr. McClelland and Michael Devereux were in charge of the whole operation in the Hall and are the teachers of Tae Kwon Do in Maynooth.

The art of Tae Kwon Do demands total discipline from the students. Without this discipline Tae Kwon Do would not be effective as a marshall art.

Maynooth Parish Hall is filled every Saturday morning, Monday and Tuesday with students ranging from eight years old up to fifty (both male and female). Both of them instruct approximately sixty people in the art and discipline of Tae Kwon Do. Fifteen in all competed in the competition, most of which returned with one medal or another.

Martin Traynor, John McLoughlin, Sean Foy - 21 points, Carol Nolan 3 points, Robert Kennedy, Anthony Kennedy, Jessica Kennedy, Ciara Power - 13 points, Gillian Power - 12 points, Cahill Power 13 points, Andrew Rowan - 10 points, Robert McKeon - 12 points, Cian McGinley, Andrew Clark and Richard Leavy.

Mr. Michael Devereux won a gold Medal in the Senior Blackbelt competition and is of International Standard.

The Presentation was made to the Maynooth School by Mr. Robert Howard, the Sixth Dan of the countrywide organisation. It was a great triumph for the small disciplined club and parents and relatives cheered them on as they received the trophy.

Hail Mary

Despite the vagaries of the proportional representation system, the Irish people have demonstrated a desire for change in the existing structures, through the recent election of Mary Robinson as the first woman President of Ireland. The election campaign, far from being the coma inducing ordeal expected by so many, developed into an exciting, if ultimately bitter battle between what some might see as the forces of the old and the new. The next few months will be a time of reflection for all political parties, none of whom can sit complacently back on their laurels. That the Irish people want something new is clear - but what exactly do they want, and do they all want the same new something? And who of the existing parties will be able to decipher the signals?

The Newsletter has already hosted a visit from Ms Robinson, during her whistlestop tour of Maynooth, and we look forward to another presidential visit, as the Office will have to be painted again by then - Ms Robinson will soon gain the impression, like the Queen of England, that everywhere she visits reeks of fresh paint. But in the meantime, could we call on the supporters to remove all election posters before the Tidy Towns Competition judges arrive.

Scale The Heights?

It was good that the recent rumpus in the college over accommodation for wheel chair bound students has been resolved. Edward Jennings, from Cork, has multiple sclerosis, and is a second year student in the community work certificate course. Last year there was no problem in accommodating Mr Jennings on the ground floor in the old campus residences. This year, somehow, the accommodation was not available - Monsignor Ledwith, the College President stated to the Irish Team that "We have no lay student accommodation until the Spring when the residences are ready". Now, happily, suitable accommodation has been found, but not without the intervention of Mr Jennings' fellow students who brought the matter to public attention. If a solution had not been found in this case, Mr Jennings might not have been able to complete the course. Isn't there something wrong about a society where people can be prevented from participation fully in everyday life, on the basis of their mobility, because they cannot scale the stairs unaided?

Ole, Ole, oh dear

The violence and mayhem which followed Ireland's draw against England in the European Cup match in Lansdowne Road seems to have spilled out as far as Maynooth. On the night of the match, a number of hooligans, not all of them transient fans on their way home to the west, ran amok in the Main Street, causing damage to windows and cars and at least one bus. This was not the only affray in the Main Street in recent times, if recent court cases are anything to go by. We can only call on the Gardai to exercise vigilance to ensure that this element are kept off the streets.

Mary Robinson Election Committee

Dear Editor,

On behalf of the committee I would like to say 'thank you' to the people of Maynooth.

Firstly for giving our canvassers such a warm reception on your door step. Secondly for coming out in such great numbers to give your number 1 vote to Mary Robinson.

The progressiveness of the Maynooth electorate in voting for Mary Robinson is surely a vote of confidence in Ireland's ability to be part of the New Europe of the 1990s.

Thank you.

John McGinley, Director of Elections.

Dear Editor,

In reference to the article written by Fiachra O'Ceilleachair in the Student and College Section of the Maynooth Newsletter, (Oct '90), I would like to thank him for his insightful account of student life in Maynooth College. However, I do feel that he portrays a one-sided and a rather sarcastic view of what it is to be a student studying for the priesthood.

Mr. O'Ceilleachair in his article unashamedly maintains that if one wishes to overcome the difficulties which may face students, "You could, if you were male, join the clerics; free education, free accommodation, free food and what more do you want." Obviously he is not even remotely aware of the facts surrounding clerical life in Maynooth College. If the seminary life is so attractive, as Mr. O;Ceilleachair would have us believe, why is it that students are not queuing up to join, even if only for the free education? The fact is that clerics do make large commitment to their training. If Mr. O'Ceilleachair took the time to inquire among clerics he would soon realise that to hold such an idiotic belief, as he does, is narrow-minded in the extreme.

Mr. O'Ceilleachair is not content, however, to wallow in such a mis-construed belief but adds insults to injury by suggesting that clerical life is confined to "playing internal soccer leagues, singing in the song contest, going to the films in the Aula and turning up to vote when there's an important S.U. referendum" and , as he so emphatically states, socialising with "innocent country girls who 'hang out' with these boys because they don't see them as sexual threats. Generally speaking, clerics make a valuable contribution in all aspects of college life, through their continued support and involvement in a variety of clubs and societies and their participation in many activities ranging from sport to cultural events hosted in the college each year. Indeed, what makes Maynooth so special is the harmonious interaction between clerics and lay students, to the benefit of the student body as a whole.

Next time when Mr. O'Ceilleachair puts pen to paper he might choose to state facts instead of presenting the people of Maynooth town with blatant lies.

Yours sincerely, Michael Harhen.

St Patrick's College, Maynooth.

Dear Editor,

I would like to congratulate you on the new format of the Newsletter and the many new features included in it. It is a great credit to all concerned and provides those who live in the town and College with an enormous amount of up-to-date information.

Keep up the good work.

Sincerely yours, Rt Rev Msgr Miceal Ledwith President.

ROYAL CANAL NOTES

Christmas Draw

Where have the months gone? Summer is hardly over and yet Christmas is almost upon us and this means that it's time for the Annual Christmas Raffle. This years prizes include a B&I travel voucher, a hamper, a fruit basket, bottle of whiskey and more. The winning ticket will be drawn at a function in the "Roost" on 11th of December. The session will commence at 9.30 pm with a number of musicians in attendance.

Flashback to an eventful year

The coming of Christmas also signals the end of what has been an excellent year for the Canal. April saw another Trade Fair in association with the boys National School. As with other years this venture was very successful. May was one of our busiest months. Maynooth/Kilcock Lions Club approached us with a request to participate in the "Royal Canal Jamboree" which we agreed to. This was such a vast undertaking that it required a tremendous effort from both the committee and S.E.S. workers who gave of their time freely to assist. Committee Members assisted in every area of the organisation of the "Jamboree" even to the extent of exchanging their "Sunday Best" for overalls to assist engineers from local firm Stateside Scaffolding to erect a huge "Grand Stand". The Jamboree was an outstanding success. Then on May 27th the refurbished harbour at Maynooth was re-opened. This again required a lot of preparation and organisation. It would be remiss of me to mention Kathleen Brewster and John McKeon of the O.P.W. who performed the formalities on that date and who have been a great motivating force in the entire restoration. The opening of the harbour was the curtain raiser to the re-opening of the canal from Blanchardstown to Mullingar which occurred on the following day after which the first boat rally on the re-opened canal took place. In July the Annual collection was taken up and the people of Maynooth were as usual very generous with their support despite the fact that it was holiday time.

By the time you read this the Fashion Show/Selection of "Miss Royal Canal" will have taken place and I have no doubt that the time and effort expended on it's organisation will ensure a good night for patrons. All in all it has been a good year for the committee and the people of Maynooth and it's environs to see the main harbour re-opened and work well in hand at Carton Harbour work on the island, because of its delicate nature and is being undertaken exclusively by O.P.W. and will shortly commence.

Thanks.

On behalf of the chairman and committee I would like all the people of Maynooth and surrounding areas for their generous support in 1990. We look forward to your continued support in 1991 and take this opportunity to wish the people of Maynooth, and those of our loved ones unable to get home for Christmas; peace and contentment this Christmas.

BAND BULLETIN

Our Uniform Fund received a tremendous boost last month with the success of our Race Night in the Leinster Arms. Thanks to the generosity of a host of sponsors we have almost reached our target which two years ago looked impossible. The racing was exciting, enjoyable and profitable for some and when the horses had departed the capacity attendance let their hair down to the music of the Partners. Before we knew it the night was over but we are delighted that so many enjoyed themselves in such a good cause.

We hope to see those same revellers as well as many many more when we pick up where we left off for our Sixties Night in the Hitchin' Post on Sunday 9th December. Music will be provided by the Sound of The Sixties (alias the Partners plus 3 of our own Band Members: Kevin Boyd, Oliver Bright, and Paddy Boyd), the same combination responsible for the entertainment at our last and very successful Sixties Night last April. Dancing starts at 9 pm and admission is £2.50.

The other important event from last month was our Mass for deceased members. We were pleased to see so many relatives of deceased members at the Mass. In a departure from previous years we were happy to welcome our Honorary Vice-president Mr. Phil Brady and Mrs Michael Dunne, daughter-in-law of the late Paddy Dunne who took part in the offertory procession. We would like to thank Fr. Supple for his kind words expressed during the Mass and it is necessary to know that he has given up some of his valuable time to gain a deep knowledge of the history of St. Mary's Band. For this we are indeed grateful. It's Christmas time once again and we shall be playing our part in continuing the tradition of Christmas Carols in Maynooth. the town has expanded so much in the past few years and it is no longer physically possible to visit each area as we did in previous years. We shall, however, try to compensate by attending Maynooth Shopping Centre (courtesy of Quinnsworth) and Greenfield Shopping Centre in the days before Christmas Day. On Christmas Morning we turn out for our Traditional Parade to 11 am Mass and on New Years Eve we help to herald the arrival of 1991 in the Square at midnight. As this is the final Bulletin of the year may we take the opportunity of thanking all our supporters most sincerely for their wonderful help throughout the year and wish all of you a Happy and Holy Christmas and a Peaceful and Prosperous New Year.

See you all in 1991.

I.C.A. NOTES.

The November meeting was held on November 1st, and was presided over by Madeline Stynes.

Our guest speaker was Mr. Lennie Murphy of Maynooth Fire Brigade, who gave a very interesting talk on fire dangers in the home.

The monthly competition - The best flowering pot plant - was won by K. Burnes, second was M. Stynes and third, R. Hanley. December's competition will be for the best homemade Christmas card. Crafts continue on Monday nights from 8 to 10, and badminton on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 11 am.

On Friday November 30th, at 8 pm, we will hold a Fun Bingo Night in aid of a local good cause. Admission £1. All are welcome.

Our next meeting will be on Thursday December 6th.

OLD PEOPLES' COMMITTEE

Our main fund-raising event of the year, the Sale of Work with the Wheel of Fortune, took place on Sunday November 18th. We haven't a final total yet but we have topped £3,000 - a magnificent achievement.

So many people helped in so many ways that it is impossible to single out individuals so we would like to thank everyone who helped in any way at all. The money will be well used for providing fuel and holidays and for putting on the various social events which are much enjoyed by many of the elderly in our community.

The Christmas Party will take place in mid-December; we will be notifying everyone of the time and place. Members of the committee will be visiting the elderly in hospital during December. There will also be a gift of coal delivered, during the month, to these at home.

Finally, as the festive season approaches, we would like to wish everyone a very Happy Christmas.

SWIMMING CLUB

Splash News. The second swimming term began 24th November and will continue until 23rd February 1991. There will be no swimming on 22nd and 29th December or on 5th January 1991 as the pool will be closed for the Christmas holiday period. We start back on the 12th January with a family swim, an opportunity for parents to see the progress made by their children and a chance for all the family to have a swim. The buses will not be operating that day. The fee's remain the same for this term. We appeal to all our members to please let us know in advance if they will not be attending a new session, this enables us to offer places to children on the waiting list without undue delay, and keeps the running costs at a minimum.

Wishing all our members and their families a very Happy Christmas and a Prosperous New Year.

GREENFIELD ESTATE RESIDENTS ASSOCIATION

Well, it has arrived!! No excuses from guests who did not arrive or from the Tidy Towns judges not being able to find Greenfield Estate or for thinking we are part of Carton Court or Rail Park or whatever. We are marked as Greenfield Estate for all the world to see, and beautiful too! The selection of the stone for the estate name was left in the capable hands of Mary and Richard Farrell of Greenfield Drive. And obviously, they have impeccable taste! The spot was selected by the Committee with some sound advice from Matt Callaghan of Straffan Way and was put in place thanks to the practical help of Patsy Mooney of Celbridge Road who was a resident of our Estate. Our thanks to all and compliments on a job well done.

It all seems to be positive news this month. The venue for the Supper Dance has been selected. Once more we return to Slevin's of Dunboyne. We investigated far and wide and for price and menu it was impossible to beat Slevin's. Prices for the meal alone varied from the same as Slevin's but without the trimmings, to about £20.00 for a good menu selection. The estimated number attending the function decides the size of the room and while another venue offered a similar sized room, the dance floor was only half the size of Slevin's dance floor. A number of groups were looked at, but once again we have plumped for the old favourites - "The Partners". they played recently at a 60's Night for the St. Mary's Brass and Reed Band and they were excellent. They had a new member who added greatly to the quality of the music. Having checked out everything and everywhere else locally - Slevin's and the Partners win hands down. So the date has been set as Saturday, 9th February 1991. We look forward to the event and hope to see many of you there.

In the meantime, we wish each and everyone of you a happy Christmas and a prosperous New Year. We look forward to your help and co-operation in 1991 and hope that some of you will make a New Year Resolution to join the Committee and play a practical part in the maintenance of the Estate.

Political Notes

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION SPECIAL

The national implications of the recent Presidential election have been analysed almost to the point of numbing boredom by the media. However, Newsletter readers may still be able to arouse some interest on how the election results went locally. For purpose of comparison, the election results in different areas are given in the following table.

Percentage Distribution of the Vote per Candidate

- 1	Robinson	Lenihan	Currie
National	38.9	44.1	17.0
Kildare	42.7	42.2	15.2
North Kilda	are 48.3	37.6	14.1
Maynooth	44.6	39.2	16.2
Leixlip	49.1	37.0	13.9
Celbridge	50.0	37.0	13.0

While the national and Kildare figures are taken from the official declared results, the local figures are based on the tally parties under the usual efficient direction of Charlie McCreevy T.D. This involves noting the first preference on each voting paper as it is unfolded by the Official count staff, who turn each paper up for viewing after it is unfolded. Kildare tallies have a reputation for great accuracy.

The figures show that, unlike the national result, Mary Robinson headed the poll in County Kildare, albeit by a very narrow majority. However, the nearer one got to Dublin in the county, the stronger was the Robinson vote. In the North Kildare area as a whole, embracing the Celbridge Electoral Area of Kildare County Council (Leixlip, Celbridge, Maynooth and Ardclough), Mary Robinson almost got one half of the total vote, and actually reached that magic figure in Celbridge.

Maynooth was slightly more loyal to the other candidates, but still produced a clear lead for Robinson. However, there were some interesting variations between the seven polling booths into which Maynooth is divided. Robinson won in six of the seven boxes, the exception being box no 53, where Lenihan won decisively with 53% of the vote to Robinson's 35%. This box is made up of most of the town centres, Greenfield Lane, Greenfield Phase 1 and some outlying areas. There may be evidence here of an older population voting along traditional lines.

M. McCarron & friend, Austin Currie Election Committee.

Robinson did best 51% in Box 57 (mainly Rail Park and Laurence Avenue) followed closely (50%) by Box 51 (mainly Beaufield, Carton Court and part of Cluain Aoibhinn). Contrary to expectations in some quarters, Robinson came out on top in Box 52, including the College vote, although her vote here was below average for the town, at 41%. Currie did best (20%) in box 55 (most likely Kingsbry with part of the Town Centre). His worst performance (12%) was in Box 53 (above), where Lenihan did best. Apart from the latter, the only box where Lenihan was above average (40%) was Box 56 (Maynooth Park, Newtown, O'Neill Park). His worst performance (30%) was in Box 57 (Rail Park, Laurence Avenue).

Readers interested in comparing the above voting patterns with those in last year's General Election should dig out the July 1989 issue of the Newsletter and do it themselves.

WORKER'S PARTY NOTES

Robinson Victory

The Maynooth Branch of the Worker's Party was naturally delighted with the Presidential election, not just nationally, but in Maynooth itself, where Mary Robinson came out decisively on top. Party members played a very active role in the local Robinson Campaign Committee, and we take this opportunity to congratulate all concerned for the very thorough programme of canvassing, leafletting and postering which was undertaking.

Both the election campaign and the eventual result brought a breath of fresh air to Ireland's long-stagnant political scene. Old moulds were broken and new voting patterns established. Not only has the position of women in Irish society been greatly enhanced, but a new receptiveness to progressive ideas and issues has been created. While no great immediate changes can be expected from the election outcome, Ireland has nevertheless made a major step forward on the road to a more open and tolerant society. At local level, the experience of joint cooperation between groups and individuals of like mind on key social issues has been a very rewarding one. We look forward to further opportunities for pursuing such co-operation.

By-pass Confirmed

Worker's Party representative, Commissioner Catherine Murphy, has been informed by County Manager, Gerry Ward, that financing for the long-awaited Leixlip-Maynooth-Kilcock by-pass road has finally been given ministerial sanction. Tenders for the work are to be sought in the near future, and construction is expected to begin in June 1991. The traffic situation in Maynooth has gone significantly worse in the last year or so, but at least the definite prospect of eventual relief will make the problem that much more tolerable in the meantime. Of course, the benefit of the by-pass to Maynooth would be greatly reduced if tolls are charged on the new road, and this will be resisted strenuously by the Worker's Party at both local and national level.

Rail service improvements sought.

Commissioner Catherine Murphy has recently been in contact with Mr Oliver Doyle, Product Manager of Iarnrod Eireann's suburban rail services, concerning the need for improvements in the Maynooth commuter rail service. Among the matters raised were the timing and reliability of services to and from Maynooth, and the possibility of a late night service on the line. Regarding the latter, particular emphasis was placed on the need to accommodate Dublin based students wishing to avail of the College Library facilities at night, or wishing to attend the various evening activities and functions which go on in the College. Mr Doyle agreed to seek further information from the College authorities and to keep the situation under review.

Action Sought on O'Neill Park parking problems.

Commissioner Catherine Murphy has been in touch with both Kildare county Council and Maynooth Gardai concerning the problems being caused for residents of O'Neill Park due to parking of vehicles at the entrance to the estate, especially on mart days. It is hoped that, with sufficient pressure, a satisfactory solution to this problem can be arrived at in the near future.

MAYNOOTH CITIZENS' INFORMATION CENTRE.

Q. I have been on Disability Benefit for five years. In July I was widowed and have been awarded the Contributory Widows Pension and my Disability Benefit has been reduced to half-rate. It seems that it will only be paid for 390 days and that I will have to work again for 13 weeks to requalify for another 390 days. Its highly unlikely that I will be able to work again.

A. Prior to January 1988 the women entitled to claim half-rate Disability Benefit could be paid it indefinitely up to age 66, provided they had 260 weeks PRSI paid.

Since January 1988 women receiving any of the Ione parent payments were no longer entitled to any Disability Benefit when they were sick. Claims already in payment were not affected.

From the 6th April 1990 half-rate Disability Benefit was reintroduced for these women in return for their paying PRSI. However, it was conditional on their having 260 weeks PRSI paid and it would only be paid for 390 days. To requalify they must work again for 13 weeks.

Interestingly, the women who had continued sending in medical certificates for credits had their payment restored automatically on 6th April this year and in their particular cases their payment will last for as long as their claim remains unbroken. It is not restricted to 390 unless they break their claim.

LABOUR PARTY NOTES

Our New President

Maynooth Branch of the Labour Party would like to thank all those who contributed to Mary Robinson's great victory in the Presidential election - especially you the voters. At the local level a vigorous campaign was conducted under the expert supervision of Director of Elections, John McGinley. With the cooperation and assistance of local members of the Workers Party, all houses in Maynooth were canvassed and leafletted and the high profile of the campaign, spearheaded by the Labour Party members, compared very favourably with that of the other two candidates.

How Maynooth voted is examined in detail elsewhere in the Newsletter.

The fact that Mary Robinson easily topped the poll with 44.6% of the vote shows that the people of Maynooth consistently support candidates putting forward progressive political ideas. The tremendous vote achieved by Mrs.Robinson is part of a pattern which has seen Emmet Stagg top the poll in the town in both local and general elections.

This Branch is determined to build on this success and with hard work, and the continued support of the people of Maynooth, we look forward to next years' local elections with confidence.

Maynooth Traffic

The volume of traffic passing through Maynooth continues to increase and throughout much of the day, Main Street is congested with a long line of articulated trucks, lorries and cars. We all look forward to the opening of the by-pass which should be a tremendous boon to Maynooth-but only on one condition-that it is toll free. Labour councillors Emmet Stagg and Colm Purcell have recently sought a commitment from Fianna Fail, Fine Gael and PD councillors on Kildare Co. Council that they will oppose the imposition of tolls. No such commitment was forthcoming. Elections to Kildare Co. Council are now only six months away. Labour councillors elected to the new council will strenuously oppose tolls in Kildare. We believe that the other parties cannot to be trusted on this issue.

Still on the subject of Maynooth traffic: following representations by Emmet Stagg, the yellow box junction in The Square was recently repainted following the completion of surface dressing of the road.

Convent Lane Footpath

Residents in Convent Land have asked Emmet Stagg TD to request the Co.Council to repair the footpath leading from Main St. The County Engineer has replied that-"The entire path needs to be raised. There is no finance for this at present but is is proposed to include such work as part of strengthening work on the Dunboyne Road in 1991 which will be done if a grant is made available".

Maynooth Castle Lighting

The reaction of Maynooth residents to the recently installed lighting system for the Castle has been very positive. As an active member of the Castle Restoration Committee, local Labour representative John McGinley expressed himself as-well satisfied with the results of his hard work on the project.

New Residents Association

The Branch extends warm congratulations to the residents of Phase 3, Greenfields on the formation of their residents association. The Association can be assured of the fullest support from local Labour representatives Emmet Stagg and John McGinley. At the residents request the following matters are currently being pursued on their behalf:

- . the repair of public lighting in the estate
- . the cleaning of storm drains
- . the repair of broken kerbing
- . the landscaping of open space in the estate.

Public Lighting

Arising from a survey of the state of public lighting through Greenfield estate carried out by John McGinley, Emmet Stagg has been in contact with the County Engineer seeking to have broken lights repaired. John has also made representations to Iarnrod Eireann seeking to have public lighting at the junction of the railway bridge and the Clane Road repaired.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL NOTES

THE CURRENT POSITION REGARDING "THE THING"

There have been a number of positive developments recently in the Community Council's campaign to have 'The Thing' in the square removed. The following correspondence gives an overview of the recent progress made in this campaign. It includes a letter from the E.S.B. in response to John Mc Ginley's request that the company voluntarily relocate their substation from the square thereby facilitating the relocation of 'The Thing'. Subsequent to the receipt of this letter we wrote to the E.S.B.'s board of directors requesting them to adopt the initiative on behalf of the people of Maynooth. We are hopeful that the response will be a positive one and that the E.S.B. will waive the costs of relocating the substation.

Other letters included hereunder reflect the overwhelming support for the campaign given by some of our local T.D.s and councillors, for which we are extremely grateful.

On a lighter note, Ms Mary Leahy, 5th class teacher in the Maynooth Primary School, asked her students to design a replacement for the 'The Thing'. Thirty nine pupils took part in the enterprise. Ms Leahy selected the best five and forwarded them to John Mc Ginley so that he could select the winning design. The five selected by Ms Leahy were the work of the following:

Aengus O'Connor Neill Farrelly Simon Murphy David Tarpey Raymond Bright

The five designs are all extremely elaborate and display considerable planning skill and method. The best plan in Mr Mc Ginley's opinion was that of David Tarpey, which outlined a spacious square with a fountain and steps as centrepiece, a one way traffic system and included parking spaces and flower beds. All five of the plans are on display in the library on Main Street.

The Community Council would like to thank Ms Leahy and her students for their wonderful initiative and efforts.

Correspondence regarding 'The Thing'

1. 9 October 1990

Dear Mr Mc Ginley,

Since your letter regarding the substation in Maynooth a number of meetings have taken place with Kildare County Council. The cost of relocating the substation has been estimated at £13185.00. In addition the County Council would be asked to procure the site in question (at the south east corner of the square), provide a building and all excavation reinstatement associated with the cabling.

A Design section awaits the instructions of Kildare County Council at this stage.

Yours sincerely, Luke Shinnors, Customer Service Engineer - Area Services, E.S.B.

World Cup in Turin

Another World Cup eluded the Irish Team in Italy in October. This time, Maynooth man, Hugh O'Sullivan returned empty handed, having secured tenth place in the World Truck Drivers' Championship in Turin. However, Hugh and his team of three, Michael Mills, Ballyteague, Peadar O'Brien, Kilcullen; and Paddy O'Brien were handicapped by having to drive unfamiliar right hand drive vehicles, and hope to move up in the placings at the next championships-due to be held in South Africa.

The traditional College Carol Service will take place in the College Chapel on Wednesday 19th December at 7.30pm. Please note that no tickets are required and seating will be allocated on a first come first served basis. Messiah fans will be glad to hear that rehearsals for next years' performance started on 15th October. Handel's Messiah will be performed on 3rd March next - a must for all music lovers.

Intel(ligence)

The impact of the new Intel factory is already being felt with the increase of traffic in and out of the plant, and the rumours that Intel is planning to swamp the accommodation market for miles around. This Autumn, Intel has aimed to recruit 150 people to work in semi-conductor manufacturing, one third of these would be graduates. As very few people in Ireland have experience in this area, it is hoped that Irish emigrants can be attracted back. From remarks made by Human Resources Manager, Pat Casey, it appears that women won't feature among this 150. Explaining that these recruits would require up to 18 months special training in the States before relocation to Ireland, Mr.Casey told the Irish Times "if he's married to a Dutch woman in Eindhoven it could be awkward. relocating him twice - to the states and then back to Ireland."

Does this mean that even if she's married to a man from Kilcock she can forget it?

North Kildare invades the States

By now Cincinnati,Louisville,and Lexington,Kentucky will have recovered from the friendly invasion by the stalwarts of the North Kildare Rugby Club. As far as Eye Hear's limited knowledge of sport goes,normally there are 15 players on each side in a rugby match. Why did NKFC send 27? Maybe they can't count in the US? And why did they need twelve 'supporters', and what did they do. The lavishly illustrated tour programme leaves more questions than answers. Sean Bagnall,age 40+ plays on the side line; Denis Fry, plays on the third bar stool on the left; Donal Houlihan's (40+) position is former hooker turned rancher; Edward Kavanagh (40+) is a former out half now smoothie; solicitor Damien Maguire is the official tour fall guy; and Trevor Reilly (38) is playing retired centre (local entrepreneur with a flair for avoiding serious work).

Gaeltacht Scholarship

Congratulations to Jim Mara of Copper Alley who was awarded a voucher for an Irish college of his choice in a competition organised by the ESB and CONCOS (Comhchoiste Naisiunta na gColaisti Samhraigh). Jim was one of 100 successful entrants from among the many 1000s who entered from all over Ireland.

No home at the Inn?

Eye Hear has said it before, and will say it again - Maynooth needs a hotel. Especially after hearing of best selling author, and historian, professor Joe Lee's experience at a certain local establishment which offers bed and breakfast accommodation - to those successful in locating a key. Professor Lee was forced to move elsewhere when intensive searching failed to unearth the missing key. With all the distinguised, and even undistinguished visitors who pass through Maynooth every year, surely it is time a decent hotel was built to accommodate them?

While there is already outline planning permission for 60 houses, what about using it for the new hotel site? Just a modest suggestion, but maybe the neighbours might not agree. With frontage to the harbour and canal, access to the railway station, it would be an ideal tourist attraction.

Wheels for Daniel

The work colleagues and friends of Liz and Alan Monahan of Kingsbry organised a Race Night in the Royal Dublin Hotel in early November to raise funds for a car for the couple. Sadly, their baby son Daniel, born in April has cerebral palsy, and requires frequent visits to the Central Remedial Clinic in Clontarf for physiotherapy and other treatment Without a car, these visits would be impossible. So, with a little help from their friends, the wheels have been provided, and Daniel can get access to the best of treatment, to allow him to fulfil his potential.

JOHN NEVIN SILVER JUBILEE

We the undersigned would like to thank most sincerely on behalf of Maynooth Mortality Society and the class of 1947 at the National Boys School and all those who contributed in anyway towards making the party in Springfield Hotel on October 2nd, such a wonderful success. Your generosity enabled us to present Fr. John with a wallet of notes totalling £500.00. As it would be impossible to thank everyone individually, please accept this notice in grateful appreciation.

New Tennis Courts

Michael Lyster of the "Sunday Game" officially opened the 2 new courts - The Association wish to thank the parents who contributed to the Bond issue. The courts are a decided asset both to the school and the town and at the moment the formation of a tennis club is being discussed.

Fundraising

It was decided at the A.G.M to send out envelopes regarding the £5 voluntary subscription. These are being prepared at the moment and should be returned to the school or handed in at the Parent Teacher Meeting.

A monster Bingo is planned for Sunday 16th Dec in the Parish Hall and we are looking for your support - Our thanks here to Owen Byrne, John O'Connor and their hard working bingo committee.

We are thinking also of having a Social Night in the New Year with the revival of the American Tea Party idea a possibility.

Bond Issue

The Bond Committee is a sub-committee of the P.T.A. committee and consists of Seamus McManus (Chairman), Joe Kelly, Irene Matthews, Mary Farrell and Tom Ashe. Thanks to the parents the tennis courts are in place and the profit this year is a large all purpose hall for the school.

So buy a bond even if you have one already, your money is redeemable up to 5 years, all bondholders are in a draw for £1000 at the A.G.M. The winner at this years A.G.M. in October was Ms Josephine Moore.

W. Caughlan, P.R.O.

Josie Moore is presented with cheque for £1000 by Michael Lyster, Maynooth Post-Primary Draw.

PRESENTATION CONVENT PARENTS' ASSOCIATION.

Our AGM was held on October 16th.

Our guest speaker was Dr. Maeve Martin who gave a very interesting talk on exceptional children.

Refreshments were served, after which the various officers gave their reports. We were very pleased to announce a successful year of fundraising. Donations were made to the school towards the cost of an alarm system, maths equipment, library books, PE expenses, music tapes and a scholarship to the Gaeltacht. This was all made possible due to the continued generosity of the parents. A new committee of 13 parents was elected.

Sr. Aquinas gave a short talk urging parents to develop the reading habit in their children.

Outgoing Secretary.

RUSTY'S CHRISTMAS ADVENTURE

By Kathy and Michael Kelleher.

Once upon a time, there was a little dog called Rusty, He was just one year old, and was always eating Da's favourite slippers. Rusty lived in Maynooth with Mum, Dad, Kathy and Shane. They were always having wonderful adventures, but none compared with the adventure Rusty had on Christmas Eve. It all began on Christmas Eve when mum announced that the whole family including Rusty were going to Dublin to see the Christmas decorations.

"Ole Ole!" sang Shane, out of tune, when he heard the news. Kathy jumped up and down with excitement. Rusty wagged his tail so much that he felt dizzy. Off he went the merry band on their new adventure.

Very shortly they arrived in Dublin and headed to the City Centre. The children's eyes were bright with excitement. Rusty's tail wagged and wagged. Fairy lights were everywhere, all bright with different colours. Carol singers were at every corner. The streets were full of people, all smiling faces looking forward to the celebration of the Lord's Birthday.

Each shop window was like a Aladdin's Cave, full of toys and magic. The children wore out their noses pressing them against each one. Rusty got up on his hind legs to look in.

Eventually they found themselves at Switzer's window. Rusty had never in his life seen anything like it. He found himself looking into Santa's Toy Factory. The elves were working away making all the toys that Santa would deliver throughout the world. There was an elf putting a large bone into a sack and Rusty's mouth drooled at the sight of it. He was sure that this would taste even better than dad's favourite slippers! He longed for the bone so much that he did not notice the rest of the family moving on. Suddenly he looked around. Not a familiar face in sight! He yelped with fright and scurried up the street looking for the family. They were nowhere to be seen! Poor Rusty became very afraid. The city no longer looked like a friendly place as all the shoppers had to go home. Soon the streets started to empty and Rusty found himself all alone.

News Columns

All alone! He had never been all alone in his whole entire life before this. He looked up and down the deserted street and shivered with fright. It was dark and cold and there were shadows everywhere. He trembled and quaked with fear. He cowered into a shop door and grew numb with cold and fright. He wished and wished he was at home in front of the fire where he belonged. He started to whimper like the frightened little dog he was! Soon his whimpering turned to crying and after a little while he started to how!

And how he howled! He howled and howled right up to the stars. Then he suddenly forgot his howling as he watched one of the stars moving across the sky all on its own! He had never seen a star do that before. It got bigger and bigger like a pool of light rather than a star! The pool of light still kept coming closer and closer and gradually he could begin to see inside it. You would never in a million years guess what he saw! Inside the pool of light was a beautiful sleigh loaded with sacks being pulled along by eight reindeers! And inside the sleigh he saw a jolly man dressed all in red, calling to the reindeers! "Now, Dasher! Now, Prancer and Vixen! On, Comet! On, Cupid! On, Donner and Blitzen!" The sleigh landed in the middle of the street right beside Rusty. The driver had twinkly merry eyes, rosy cheeks and a snow white beard. Rusty did not even feel the slightest bit afraid and his tail started to wag! "Are you lost, little dog?", the driver asked. Rusty barked to say "yes". "Well, hop abroad!", said Rusty's new friend. As soon as Rusty jumped on to the sleigh, it took off up into the sky!

Rusty looked down and could see the city far beneath him. They were flying through the night sky at an enormous speed. The sleigh turned and they started heading inland. Soon Rusty and his friends were flying towards a village and started to come down from the sky. They landed with a gentle bump on the roof of one particular house. Rusty's eyes litup! He knew the house! Then, with a whoosh, down the chimney went Rusty and his jolly friend with a big sack!

Rusty found himself at home in the living-room of his own house! He could not believe it! His heart jumped for joy at his good fortune! Everything looked exactly as he had left it that morning. He could see all the Christmas decorations, the crib and the Christmas tree. Right on top of the tree he could see the bright golden star Kathy had put to remember the one that shone over baby Jesus's stable.

Rusty watched quietly as his jolly friend filled the children's' stockings above the fire guard and placed more toys and gifts around the bottom of the tree. His eyes twinkled at Rusty. Then, with a whoosh he flew back up the chimney to the sleigh and reindeers. Then he was gone, sleigh, reindeers and all!

Rusty was very sleepy. He snuggled deep into bed, full of dreams of Christmas.

On Christmas morning, Kathy and Shane woke up all sad at losing Rusty. Their joy when they went to the living room and found him all snuggled up in his bed.

The end.

Garda Talk

"Tis the season to be Jolly" - Very appropriate for Christmas Season, but not to be falling in/out of cars with drink consumed. Again we advise our community of dangers of driving vehicles with alcohol. Just stop and think for a moment - serious accident - loss of licence for 12 months, a heavy fine and or imprisonment. These are the realities which you should consider before going out for a night and intending to drive home with a few jars in you.

The Gardai will be operating Checkpoints, and the drinkdriving laws will be rigidly enforced. Don't push drink on drivers, the "one for the road" era is long gone.

Approach to Christmas

Everybody should take extra care of their property over the next few weeks, particularly those of us who intend travelling to Dublin for the shopping. Park your car in a supervised car park (it's worth the few bob), mind your cash/cheque book. Don't show large sums of money - remember somebody else is also watching. Business people should also note that this is also a busy time for our criminal fraternity - they also will be stocking up for Santa. Be vigilant.

Traffic / Parking

I'm sure that everybody living in Maynooth and our friends who pass through must have noticed how heavy traffic is becoming. Until our by-pass is underway, we will have to do our best. I must say that the County Council are keeping the situation under constant review, and anything that can be done will be done. It is the indiscriminate parking that causes the Main St. to be blocked, so please park your vehicle properly.

Dinner Dance

Yes Maynooth Gardai are holding their 1st Dinner Dance in February 1991. We are looking forward to it, and everybody is welcome. More details on that in next months issue.

And finally to each and everyone of you, the people of Maynooth may we wish you a peaceful Christmas, and the seasons blessing.

FILM REVIEW

The Field

This is the second feature film from the award winning Noel Parson and Peter Sheridan partnership, and clearly hopes are strong that The Field will feature in the Oscars in 1991. Performances have been packed out in both the Savoy and the Screen for the last few weeks - however for the few who may not have seen it, this reviewer is inclined to recommend that you wait until it comes out in video.

The film is based on John B Keane's play, which in turn was based on a real incident where a land dispute turned to murder. Some changes have been made in the plot and the film is now set in the thirties. The simple plot revolves around the decision of a widow to sell a three acre field by auction which the Bull McCabe (played in Shakespearian fashion by Richard Harris) has rented for years. The Bull figures that he shouldhave first refusal, as he has worked and nurtured the field through the years.

An American buys the field, and an attempt to scare him away with a beating ends in tragedy. A sub-plot involves the Bull's two sons, the elder, Seamie who hanged himself, and the younger, Tadhg, a violent thug, who falls in love with a traveller, and who decides to go off with her. There is also Brenda Fricker, playing Christy Brown's mother goes west, brooding around the lazy beds in floral pinafores and wellingtons

The film contains echoes from a combination of Ryan's Daughter (especially with John Hurt's John Mills impression), Riders to the Sea, The Playboy of the Western World, and The Quiet Man. And there are some puzzling features including the ease with which Tadhg and his friend found an empty caravan in which consummate their affections, and with which they threw off all their clothes in the middle of a winter in the thirties. Then, how was the Bull able to raise a herd of at least twenty cows and fifty sheep on three acres?

The final scenes are powerful, and worth waiting for. Do sit through all the credits, where you will notice tributes to the donkey's taxidermist. You will also be relieved at the final message, which states that no animals were killed during the film. Despite reservations, this is the cinematic equivalent of a good read, and on balance, is worth going to.

COLLEGE GREEN F.C.

It's been a long time since the last contribution, May to be exact. The reason of course, is the inscrutable insertion of certain subheadings in the last article by a devious Navan man - member of the editorial board of the Newsletter, confidante of Emmet Stagg and meandering philosopher of no fixed abode. Of course this is an elaborate way to explain to an incredulous public that Peter Connell is the only new member of our incoming committee:- he joins us direct from the Spanish Civil War and other class struggles.

1990\91 Season

Despite a desperately bad run of luck with injuries which necessitated fielding weakened sides, the start to the season could hardly have been better. Eleven matches without defeat is undoubtedly one of our best starts ever. Five different players minded the sticks so far this season. We also had a bewildering series of enforced positional changes. In the first eleven matches our inspirational new skipper (Hyper-Mac), Ciaran McGroarty, found the net on no less that thirteen occasions and laid claim to just about every other goal as well. We have to do without the services of Kevin Sullivan, Gerry Murtagh, Hugh Reilly and Paul Allen this season. All of these individuals made a great contribution to the club and we shall miss them. MAYNOOTH G.A.A. CLUB

By any standards our Junior footballers had a very bad season and the only hope of winning any medals now, lies in our involvement in a few tournaments. Commitment and training seems to be at a low level in the club at present and it's certain that these and other matters will get a good arising at our A.G.M. which is to be held in early January. Exact date and venue for this event well be published in the next issue of this paper.

Our juvenile teams, both hurling and football are playing every week and by all accounts are doing quite well. I hope to be able to give details of their important matches very soon. Our Annual Dinner Dance is to be held in the Hamlet, Johnstown Bridge on Saturday night 1st Dec. This is always a very big social event and early purchase of tickets is advised. Tickets can be had form Michael Kelly or any committee member.

We wish all our members and supporters a very Happy Xmas and successful New Year.

MAYNOOTH TOWN A.F.C.

1st Team.

Dalton cup 5th Round.

Maynooth Town 1

Cherryfield Utd. 0.

Maynooth had to wait until the 85th minute to clinch this hard fought victory. A goal by Dessie Farrell ensured our passage into the next.

Leinster Junior League

Anner Utd 2

Maynooth Town 3.

Maynooth twice had lost the lead in this game at the infamous Brickfields but were good value for their own goal win following a late winner by Philip Doyle.

Bridge Celtic 5

Maynooth Town 3.

Moments of indecision by our defence cost us dearly in this match. An earlier goal by John Doyle and two more by Mark Shaw were not enough to take the honours in which we should have won.

Maynooth Town 2

Newbridge Town 0.

We repeated our earlier season Cup win by defeating Newbridge Town once more. A tough hard game saw us maintain our superior advantage over our fellow Kildare rivals. Goals by Paddy Dowling and Dessie Farrell clinched the points for us here.

2nd Team.

Leinster Junior League.

Maynooth Town 10

Tower Ath 1.

Goals came fast and furious for the home side who hit a purple patch and ran out easy winners. The final whistle came as a relief to the Tower team who met Maynooth on day when everything went right.

Shangan 4

Maynooth 1.

Maynooth held their opponents to 1-1 at half way but the sending off of Maynooth player just after half-time swung the game in Shangan's Favour.

Maynooth 1

Sarsfield F.C. 1.

This game must be rated the game of the season. The home side refused to wilt under the fierce pressure and at times overzealous tackling of an over physical Sarsfield team. A harsh penalty award against Maynooth just before half-time saw us trailing at the interval. Spurred on by a very vociferous home following the local side took the game to their more highly placed opponents. Sarsfield were finally punished in the 52nd minute when Maynooth were awarded a free kick for another dangerous tackle for which the Sarsfield defender was lucky to escape with just a caution. Mick Kelly took the perfect free and placed the ball immaculately for Joey Edwards to head a bullet like equaliser. Exchanges were tough and hard for the remainder of the game and Maynooth emerged with many heroes.

Schoolboys' League

Our under 12's continue to blaze along in cavalier like fashion and are in the firing line in the League and two cup competitions. Our panel of over twenty players ensures that the battle for places is really intense. Continuous stringent training is reaping it's reward and some of our stronger opponents are feeling the grunt of our fitness.

Our 15 side are having some mixed fortune at present and are being somewhat over-shadowed ay their younger club-mates. It is just a matter of time before a good run ensues which should put us back into a respectable league position again.

The Club would like to extend best wishes for Christmas and the New Year to all our sponsors, supporters and friends.

Graduation Time

Such has been the growth in number of students graduating from Maynooth College that this year's NUI conferring was divided into four separate ceremonies spread over two days, On Tuesday, November 6, Diplomas were awarded to 171 recipients, mainly for the Higher Diploma in Education, but including also the Diploma in Adult Education and Community Work, as well as the new Diploma in Mathematics, introduced this year. The following day, 330 Bachelors degrees in Arts and Science were awarded, as well as 33 Masters degrees and seven doctorates. The Graduate Ball was held in the Grand Hotel, Malahide and, by all accounts, was an outstanding success.

Meanwhile, on Saturday November 10, the conferring ceremony for the College's Extramural Studies programme was held. In all, some 1,400 one-year Certificates and 600 two-year Diplomas were awarded, giving a grand total in excess of 2,000 awards. These courses are run at a variety of centres throughout - and outside - the country, and give some indication of the college's involvement with the broader community. Two courses based in Maynooth itself - on Counselling and Development Studies - attracted 54 Certificates and and Diplomas. Some 520 recipients attended the awards ceremony in Maynooth, while similar ceremonies are being held in a number of other locations also. Great credit is due to Mary Ryan and Rosaleen O'Riordan for their outstanding work in this area.

This column takes the opportunity to congratulate all this year's award recipients.

New Health Service Inaugurated

A significant step forward in student services was marked on October 24 last, when college President Monsignor Michael Ledwith officially opened the new Student Health Centre. Located in the old bank building adjacent to the Arts Building, the Centre will have a nurse in attendance for 15 hours each week and on call for the remainder of normal working hours (9 am to 6 pm) during the working week. In addition, Dr. Mary Boyd will be in attendance from 4 - 6 pm each Wednesday and on all at other times. Ms Pauline Carbery, a Third Year Arts student, has been appointed as Health Centre Nurse.

While the College will cover the bulk of the ongoing cost of running the Centre, the Students Union are to be congratulated for their own significant financial contribution and especially for their initiative in getting the project off the ground.

Disabled Student Controversy

The College attracted some unwanted national publicity recently when a group of students mounted a picket at the College entrance to protest at the lack of provision for disabled students on the campus. The particular focus of the protest was a student taking the two-year Community and Youth Work Diploma course who, after successfully completing the first year of the course, found that the on-campus accommodation and ground-floor teaching facilities which he had previously enjoyed had been withdrawn. Following discussions, these facilities were restored to the student in question.

It is expected that future accommodation requirements for disabled students can be catered for when the new student apartment complex comes on stream early next year. However, the problem arising from the location of teaching areas above the ground floor in buildings without lifts still requires attention from the College authorities.
